WITH THE EDITOR

Summer Visitors

MANY, many alumni visited the University during the summer. Some of them were on vacation, others were on their way to or from the Chicago Fair. However, a goodly number of them were here making arrangements for their children to enroll in the University this fall. Last year there were enrolled in the University four or five hundred of these boys and girls whose parents are alumni. From the number of those who visited here during the summer, we believe that an equal number of the "Hope O' Tomorrow" will be with us this year.

The alumni who have children in the University should urge them to call at the Alumni Office, for we shall be happy to meet and know these boys and girls, to work with them, and to lend our aid to make their stay at the University just as pleasant and profitable as possible. These boys and girls should feel free to make the Alumni Office their loafing headquarters and to call on us at any time for anything that we may do for them. There is no formality connected with their call at the Alumni Office—no appointment is necessary—tell them just to come right in and make themselves at home.

A Research Committee

GOVERNOR Guy B. Park, LL.B. '96, has appointed Dr. Walter Williams, President of the University, Chairman of the Commission to make a survey of liquor regulatory laws of other states and foreign countries with a view to recommending a suitable plan for Missouri. The personnel of this committee, which includes Walter C. Goodson, LL.B. '99, attorney of Macon, and Judge John S. Farrington, F.S. '93-95, attorney of Springfield, is assurance that the findings of the committee will be something worth while.

Rollicking Reunion

Unless we miss our guess, the twenty-fifth anniversary reunion of the members of the class of 1908, to be held here at Homecoming, will set an attendance record for class reunions held on the campus. Dr. C. B. Hutchison, reunion chairman, tells us that there is great interest and enthusiasm among the class members and that they are going to "do it up brown." Many of these members will have children in the University this fall who will accompany their parents to the class reunion dinner.

The Tower

LIGHTNING damage in early August to the Memorial Tower is causing the members of the Memorial Committee no little worry. Lack of funds will hinder permanent repairs. The members of the Committee realize the financial conditions and have not made any overtures which would make it a hardship for subscribers to meet pledge payments. Monthly notices are sent to subscribers in a manner intended to create good will and with the hope that every subscriber will pay as much as possible each month. Frank B. Rollins, Chairman of the Memorial Committee, states that the subscribers have been decidedly liberal under the circumstances, and he feels that with the return of good times pledge payments will increase accordingly—and some of these days we shall have a completed Union Building providing headquarters on the campus for students, and especially for the alumni.

Under the Banner

WILBER A. COCHEL, President of the General Alumni Association, is working with Dean T. W. H. Irion, of the School of Education, and President of the Missouri State Teachers Association, in an effort to bring to the attention of the people of Missouri the importance and necessity of meeting the educational emergency. It is a matter of tremendous importance and one in which the alumni throughout the state have expressed an intense interest. Their pledges of support to President Cochel in any plan which the Alumni Association recommends lead us to believe that a constructive and forward-looking program will be adopted to which the alumni will lend their unstinted support.

President Cochel hopes to hold a meeting on the campus some time this fall of the Presidents and Secretaries of the Missouri County Alumni Associations and other alumni upon whom he will call for assistance, and at that time outline to them the part they are to play. Mr. Cochel hopes to inaugurate this fall meeting of these officers as an annual custom, for he feels that these officers should meet on the campus at least once a year.

BRIEFS

Spanish Ambassador to deliver first convocation—Renowned newspaper man to visit Columbia in October—All 1933 law graduates successful in Bar Examination—Ivy grows on all the Columns—Phi Beta Kappa trophy won by Cleveland High School in St. Louis.

Senor Don Juan Francisco de Cardenas y Rivra, ambassador to the United States from Spain will deliver the opening convocation address of the year on September 19. Even though it will only be five days after the start of school uniformed cadets will take part in a public ceremony honoring the ambassador.

H. J. Timperley, renowned Australian and Far Eastern newspaperman, will be a visitor at the School of Journalism some time during October. Timperley has recently been a correspondent in Peiping for the Associated Press and the Manchester (England) Guardian. At present he is making a round-the-world-tour.

Every member of the 1933 law class who took the state bar examination passed it. Dean James L. Parks further announces that there has only been two graduates to fail to pass the examination in the last 12 years. It is considered that less than a third of the candidates pass.

According to a clipping sent in by Milo H. Brinkley, B.S. in Eng. '03, the Washington, D. C. Post carried a story about the Ivy at last growing on all the traditional six columns at the University of Missouri. This shatters the tradition that ivy wouldn't grow because the columns had been blood-spattered from a student killing in the early days. And it is probably a pleasure to bald-headed professors to see the myth vanish that even they were in some mystic way responsible for the bare column.

To the Cleveland High School at St. Louis goes the Phi Beta Kappa trophy as a reward for the superior scholastic record of their freshman representation in the University last year. In 1932 this annually awarded cup was in the possession of Westport High School in Kansas City. Freshman from Cleveland High School who helped in winning this trophy include Dorothea Marie Buschorn, Earl Harrison Forster, Robert Kuechler, Norman S. Nail, and Clarissa Jane Start.

AMERICA MUST SOLVE LEISURE TIME PROBLEM

C. L. Brewer, Director of Athletics

This fall under the NRA the people of the United States will have more leisure time than ever before in the history of this country. This new and unusual situation with its limited working hours will create free time on Saturdays and in the late afternoons.

Unquestionably, the need will exist for forms of recreation, athletics, and play, and unless leaders can be found in communities and on the school grounds the great beneficial value of leisure time will be lost and unhealthy habits will gain predominance.

