THE EDITOR'S DESK

I still read the ALUMNUS, turning first to "Tiger Tales," end of the 19th century. I found two items there in a recent issue for 1879 and 1887 (my own graduation years).

I am always interested even when I find most items are for later Missouri men with whom I am proud to be enrolled. In 1883 I first stood spell bound before the Greek Columns that graced the entrance to the main building, where for the next four years I was privileged to assemble with some rare fine spirits. The tempores and mores have somewhat changed, no doubt, but I was thrilled when I realized that at last a long cherished dream of opportunity was to be realized in fact. I was then 21 years old.

It was part of the mores of that day that the whole student body attend the morning question hour when our president, Dr. Laws, addressed wise counsel, both practical (about health and habits, will and mind) and inspirational (words of courage and hope held out for attainment in the future). Well, he got scant appreciation at the time, but the years have seen it grow more and more, and deeper into a glorious memory.

There is nothing too trivial or obscure to interest your alumni on what goes on at the old stand. There is nothing irrelevant or foreign in any incident that can be related. Let the light shine—and let your columns reveal the thoughts, aspirations and the life of the student body. It makes the old fellow almost think he is young again—which is saying again he is alive.

One touch of mortal sin makes the whole world kin.

The Alumni Office has been moved to 110 Jesse Hall, across the hall from its old location.

In correction of an error in last month's ALUMNUS: Dr. Bunker received his A.B. from the University in 1923 instead of 1932. We also omitted to print that he is a member of Kappa Sigma, social fraternity.

DEAN MILLER'S PORTRAIT PRESENTED

One hundred fifty-six alumni, former students, and faculty members of the College of Agriculture were present Oct. 29, in the Christian student center at a testimonial dinner in honor of Dr. M. F. Miller, dean-emeritus of the college. The occasion was also the 19th annual meeting of the Association of Alumni and Former Students of the college.

A portrait of Dean Miller, painted by Othmer J. Hoffer of Chicago, was presented by the association to the College of Agriculture. The presentation was made by the association's president, John Sam Williamson, of Columbia and was accepted by Dean E. A. Trowbridge for the college. The association also gave Dean Miller a desk lamp.

The program included talks by President F. A. Middlebush, Dean E. A. Trowbridge and Dean Miller. At a brief business session officers of the association were re-elected for another year, Mr. Williamson, as president and Cordell Tindall of Fayette as secretary-treasurer.

In paying tribute to the work of Dean Miller, Mr. Williamson pointed out that when Dean Miller retired from full-time administration work last fall, he was honored by his fellow workers with the following citation: "Faithful and courageous leadership has marked your administration of the College of Agriculture in these years of war. Patiently but insistently you have led your colleagues to meet the challenge of needs far greater than in any previous period. Your record as dean and director, however, can never eclipse your contribution as teacher, colleague, and friend."

It had been Dean Miller's responsibility to guide the work of the Missouri College of Agriculture through two world wars, for he served as acting dean in 1917 and 1918 and as dean and director from 1938 until the present. It is significant that peace returned to the world within the last days of his present administration.

Since 1904, when he came to Missouri from Ohio as professor of agronomy, the name of M. F. Miller has been synonymous with soils work. As head of the Missouri department, he gained national recognition for his institution through the research and teaching work carried on by his department and himself. Soil surveys, soil erosion studies, soil behavior, soil fertility, all were subjects to which Missouri contributed in a noteworthy manner.

Recognition of his work came also to Professor Miller personally. In 1923, he was named president of the Soil Survey Association and in 1923 he headed the American Society of Agronomy. He was awarded the honorary title of Doctor of Agriculture by Kansas State College in 1938.

He is the author of the textbook, Soil and Its Management. In addition, his name appeared as the author or co-author of 30 publications of the University of Missouri. Mr. Miller has mentioned that he would like to write a number of small simple publications for grade school pupils to use in understanding more about the soil.

