"It will take more than the lure of colorful pennants and basketball games to bring you people as alumni back to this campus," Robert Nelson told the senior class. "We do not have panty raids and telephone booth stuffing teams here; the student body of The University of Kansas City is mature and serious and has no time for silliness. We of the Administration are proud of this state of affairs." And in Mr. Nelson's words the seniors felt they had encountered the true expression of The University of Kansas City spirit.

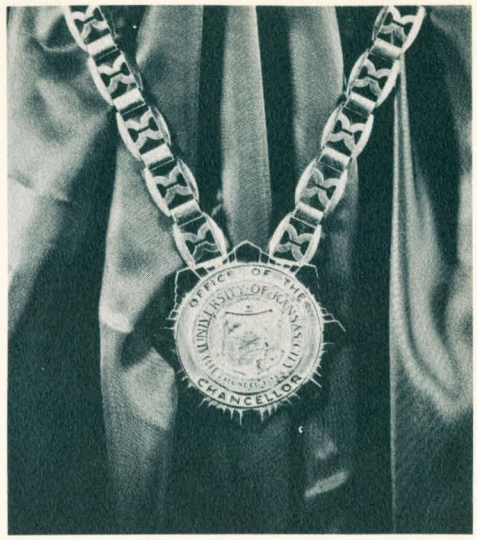

What can you expect of a college career at KCU? This is a pertinent question: a question which prospective students and old students alike ponder. Perhaps before we open the 1959 Kangaroo, the indelible record of this past year at our University, it might not be unappropriate to consider these questions for a moment.

The spirit of KCU has been called apathetic, and has at times approached the status of a complete nonentity in the eyes of some students. To others, those who orbit around Haag Hall mainly, the antics of the fraternities and sororities and student council have seemed disgustingly silly and childish. In between these two factions there are many students who scarcely have time enough in their days, busy with jobs and family responsibilities, to attend classes and study. For these students, altho the desire to contribute may be keen, there are not enough hours in the week to permit them to participate in the great millrace called "extra-curricular activities." This is the situation peculiar to an urban university. Those forces which cause these diverse attitudes are the same forces which bring people to this campus in the first place. The state of the student body has been analysed and bewailed many times; echoes of the keening never die in the halls of KCU. It is difficult for the young and enthusiastic to accept the situation as it is and try to go from there, to build a school unique in attitude and atmosphere rather than to strive for the stereotyped college life of resident, isolated campii.

Nourished on the concept of competition in extra-curricular activities during their high school days, the freshmen arrive at KCU eagerly anticipating a less juvenile and more elaborate program than what they have previously known. They are stunned to find that the burden of these activities rests in large part with them. The rest of the student body, struggling with the responsibilities of demanding class loads, outside jobs, and family activities, has a bare minimum of time to spend offering them guidance and support in their enterprise. These new students encounter a rigid but skeleton framework of traditions to work within, and too frequently find that the fruits of their labors are met only with accounts of the superior events of previous years. Perhaps "subtle revolution" is a more accurate term to describe what has happened to colleges across the country. Urban universities such as this one indicate the crytalization of these revolutionary forces, which rise out of the new class of students, who have little or no family tradition and support for higher education, who are independently, seriously, and sternly interested in learning and not in tom foolery. This shift of emphasis from the raccoon coat days of the '20s to the G. I. baby buggy post war days has brought the demise of Joe College, U.S.A., Playboy on Papa's bank account. In a situation such as this, it is to be expected that the extra-curricular activities will have a different tone and a less exuberant character. Those students who are disappointed in the lack of "school spirit" at KCU need to reappraise their school and see that from another, more contemporary viewpoint, there is indeed a very vital spirit manifested here. Those students who are so critical of the activities need to join into them and mold them more to their taste. These two groups can, and are beginning to, work together towards a compromise program of student activities which will more appropriately fill the needs of the whole student body. This is a challenging but necessary goal which must be achieved as this young rapidly growing university takes its place amoung the leaders of modern higher education. Steps have been made in this direction this year; the organization of the independent students for political purposes is an important example. Apathy in student government, the apex of the lack of time and interest manifested throughout the activities structure, is a nation-wide problem and an urgent problem which must be solved quickly. Students at KCU will find their administration much more helpful and co-operative than they might expect; the opportunities to lead and plan are so many that jobs go begging, for lack of a responsible person to do them. Here then, at KCU, the student who has the desire and ability to co-ordinate his primary responsibilities with those of student leadership will find all the chances he could ask for; they are his for the effort.

INTRODUCTION

1958-1959 was the start of a second quarter century, a time to start thinking and acting progressively, and accomplishing projects worthy of such an institution as The University of Kansas City. The beginning of the new era was marked by the unique inauguration ceremony of Dr. Richard M. Drake as fourth Chancellor of the University. Six television stations in Kansas City, St. Joseph, Topeka and Sedalia carried the televised ceremonies staged primarily for the television cameras, with a limited live audience present in The University Playhouse.

It was estimated that 4 million viewers watched the inauguration, the first known of its kind. New Deans were appointed to the Dental and Business schools. Dr. Ted R. Brannen became Dean of the Business School, and immediately took advantage of UKC's urban location to start working hand in hand with local businesses and industries for the betterment of both the school and the participating companies. Dr. Hamilton B. G. Robinson was appointed Dean of the School of Dentistry, and made plans for the amalgamation of the Dental School with the UKC campus as soon as possible. Broadway came to UKC in the person of actress Judith Evelyn as star of the Playhouse production "Electra." The production, as all this year's productions were, was pronounced a success. Two months later the same play opened in an off-Broadway theatre in New York with Miss Evelyn in her original role, Tom Buckley, former UKC student, in his role of Orestes, and Miss Patricia McIlrath, Director of the University Playhouse, directing. Once again the play was given good reviews. The usual five plays and two children's theatre productions were well received by the community.

The Second Quarter Century program on the UKC campus this year reads like the Who's Who in American Education, science, and music. Dr. Edward McCrady, President of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee, spoke on "Satellites and Education;" Father Gustave Weigel, Professor of Ecclesiology, Woodstock College, Woodstock, Maryland, on "Religion and the University;" Dr. Richard P. McKeon, Professor of Philosophy at Columbia University, on "Does Philosophy Have A Place in Contemporary Society?" Notable among the scientists speaking on the program were Dr. Harold C. Urey, nuclear scientist instrumental in the development of the hydrogen and atomic bombs and Dr. C. M. Pomerat, Professor of Cytology and Director of the Tissue Culture Laboratory, University of Texas.

The Social Sciences were represented by Dr. Richard D. Weigle, President of St. John's College, Annapolis, Maryland, spoke on "The Concept of the Liberal Arts College." Four men represented the fields of literature and criticism: W. H. Auden, English born poet and critic, and author of several books of poetry; John Allen Tate, magna cum laude graduate of Vanderbilt University, and recipient of numerous literary prizes and awards; Henri M. Peyre, Sterling Professor of French at Yale University and a noted scholar and writer in the field of comparative literature; Mark Van Doren, poet, literary editor, and critic, Professor of English at Columbia University, and Pulitzer Prize winner in poetry for 1939. Judge Paul W. Alexander, Court of Common Pleas, Division of Domestic Relations and Juvenile Court, Toledo, Ohio, spoke on "Changes in Family Law" at the annual Law Day Dinner. The speakers for the annual dental day were: Dr. Hollis Askey, Lincoln, Nebraska, who spoke on "Practice Administration;" Dr. Harold Harris, Denver, Colorado, who spoke on "Full Denture Phosthesis," and Dr. Robert Allen, Kansas City, Missouri, who spoke on "Dental Office Emergencies." The music department had an outstanding year, with Vittorio Giannini conducting the opening of this year's opera, "Taming of the Shrew" the major success of the year. Mr. Giannini's opera is considered the only great American opera of the twentith century.