The Americans who are by nature individual in their recreational activities will turn their free hours to such sports as golf, tennis, fishing, hunting, and hiking. The people of this nation will never take up the mass gymnastics, which are so popular in Germany and Italy, for mass and formal athletics have never appealed to our citizenry.

America must meet this new leisure time problem with a favorable solution, and from it will come unlimited benefits not only to the generation of today, but to the millions of men and women of tomorrow who will be better borned and raised. So today we must find recreational leaders for the countless thousands and thousands of shop and office employees, business men and women, and children in factories who have never experienced healthy exercise. The problem is arising and the only acceptable answer is that not a few but all Americans must learn to play.

To Create a Memorial to "Daddy DeFoe"

From His Host of Friends Comes the Request for an Opportunity to Share in Some Commemoration; Selected by the Curators and Dedicated at Homecoming

WORDS have been written and spoken in sincere and fitting eulogy to "Daddy DeFoe," but from his host of friends has arisen the wish to commemorate in deed as well as in word this man whose service was for others and whose wealth was friends.

W. A. Cochel, president of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association announces, that the Board was petitioned by the Engineering Alumni Association to arrange for a memorial for Luther M. "Daddy" DeFoe, which the Board voted to carry to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Cochel further announces that the money, which will be raised by donation, will be turned over to the Board of Curators of the University, and they in turn will decide on the nature of the memorial, which shall be for some worthy purpose.

The dedication of the memorial will be during Homecoming. This time was suggested, as there are numbers of alumni who do not live in the immediate vicinity and have made plans to come to Columbia at Homecoming. It will also give the three committees time to complete their work.

It is the duty of these committees to see that "Daddy DeFoe's" friends are each given an opportunity to donate a dollar or more. The alumni committee is informing all alumni and former students. Another committee composed of faculty members is handling the faculty donations. Since he was so closely identified with Columbia business, a group of business men are notifying their fellow associates of the proposed memorial.

He was 73 years old last April 1, when he died. He had served on the faculty of the College of Engineering for forty-one years, and it was during this time he had the honorary title of "Daddy" bestowed on him by students who flocked to him with their problems. He did everything to win their confidence in his sincerity. Many an alumnus remembers the influence and the value of a heart to heart talk with this loved professor in the library of his own home. As student advisor he knew more students than any other faculty member. Enrollment had grown from 500 the first year he came to nearly 4000 the last term. Even when he was made professor emeritus by the Board of Curators he continued to visit the students on the campus and to lend his influence in their lives.

To his fellow members on the faculty Prof. DeFoe was known as one of the old timers, whose opinions, based on his own successful career, were revered. He served on the Memorial Committee since its inception. He was one of the first student assistants in the University. After his graduation from the University in 1886 he took an A.B. degree at Harvard and studied at Cambridge University in England.

Prof. DeFoe had the esteem and the confidence of the townspeople as well as the students, and faculty members. He served as a member of the city council of Columbia, and he was one of the original members of the Board of Directors of the Boone Savings and Loan Association. His counsel and advice were sought by civic and community leaders. From 1915 to 1917 he held the presidency of the Columbia Chamber of Commerce.

In an impressive talk President Walter Williams said "He died in the Harness, like all of us want to die." From an address by Forrest C. Donnell are the lines: "His life exemplifies success in the quiet community radiated to the four corners of the earth." Dean Edwards summed his life up in one word, "Service." The last sentence of a resolution from the Memorial Committee were the unforgettable words, "We shall not look upon his like again." And it is to the perpetuation of the memory of this man "Daddy DeFoe", that his friends have asked for the opportunity to participate.

The petition which was sent to the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association was signed by Carl W. Brown, president of the Engineering Alumni Association and by Ralph E. Duffy, secretary-treasurer of that association. It was heartily endorsed by L. W. Helmrick, representative of the Engineers on the General Alumni Board.

Appoints '08 Class Reunion Committees

Dr. C. B. Hutchison, permanent president of the class of 1908 has appointed Dr. Edgar Lee, president of Christian College in Columbia, as chairman of the local arrangements committee for their class reunion at Homecoming. This committee will be in charge of the reception and banquet. Assisting Dr. Lee on the committee will be Bettie May Baker, Acena May Booth, Minnie Brashear, Annie Laurie Fleming, Dr. A. W. Kampschmidt, Laura M. Kingsbury, H. H. Krusekopf, A. T. McMillen, E. C. McMillen, R. E. Holloway and Col. J. F. Williams, of Columbia. Horace F. Major, will decorate for the banquet.

Dr. Hutchison believes that this will be the best attended class reunion as the committee has heard from practically all members of the class. The reunion will offer a double attraction to the members whose children are now enrolled in the University. Dr. Hutchison is communicating with C. L. Brewer, director of athletics, for a special section at the Homecoming game for the class members.

The committee on attendance promotion is composed of the following presidents of the respective schools: Arts and Science, William T. Cross, Bank of America, San Francisco, Calif.; Engineering, J. Russell Ellis, Missouri State Highway Dept., Jefferson City; Agriculture, Henry P. Rusk, University of Illinois, Urbana; Law, Floyd E. Jacobs, 209 Scarritt Bldg., Kansas City; Education, Harry Ashton Phillips, Warrensburg; Medicine, Dr. O. W. H. Mitchell, College of Medicine, Syracuse, N. Y.; Graduate, Earl Querbach, American Bridge Co. Ambridge, Pa.

Missouri Day Staged At Chicago in Style

With due regard to the rest of the world August 10 was a big day for The World's Fair in Chicago for that was Missouri Day and the Show-Me Commonwealth lived up to its title. And to quote one of the newspapers in the Windy City, "when a Missourian hitches up and starts out to show the world he does it by a big majority."

