Alumni Meet at West Point

About 500 alumni of the University of Missouri-Columbia converged on West Point, New York, October 2 for brunch and the Army-Missouri football game. Some 270 had flown to New York City on the Alumni Association tour, while others came from the New York/New Jersey area and Washington, D.C. The brunch, held on the grounds of the Military Academy, was hosted by the New York City chapter of the Alumni Association. The tour, under the direction of Don Faurot, assistant director of alumni activities, arrived in New York Friday afternoon, and most of the participants took in a Broadway show that evening and again went out in "Fun City" Saturday night. The tour returned Sunday afternoon. Although the Tigers lost the football game, 22 to 6, the tour was considered one of the most successful ever held by the Alumni Association. Another successful meeting, attended by some 300 alumni, was held earlier in the season at the Air Force Academy. About 50 alumni from Kansas City flew to the game.

Tiger ties, hats, coats, hot pants, and cushions added to the color, but were not enough to insure a victory.