The University family was honored to have two of its members, Dr. Patricia McIlrath, Director of the Playhouse, and Mrs. Christine Hogin, Director of Student Activities, elected to membership in "Who's Who Among American Women."

Dr. Roma King and Dr. Patricia McIlrath visit with Dr. Mark Van Doren during his appearance as part of the Second Quarter Century program.

Dr. Allen O. Gruebbel (standing) makes his point during a discussion concerning revisions of The University of Kansas City Alumni Constitution which took place at the February Alumni Officers and Board of Directors Meeting. Other alumni shown are, front row: Joseph Shalinsky, James A. Coffin, John T. Lockton, Mrs. Rosemary Peterson, Mrs. Virginia D. Yates, Dr. Edward P. Nelson. Back row: Mrs. Betty M. Zwilling, Judge Samuel Dew, Dr. Gruebbel, Dr. A. Dayton Herlack, Dr. Charles D. Walthall.

The minds, thoughts and theories of five great educators were pooled for a public symposium held in the UKC Playhouse on the subject, "Urban Private Education—Its Significance and Its Future." The symposium was video tape recorded by WDAF-TV, edited and then broadcast for the viewers of the area. A copy of the tape was sent to Washington for use by the American Council on Education. The University took pride in presenting Thomas Hart Benton in the role of guest lecturer. Tom Benton, American artist, fiery critic, talker, and wit is widely known as a mural painter. The art department held a series of art exhibitions on a variety of artistic themes.

A pilgrimage was held in the spring for all Kansas City women to help raise money to decorate the interior of the new University center. Tours were held throughout the campus to acquaint all those who took part with the facilities and faculty of UKC. In the late afternoon ground was broken for the new building. Plans progressed at a rapid rate for construction of a new science center to be located tenatively on the block between Troost and Rockhill Road, and between 51st and 50th Streets. The new center would include a Pharmacy, Dental, and as yet unplanned sciences buildings.

Miss Margaret Dudley, Director of the elementary teacher training program of the school of Education, was named to the chair of learning established by the University Women's Club of Kansas City. Miss Dudley joins three other "name professors," Dr. Eugene Altschul, Harzfeld Professor of Economics, Dr. Ernest Manheim, Haskell Professor of Sociology, and Dr. Maria Castellani, Haag Professor of Mathematics. The alumni of UKC reorganized this year, adopting a new constitution and by-laws and working through nine active committees, to provide a variety of services to both the alumni and the school itself.

A totally new group was organized this year on campus, the University Associates, a non-fund raising organization designed to bring The University closer to the community, and to help The University interpret the educational needs of the community. For the student, The University advanced in several new directions. A new registration and grade recording and filing system was set up, built around new IBM automatic accounting machines to help speed up registration information. Permission to set up Grant and Aid plans for the athletic department was given by the board.

Such has been the past year—the streetcar tracks are rapidly fading through the doorway of past history, as the school on the hill fights desperately to open the door to the future.

Each of the many and varied personalities on the UKC campus offer potential friendships within the common bond of knowledge-seeking and social activities. Administration, faculty, and students alike share in this communion as they spend their academic and social hours absorbing and amalgamating each other's knowledge, thoughts, and temperaments. Long lasting and useful friendships are born from the acquaintances made in the classrooms, the Roost, and in the meeting rooms. These friendships and interlocking personal characteristics of the people on this campus are what give The University of Kansas City its personality.

Keeping track and regulating the activities of 4,000 students is a task requiring an efficient and capable administration staff. Working in offices scattered across the campus, the red-tape and requisition crew communicates over the phone and through inter-office memos to handle problems from parking space to pre-requisite courses. The object of student jokes and criticism ranging from inconsistent clocks to late grades, the administration staff carries on, their only objective: Make UKC a smoothly administered University.

CHANCELLOR

chancellor

Completing his second full year as Chancellor of The University of Kansas City, Dr. Richard M. Drake may look back on a highly successful year. All the schools of the University have made great advances in curriculum, faculty and the quality of student training. The Business School was reorganized, making it a more effective link in the chain of education. The Second Quarter Century Program attracted outstanding speakers and musicians to enhance the UKC campus, focusing attention on the many aspects of value this campus holds for the community. Dr. Drake has maintained his usual close contact with the students, realizing, after all, students do have thoughts on their own education. Plans for the new Center have nearly become a reality, with plans progressing for the Science center to include new Dentistry and Pharmacy facilities so sorely needed by the University. The community has become very much aware of UKC's presence, and the part it should play for Kansas City Chancellor's inauguration through the televised ceremony, and the television coverage of the Symposium on Urban Education.

The measure of a university may be made by the quality of its faculty and what they can accomplish in their chosen fields. Their responsibility extends far beyond that of reading lecture notes to a room full of half-attentive students. Their own personal lives are governed and caught up in the enormous job of impressing knowledge upon the indelible minds of those who came to learn, and more important, to motivate and guide students to think for themselves and the world around them. These are the doorways through which the faculty must lead.

Doorways to Leadership

Students who achieve outstanding accomplishments receive honors in various ways; by appointment to honorary fraternal organizations, by election to offices of esteem by their fellow students, and by awards, scholarships and grants to continue their work in their chosen fields. These recognitions are gained after an expenditure of concentrated effort and unrelenting energy. The culmination of honors occurs at the magic moment when the chancellor shakes your right hand, and places the coveted diploma in your left hand. The students on the following pages held positions of leadership during the past year; many will be your leaders in future years. Here they are honored, stepping thru the greatest doorway of all.

STUDENT COUNCIL

KENNETH HILL
PRESIDENT

Following the traditions of American politics, the principle student governing body of UKC, the Student Council of the All Students Association, learned early and used effectively the tricks and wiles of political shenanigans. The fine old traditons of practicing the spoils system, threatening suits and counter suits, procrastinating, and lacking cooperation were obvious in our student council this year. The chores and responsibilities of the governing group were carried out before the year was over, not necessarily in the most efficient or accurate manner, but by the democratic process, through which students learn the hard facts of political practice, preparing them for the real-life world ahead of them.

Doorways to Responsibility

The UKC campus over-flows with organizations of every imaginable type and kind; social, religious, fraternal, professional, formal, informal, educational, and anti-educational. Each and every organization and club provides or fills a need for its share of students, giving them a chance to lead, follow, think, obey, organize, or disorganize, even providing ample opportunity for not studying or cutting classes. Students can't be expected to study and work all the time, so the wide variety of campus organizations provide a doorway to responsibilities and release from the rigors of study and labor.

DELTA CHI

The Delta Chi Fraternity was founded on October 13, 1890 at Cornell University to promote brotherhood among college men. During the past year, the Kansas City chapter has excelled in several fields. In athletics, Delta Chi tied for the intramural championship with the freshmen dentists, and won the intramural football championship. The Kansas City chapter defeated the Kansas University chapter for the second year in a row, to take the intra-chapter basketball trophy. Socially speaking, the Delta Chi's presented one of the best dances held on the campus, their Burly-Q Ball. The highlight of the evening came with the announcement of the 1959 Delta Chi Sweetheart, Miss Nancy Krause. The chapter provided leaders for all phases of campus activities.