Why, it was only a small part of the show when Gov. Guy B. Park arrived at 14th street gate and was met by the infantry, the cavalry and received an artillery salute of the world's fair regular army detail, for Gov. Park brought his own army and treated the country to a real parade, showing off 650 officers and men of the 128th field artillery, Missouri guard, and regimental band of thirty-two pieces.

Observation of the above photograph will show the damage caused by lightning on August 2, to the southeast pinnacle of the MEMORIAL TOWER. The top was knocked to the ground and the mortar in the joints was loosened. One of the west side intermediate finials was blown down and another displaced. Plans to fix the damaged parts are under way.

And even that was just the start for a stirring program was enacted that afternoon at three o'clock in the court of states, where Missourians were proudly displaying one of the outstanding state exhibits.

United States Senator Bennett Clark, H. C. Caulfield, former governor, and Gov. Park responded to a welcome extended by Mayor Kelly and President Dawes of the Fair. Three special trains brought Missourians to the Fair to say nothing of the special motor parties and the thousands who were there already.

Annual University Day Celebrated at State Fair

The 13th annual University of Missouri Day at the State Fair was observed at Sedalia on August 17. President Walter Williams presided at a record-attended luncheon and introduced a number of alumni and University officials, a few of them making brief addresses. Those introduced were:

Arrangements for the meeting were

Joins St. Louis Office Of Federal Land Bank

J. L. Campbell, B.S. in Ag. '18, has accepted a position with the federal land bank organization at St. Louis. For the past thirteen years he has been director of the vocational agriculture school which he founded at Belton. This school opened in a small one room in the basement of the Belton High School in 1920. The school met with such success that the University recognized it as a practice teachers' school in 1923. The school now considered the best equipped in the state occupies a 2-story, 8-room brick building, and boasts of trophy cases filled with national and state awards.

Otto and Boyer Form Law Partnership

The law firm of Carl J. Otto, LL.B. '28 (A.B. Washington University) and Benjamin F. Boyer, A.B. '26, LL.B. '28 has opened offices in Washington, Mo., and at Union, which is the seat of Franklin County.

Mr. Otto, Kappa Sigma, Delta Theta Phi, was an attorney for the State Insurance Department previous to acting as assistant attorney general under Stratton Shartel, F.S. Mr. Otto recently married Miss Louisa Stephens, A.B. '28, Pi Beta Phi.

Mr. Boyer, Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Phi, Phi Beta Kappa, Order of the Coif, is the son of Judge John S. Boyer, B.L. '96, who is the present City Counselor of St. Joseph. Mrs. Benjamin F. Boyer was formerly Miss Marion Lehr, B.S. in Ed. '26, Gamma Phi Beta.

made by Dr. A. J. Campbell, president of the Pettis County Alumni Association and Miss Lydia Montgomery, secretary. They were assisted by Beulah Harris, Smithton; Mrs. Dimmit Hoffman, Helen Harris, Helen Kennedy, Rosalie Kanter, Jack McLaughlin, William Ramlow and Richard Wilkes of Sedalia.

President Williams in his closing remarks made a plea for the continuation of education so that the future generations may better face growing economic and political problems of the world. He urged parents to send their children to college, whether at Missouri or elsewhere.

Larry Brill, former cheer leader led the group in a varsity yell, and in conclusion the singing of "Old Missouri."

Winifred Spencer, B.S. in Ed. '29, visited Frances Troxell, a classmate, in Columbia, before attending the Fair in Chicago this summer.

They Call Him "The Missouri Artist"

George Caleb Bingham, Remembered Today as a Statesman and Painter,
Was the Lifelong Friend of James S. Rollins,
Father of the University

by ELLY BAACK

A century has passed, and he is still called the "Missouri Artist." Significant with paint and brush, he combined that importance with the soldier's sword and the critic's pen. Likewise, he was a statesman and a man of bristling speech. All in all, something of a middle western "Whistler"—and a little more.

The "Missouri Artist" was born March 20, 1811, in Augusta County, Virginia; and at quite an early age he showed an inclination toward art. A short sketch, which he probably intended as the beginning of an autobiography existed as late as 1902. The piece is invaluable for its historical facts.

At the age of eight, George Caleb Bingham's family moved to Missouri. The artist's father had lost all his money, and so with his wife, seven children and grandfather, they finally arrived in the town of Franklin, in Howard County.

Bingham's life as a child and later as a young man was not without its hardships. When he was only twelve his father died and left the family penniless. No matter what his work was, he always kept on with his drawing and so he began to receive sittings for portraits before he had barely mastered the rudiments of his art. In 1834 he went over to Columbia, Missouri, and painted some of the prominent citizens. Among them were Judge Warren Woodson, Col. Caleb S. Stone, Hon. Josiah Wilson and Major James S. Rollins.

There was a time when this George Bingham was among the most important personages in Missouri. In 1892 the Administration Building at the University burned and nine of Bingham's portraits were destroyed. Some twenty years later when the Capitol at Jefferson City met its fate by flames, twelve more of Bingham's paintings went up in smoke. In spite of the great loss of his canvasses his reputation lives on.

But a bit of him survives in St. Louis, at the Mercantile Library, are three of his most famous originals namely: "Stump Speaking," "The County Election," and "The Verdict of the People." A fourth painting,

"General Order No. 11" is in the home of Frank B. Rollins in Columbia. "Stump Speaking" was done in 1854 and depicts a group of Missourians listening to a gray haired politician. In "The County Election," painted in 1851, the scene is laid at Arrow Rock. The third picture in this series, which shows Bingham's profound interest in politics, "The Verdict of the People" portrays the announcement of the results by the judges.

