HISTORY

MU was founded in 1839 and is the oldest state university west of the Mississippi. Academic Hall, the main University building which housed the administration, library and classrooms, was destroyed by fire in 1892. The Columns, all that remain of Academic Hall, are the symbolic center of campus. After the fire, an effort was made by other towns to have the University moved to their location. However, Columbia citizens helped raise funds to keep the University in their city. Jesse Hall, the present main administration building, was completed in 1895. It and the 17 buildings surrounding Francis Quadrangle are on the National Register of Historic Places. Today the University has an enrollment of more than 26,500 students in 20 schools and colleges and is a comprehensive research university.

MUSEUMS AND OTHER POINTS OF INTEREST

Please call the facility or Visitor Relations at 882-6333 for hours of operation. The Museum of Art and Archaeology and the Research Reactor are closed to visitors on Mondays.

George Caleb Bingham Gallery, in the Fine Arts Building, contains a large gallery with regular changes in exhibits, including invitational and locally organized faculty and student shows. Call 882-3555.

Botany Greenhouse and Herbarium, Tucker Hall, has a tropical and desert room displaying cacti, yucca, orchids, palms, and climbing bougainvillea. The Herbarium, containing a worldwide collection of dried, preserved and classified plants, including rare and endangered species, is used for plant identification and research. Call 882-6888.

Ellis Library, on Lowry Mall, is one of the largest libraries in the Midwest. The Rare Book Room displays treasures of the history of art and printing, including clay tablets, papyrus, type design, a leaf from the Gutenberg Bible, and Charlotte Bronte manuscripts. Microform newspaper collections range from early American to major current dailies, national, international, and special interest publications. Call 882-4391 for hours. For tours call 882-9163.

Wilbur Enns Entomology Museum, 3-38 Agriculture Building, has on exhibit selections from a research collection of over one million specimens, mostly from Missouri. This is the largest collection of arthropods (insects, mites, and spiders) in Missouri. Major services are research and identification of insects and other arthropods. Group tours by appointment. Call 882-2410.

Geology Exhibits are found in the Geological Sciences Building. In the corridors are selections from 100,000 specimens of rocks, minerals, and fossils. An exhibit of fluorescent minerals is at the east end of the lower level. Also displayed are fossils of swimming and flying reptiles, fish, amphibians, and mammals; large mastodon bones; and an exhibit on the evolution of the horse. Call 882-6785.

Jefferson's Monument can be seen on Francis Quadrangle near the Chancellor's Residence on the Quadrangle, which is the oldest building on campus. The granite obelisk, designed by Thomas Jefferson, first stood at his grave at Monticello. Nearly 60 years later, when a larger monument was erected, Jefferson's great-grandnieces gave the original marker to the University of Missouri-Columbia. The University had requested the gravestone on the basis of status as the first state university in the Louisiana Territory, which was acquired during Jefferson's presidency.

Joint Collection of the University of Missouri Western Historical Manuscript Collection and State Historical Society of Missouri is in the west wing of Ellis Library. The collection is one of the largest in the Midwest, with emphasis on Missouri and the Great Plains area. Holdings include papers of Missouri's governors, U.S. senators and representatives, and other leaders; labor union collections; business records; church records; personal and family papers; steamboat materials; and audio and visual collections. Call 882-6028.

Museum of Anthropology, Swallow Hall, is the only anthropological museum in the state of Missouri, and one of the few in the Midwest. Its archaeological and ethnographic collections include over 100 million artifacts dating from 9000 BC to modern times. A gift shop is on the premises. Call 882-3764.

Museum of Art and Archaeology, Pickard Hall, has comprehensive collections of more than 13,000 art objects representative of all parts of the world and all periods from Paleolithic to the present. The cast gallery has casts that were made from original Greek and Roman sculpture. A gift shop is located on the second floor. Call 882-3591.

Reptile Exhibit is located at 202 Stewart Hall, east of the Memorial Union. Cases contain amphibians and reptiles native to Missouri. Animals are fed at 9:30 on Fridays. Usual hours are 9-4 when classes are in session. For tours call 884-7279 or 882-6468.

Research Reactor Facility, Providence Road, is the largest reactor at a United States university, and has the broadest spectrum of research and educational programs. Tours may be scheduled in advance. Call 882-4211.

Glen Smart Waterfowl and Upland Game Bird Collection is found in the corridors of Anheuser-Busch Natural Resource Center. The mounted collection of ducks, geese, swans, scoters, pheasants, quail, ptarmigans, turkeys, and pigeons is one of the largest in the United States. Call 882-3436.

State Historical Society is located in the lower northeast corner of Ellis Library. The Society maintains reference, newspaper, and manuscript libraries and a fine art collection. It has extensive collections of Missouri newspapers, photographs, and political cartoons. Galleries exhibit sculpture, paintings, and prints of Missouri scenes by artists such as George Caleb Bingham and Thomas Hart Benton. Call 882-7083.