Founded in 1934 as a sister sorority to the VVV's at Junior College, Sigma Beta has since grown to become one of the largest social groups on campus. The purpose of Sigma Beta is to promote social activity among the women on the UKC campus and through its ideals of leadership, scholarship, sportsmanship and character to establish a lasting bond between its members. Sigma Beta sponsored an alumni tea this year which was one of the first steps taken in preparation for national sororities. Other events on the Sigma Beta calendar included the Christmas dance, at which this year's Cupid, Bill Pabst, was crowned; and the spring dance at which the Sigma Beta sweetheart was crowned. Sigma Beta also participated in various service projects for the university such as furnishing ushers for the Playhouse productions and hostesses to visiting groups on campus.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

Sponsoring dances, queen candidates and political reforms kept the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity busy all year round. The Corn Stalk Stomp, their first social endeavor of the year was well worth fighting 20 bales of hay to make the occasion look like a dance. Changing the pace, the formal Sno-Ball Dance gave the Epsilon Lambda chapter a chance to look and act like gentlemen scholars. Miss Nellice Gillespie, the Teke candidate, captured the queen honors for the evening. Teke's Homecoming Queen candidate, Miss Peggy Maness, reigned over the Homecoming proceedings and sent the basketball team on to victory. Weeks of preparation led to the Red Carnation Ball, Teke's annual spring formal dance. The chapter announced this year's dance was the last one open to the public. Tekes have been active in all phases of university life, publication editors, playhouse production, KCUR-FM operators, student council officers, and honors of all types have brought glory and praise to the group.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity, dedicated to serving university, community, and nation. Some of Alpha Eta chapter's activities this year have been: ushering at the dedication of the Volker fountain, parking cars for various campus functions, assisting with the Midwest High-Fidelity Festival, preparing programs and operating movie projectors for the Kansas City Area Scouting Commissioners' Conference, distributing student activity tickets, and helping with the orientation program. APO sponsored the Ugly-Man-on-Campus contest in conjunction with its first annual Beauty and Beast dance, the proceeds thereof being donated to charity, and has raised money for the scholarship fund which it maintains. In the course of the year Alpha Phi Omega has contributed upwards of five hundred man-hours of service.

The professional business fraternity, Nu Rho Psi, aims to further business education from the business standpoint. Striving to acquaint the Kansas City business community with the graduates and students of the UKC School of Business Administration, the fraternity published their second directory of graduating Business seniors. Over 1,000 copies were distributed, most of them to Kansas City firms. Some, however, have gone out to business houses all over the country. The response has been very rewarding, and the publication has served to make known the many advantages of hiring UKC Business graduates. The organization also sponsored an annual car wash on Bum Friday to raise money for their scholarship fund, through which a $100 scholarship is given to a member of the fraternity every year. Speakers from various fields of business administration spoke at a lecture series sponsored by the organization. Under the new administration the members are enthusiastically attempting to broaden their activities at UKC.

PSI CHI

Boasting the largest departmental organization on the UKC campus, the Psi Chi's are also probably one of the most active, featuring such outstanding community leaders in psychology as Dr. Nathan Greenbaum, Dr. Donald Greaves, and Dr. Kermit Phelps as speakers at their regular meetings. Socially the group had a rousing Christmas Party, showed movies on subjects concerning Psych majors, and had a spring picnic at Quivira Lake. Also in the spring, a panel discussion was held on the subject of "Your Career in Psychology," with the entire Psychology Department faculty taking part.

EASY CHAIR

NUMBER ONE

Easy Chair is the English departmental club of the University. Louis Selvey served as Chairman for the group. Its activities for the year have included many interesting and stimulating programs and discussions; the group usually met at one of the member's homes, thereby achieving a more informal atmosphere for discussion. One of Easy Chair's principal functions is publication of Number One, the campus literary magazine. Publication date, Honor's Day, May 1st, was eagerly anticipated and the 500 copies were quickly purchased. Ann Barnard braved the many headaches of the editorship to turn out an outstanding literary publication, highlighted by the award winning contributions of Dorothea Woodward (Charles Stevenson Short Story Award) and Edwin R. Luther (Kansas City Browning Society Award for a Browning essay).

Founded over twenty years ago, The University Players are among the oldest and most active groups on campus. This year, meeting twice monthly, the Players spent two interesting semesters which included parties, initiations, and even a recorded performance with Tallulah Bankhead. In December they and the Neuman Club presented jointly the famous morality play, "Everyman", which was a well-received success. In May, the group's second project, "An Evening With the Players" was held in-the-round, and included scenes from plays, monologues, etc. As usual, the Players entered the Bum Friday Skit Contest, backed candidates for the Beauty and Beast Dance, and participated in the Playhouse productions. In Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme the group was especially well represented by five cast members and the Assistant Director.

TEACHERS NOW TRAINING

Programs for TNT meetings for the year were marked by talks by leaders in the field of education. Children's books were contributed to CARE, and a book sale and Christmas party was sponsored in co-operation with the Education School Council. The Council sponsored a bake sale, get-acquainted teas, the annual High School Day and Candlelight Ball, and left as its gift to the school a trophy bearing the name of each Council president.

The Retail Associates' aim is to unite all students interested in retailing and to bring them closer together with retail executives. It also encourages participation in Business School activities and promotion of the school in the business world.

During the year the Retail Associates sponsored a number of speakers on campus and participated in tours of local business establishments.

An outstanding activity of the year was the Merchants' Luncheon when the students met with store presidents and other store executives.

This year, as before, has been a good year for UKC. New deans were appointed, the Chancellor was inaugurated, and the new IBM machines started clicking and whirring away in the registration office. The Second Quarter Century program was a tremendous success with visiting artists, musicians, and intellectuals from across the country coming to spread their knowledge thru-out the Kansas City area via UKC. Electra went to New York, and Giannini came here to conduct the opening of his opera. Plans rocketed ahead on new buildings and consolidation of the campus. The usual social events took place, Dr. Royall gave the same Physical Science exams, and Mike Wagner still shocked the young Freshmen with his raw look at the cultures of the world. The Student Council was split assunder by new controlling factions and the spring elections were confused. The year flashed by; now it's past thru the door into history.

DENT UNION

At the opening of the "activities thru the year" division, we would like to pause for a backward look to the first issue of the Kangaroo, edited in 1939 by Howard Gosage. This is a reproduction of its cover, drawn by Walt Disney as a favor to the University. So from 1939 we jump 20 years to this, the 1959 Kangaroo.

From Monday through Saturday the whirl of orientation week catches the poor unsuspecting new students in the organized confusion of the first days at an urban University, but for the upper classmen it is a time for hearing the last three months' gossip, starting and renewing frendships interrupted by summer vacations. New students are herded about like sheep at shearing time, with the all-knowing upperclassmen spouting forth volumes of impertinent information, to match the words-to-the-wise of the eminent faculty. Forgetting their confusion for one night, the new students have an oppotrunity to see what this University has to offer in the way of companionship. The former students have a chance to meet the latest crop of freshmen females, as well as finish the gossip sessions started the day before.

Once friends are made, campus life starts with complete togetherness as work on the skits gets underway. By Saturday night orientation co-chairmen Pete Donnici and Mel Freed were more than happy to announce the skits were a success and the Geology club was the winner of first prize for the Activities in Action booth. Assisting Pete and Mel on Orientation were: Linda O'Dell, Truman Dollar, Jack Null, Sarah Gilmore, Glenda Sanning, Dick Nylund, Dick Shoemaker, Joanne Conway, Dave Grisafe, Linda Cureton, Chas. Lewis, Virginia Gunner, Jess LaPuma, Dena Spielberger, Don Emler, Janice Jones, and Lem Hutton.

