Our sincere thanks for the many Christmas cards and New Year's greetings which have been pouring in from our good friends in all parts of the world. They are appreciated more than we can say. Bless you all

At this particular time of year the alumni office is busy working on the address files, bringing them up to date, making all sorts of corrections, and keeping tab on you folk. This is an all-year job but now that the excitement of the fall season is coming to an end, we can give more time to the file work.

Questionnaires are going out to schools, colleges, and business houses asking them to furnish us with up-to-date lists of our alumni in their organizations. The response has been splendid and has been a tremendous aid. We find that these questionnaires are serving another fine purpose. Many inquiries come from these same schools and business houses who are seeking teachers and employees. The importance of having your correct address can not be emphasized too strongly.

The alumni office must have your co-operation and again we ask that you notify us immediately of address changes, marriages, births, and deaths. This information is vital to you as well as the office.

Russell Dearmont, St. Louis attorney, and his Alumni Fund Committee are to be commended for their plan of naming a chairman of each M. U. graduating class to carry on continuous solicitation for annual contributions to the Alumni Fund. The plan was studied and approved by the Board of Directors at its last meeting. Announcement of the various class chairmen will be made soon by Mr. Dearmont.

It is the hope of the Alumni Association and its officers that this program will meet with your complete co-operation. Its success will provide a wider scope for association work and will give the alumni magazine a far greater distribution among graduates and former students. This is essential to the progress of our work because

THE ALUMNUS is our only means of general communication. Every alumnus should be a subscriber.

Baker Atterbury, a recent graduate of the ag college and now county agent of Hancock County, Kentucky, dropped in for a Christmas call recently and brought along a can of good old sorghum for which we had been hinting broadly. Baker's headquarters are in Hawesville. He is active in the farmers' co-operative for marketing the sorghum down there, and if he's giving it the same energy and inspiration that characterized his Ag Club work in school, then it won't be long before Hawesville will be known as the "sorghum capital" of the world.

Bake has a knack for getting things done, and we're not just saying that because he brought us some of his "sweetnin'." Any boy who can put over a Barnwarmin' like he did up here a few years ago can do most anything. He has had outstanding success in his work since leaving school, and we're proud of him.

WANTED

A place in Columbia where a man can get a manicure without feeling like a sissy. Local barber shops please take notice. (This ad, printed at the behest of several local business men, is gratis as a public service.)

We were treated to an inspiring example of public service recently while visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Smith at Camdenton, Mo. Mrs. Smith is the telephone exchange operator down there. In the old days she would have been called the "hello girl." The exchange is located in the front room of the Smith home and thus we were able to get an eye-witness account of a true community service.

It was shortly before Christmas when we made our visit. While sitting in the front room we saw a call flash on Mrs. Smith's board. It was a Camdenton family in dire need of a baby's high chair. Here they were, faced with a big family Christmas dinner, and no high chair for the baby of some relatives. What to do? Naturally they called Mrs. Smith who also serves as a sort of unofficial clearing house and who knows every subscriber on the line.

Putting two and two together, Mrs. Smith narrowed down the number of families that ought to have such a chair, and then began to play her exchange like the console of an organ. In jig time the chair was obtained and delivered, and peace reigned once more. If that isn't community service and a bang-up job of public relations for her company, then we don't know the meaning of those terms.

Stephens College has an admirable tradition known as "Stop Day." Usually just before bed time, word goes out from the administrative offices that the following day has been so designated, classes are cancelled, and the girls can spend the day resting, catching up on back work, or just having a holiday. There are usually half-a-dozen or so of these days during the school year. We had heard about them before, but never appreciated their true significance until our younger daughter, Virginia Lee, enrolled in the college. Now, when President Wood says "stop!" out at Stephens, things also come to a standstill in the Hill household. We appreciate it, too.

As we sit up here pecking away at this column the snow is falling in gobs. "Brick" Shepard calls from down town to say that Kansas had a 15-inch yesterday and it's headed this way. Meanwhile Don Faurot and the Tigers are deep-sea fishing off the coast of Florida and are using huge quantities of olive oil to protect against sunburn. Next April we think we'll suit up for spring practice. The boys might go to the Rose Bowl next year, and we wouldn't want to miss that, too.