Missouri Scientists Granted $10,460 for Research Study

Grants totalling $10,460, to be used by the College of Agriculture in research study, have been accepted by the University Curators, E. A. Trowbridge, dean of the College of Agriculture, announced recently.

The largest single amount was a $5000 grant-in-aid from the U. S. Public Health Service for research study being conducted by Dr. A. G. Hogan, professor of animal nutrition. Other grants amounting to $4100, to be used in research study on the artificial insemination of cattle, were divided into $2500 from the Ortho Research Foundation, Linden, N. J.; $1000 from the Missouri Farmers Association, Artificial Breeding Association, Springfield; and $600 from the Midwest Breeding Farms, Trenton, Mo.

An additional $1000 was received for research work on plant hormones or weed killers from American Chemical Paint Company. The Middle West Soil Improvement Committee in Chicago gave $360 to further extension projects on soil improvements.

The Board of Curators of the University has accepted two scholarships of $250 each, gifts from the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation of Cleveland, to be awarded to students in the College of Agriculture, it was announced by E. A. Trowbridge, dean of the College of Agriculture. They are to be known as the Mr. and Mrs. Albert Graeff Scholarships of the Lincoln Foundation.

The scholarships were awarded because Mr. and Mrs. Graeff of Osborn, Mo., submitted a winning paper in a national contest held by the Lincoln Foundation. Besides a cash prize to the authors, agricultural scholarships were offered to two students in college in the home state of the winners. Eight other state universities acquired similar scholarships.

According to terms of the gift, the scholarships are to be awarded to students, preferably in agricultural engineering, on the basis of scholastic attainment, imagination, and promise, without regard to financial need of the students.

Dean Bent to Head A. A. U. Classification Committee

Dr. Henry E. Bent, dean of the University Graduate School, was nominated chairman of the Committee of Classification of the Association of American Universities at a recent meeting at Princeton University, President Frederick A. Middlebush announced recently.

The association also proposed the combination of its present offices, now divided between Columbia and Indiana universities, into a single office to be located at the University of Missouri.

Thirty-four of the leading American and Canadian universities and colleges concerned with graduate study make up the association. About half of these are state operated and the others are private institutions.

The Committee on Classification, which is the most active division of the association, decides upon the effectiveness of undergraduate work offered by colleges and universities as a foundation for graduate studies. Schools now on the approved list number about 300. Members of the committee visit institutions which apply for admission to the association and evaluate the work being done on the basis of these visits, on the information submitted by the school itself, and on the records of graduates who continue their studies.

In addition to Dean Bent, the committee includes the following graduate deans: A. P. Brogan, University of Texas; D. W. Gilbert, University of Rochester, N. Y.; R. W. Goss, University of Nebraska; R. P. McGuire, Catholic University of America; Ferdinandus Payne, Indiana University; W. W. Pierson, University of North Carolina; R. G. D. Richardson, Brown University, R. I.

Principals' Association Holds Annual Meeting in Columbia

Dr. L. G. Townsend, dean of the School of Education at the University and Dr. Harold C. Hand of the University of Illinois opened the annual convention of the Missouri Association of Secondary School Principals in Columbia, Oct. 3.

Presentation of the conference theme was made by Dr. Townsend. Dr. Hand spoke on "Youth's Most Imperative Need Today." R. Lee Martin, president of the association and former principal of Jefferson Junior High School, presided.

Teachers' colleges fail to stress the importance of education to students, Dr. Virgil Cheek, head of the department of commerce at Southwest Missouri State College, Springfield, told the second session of the convention Friday, Oct. 4.

"The most imperative need of youth today," Dr. Cheek said, "is training that will prepare him to fulfill the life of a good citizen in a democracy."

Inadequate preparation in secondary and high schools has resulted in too many colleges and universities refusing to train students in the professions they wish, he said. Educational courses must be organized from kindergarten through the university, Dr. Cheek said.

The function of universities is one of service and leadership to teachers and institutions on the secondary level, Dr. Thomas A. Brady, vice-president of the University, told the Missouri Association of Secondary School Principals in a meeting that evening.