By the end of the week all the new students have been thoroughly indoctrinated with the many campus traditions to be quickly forgotten and ignored. Mentally fatigued by the battery of tests to prove their worthiness of attending UKC, and still not too sure what all those columns of letters and numbers mean on the class schedule, they have begun to wonder when they will become acquainted with anything approaching an academic function or if classes are actually held on this busy little campus. Finally the big day arrives and after a "short" wait in the line, the process of filling out the confusing little cards that have to be marked with a soft pencil or ball-point begins, and all they have to do is find the right information to circle. Such is the start of the school year, with the new students joining the ranks of culture vultures.

"Welcome Aboard" was the theme of the dance September 26th.

Welcome aboard, anyway, that's what the theme was supposed to be . . . Complete with a cardboard and paper mache ship floating serenely across the floor of the gym between the free-throw lines and badminton markers. Time for all the old grads, and those that didn't quite make it, or deserted to other schools, to return for an evening of dancing, talking and filling coke bottles with stuff and things to keep things gay. The band played on, no one remembers who; the freshmen who were being welcomed were impressed by their student council officers who made a brave effort to keep the welcoming speeches short and to the point. So goes the welcome dance.

Ah, Chas. won't mind, doll.

rose and silver ball

The first formal dance of the year was held at Epperson House, an ideal setting for such an atmospheric ball as the Rose and Silver, sponsored by the Cho Chin sorority in honor of their 25th anniversary. The charm of the setting was enhanced by an abundance of roses and flickering candlelight. Guests signed a scroll guest book and danced to the music of Tony Karachi. At intermission Mrs. Nelson Arney, Cho Chin's sponsor, was given a bouquet of 25 roses tied with silver ribbon in appreciation of all she has done for the Cho Chins. Patt Sherwood presented a pair of sterling silver candlesticks to the sorority from last year's pledge class.

Dr. Richard M. Drake's inauguration as UKC's fourth chancellor set a precedent in both cost and method. Six television stations carried the inauguration staged especially for the TV cameras. Production for the event was handled by a four-camera crew headed by Bob Wormington of WDAF-TV. Besides Channel four, KCMO-TV, KMBC-TV, KFEQ-TV, St. Joseph, KDRO-TV, Sedalia, and WIBW-TV, Topeka carried the hour long proceedings highlighted by Dr. Drake's inauguration speech and an inaugural address by Dr. Lawrence A. Kimpton, Chancellor of the University of Chicago, and former dean at UKC. Faculty and board members were the only audience permitted in the University Playhouse for the ceremony.

As usual, Christmas vacation started a week early with plans and activities centered around the annual Sno-Ball formal dance. The all-school dance, sponsored by the Student Council, was co-chairmaned by Nancy Krause and Bonnie Bachert, with the able assistance of the sorority pledges doing the slave labor. The theme, "Snow Dream" was carried out in the decorations, by white Christmas trees, soft lifts, and the ever present and seldom needed mistletoe. The intermission was highlighted by the crowning of Nellice Gillespie as the Sno-Ball Queen. The cool music to match the heatless atmosphere was provided by the George Tidona orchestra. Once the socializing was over, and classes had closed for the holidays, students were free to start the long painful cramming process in preparation for the inevitable finals. necessary evils to interfere. First, the two weeks provided ample opportunity to find a sympathetic merchant who would hire a poor-broken-down-student for the busy sales weeks preceding Christmas. Then there were those students, rare on this campus, who could use the excuse that they should be "home" for the holidays, "home" being as far from Kansas City as possible. A few fortunates were able to afford a much needed trip for the vacation period. But there were a miserable few who could find no place to go, or nothing to do, and ended up in the library to stare out the windows at the swriling snow, dreaming of those friends in Colorado skiing their lives away, or making money hand over fist in the crowded down-town stores. Study? What was the use, only one more week of classes left, and it was much too late to start that paper due a week ago, or to try to read those seven plays due last month. Better to find others as sad as thou, and spend the vacation philosophizing on the evils of the American educational system and possible corrections thereof . . . But everybody had a Happy . . .

The tours and lectures were abbreviated, which was undoubtedly appreciated by the new students. The second semester got off to a fast start with the first half of the "split" Homecoming activities. The Homecoming displays, set up around the campus to help raise the spirits of the student body, added a good deal to the feeling of the celebration. The Baptist Student Union was awarded the trophy for the best display.

Peggy Maness, A & S Freshman, was crowned Homecoming Queen at the half time period of the thrilling battle between the Kangies and Sterling College. The golden tones of communicator Chuck Goodman added as much to the occasion as the music of the Harlan Livingood orchestra did to the informal dance following the game.

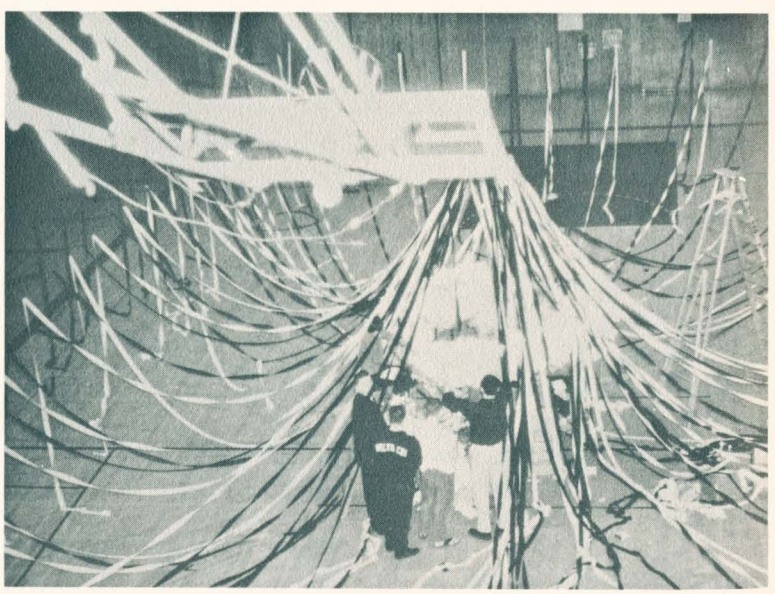

Delta Chi fraternity created the eighth wonder of the world by transforming our barren, cavernous gym into a setting worthy of New York's most beautiful, intimate night clubs. Great ingenuity was used in developing the traditional "Heaven and Hell" theme of this year's annual ball, which commemorated the twentieth anniversary of the Bounders, predecessors of Delta Chi. Surrounded in heaven by pearly gates and lofty clouds, Miss Nancy Krause became Sweetheart of the fraternity men, who sanctified the moment by serenading their charming mascot. The sexy, female, cardboard devil who presided over "Hell' was so pleased with the affair that she reprieved from her land of torment "Monk" Montgomery and George Kerr, chairmen of the dance. Juniors and seniors and the wives in the School of Pharmacy spent a three day field trip visiting the Lilly Laboratories at Indianapolis, Indiana. The 78th Annual Conference of the Alumni Association, School of Dentistry, was held at the Hotel Muehlebach. The Conference featured both informative talks and social activities for dentists and dental hygienists in the Kansas City area.