Honors to Tiger Gridmen

Individual Players Win Places on 22 Mythical Elevens — Paul Christman the First M. U. All-American

By LELAND WARD
staff writer for
THE MISSOURI STUDENT

TO THE VICTOR belong the spoils goes the old saying, and the Missouri football team certainly won its fair share of the booty this fall. Winning eight of its nine regularly scheduled games, the Big Six championship, and a bid to Miami's Orange Bowl, the Faurot machine presented Tiger followers with more to shout about than they've had in many a year.

Recognition for the team came shortly after the close of the regular season with the selection of the various All-American, all-conference, and all-state teams, in which Missouri players received ranking at least once and occasionally four times on the different all-star aggregations.

Paul Christman, quarterback and the first genuine All-American that has ever worn football togs for Missouri, won places on twenty-two of the twenty-three teams picked. Bob Waldorf, senior guard, was second in the running with berths on twelve teams, while Bud Orf, Bob Orf, and Melvin Wetzel tied for third with berths on eleven teams.

For the first time in history more than one Missouri man found his name on the annual draft list of the National Professional Football League. The Detroit Lions picked Ken Haas, Stillman Rouse, and Bob Orf. The Washington Redskins claimed the right to bargain for Bud Orf and Mel Wetzel.

Journalists of '14 Hold Reunion

Eight members of the graduating class of 1914 of the School of Journalism met Nov. 17 for luncheon at the Daniel Boone Tavern in Columbia for their first reunion in 25 years.

In an informal program, each member told of his experiences since graduation. Silver anniversary diplomas were presented by Dean Frank L. Martin. Similar certificates will be sent to members of the class who were unable to attend.

Members present were: Clarence M. Elliott, manager of sales and service, Reid Press, Ltd., Hamilton, Ont.; Horace L. Fry, editor and owner of the Spearville, (Kan.) News; J. Harrison Brown, vice-president and general manager of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Company, Mexico, Mo.; James E. Schofield, Jeffersonville, Ind.

Rex Magee, publicity and advertising manager of the Lamar Life Insurance Company, Jackson, Miss.; Guy T. Trail, New Haven, Mo.; M. N. Beeler, associate editor of Capper's Farmer, Topeka, Kan.; and Robert K.

Guests included Dean Martin, E. A. Soderstrom, business manager of the Columbia Missourian, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Tindall, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Schofield, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Soderstrom.

Alumni Lettermen Elect Dan M. Nee

One hundred and twenty-five alumni members of the "M" Men's Club attended a reunion luncheon and meeting of their association held in the club rooms in Rothwell Gymnasium on Nov. 18, morning of the Oklahoma-Missouri football game.

The football team of 1913 and their coaches, Chester L. Brewer and Henry F. Schulte, were special guests. Brewer, who is at present professor of physical education at the University, was present, but Schulte, who until recently coached the Nebraska track team, was unable to attend because of illness.

The following officers were elected to head the alumni branch of the club for next year: President, Dan Nee, Springfield, who lettered in baseball in '07, '08, and '09 and in football in '07 and '08; vice-president, H. G. Simpson, Charleston, who lettered in football in '21; secretary, A. J. Stankowski, Columbia, who lettered in football in '15, '16, and '19.

Short addresses were given by Mr. Brewer and Paul Shepard, who is a member of the advisory committee on intercollegiate athletics.

Thornton Heads District No. 14

Paget Thornton of Jefferson City has been named chairman of District No. 14 of the State Alumni Association to succeed Walter Helmreich who has served in that capacity since the inception of the present organization throughout the state. Mr. Thornton graduated from M. U. in 1935 with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He is now owner of the Capitol City Laundry.

St. Louis Alumnae

The St. Louis Alumnae Association of the University entertained with a luncheon at the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Tea Room on Nov. 11. Miss Thelma Mills, director of student affairs for women at M. U., was the guest speaker. She gave an interesting talk on women's activities on the campus. Mrs. F. A. Middlebush, wife of the University president, was also a guest. Special music was presented. Mrs. I. O. Royse, past-president of the association, presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. R. S. Terry, president, who was ill.

Kansas City Club Honors Edgar Shook

Edgar Shook, graduate of the University School of Law in 1922, was designated as "the man of the year" in Kansas City by the Metro Club, a civic and social organization for young men from all fields of Kansas City business. Mr. Shook was selected from a list of five candidates chosen by 106 civic leaders who acted as nominators.

