

March 13, 2014

Interview: Lia Purpura

Likes 15

g+1 0

Tweet 14

▲ Share

This week on The Missouri Review Soundbooth we talk to writer Lia Purpura about her essays and poems. Lia Purpura is the author of three collections of poems (King Baby, Stone Sky Lifting, and The Brighter the Veil), three collections of essays (Rough Likeness, On Looking, Increase), and one collection of translations, (Poems of Grzegorz Musial: Berliner Tagebuch and Taste of Ash).

The Missouri Review Soundbooth is a new weekly podcast series that brings you readings and interviews with authors, editors and agents about what's happening in the literary world. Subscribe to our free podcast on iTunes.

AUDIO MP3 Interview: Lia Purpura [ 27:59 ] Hide Player | Play in Popup | Download

One Response to Interview: Lia Purpura

Adrienne Arden says:

March 14, 2014 at 3:57 pm

This is truly the best interview I have heard on this program. Thought I should mention that Ms. Purpura's last name is misspelled on the heading.

Audio Home

Podcast

Interviews

Audio Contest Guidelines

Past Winners

design by bright box ideas © 2011

HTML Snippets Powered By : XYZScripts.com