This year UKC opened a new distinction. Due to conflicts in scheduling and advanced planning the students and alums maintained segregated celebrations of the fact they came home. The returning alumni spent a day touring the campus and reliving their green years. Climaxing the day's activities were a cocktail hour and banquet, highlighted by the presentation of distinguished alumni award to James A. Hazlett, superintendent of Kansas City Public Schools; Dr. John M. Clayton, dentist; Judge Arthur J. Stanley Jr., United States District Court; H. Wallace Jones, pharmacist, and Mrs. Vivian Shepherd, Executive Director of the Rehabilitation Institute in Kansas City. Representing the student body at the affair were Peggy Maness, Basketball Homecoming Queen, and Marshall Saper, student liason on the Alumni Homecoming Committee. All parties concerned hope that the alums and students will gain togetherness in celebrating future Homecomings.

The music of Sammy Tucker's jazz combo entertained the diners.

The afternoon tour of the campus brought back many memories to the "old Grads."

The annual Bushwhacker Dance, the Junior Class tribute to the Saviors, was a memorable part of the 1958-1959 school year. The skits, planned by a committee headed by Bill Grigsby and augmented by the technical help of Jack London, depicted a student's view of the idiosyncrasies of various instructors. Billowing parachutes formed the ceiling decoration of the dance area, and a beautiful floral fountain graced the center of the floor. "The most popular instructor," elected by Junior Class, was Dr. David Moore who crowned the Queen of the Ball, Mrs. Jennifer Riggs. Judy Lunch and Lynn Bush were the princesses. Ben Horgett was chairman of the entire evening's entertainment. Ed Lamb supervised the sale of tickets and the advertising.

Heads of four universities—a private, church-related, and two municipal institutions—conducted a public symposium on "The Significance and Future of Private Higher Education" in the Playhouse April 3. The symposium was recorded on video tape by WDAF-TV for later television release and will be distributed through the American Council on Education. Dr. Arthur S. Adams, President of the American Council on Education, Washington, D. C., moderated the discussion, which was one of UKC's principal programs on the Second Quarter Century Series. Panel members were: Dr. Edward N. Litchfield, Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Norman P. Auburn, President of the University of Akron, Akron, Ohio; Dr. Harold Case, President of Boston University, and Dr. E. A. H. Shepley, Chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis. The statements and discussion of the symposium brought out these points: individuals as well as corporations and to a limited degree, the government should share in the cost of education, there should be more co-operation between institutions in sharing of facilities and qualified instructors, and existing resources should be used to their fullest potential, as efficiently as large corporations. Dr. Drake said, "We believe the symposium will not only be a valued service to the general public, but will have a stimulating effect throughout the University family."

April 4 the Law School students turned out for the dance held at the Advertising and Executive's Club, the old UKC Law Building. Jack Colvin and his band played merrily all evening, and at intermission Bob Jones, on behalf of the Student Bar Association, presented a farewell gift to Professor Carnes, who is leaving for the University of Arkansas next year. Corsages and Boutonnieres were presented to the Chaperones in appreciation of their kindness.

What happened to the old Glenn Miller records?

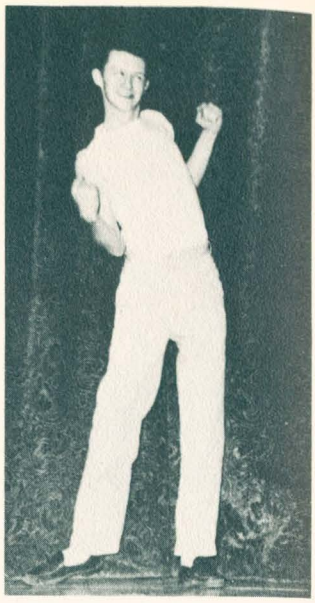

The deities graced our fair school most generously, for they saw fit to bestow on its campusites a day of raucous misdemeanor, Bum Friday, which has become a cherished tradition. This was the time when student apathy reached a thundering climax, as more students became more disinterested in more activities than during any other single day. In anticipation of the holy day itself, a vast handful of students gathered in the Roost Thursday evening for what was known as the Hobo Dance.

What a barbaric custom. sr

Patched blue jeans and straw hats lent a continental atmosphere to the evening, which was highlighted by the selection of the King and Queen of Bums, Bob Lee and Peggy Maness respectfully, as well as the announcement that Chas. Lewis won the beard-growing contest. Prizes included a year's subscription to "Collier's," a season pass to all basketball games of Central Quebec High School, and an autographed picture of Rock Finster. Friday disappointed many students by dawning bright and balmy. At ten o'clock the field sports began on the athletic field, site of a milling throng of six people. Events included a baseball game, a backwards race, an ankle race, and, for our more overdeveloped collegians, a three-legged race. Due to the pressing number of persons in attendance, the field events quickly merged with other aspects of the day's activities. A large, watery pit was the temporary residence of several of our more popular, and easily accessible, coeds. Neatness quotients soared as muddy faces and slimy hair marked those campus cuties most in demand. Changes of clothing and a quick scrubbing made all presentable for the skits and talent show, which followed a sumptuous lunch prepared in our Food Service's own inimitable manner. competition were Cho Chin and TEKE The classic struggle between rival fraternities took the form of a tug-of-war over the aforementioned mud hole, which thrice welcomed the hapless TEKES to its slimy depths. Dental students entered the fray, demonstrating that both Independents and Greeks can trace their genetic ancestry back to common prehistoric ape men. The highlight of Bum Friday came in the evening, with the formal dance climaxing the day's activities. The intermission saw fraternities and sororities competing in song contests, TEKE and Cho Chin emerging victorious. The second annual Candlelight Ball, sponsored by the School of Education Student Council was held in the romantic setting of Epperson House. The dramatically decorated ball was an all-school affair, open to the student body. The tradition of leaving an object to remain in Epperson House, started by last year's council, was carried on this year by the council giving a president's trophy with the names of the council's presidents engraved on it. The second Education Student Award was presented by Dean Speer at the intermission.

Whether they are called milestones to pass by, or doorways to pass thru, there are certain events in life which mark achievements of certain aspirations, and fulfillment of certain plans. Certainly for every graduate in the black-robed procession that passes thru the doorway of Haag Hall onto the Quad, that brief thrilling moment with the Chancellor represents the culmination of endless weeks and months of study, worry, frustration, and sacrifice of economic stability and social activity, starlit with moments of soaring hopes and jubilation over small successes. Perhaps the procession that strides so proudly across the campus of The University of Kansas City represents more alterations of plans, disappointments, frustrations, and near-catches of the brass ring per mortar board than most graduation processions. To those who have reached this plateau, The University wishes you Godspeed and admoninshes you to continue climbing.—jlh

Leading a student activity at The University of Kansas City is all too often a thankless job. Time after time, great plans are made, visualizing some quite original ideas, only to culminate, not in an event of the quality we believe The University is worthy of and should become accustomed to, but in an event which is even worse than the ones of preceeding years. These too-frequent evidences of student apathy bring heartaches to those of us who feel that the situation could and should be better on this campus. In the enterprise of editing the 1959 Kangaroo I have been most fortunate in having a harder working, more loyal, and more compentent staff than any other that has graced the office of both student publications in recent years. Only people who have tried to accumulate great amounts of material from divergent points on this campus can have any concept of the staggering number of man hours requisite to the publication of even the barest essential of a yearbook. It has been the constant aim of this staff, not merely to "get the thing out," but to produce a standard of excellence not yet equalled at this school. Special thanks go to Bob and Bruce for their untiring slaving throughout the long day into the small hours, and more appreciation than there are words for to everyone of the crew for their blood, sweat, and tears. There is a temptation to say that as far as The University as a whole is concerned, it wasn't worth the sacrifice of grade points and graduation, but this is a temptation which we have put behind us as we did everything within our power to make this the best yearbook possible at The University of Kansas City.—jlh

YEARBOOK STAFF

The Kangaroo office is a world unto itself, and anyone who has not pasted copy with us until three o'clock in the morning, nor subsisted on Pepsi-Cola and instant mashed potatoes, nor played count-the-grade-points, cannot comprehend life in "Bedlam off Fifty-first street." The work has not all been drudgery however, and we have enjoyed trying to make this the best yearbook possible. We would like to say thank you to those people who came in to work with us in our times of need, and to Armand Glenn, our printer, who has given advice and assistance, "have faith, it's over for another year."