"Order No. 11" is now on exhibit

Bingham's Portrait of Himself
Painted at the Age of 24

in the Missouri Building at the World's Fair in Chicago. It is a more bitter subject and Bingham's promise of an attack in oil. Bingham was state treasurer in 1861 when General Thomas Ewing issued his now famous order. There was border warfare on the Missouri-Kansas line. Ewing, in an effort to stop it, ordered the eviction of people from their homes within a certain area of Missouri. A great protest arose at the general's order and one of the most fiery protestants was Bingham. It is recorded that Bingham said to Ewing, "If you persist in executing that order, I will make you infamous with pen and brush as far as I am able." Ewing persisted. Bingham kept his word, for the painting depicts the brutal eviction of a family by the troupers.

In the new capitol at Jefferson City hangs a portrait of Bingham. It is there due to the efforts of C. B. Rollins, Sr., but no painting of George Caleb Bingham graces the structure.

Floyd C. Shoemaker, secretary of the State Historical Society, carried a fascinating article in The Missouri Historical Review, entitled, "Some Recollections of George Caleb Bingham," by C. B. Rollins, Sr., based on the sequence of at least a thousand letters the artist had exchanged with Major James S. Rollins, the Father of the University of Missouri.

Those were the dignified, leisurely days of the ante-bellum period, when a visit of less than a week from a friend was considered cold treatment. C. B. Rollins, Sr., recalls his delight as a child in listening to Bingham's stories, which the artist would illustrate as he related, on his frequent visits in the Rollins home.

Bingham and Major Rollins were lifelong friends and in the spring of 1837 the artist who had been painting portraits in Natchez, Mississippi during the winter for $40 to $60 a portrait added a humorous tone to a lengthy letter by writing, "Are you yet in the state of single blessedness? If so, I trust for your own credit that it will not long be the case. Do get a wife, and get children, and get me to paint you a family group."

As a mark of their friendship some years later Major Rollins named a son George Bingham and the artist honored his friend by naming his son James Rollins.

What a significant thing their friendship was—one the father of learning in this state and the other pre-eminently the greatest of Missouri artists, the very father of art in Missouri.

Capt. Bill Dunckel, B.S. in Ag. '15, former assistant football coach is now stationed with the Field Artillery at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for a two-year appointment. He was a famous fullback during his undergraduate days. He writes that he is now playing polo.

Names Otis and Maestre On Advisory Council

President Walter Williams has announced the appointment of Merrill E. Otis, district judge of the United States District Court, Western District of Missouri, Kansas City, and Sidney Maestre, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, St. Louis, to the advisory council of the University.

They are appointed to fill the vacancies caused by the deaths of Mr. F. G. Bonfils of the Denver Post, Colo., and Dr. Harvey C. Mudd of St. Louis.

Judge Otis graduated from the University with an A.B. in 1906, A.M. and LL.B. degrees in 1910 with scholastic honors. His rapid yet steady rise was marked by his being named chief assistant to the attorney general of Missouri in 1921, and by his appointment in 1923 to the chairmanship of the Missouri Public Service Commission. Following this he practiced law in St. Louis and later went to Washington as an assistant solicitor general in the department of justice. Last March Judge Otis was elected president of the Kansas City School of Law.

Mr. Maestre attended the University from 1909 to 1911. Today he has the distinction of being one of the youngest men to head a leading St. Louis banking institution. He is also chairman of the Mississippi Valley Group of the Investment Bankers of America. Besides his prominent business connections he has been a liberal supporter of the many civic and charitable enterprises.

Many Visit Goodwin Orchard

Many visitors and tourists in the lower Rio Grande Valley are conducted through the Goodwin Tract Lodge, which is under the supervision of E. M. Goodwin and his son, Ray D. Goodwin, B.S. in Ag. '19.

This tract near Mission, Texas is known as the "Show Orchard" and in it are fifteen miles of beautiful palms of uniform size, and a ten-acre plot of ground, which includes a sunken garden and scores of attractive flower beds.

The best of machinery and methods are successfully used in this tract of a thousand acres which is planted in citrus.

Announces Over WIL

Frank Eschen, a graduate of the 1932 class in Journalism is now announcing for radio station WIL in St. Louis. While in the University he did some announcing for KFRU. Since graduation he has been engaged in various kinds of theatrical work.

The Conferring of 277 Degrees Concluded 1933 Summer Session

ONE of the best remembered addresses of the year is "The Things That Are Not Caesar's," which was delivered by President Walter Williams to the 277 graduates at the Summer Session Commencement exercises on August 4, in the Brewer Field House.

"Caesar represents power, economic power, political power, the power of the material. He has many worshippers and many abject slaves. This world's goods are in his grasp. But what a mess Caesar, the practical man, has made of human life."

"He has set nation against nation, class against class, labor against capitol, capitol against labor, until a world sickened at war, may soon be summoned to war again."

"It is not the man who knows most who can lead best. The best leader is the man whose appeal is the strongest, whose personality commands the warmest admiration and affection, who has the highest ideals, the tilt of whose soul is upward. The one effectively controls or influences machines; the other, whose emphasis is on the things that are not Caesar's, influences and controls men."

"I call to your attention an inscription on the Memorial Tower, 'Walk in Wisdom, redeeming the time.' Surely the time needs redemption, and are not we some of those called into the Kingdom for such time as this. These are the things that are not Caesar's—Conscience and Character and Culture and the freedom of the human spirit."