The award was proposed for the man who, during 1939, had done the most to make Kansas City a place where Kansas Citians could be proud to live; who had made personal sacrifices to fulfill his conception of civic duty, and who had made his 1939 contribution while maintaining throughout his career an exemplary reputation in both his public and private life.

Mr. Shook is now serving as chairman of Kansas City's board of police commissioners.

Two Alumni Address Math Society Here

Prof. L. R. Ford and Prof. E. W. Chittenden, alumni of the University of Missouri, were guest speakers before a regional meeting of the American Mathematical Society held in Columbia Dec. 1 and 2. Professor Ford is now a member of the faculty at Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago and Professor Chittenden teaches at the University of Iowa.

Professor Ford received an A. B. here in 1911 and an A. M. in 1912. Professor Chittenden received the same degrees in 1909 and 1910.

All meetings of the society were open to the public because the organization is not strictly professional and is devoted to the advancement of pure mathematical research by anyone interested.

Munski Wins Two-Mile For Third Time

When Capt. John Munski, Tiger distance man deluxe, won the conference two-mile race held in Columbia the morning of Nov. 18, he became the first man to win the individual championship three years in a row. His time was 9 minutes 22.8 seconds. His chance to break his own record of 9:17.5 was spoiled by the rain and wet track which held back the whole field.

Kansas State won the team championship for the fourth consecutive year with 35 points. The other teams finished in this order: Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa State, Missouri, and Nebraska. There were twenty-three men in the race and Tiger runners finished first, twelfth, twenty-second and twenty-third.

Manufacturers Elect Henning W. Prentis Jr.

Henning W. Prentis, Jr., president of the Armstrong Cork Company of Lancaster, Pa., was elected president of the National Association of Manufacturers at the annual meeting of that body in New York early in December. Mr. Prentis received an A. B. from the University of Missouri in 1903 and was awarded an LL. D. in 1932. His name has been mentioned several times recently as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Pennsylvania. Mr. Prentis has never been actively engaged in politics.

Union Building to Be Ready Soon

Temporary headquarters for the University of Missouri Student Union will be opened in the recently rebuilt Read Hall soon after Christmas according to an announcement from the secretary's office. Remodeling is still in progress in the building, but delay in receiving the new equipment and furniture has been the principal reason for not opening the recreation center sooner. Details for the operation and management of the union will be worked out in the next few weeks.

204,000 Paid to See Tigers Play

Early this month when the Tigers doffed their grid togs at the end of the regular season, statisticians out at Rothwell Gym put their heads together and added up the season's attendance figures. Their findings were conclusive. A winning football team works wonders at the turnstiles.

A total of 204,000 persons, about 70,000 more than the preceding year, watched the 1939 Tigers perform at home and abroad. Missouri played before one of the nation's largest crowds when 59,000 fans watched them battle Ohio State in Columbus in early October.

For the first time in the history of the school, Memorial Stadium overflowed when 27,000 Homecoming fans crowded through the gates for the Missouri-Oklahoma game. The Tigers played before 30,000 people at Yankee Stadium in New York, and drew the second largest crowd ever to attend a football game in Kansas, when 25,000 witnessed the traditional battle at Lawrence. Following are the season's attendance figures in round numbers.

Colorado at Columbia, 10,000; Ohio State at Columbus, 59,000; Washington University at St. Louis, 12,000; Kansas State at Columbia, 12,000; Iowa State at Ames, 12,000; Nebraska at Columbia, 17,000; New York University at New York, 30,000; Oklahoma

Now We Have The "Christman Cut"

Last month in Hopkins, Mo., a high school youngster walked into one of the town's tonsorial emporiums, settled himself in the chair, and said nonchalantly:

"Gimme a 'Christman' haircut."

The barber, not being a devotee of the gridiron arts, was stymied. "I don't get you, bud. What kinda haircut is that?"

With some scorn the youth replied:

"Cut it short, and chop 'er off here." This accompanied by a slashing stroke of the index finger across the top of his forehead. He got his haircut, and the archives got another story about Paul Christman.