The purpose of the student publications is to provide a record of the University, its people and activities. Doing this requires a monumental quantity of photographs. This year in an effort to provide as nearly complete coverage of individuals and events as possible, the staff photographers have taken and processed somewhat over twenty-six hundred pictures. Particular thanks are due Steve Rains and Pete Hoffstot who have donated their time and effort to bear a large part of this photographic labor. When you think back over the dances, the games, the club activities of the year, remember that one of the staff photographers was on hand getting pictures for the U-News and the Kangaroo.

Doorways to Competition

Intercollegiate competition on the UKC campus was limited to basketball, track, tennis, and baseball this year. The teams won their share of games; but more important, they played because they wanted to and liked to play—not for monetary returns, but for the pleasure and physical well-being derived from taking part in such activities. Competition in intramural leagues was high, as individual groups fought for the decorations and glories of winning. Thru the doorway of competition participating students felt the gratification of playing the game for the game alone.

BASKETBALL TEAM

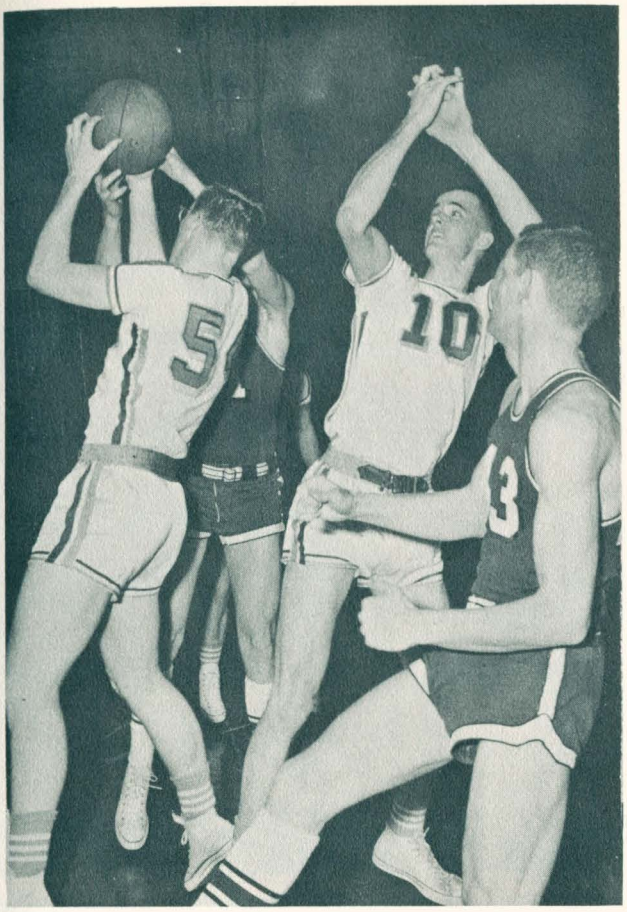

Once again the UKC basketball squad fought against heavy odds to keep alive the fighting spirit of the Kangies. Even though the won-lost tally was heavy on the wrong side, the boys spent a season of playing the game for the reason it was intended: as a sport. Bob Morgan set a new school record with his leading season score of 362 points. Leading rebounder was Dean Marriott. The team voted Jerry Fair their most valuable player of the year. Captains for the season were Bob Morgan and Joe Haines.

At their annual Spring Tea they awarded a trophy to the organization whose members had the highest number of team points. The city, surrounding UKC like a tenacious octopus, drains the student labor and mental forces into its own sweat-shops and provides diversions of night-clubs, theaters and pizza parlors. However, these slight handicaps of UKC's location are more than made up for by the value both the University and the students receive. The students make personal and professional contacts and friends, broaden their range of experience, and in some cases are able to earn their own schooling costs. The University has a possible source of support, both financial and moral, from local businesses and civic leaders. Directed by a well-experienced staff working together as a tightly integrated team, the Playhouse crew as a whole can indeed look back upon the 1958-1959 season as one of consistently high quality productions. The most outstanding achievement was Dr. McIlrath's and Tom Buckley's opportunity to take Electra to the New York stage with Judith Evelyn. Bringing to more than 15,000 Kansas City school children their first opportunity to see a real stage show was another UKC service to the Community. The Playhouse is for a great many Kansas Citians the real doorway to the University, since large percentages of the casts and audiences are not students here but members of the theatre community. The double doors of the Playhouse open for the University and the city alike to a varied fare of the art of the theatre.

Inherit the Wind

Based on the famous Scopes trial, where a school teacher was tried for teaching Darwin's theory of evolution, Inherit the Wind features the debate between two great orators of the time, played by Art Ellison as defense attorney, and Al Christy, prosecuting attorney. Although the script is not as well written as some, and the size of the cast made the stage picture somewhat confusing, Mr. Ellison and Mr. Christy managed to achieve some moments of real drama in this first show of the year.

Wide-eyed and awesome, first, second, and third-graders, thru the Community Children's Theatre, Inc., watched a montage of a mysterious cave, a flying palace, a magic lamp and omnipotent genii smoke and swirl in front of their very eyes. The battle between the adventurous Aladdin and the wicked old magician for the magic lamp and the beautiful Adora provided an exciting introduction to live theatre for the children.

Complete with full chorus, a much anticipated Greek drama was the second presentation of the season. Headlined by the directing talent of Dr. Patricia McIlrath and the acting ability of Broadway guest artist Judith Evelyn, who appeared as a part of the Second Quarter Century series, Electra couldn't help but be a sell-out success. The true meaning of "a classic" was obvious as the utmost effort in every phase of the production combined to give a universal appeal to a drama written centuries ago.

One of the features of the Christmas season was the production of Everyman, the late medieval morality play, presented by the University Players and the Newman Club. The one-act play was directed by Joe Gregg, President of The Players, assisted by Buddy Zimmer. The opera, traditionally a joint presentation of the music and speech departments, came also into the area of the Second Quarter Century series as the composer of Taming of the Shrew, Dr. Vittorio Giannini, appeared as conductor for the opening night performance. The success of the opera was due in part to the fact that Dr. Giannini was able to direct rehearsals for a few nights previous to the opening.

Moliere's tale of the shopkeeper turned gentleman found Al Christy in a hilarious struggle with his practical, bourgeois wife and his attractive, stubborn daughter over his attempts to achieve the status of nobility. In one of the best comedies seen at the Playhouse in several seasons, Mr. Christy as M. The Magic Horn of Charlemagne

The second Children's Theatre production, this time for fourth-, fifth-, and sixth-graders, featured magic and mystery again. This time the stage was filled with magic mist, enchanted fruit, floating tables and rings of fire. The two young would-be knights, Harry Snyder and Don Walters, pursued an evil sorceress who had captured the king's magic sword, and in recovering it, pointed a bit of a moral in this, the most suspenseful and fastest moving show of the year.