Another impressive line from President Williams speech was, "The finest of all arts is the art of living with folks."

The Graduate School with a representation of 114 led in the number of degrees conferred, and were seconded by the School of Education's class of 92 candidates.

Prizes and Awards

The John D. Lawson Prize, which is $50 in Law Books, was presented to Robert Haywood Scott for the best work in contracts. Two musical selections were furnished by the women's voices of the Summer Session Chorus, directed by Prof. Marshall F. Bryant. Dr. Carl Agee of the Missouri Bible College gave the invocation and the benediction.

Roosevelt Retains Dearing; Appoints Sack Diplomat

In making his diplomatic appointments President Roosevelt is retaining Fred Dearing, A.B. '01, as ambassador to Peru, and has named Leo R. Sack, member of the first class in the School of Journalism, to be United States minister to Costa Rica.

Dearing has held diplomatic positions since 1904, and has since served the government in Embassies in practically all parts of the world. Dearing, who is a native of Columbia, followed his education here with a course in jurisprudence and diplomacy in Columbia University. Before entering the governmental service he taught in a district school in Missouri and in a military school in St. Louis.

Sack since 1919 has been the Washington correspondent for the Scripps Howard Newspapers. He gained prominence with a series of articles on the Smith-Vare senatorial campaign expenditures. Previous to his enlisting in the air service during the World War he had done newspaper work in different parts of the country, doing his first journalism work in his home state, Mississippi.

Exchange Student Sails for Honolulu

M. Wayland Fullington, B.J. '33, Springfield, sailed from Los Angeles September 2, to attend the University of Hawaii at Honolulu as the first exchange student. This exchange scholarship provides full tuition for one year and a cash award of $125. Fullington will enroll for an A.B. degree with a major in English. He is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma and Theta Kappa Nu, and was active in campus dramatics. He was awarded the John W. Jewell scholarship for superior work in journalism.

A Tribute to Education and a Qualified Man

A. P. Green Fire Brick Company at Mexico, Missouri, Employs Hundreds of Trained People and Serves Markets All Over the World

HE was by nature a builder and he was educated as a civil and a mining engineer—this man who found the opportunity and built one of the largest manufacturing units of its type in this country.

A. P. Green, a native Missourian, graduated from the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy and had gained a practical background in the fire brick business in the east and in St. Louis, when at the age of thirty-five in 1910 he saw possibilities of fire brick manufacturing in Mexico, Missouri.

In his thorough way he studied this gigantic dream from every angle, and now his visions are realities.

He is assured of enough high type clay in the locality to last for a hundred years or more. This clay pit, some 1600 feet long and 800 feet wide, is by far the largest and most uniform in material in America. Blasting, the use of powerful locomotives, and the proximity to the plant account chiefly for the thousand tons of clay which are won daily when the plant is operating normally.

The highest grade and the most efficient machinery is installed, offering operating flexibility which enables a change of process at will. After close study and several trips to Europe Mr. Green realized the value of the tunnel kilns and made them a part of his thoroughly modern plant. There are four single tunnel kilns of the open fire type and the holding capacity of the kilns is 68 cars. The bricks are in the actual baking process for at least an hour to an hour and forty minutes. These kilns, heated by oil, register a maximum temperature of 2400 degrees Fahrenheit.

There are three trunk lines tapping the plant which answers the transportation problem. The employment question is satisfactorily settled by the available steady native labor.

For the different stages of manufacturing brick Mr. Green has specialized staffs whose reports and findings are carefully noted. Attractively club rooms on the grounds are for the convenience of the employees, trained men and women. And it is from this plant in Missouri that bricks—the foundation of industry—are shipped to the four corners of the world.

Associated with the A. P. Green Fire Brick Company are the Liptak Furnace Arches, Ltd., London, England, The A. P. Green Company of Canada, Ltd., Toronto and the Bigelow Liptak Corporation at Detroit, Michigan.

Mr. Green has been actively interested in the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, and in the University. He is a member of the advisory council of the University. His daughter, Elizabeth, graduated with an A.B. degree in 1924, and married Arthur Bond, A.B. '25, Rhodes Scholar.

Mr. Green's two sons, A. P., Jr., and Robert are graduates of their father's alma mater, the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla. C. A. Freeman, the first graduate of Ceramics at the School of Mines and Metallurgy, is with the A. P. Green Company.

The vice-president and general manager, J. Harrison Brown, took a degree in Journalism at the University in 1914. Mr. Brown is also a native Missourian. He was well known on the campus and since his graduation has followed University activities.

To see this plant is not only to appreciate its size, but its mechanical beauty. To study the organization is to realize the superior service of education and training, under the guidance of a qualified man, whose business provides employment for hundreds of people and whose product is used everywhere.

The last two banks are as yet in the process of organization. The two banks that are operating have about thirty-two men in their legal department.

Mr. Head, A.B. '14, took his law degree at Harvard three years later, also received an S. J. D. from Harvard in 1932. After two years of army air service he practiced law in Kansas City until 1924. Since then he has been on the faculty of the Law School.

Two years ago Dr. Carl S. Agee became a member of the faculty with the understanding that he would fill the vacancy which Dean Edwards' resignation would create. Dr. Agee was educated at Transylvania College, and the College of the Bible at Lexington, Ky. He was formerly pastor of the First Christian Church of Philadelphia, Penn., and later the First Christian Church of Columbia.