Dr. J. Paul Leonard, president of San Francisco State College, emphasized the necessity for changing our present vertical system of education to a horizontal one of studying demands of modern society upon the individual, and adjusting education to the needs and abilities of youths.

The most important need is for leaders who can synthesize the specialist and solve the problems of social betterment, he said.

Brother Felix, principal of St. Peter's High School in Jefferson City, presided at the afternoon meeting Oct. 4, and R. Lee Martin presided at the evening session.

Dr. W. E. Drake, professor of education at the University, spoke at the afternoon session. A year with the army of occupation in Europe convinced him, Dr. Drake said, that the minds of Germans and other Europeans have been disciplined to the point of losing capacity for reason or kindness.

The conference was concluded Saturday, Oct. 5, with an address by Dr. E. J. Brown dean, University College, St. Louis University, and several group discussions. Mr. Jesse Stinson, member of the executive committee, presided.

Ag Instructors Meet Here

More than 200 vocational agriculture teachers arrived in Columbia to attend the annual state conference of Missouri instructors of vocational agriculture Oct. 3-6.

Dean E. A. Trowbridge opened the conference at the library auditorium of the University with an address of welcome. Commissioner of Education Roy Scantlin, discussed "Looking Forward in Vocational Education," and J. H. Foard, state supervisor, spoke on the "Status of Vocational Agriculture in Missouri." The first session of the conference was held at 4 p. m. Oct. 3.

Conference activity Oct. 4, opened at 9:30 a. m. with Joe Duck, district supervisor, acting as chairman. At 11:15 a. m., Dr. Carsie Hammonds, professor of agricultural education at the University of Kentucky, discussed "The Necessity for Practice—The Desirability of Supervising it."

The conference closed at noon Oct. 5, after a panel discussion on Veterans Training led by J. M. Wallace.

Total enrollment at the University to date stands at 10,558, according to information from the Office of the Registrar.

By JIM GOOCH

After a busy two months, filled with study and much activity, students are helping alumni and returned classmates celebrate the 1946 Homecoming, which is the largest reunion of recent years. The homecoming committee arranged for a full week of festivities instead of the usual three days. Packed with concerts, dances, pap rallies, and ending with the traditional feud-battle with Kansas University, the program featured attractions for both students and returning alumni. Starting the week off Saturday night, Nov. 23, at the Coronation Ball, Xavier Cugat and his orchestra played for a four hour concert and dance. In addition, concerts were given on both Monday and Tuesday nights, Nov. 25 and 26 by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

And now it's time for those mid-semester exams, and many an anxious freshman is waiting to see just what it is like to take long tests, and wondering how their mark will fit into the grade curve.

Along with many other dances, the AWS Skirt Swing, and the College of Agriculture's Barnwarmin' was cause for much fun and many sleepless nights last month.

Barnwarmin', the Ag. Club's annual harvest frolic, saw its biggest success this year, both in attendance and in the elaborate autumn decorations used. More than two-thousand students and alumni turned out for the old barn dance which was held in the Field House, to dance to the music of Bob Crosby and his Bob Cats.

Since the AWS Skirt Swing was on the same week-end as Barnwarmin', there was certainly a variety of noises when the farmer students were delivering their invitations in the traditional manner on Monday night, and their familiar hog calls blended with the carivans of cars honking their horns to campaign for their favorite Knight Owl candidate.

More than 900 University girls invited their boy-friends to the Skirt Swing in the usual manner; sending them corsages, and even escorting them to and from the dance. The pre-dance campaign for Knight Owl ran high when organizations did everything from hanging posters to dropping leaflets from airplanes. The radio was even used this year to promote the candidates.

There is a Saturday night dance at Read Hall now except on week-ends which conflict with all school activities.

Blue Key, and all school service honorary fraternity, which was disbanded in 1943, has been reorganized, and has around 20 members this fall.

Mortar Board held a tea on Nov. 3, in honor of transfer students.