After completing their second year of operation, KCUR-FM can look back on a successful year of increased broadcast hours, expanded record library and increased interest from the community. New equipment expected this year was not provided, but the staff managed to maintain their high standards of quality by hard work and long hours of effort. The studios were decorated in a new decor of record album jackets, and the program schedule received national recognition for design and utility. Under the guidance of Sam Scott, Managing Director of the station, and Gloria Miller, The University can be justly proud of the program quality of KCUR-FM, and training given to the radio speech majors.

music department

One of the University's best and most active publicity agents and good will ambassadors is the music department, especially the much-traveled a cappella choir. With only 19 of its 58 members returning from last year, this year's well-balanced choir has maintained the nation-wide reputation of its predecessors. The group appeared on all major television and radio networks throughout the year, including NBC's "Monitor" and the "Voice of America", as well as singing with the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra. The outstanding part of its repertoire was Robert Townsend's "Proud Heritage", which tells the story of the growth of the Heart of America. Sixteen advanced voice students called the "Heritage Singers" recorded the work, providing the choral background for the narration by Jim Lawless, for the K. C. Life Insurance Company. The early sell-out for the two Christmas concerts Sunday, December 14, pointed out the popularity of this traditional University holiday observance. The hard-working choir gave twenty-four concerts in the Christmas season alone, with a total of more than forty before leaving for its annual spring tour. Making a special effort to entertain young people who might be prospective UKC students, the choir was received with praise and enthusiasm in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas between April 12 and 19. Other music department activities included performances by the orchestra, directed by Hugo Vianello, and sponsoring of the chamber music series as part of the Second Quarter Century series. Groups which appeared on this program were the Trio di Bolzano, the Kansas City Resident Woodwind Quintet, "I Musici", and the LaSalle String Quartet. Many concerts were given by Sigma Alpha Iota, Mu Alpha Sinfonia, and Mu Phi Epsilon.

women's pilgrimage

A major and unique event on the University campus was the Women's Pilgrimage for Higher Education on Tuesday, May 5th. It was a benefit garden party organized by the University Circle, the faculty wives' club. Proceeds from the admission charges collected will be used to furnish the lounges in the new University Center, for which ground was broken May 5th. Members of all the major women's organizations in Kansas City participated in the event, and their enthusiastic support is indicative of the greatly increasing interest and co-operation Kansas City has exhibited towards its University.

The forty-fifth annual meeting of the National Association of American Colleges was held in Kansas City early in January; About 500 presidents of colleges and universities were in attendance. Mrs. Drake served as chairman of the hospitality committee, which provided a tour of the Truman Library and a complimentary lunch from Hallmark Cards, Inc., for the presidents and their wives. The occasion provided an excellent opportunity to introduce the University of Kansas City to educational leaders who were unfamiliar with our university.

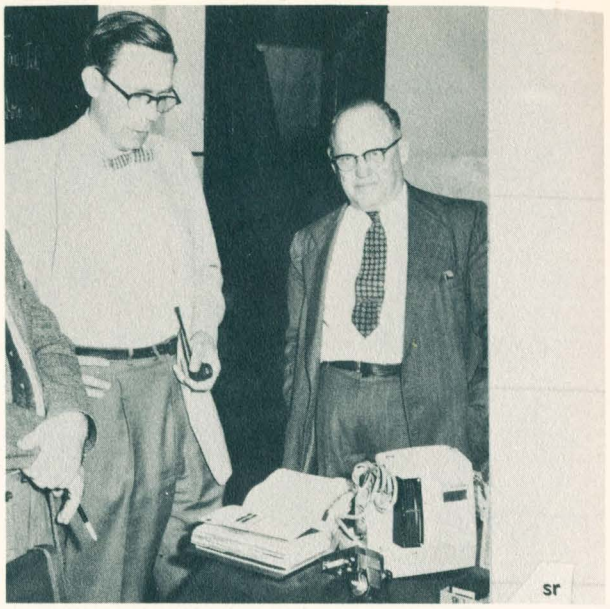

hi-fi festival

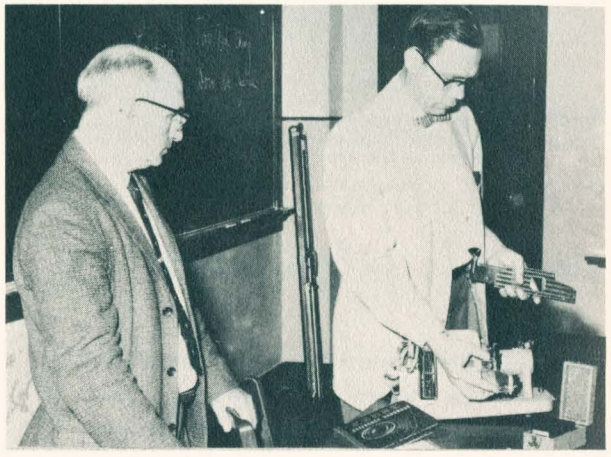

Serving as President of the Hi-Fi Music Guild of Greater Kansas City, Dr. Cj Stevens examines an exhibit at this year's Hi-Fi Festival. Originally a week-end exhibit in the corridors of Haag Hall, the Festival has grown in five years to a week-long show taking up three floors of the Bellerive Hotel. The Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity contributed many man-hours helping with the Festival, which has been a notable co-op project between merchants in the city and the University.

continuing education

Probably the area in which we best serve as the "community university" is the Division for Continuing Education. Courses in this division are offered to Kansas Citians, not for further college credit, but for the purposes of stimulating intellectual development, meeting new viewpoints and fresh ideas, gaining new information, arousing cultural activity, and broadening fields of interest. This concept of "Continuing Education" has been met with such overwhelming enthusiasm that the number of courses offered each semester has been increased from ten to thirty to accommodate the enrollment, which has quadrupled since 1955 to 1200. Courses have met during both the daytime and evening, and range from electricity to the history of scientific thought, covering a wide variety of subjects in the field of liberal arts and vocations. Dr. Cj Stevens, Director of the Division, states its purpose: "Today, continuing education strives to provide an informed citizenry for a democratic society as its chief aim. It seeks to help adults to become better able to make intelligent choices."

nursing program

An important example of the University co-operating academically with other institutions in the city is the Nursing program sponsored in connection with Research, General and Trinity Lutheran hospitals. A total of 57 girls received classroom instruction on this campus as part of their first year in nurse's training. Their curriculum included English, psychology, anatomy, physiology, chemistry, nutrition, microbiology, and sociology. Nurses who have already received their R.N. and are practicing in Kansas City benefited from the program for Continuing Education through three series of lectures given by leading physicians in the city. These lectures were one of the most successful programs for continuing education.

The Pharmacy Students' Wives Club was organized in the fall of 1958. The purpose of the club is to promote social relationships among its members and to further the interest of members in the profession of pharmacy. The club also assists the pharmacy school at its various social gatherings. Eligibility for membership is limited to the wives of pharmacy students of The University of Kansas City. The club varied its meetings between social and educational programs.

TRUMAN DOLLAR

The Phi Delta Femmes are the wives of law students; their organization sponsored several social functions throughout the year, including the annual Tinsel Ball. Students from The University of Kansas City have had opportunities not only to make many contacts with industry and the professions in this city, but also on a nation-wide scale. Janice Jones, Student Council President second semester, attended the 63rd Annual National Association of Manufacturers' Congress of American Industry in New York City. Janice attended the convention as the guest of Mr. John T. Pierson, who is president of the Vendo company and a member of the University Board of Trustees. Another UKC student representing the University on a national level was Truman Dollar, who appeared as a panelist on the television program, "College News Conference," Sunday, December 21, in Washington, D. C. Together with four other college students he interviewed Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Truman was a debate team member and associate pastor at the Baptist Temple, 2715 Swope Parkway.