Dean Edwards, whose ministerial training was received in this country and abroad, has served in the pulpits of the Christian Church in several Missouri towns and in Honolulu, Hawaii. The first clinic will be held Sept. 20 and others will be held each Wednesday afternoon thereafter. Patients not requiring hospital care will be treated.

WSM To Feature University

Radio station WSM, the National Life and Accident Insurance Company in Nashville, Tennessee is at present giving a series of radio programs featuring different colleges and universities in the country. The University of Missouri is soon to be featured in this series.

Radio Addresses Given In Interest of Education

"There are nearly 600,000 women students in colleges, universities and teacher's training schools and the number is rapidly increasing," said Mrs. Helen C. Zwick who was the last of eight speakers to be heard over radio station KSD speaking in the interest of higher education. Mrs. Zwick, a graduate of the University, is the first and only woman to serve as a member of the Board of Curators.

This series of eight talks was sponsored by KSD. The speakers, who were representatives of the University were asked to discuss some phase of education which would be of particular interest to the general public.

The initial address, "What is Liberal Education," was given August 7 by Dr. F. M. Tisdell, Dean of the College of Arts and Science. Four days later Mr. Mercer Arnold, a member of the Board of Curators and an alumnus of the University spoke on the subject: "The State's Interest in Higher Education."

Hail To a New Year!

Columbia has been the stage for a varied setting these last few months. The summer students folded up brief cases and departed this campus the first week in August. College Avenue lapsed into unbelievable quietude. The only visibly life in the Greek colony on the south west was an occasional lawn mower, or a snooping member of years ago showing "the house" to the family as they were enroute to the Fair. Given's continued to befriend the intersession journalism students, some twenty-four enrolled for an hour's credit a week. Then one afternoon during time of siesta unfamiliar music wafted across the campus bringing memories of the victrola records once played at Davis'—and one hears the group of eighty-five Hawaiians on their way to the World's Fair as they serenaded Mrs. Williams with their native songs. Then with unerring accurateness the fall styles appeared in the downtown windows and board and room signs beckoned from residences.

And now shouts of greetings and the laughter of young voices arouse the place from its state of lethargy. Stilted rush parties, stereotyped conversations, smile frozen faces, and from this unnatural state of things flutter yards and yards of colored pledge ribbons—then the let-down and the big cars go back to the city. So begins another collegiate year.

Another Way To Balance a Budget

"Where there's a will, there's a diploma," seems to be a maxim in the Davenport family at Mercer. When John Davenport, B.A. '33, wanted to attend college he was confronted with the ever popular lack of funds situation. Together with the help of his family and $200 he had saved they built a portable one room house, composed of eight pieces put together with 25 bolts. So by paying a dollar a month land rental and "batching" on the food stuffs his mother and sister had prepared for him he was able to keep a ford and drive home for new supplies and fresh laundry. Now that John is graduated, his younger brother Wesley who has shared the house with him is carrying on and will "dwell by the side of the road in his own house," and will feel no fear of landlord nor landlady.

GILBERT O. ROBINSON

of Senath, was active in the summer session graduate school. He received his master's degree from the University in 1932 and was president of Phi Delta Kappa, educational honorary. He and his wife, who was Hazel Conrad, a former student, had the interesting experience covering four years of organizing missions schools in Siam. On returning to this country in 1930 they completed a world tour.

ATHLETICS

Football Set-Up Looks Promising Carideo Builds Tiger Team Around 16 Lettermen; Sleight Coaches Defensive Linemen; Missouri Invades Kansas Thanksgiving

The 1933 football season finds the Tiger Team ready for the hunt. The set-up looks encouraging, and not only alumni, but football fans all over the country are intently watching to see how well the old Tiger has learned his new tricks. Director of Athletics, C. L. Brewer, announces that there is at least one veteran letterman for each position.

Frank Carideo, the most colorful and best known team leader and quarterback the game has ever known, begins his second year as head coach, breaking in the intricate Rambler system of play. Elmer "Red" Sleight, former All-American tackle from Purdue, will be in charge of the tackles, guards, and centers, while Carideo instructs the ends and backfield players. Anton Stankowski will continue as freshman mentor, initiating the first year squad.

A good and a colorful schedule awaits the Missouri squad this fall. Four of the nine games will be Homecomings for the opposing teams, and one will be The Tigers Homecoming with Oklahoma. The Sooners will be thirsty for revenge, and the Tigers don't intend for them to have it. Other Homecomings will be: St. Louis University at St. Louis, Iowa State at Ames, Washington University at St. Louis, and Kansas at Lawrence.

The Classic Game

This game with Kansas University will be on Thanksgiving Day—the old classic day and the old classic game, which used to pack the fields no matter where fought. Alumni and former students will remember this annual battle as it used to be played in Kansas City on turkey day. The last time in 1910 old sportsman's park was filled to capacity and thousands were unable to get admission. This return to Thanksgiving for the Kansas Game will be tried for two years at least, this year at Lawrence, and next season in Columbia.

Most of the varsity men of last year kept in condition by working during the summer. Practice began on September 10, in preparation for the freshman game on the 20th, and for the first intercollegiate battle of the season, which will be with Central Teacher's College on October 7. On the following day Don Faurot, a former Tiger star, will bring his hard fighting, ambitious eleven from Kirksville to try their power against the Missouri—gridiron—warriors. These two games were originally scheduled for a doubleheader.

Capt. Charles Schiele
All Big Six End '31-'32

Leading the team this year with his aggressive spirit, his popularity with the players, and his fine judgment is Captain Charles Schiele. He is considered not only as one of Missouri's greatest ends, but one of the best ends in the country. Schiele comes from East St. Louis, and is playing his third year on the varsity.