Student speakers discussing campus activities were featured at the annual Read Hall Merry-go-round held Oct. 23-24, for freshman and transfer women students. The program, sponsored by Kappa Epsilon Alpha, sophomore women's honorary fraternity, climaxed the freshman orientation program.

Other organizations holding meetings during the month are as follows: Alpha Phi Omega, University service fraternity, affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America, held an open smoker Oct. 23. Darwin A. Hindman, director of student affairs for men at the University, and Mark B. Perkinson, scout executive for the Central Missouri area were guest speakers.

Delta Sigma Pi, professional business and commerce fraternity met Oct. 25 to honor J. D. Thomson, Chicago, national assistant secretary-treasurer of the fraternity. Mr. Thomson spoke on the present and future activities of Delta Sigma Pi.

Fifteen members attended the regular meeting of Theta Sigma Phi alumnae at the Colonial Room of the Tiger Hotel Oct. 8. Nadine Wayland Crowell, president, was in charge. An informal Hallowe'en party and a rush tea were also on the October calendar for Theta Sigma Phi.

Honoring juniors in education, Alpha chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, education fraternity for women, gave a tea Oct. 26 in Read Hall. Before the tea members met to discuss election of new members.

The report of the Tau Beta Pi national convention was made and chapter officers and the advisory board were elected for the fall term at the honorary engineering fraternity's meeting recently. The American Society of Agriculture Engineers met Oct. 8 for the purpose of reactivation after a lapse of 3 years. An election of officers was held later in the month.

Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity; Gamma Alpha Chi, national professional Journalism fraternity for women, and Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, also held meetings during October.

The Intercollegiate United Nations discussion group conference met at the University this month. Missouri was host to delegates from 10 other Midwest colleges and universities in the organization when they met on Nov. 15 and 16.

The play, "State of Union" was presented by Workshop Nov. 5-9. Other major productions scheduled for this year by Workshop are, "I Remember Mamma", Dec. 10-14; "Green Grew the Lilacs," March 11-15; and "Dear Ruth," April 22-26.

A new University bulletin called "Your Guide to the Campus" was prepared for distribution to new students at the beginning of the fall semester. An introduction by Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University, welcomed the new students and explained the purpose of the bulletin. The bulletin contained a map of the University campuses and information on all colleges as well as outlines of all the student aid offices and general data on the faculty, the student body, and other phases of the University and University life.

The Missouri Shamrock, official publication of the Engineers' Club of the University, has received the highest award for excellence in publication by Engineering College Magazine, Associated. The award, made annually on a nation-wide basis, covers the period from September 1945 to June, 1946.

Annual Farm and Home Week Held Here October 29-31

More than 950 people registered for the first two days of Farm and Home Week activities, a figure well over the total attendance for last year's event.

D. V. Wells, chief of Agriculture Economics of the United States department of Agriculture, spoke at the general session, Oct. 29, in the University Auditorium. In discussing "American Agriculture: Appraisal of Current Situation and the Prospects Ahead," he said:

"Farm Production has increased one-third since 1935-39, though farm population has decreased. This proves that the American farmer is far more efficient today than in the past."

In discussing the farmer's future, Mr. Wells said that there is evidence that American farmers can and will continue to produce at a high level, though forecasters agree that they can expect a downward adjustment in prices in the years ahead.

"However, if full employment can be obtained, the American people will eat 15 per cent more per capita than in the pre-war years. In addition, foreign demand will remain strong," he said.

Mr. Wells concluded, "The outlook for American industry, labor and farming is good for at least a decade or more, but our economic future is not fore-ordained. We are neither assured good prices, nor doomed to depression."

Farm and Home Week activities began at 9:30 a. m. Oct. 30, with four departments of the University presenting programs for the morning session.

Florence Harrison presided at the home-family discussion. Dr. C. E. Lively, chairman of the rural sociology department at the University, spoke on "The Rural Health Situation." He discussed rural health and the need for advanced medical service.