Thomas Hart Benton

gwh

April 12th was Thomas Hart Benton's 70th birthday and the University saluted the famous artist with a celebration that included an exhibit of his works, a lecture by him, and a reception in the Little Gallery. A capacity crowd at the Playhouse heard Mr. Benton discuss historical research and technical problems for mural painting. The exhibit featuring the steps he takes in producing mural paintings remained on display for a month as a highlight of the Second Quarter Century Series.

area high schools

gwh

Spring weekends saw the UKC campus hospitality extended to many groups from the Kansas City area. All day Saturday, April 4th, music students from the largest high schools in Jackson, Clay and Platte counties gathered in many parts of the campus to perform for one another and to be judged for possible appearance in the Missouri State Music Festival. The echoes from the District Music Festival had hardly died away in the corridors when they were full of high school students again, on April 12th for High School Campus Day. Junior and senior high school students interested in attending The University of Kansas City and their parents met with Dr. Drake and then visited the faculty members who teach in their field of interest.

of your basic office equipment...

For your new dental office, you will probably invest about six thousand dollars in operative equipment. . . may we suggest also that you consider a modest investment in prosthetic equipment?

Prosthetic dentistry may well become the most important part of your practice in the years ahead. It is wise to plan for it, and equip your office for it, now.

The Trubyte Bioform Professional Denture Service Unit is an ethical practice-building aid which helps you to select the proper form, size and shade of Trubyte Bioform Teeth, and helps you to create an esthetic, individualized arrangement for every single case. It is simple, accurate and effective. Many dentists find it indispensable to their prosthetic practice.

Your patients will quickly recognize the superior results of truly professional denture service, which characterizes and individualizes every denture. Ask your Trubyte Representative about the many practice-building and patient education aids now available.

CRAFTSMANSHIP

Our clients demand the finest in dental prosthetics . . . and get it! When they entrust their bridgework to us, the end result is more than just another restoration . . . for the secret of our processing success is CRAFTSMANSHIP, the invisible ingredient in superior dental service.

As master craftsman, we recommend vacuum fired porcelain fused to gold restorations. They combine the esthetic naturalness of translucent porcelain with the perfect fit and permanent strength of gold bonded to it underneath.

In performance, gold and porcelain restorations are shock proof, impervious to mouth fluids, and benign to tissue; in appearance, beautifully life like with perfect shade and anatomy permanently built in . . . truly a product of superior craftsmanship.

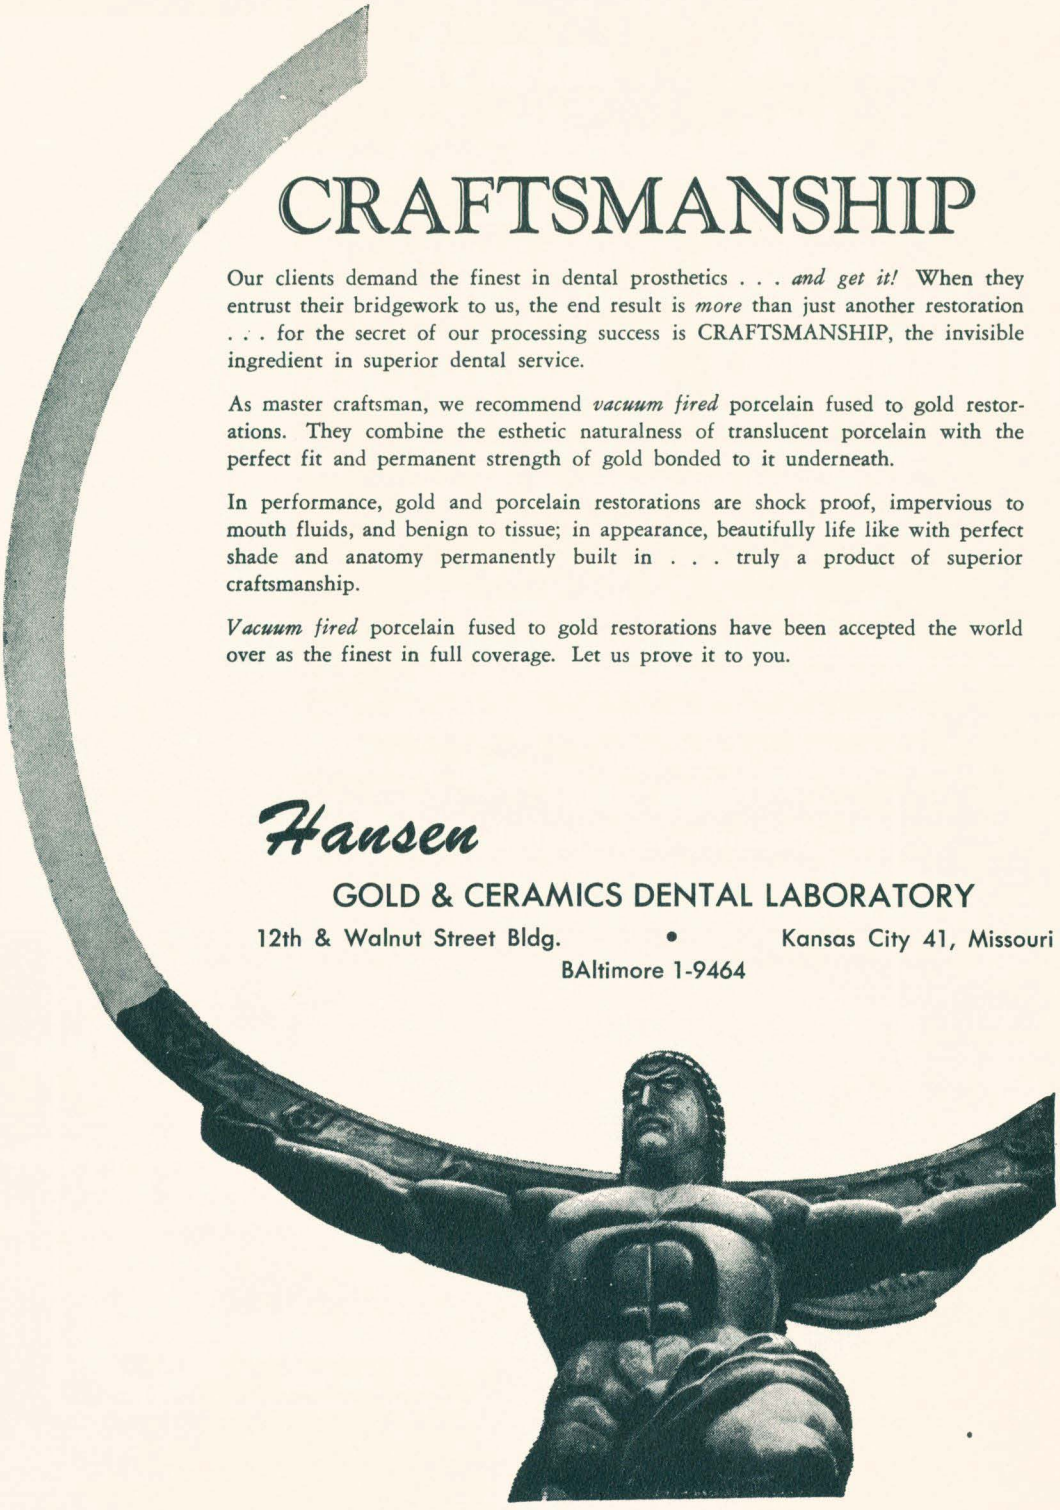

Vacuum fired porcelain fused to gold restorations have been accepted the world over as the finest in full coverage. Let us prove it to you.