Of the fifteen other lettermen returning there are two other end players, Lloyd Hanley from Marshall and Clarence Harris from Brownwood, Texas. Hanley is also a third year man. Harris comes back for his second season. Ed McMillan from Joplin is back to hold down center position.

At the tackle positions will be Richard Koenigsdorf, for his third season from Kansas City, and Townsend Hader who made the squad last year from Higginsville.

The three lettermen qualifying for guard positions are all second year players. Two of them are Missourians, George Consoliver, from Lee's Summit, and Ted Bland from Kansas City, while Jack Swatek hails from down in Dallas, Texas.

The backfield line-up looks especially good with the following; Fred Faurot, Mountain Grove; Hugh Ramsey, Odessa; Woodrow Hatfield, Lamar; Clair Houston, St. Louis; Sid Johnson, Gover; Frank Ross, Kansas City, and George Stuber from St. Joseph who is also president of the student body. Of this group, Hatfield, Faurot and Stuber are third year men.

Unquestionably there will be the greatest organization and display of student spirit ever known in the history of the University at the games this fall, since under the new blanket tax every undergraduate will have a ticket, which literally will insure a hundred per cent student attendance at all the contests. This is the first time Missouri has ever tried this.

The field in Memorial Stadium is reported to be in better shape than ever before, and is unsurpassed by any playing field in the conference. It has been reseeded with southern blue grass and watered from sun down to sun up all summer. This well sodded turf is given the best means of preservation. The three section rubber cover for the field, bought in 1926, serves as a weather protector for the 360 by 160 feet of gridiron.

Football spectators this season at Memorial Stadium as well as the teams and the officials will be able to know the exact playing time by a new electric field clock, which will be the official timepiece operated with button controls by the timekeeper on the sidelines. The construction of this clock with a six foot minute hand is under the supervision of a student in the Engineering school, Bertram Johnson.

Names Athletic Committees

The Inter-scholastic Meet committee appointed by the board of curators announced through President Walter Williams the following persons: C. L. Brewer, R. L. Davidson, Sherman Dickinson, J. D. Elliff, R. L. Hill, and J. T. Quarles. The committee on Military and Physical Training is: E. J. McCaustland, C. L. Brewer, F. B. Mumford, A. C. Ragsdale, M. G. Randal, F. F. Stephens, and F. M. Tisdell. On the committee appointed for Intercollegiate Athletics are: C. L. Brewer, D. S. Conley, F. L. Martin, F. A. Middlebush, John Rufi, E. A. Trowbridge, and Walter Williams.

PAUL CALVERT, last season assistant coach, is now coaching freshman athletics at Lehigh University in Pennsylvania.

Stadium Sections Assigned for Alumni

The students, with their blanket tax activity books, are assigned the middle four sections on the east side. Facing the students on the west side in the two sections, KL, and MN are the rows for alumni on the preferred list. Alumni, former students, and season tickets are assigned to sections JI and HG which are also opposite the undergraduates on the west side. The lower rows of section K on the west side are held in reserve for the Homecoming game for the members and their families of the class of 1908, which holds its reunion at that time. Members of the 1908 class may designate their class in the margin of the clipping found on page 17 of this issue and mail it for reservations for the Homecoming game. They are, as well as other alumni and former students, urged to send their reservations in early as record attendance is expected.

Advertises Games Locally

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Columbia is continuing their local football publicity this season. Stationed on the stop signs of all down town corners is erected a football figure six and a half feet high, which will announce the complete schedule until the first game, after that each Tiger game will be advertised. The Junior Chamber of Commerce also is handling the ticket sale for the down town district.

MAIL YOUR ORDERS NOW!

Drafts, certified checks or money orders should be made payable to the University of Missouri. Personal checks will be cleared before a ticket order is filled, and purchasers will save time by avoiding their use. Applications and mail regarding tickets should be addressed to the FOOTBALL TICKET OFFICE, ROTHWELL GYMNASIUM, COLUMBIA, MISSOURI.

THE 5 HOME GAMES

The Tigers will open their 1933 season in Columbia on Friday, October 6 with the strong Central College team of the Missouri College Union. The following day, Saturday, October 7, they are hosts to Don Faurot's Kirksville Teachers, a team that compares favorably with those of the larger institutions. Faurot, whom all Missourians will remember as one of the great all-round Tiger athletes of a few years back, will bring a team of veterans to Columbia, and a real battle is a certainty.

The Conference season in Memorial Stadium opens on October 14 with Kansas State, and continues on November 4 and November 11 with Nebraska and Oklahoma respectively. These three games will undoubtedly go far in deciding the Conference Championship, and complete one of the most ATTRACTIVE SCHEDULES ever ARRANGED for MEMORIAL STADIUM.

GAMES AWAY FROM HOME

Choice seats will be available for games played away from Columbia, but you are urged to order NOW. The supply of center seats is necessarily limited, and the early orders will naturally get the preference. The demand for seats for the two games in St. Louis and the Kansas game in Lawrence will undoubtedly exceed our supply as it has in past years, so DO NOT DELAY. The Kansas game returns this season to the traditional Thanksgiving date, and it is certain that the Kansas stadium will be filled to capacity.

POLO TEAM READY

of the season with the Fort Des Moines, Iowa, team on September 14 and 16.

The Missouri squad is eager to maintain their record of last year and to be invited to the Intercollegiate Conference in June on Long Island, according to the report of Captain W. A. Beiderlinden, a member of the R. O. T. C. faculty, who supervises polo here. This major sport at Missouri is sponsored by the self-sustaining University of Missouri Polo and Riding Association.