Dr. John Williams of the State Health and Welfare department explained the Hill-Burton Act. The act provides federal aid, which must be matched by state and local funds for building general hospitals.

Ethel Mitchell, instructor in physical education at the University, emphasized rural health education.

M. F. Miller, A. G. Hogan, and W. C. Etheridge spoke at the general farming program on farm progress, recent feeding information, and new facts on field crops.

C. W. Helm, A. W. Klemme, M. M. Jones M. J. Regan, and A. C. Ragsdale participated in the dairy farming program, and T. J. Talbert, H. G. Swartwout, G. D. Jones, and Lee Jenkins discussed vegetable and fruit production.

"The Ever-Normal Refrigerator" was discussed by H. E. Babcock, national farm cooperative leader, at the general session in Jesse Auditorium.

"Since it is the quality of the food which goes into the human stomach rather than the size of the stomach itself which determines the farmers' market for food, we need not fear overproduction," he said. All we have

Tiger Basketballers Sharpen Talons for Season's Games As Eight Lettermen Return

Coach Wilbur "Sparky" Stalcup and his varsity basketball squad are rapidly working toward tip top condition as the Tiger court season gets under way.

Some one hundred sixty-eight eager basketball men answered the call to practice early this fall and the new Tiger mentor had many sleepless nights before he began cutting his squad down to working size. Even now with a smaller working sized squad Stalcup still has afternoon and evening practice sessions.

Eight lettermen from previous days dot the varsity squad these days including Earl Stark and Thornton Jenkins, who have captained Tiger clubs of the past. Other lettermen are Bob Garwitz, Houston; Dick Gwinn, Jefferson City; Dan Phippen, Waynesville; Pleasant Smith, Union; Jim Austin, Columbia; and Kenny Bounds, Kansas City.

The remainder of the varsity squad are: Ben Bidewell, Marble Hill; Don Burt, Garden City, Kan.; Bill Fowler, Boonville; W. E. "Red" Haynes, Joplin; Darrell Lorraine, Conway; Roy Pillard, Bismarck.

Carl Pierpoint, Quitman; Bob Rush, Columbia; John Rudolph, Atchison, Kan.; Don Salee, Ava; Bob Wachter, St. Joseph; Jim Wadleigh, Portland, Maine; Kenneth Shockley, Owensville; Don McMillen, Windsor; and Bob Phillips, Kansas City.

Two-Mile Team Undefeated In Fall Interschool Contests

The Tiger two-mile track team, a hard working bunch of students who spend as much time on the training track as do the football players, came through the fall competition undefeated.

In three Big Six meets the Tiger cindermen defeated Iowa State, Kansas State, and Nebraska. And as we go to press the Big Six two-mile meet in Norman, Okla., has yet to be run.

Coach Tom Botts said he had hopes of winning although there are several men in the conference who might finish ahead of his stalwarts.

The workhorses of the squad include Richard Chronister, St. Louis; William Slagle, Sedalia; Bob Bosworth, Maplewood; and Bill Killough, St. Charles.

"Training Table Notes"

Going into the Oklahoma game, the Tiger B and B boys, Brinkman and Bonnett, had accounted for sixty of the Tiger points this season, each with five trips to pay dirt to his credit. . . . Baseball Coach John "Hi" Simmons, who acts as chief Tiger scout during football season, was late returning from Boulder, Colo., after peaking at the Buffaloes—the reason, he was snowbound for several days . . . and boy, was he mad. . . . Speaking of baseball, Tom Hall from Roswell, N. M., captain of the 1912-1913 baseball team was down to visit the campus during the world series . . . during the Colorado-Missouri game several inches of rain flooded Memorial Stadium. Said Buffalo Coach Jim Yeager, "It's the best day for a game we've had in Columbia since I've been coaching." . . . The Tiger B team ranks 90th in the national polls so far this season. . . . The Tigers have sadly needed Ed Hodges who vacated his tackle position early in the season with a broken arm . . . later on Marshal "Iggie" Shurnas, tough left end, got a bad knee kicked out of place. . . . Faurot needed these two lads sorely when he met the Sooners in Norman. . . . Blaine Carr, sports publicity director and general drum beater for the Faurotmen, has been busy as a bee on a hot stove, jumping from one town to another showing pictures and speaking at high school football banquets . . . and the tough part of it is that Blaine just got married as football season started and his wife doesn't get to go along on the trips. . . . The victorious B team always scrimmages against the varsity during the early part of the week;

TIGER ACE SCORES

Lloyd Brinkman, leading Mizzou groundgainer, and second place Big Six scoring ace, carries the pigskin over the Iowa State goal line. This fine picture shows the kind of downfield blocking the Faurotmen have had when they were clicking this season. Other Tigers are left to right: Roland Oakes, John Reginato, and Bob Hopkins.

however, after they returned from Muskogee, Okla., and their second victory over the Oklahoma B boys, Faurot gave his juniors a well-earned day off. Plus that fact, they were battered, bruised, and tired from the trip. . . . Coach Tom Botts issues the first call for indoor track, Dec. 2.

Football Facts . . .

Manhattan, Kan., Oct. 12—Missouri opened its defense of the Big Six crown here this afternoon by whipping the Kansas State Wildcats 26-0 with a convincing display of running power. The Tigers so completely dominated the game, that Kansas State never penetrated beyond the Mizzou 30 yard line.

Bob West scored the first touchdown by diving over from the 3 yard line after a 72-yard march. Clever quarterbacking which mixed some well directed aeriels to Roland Oakes set up the second touchdown. Bus Entsminger topped this drive by piling over from the 7 yard line. James Kekeris booted the extra point.

Mizzou's third scoring drive came in the second quarter starting from their own 29. Howard Bonnett received credit for this tally by smacking over from 2 yards out.

The Bengals added their final counter in the fourth period with Teel hoofing it over from the 3. Bill Day kicked the extra point. The passing of James Darr sparkplugged this march.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 19—The home fans got their first look at the 1946 Tigers today as the crowd of 15,000 watched the Bengals grind out a 33-13 victory over a game Iowa State eleven. This was Missouri's second straight Big Six conference win.

This game had plenty of thrills all the way. Missouri opened fast with a three-touchdown barrage in the first period. Brinkman, Bonnett, and a pass from Darr to Bonnett counted for the first three tallies.

Howie Bonnett's first touchdown came after a brilliant 75-yard run. A few minutes later Bonnett got his second touchdown by taking a 27-yard pass from Jim Darr. Jim Kekeris kicked two extra points.

Iowa State bounced back the game in the second and third periods as a rookie halfback, Ray Klootwyck scored two touchdowns. Rollinger converted one extra point. The Cyclones almost tied the ball game up in the fourth period with a drive to the Bengal 22, but a pass interception by Ralph Stewart stopped the threat.

Missouri regained its offense in the final period by shoving across two more touchdowns. Bowman cut through center for a 18-yard scoring dash, and Jim Austin scored the final six-pointer by going over from the 2 yard line. Bill Day added one extra point.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 26—Everything went wrong for Missouri this afternoon and an alert Southern Methodist team capitalized on every break to take a 17-0 victory back to Dallas. A crowd of 22,000 saw the Ponies get all 17 counters in the second period.

The Methodists failed to count in the first quarter when Campbell missed a 19-yard field goal attempt. In the second quarter, however, S.M.U. did not waste any time.

Matty Bell quickly took advantage of Darr's poor punt which went out of bounds on the Missouri 35. He sent in his ace passer Payne, who immediately chucked the Mustangs to their first touchdown. A Payne to Ramsey pass scored first with Campbell kicking the extra point.

Leonard Brown's fumble on the 11 yard line set up S.M.U.'s second score. The same Mr. Payne plunged over the 2 on this one. Campbell again added the extra point. Another fumble recovery of Austin's misplay gave the visitors another scoring chance from the 22. The Ponies tried unsuccessfully to score a touchdown but on fourth down, Campbell hit on a 15 yard field goal to close the scoring for the afternoon as S.M.U. led 17-0.