Good polo horses are available, and a new practice cage has been built, which will undoubtedly be an advantage in improving the stick work of the team. New side boards, made of cypress wood, have been used to line the field.

Dinwood Groves, former Missouri athlete, captains the Kansas City Country Club polo team, which has the tentative date set for September 21 and 23 to meet the University team. On the following week-end the varsity squad is making plans to compete against the St. Louis Country Club.

The four lettermen who returned this year are: Frank Manker, East St. Louis; Edward T. Brown, Trinidad, Colo.; Joseph B. Gregg, Kansas City; and George R. Parks, Columbia.

Florida Students Honor Major Riley

Major Bert C. Riley, B.S. in Ag. '14, and founder of Blue Key, national college service fraternity visited Columbia this summer. Major Riley is director of the general extension division at the University of Florida at Gainesville. Last year the annual of the University of Florida was dedicated to him.

In the fall of 1924 in his official role he was to plan an elaborate program for the thousands of visitors expected at the first combined Dad's and Homecoming Day at the University of Florida. To gain the student support he called in a group of outstanding campus leaders, and in order to get these men together without loss of time the meetings were held at luncheon and dinner hours.

The organization worked so perfectly that it was made a permanent society and took the name of "Blue Key," and has since granted charters in many American colleges and Universities. It is built on one principle that of service, and there is no elaborate organization nor secret work of any kind.

band and two children, Carolyn and Dick, of Kent, Ohio, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Labelle, visited in Columbia recently.

THE STRANGE CASE of MRS. GREEN

ON the afternoon of January third, Mrs. T. N. Green left her home at exactly 2:30 to go shopping. During the afternoon reliable observers saw her in various stores downtown. It has been established that she did not start for home until 5:15 that afternoon, and that she entered the front door of the Green residence at 6:10.

▼ At 6:20, Mr. T. N. Green arrived from the office. At 6:30 Mrs. Green served a dinner consisting of a roast, baked potatoes, freshly baked apple pie, and a number of other things that require from one to two hours to cook.

▼ Mrs. Green has no maid. What could her secret be?

▼ Operatives studying the case report that immediately prior to her departure, Mrs. Green placed these foods in the oven of her range. They declare it to be an Electric Range for she set a time device, and left with a satisfied look on her face. They further declare that the range automatically turned itself on at the hour Mrs. Green set it for, and the food was properly cooked without any assistance whatever from Mrs. Green!

▼ Yes, indeed, it's true. Any dealer will be delighted to show you an Electric Range just like Mrs. Green's, and explain it, too. You'll be surprised at its low cost and the economy of operation!

Visits Japanese Shrines And Pearl Hatcheries

Miss Laura Frances Cottingham, B.S. in Ed. '26, is a member of the faculty of the Canadian Academy, a school for English speaking children, in Kobe, Japan. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cottingham of Kansas City. Her father attended the University in 1893.

She wrote an interesting and a colorful account of a day's excursion during which she and a friend visited two Japanese shrines, and the Mikimoto Pearl Hatcheries.

In visiting the shrines she was impressed with the hundreds of boys and girls of the school age dressed in uniforms going there as part of their education. But these hundreds of children were swallowed up in a seething mass of bright kimonos, for the summer styles in dress and parasols were on parade in an exhibit of glorious color. In spite of the constant milling of people all hours of the day the Japanese, unlike the Americans, never hurry. These prehistoric temples were surrounded by stately trees and stood by a sacred river in which the pilgrims bathed as a part of their ritual.

On returning to the station they were obliged to wait and during that time not a few Japanese began to stare at her companion who became an object of interest not only because of his height of six feet and four inches, but because of his red hair. Many of these rural Japanese had heard of red hair, but had never expected to see it.

After an hour's ride by tram Miss Cottingham and her friend boarded a private launch for a shorter ride and were conducted to the Mikimoto Pearl Hatcheries or Oyster Beds. These are owned by the great pearl king who discovered the method of making cultivated pearls.

"We were shown one of the oyster beds and the diving boat where the four girls at this 'farm' lived—a very small, flat bottomed, one cabin affair," wrote Miss Cottingham. "The girls dive four times daily for twenty minutes each. But they smilingly donned their underwater goggles and performed again. The oyster beds are in shallow water—about fifteen feet deep. They bring up the shells and put them in a wooden tub which is roped to the girl's body so it can't float away. The oysters are taken to the experiment station, a seed pearl inserted by a secret method, and then the oyster is put into a wire cage and sunk into the water for a period of three to seven years, depending on the size of the pearl wanted. Every so often the cages are raised and the shells cleaned."

Travels 55 Days To Attend University

Mr. Tin-chu Hsiung chose the University of Missouri and spent 55 days in traveling the intervening 10,000 miles to Columbia from his home which is located on the border between Yunnan Province and Burma.

He was selected as one of the three students to be sent abroad by the Yunnan Provincial Government to study. He is thirty years old and will specialize in Horticulture. Mr. Hsiung holds an A.B. degree from the National South-eastern University at Nanking.

From his home in the town of Teng-yueh he had to travel 25 days to reach the nearest railroad station. This part of the journey was made in a sudan chair, carried by three men and covering 25 to 35 miles a day. After 4 days on train he spent 3 days by boat reaching Hongkong and another 3 days by boat to Shanghai. Then there was 16 days on board an ocean liner to land at Seattle, which is only the short distance of four days by rail to Columbia. So by merely coming to the University Mr. Hsiung holds an honor—the honor of being the student who has come the greatest distance to attend the University.