Missouri's offense was left in the locker room all afternoon as the Tigers never reached the S.M.U. 40 yard line.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 2—Missouri spoiled Nebraska's homecoming here today by beating the Huskers 21-20 in a thrill-packed game played before a huge crowd of 36,000.

By virtue of this triumph the Bengals clung to a first place tie with Oklahoma for leadership in the Big Six. A showdown fight now is inevitable at Norman.

Missouri moved swiftly by jumping off to a 21-6 lead at the halftime. Roland Oakes set Mizzou's first tally by recovering a fumble on the Nebraska 9. Bob-Hopkins bolted over soon after for the game's initial score, Jim Kekeris added the first of game clinching extra point conversions.

A lateral pass play from Brown to Brinkman covered 41 yards for the Tigers second touchdown. Two minutes later, Howard Bonnett again crossed the Husker goal line after a 26-yard dash. Kekeris booted both extra points.

Nebraska got its first touchdown five seconds before halftime. Hutton took Teel's punt and jaunted for a touchdown Vacanti's placement was wide, and this point cost the Huskers a tie.

The huge crowd was given something to cheer about in the second half as the Huskers blasted across two more touchdowns. Myers climaxed an 89 yard drive for the first. The Huskers' third tally came as a result of a pass from Vacanti to Pesek. Vacanti converted both extra points.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 9—To the delight of 6000 drenched fans Missouri's Tigers slipped and sloshed their way to an impressive 21-0 win over Colorado's Golden Buffalos. Today's game was strictly a victory for Missouri's forward wall as the Tiger linemen stopped Colorado's running attack dead.

Missouri scored in the first period by marching 50 yards with Bob Hopkins, going over from the 2 yard line. The Tigers added two more points in the second quarter when Ralph Stewart broke through to block Evans' kick for a safety giving Mizzou an 8-0 halftime lead.

Both teams fought scorelessly in the third period but in the final quarter Missouri added two more six pointers. The Bengals second touchdown came on a 41-yard pass play from Bonnett to Teel who raced 30 yards for the counter.

The second team added the final points of the day when Fred Kling blasted through the Colorado line for six more yards for the tally. Bill Day added the extra point. Missouri was sharpening up in today's contest for next week's engagement with Oklahoma.

PLANT LOCATIONS:

these advantages in*

"THE HEART OF AMERICA"

The image shows a hand holding a sign. In the background, a heart-shaped map of the United States is shown with various cities and railroad lines. The cities marked include Montreal, Montreal, Kawartha, Montreal, Frankfort, Buffalo, Detroit, Toledo, Chicago, Des Moines, St. Louis, St. Paul, Decatur, Fort Wayne, and Kansas City. Railroad lines connect these cities across the central United States.

Labor Supply Good	Transportation Excellent
Power and Fuel Abundant, Inexpensive	Material Supply Good

HERE, in the "Heart of America" . . . close to the population center of the United States, centrally located for quick, low-cost distribution of your product, you'll find many attractive plant sites. They're located in communities anxious to cooperate with you . . . communities made up of intelligent, skilled workmen to man your plants . . . and manufacture your product at a cost that will enable you to sell at a profit.

The many inherent advantages of these communities are complemented by the fast freight and passenger facilities of the Wabash. For full particulars on sites in "The Heart of America," call or write H. H. McIntyre, Industrial Agent, Wabash Railroad Company, Room 1448, Railway Exchange Bldg., St. Louis 1, Missouri.

Can you guess the rest of the pictures?

If THIS were your family, you'd know what you want to see in future photographs. But will you?

Have the children's education and mother's needs been provided for—just in case you step out of the picture? Or, even if you live long past your span—will you be free from financial worry?

Perhaps you're all set—no matter what happens. But remember, all things human change. The perfect insurance program of a year ago may not fit your needs now. Wouldn't it be a good idea to check up on your policies with your New England Mutual Career Underwriter today?