Paul, for various reasons, prefers the crew type haircut which is popular among eastern college men but not particularly in demand on middle western campuses. While the "Christman Cut" has not reached fad proportions among youngsters, it has shown an unmistakable increase since Paul began tossing passes high, wide, and handsome.

at Columbia, 27,000; and Kansas at Lawrence, 25,000.

The post-season game with Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day was expected to add approximately 35,000 to these figures.

Aviation Students Take to the Air

Flight training in the Civil Aeronautics Authority course being conducted at the University this year was started at the Columbia Municipal Airport early this month.

Forty students, including two girls, Miss Juliet Mayfield and Miss Mary Moir, have successfully completed their ground course in civil air regulations and now are entering upon stage A of regular flight training. This consists of eight hours of dual flying. Clifford C. Summers, a student in the College of Arts and Science, was the first candidate to go up when the flight training began.

"College Farmer" Wins Grand Championship

The College Farmer, magazine published by students in the College of Agriculture, won the grand championship award for its September cover at the convention of the American Association of Agricultural College Magazines in Chicago early this month. Along with the championship the magazine was awarded first prize for having the best three covers in the exhibit. It was the first time in the history of the competition that any school has won both prizes in the same year, and the first time Missouri has ever won the prize for best three covers.

Tigers Rank First in Major Big Six Sports

The year 1939 was kind to Missouri in respect to intercollegiate competition in conference major competition. The tabulations recently made include the successful football campaign last fall as well as basketball, indoor track, outdoor track, and baseball.

The rankings are based upon the positions which each school held in the various sports. One point is given for first place, two for second, and so on down the line. Oklahoma was a close second, finishing one and one-half points behind the Tigers.

	1939 BIG SIX CONFERENCE RANKINGS
	M.	O.	N.	K.	KS.	IS.
Football	1	3	2	5	5	5
Basketball	1½	1½	5	3	6	4

M. U. May Have New Pep Song

The University of Missouri may soon have a new pep song, written and played by University students.

Several weeks ago the student newspaper, "The Missouri Student," inaugurated a contest with prizes to be given to the writer of the best pep song. The students of the University felt a need for an original University of Missouri pep song, and were given a chance to vote on the first series of trials which were presented at the first home basketball game.

Throughout the basketball season the University band will offer contest entries for campus approval until early spring when students will make a final selection at a "big game" the contest committee decided.

Dillon Greenlee said some of the songs were very promising. Greenlee has charge of arranging the music for the band.

The committee will send a request for a tune to Fred Waring, who over his radio program offered to compose pep songs for any school.

By Howard S. Burnside

CHICAGO, December, 1939—When good Saint Nick takes his annual journey around our war-plagued earth this December 25th, let's hope that, contrary to accepted procedure, he guides Donner, Blitzen, etc., eastward from ye olde international date line lest he be shredded by European and Asiatic bullets before he arrives in North America.

However, only a silver bullet could touch the spirit of Christmas, and methinks European silver goes into the counting houses rather than the arsenals; so we Windy City residents will prepare a blanket of snow for the plump gentleman's reindeer and sleigh.

Snow so soon? And how! Even now Karl ("Bones") Dickson circulates the rumor that Jack Frost is cavorting about in Escanaba, Michigan. And Ben Well, who is doing graduate work at the University of Wisconsin 'way up in Madison, sends reports of nasty weather.

Uncle Sam's messenger brought a nice fat parcel from Clinton, Okla., not so long ago. It was a longish letter from that College Avenue song bird, Bill Stone, who is now training to become a super deluxe salesman for the Mid-Continent Oil Corporation. Congratulations on locating yourself so well, Bill. Did you know that the petroleum industry ranks third among the sixteen major industrial groups in the country?

Speaking of song birds, we can return to our own backyard and find Annabel Lounsberry, Delta Gam chirpster of last year. Annabel came to Chicago from Des Moines this summer with cousin Isabel Danskin, and is vocalizing for Jo Keith's Studio. Isabel is making beautiful faces at a camera for a nationally known model's agent. Were we ever surprised to see her smiling down upon us from a Borden's milk ad!

President Wood, the man with 10,000 girl friends, had dinner with 60 Stephens College alumnae at the Orrington Hotel in Evanston last month. The Orrington is adjacent to the Northwestern University campus where the girls are employed as students.

Ed Kersting of Carnegie-Illinois Steel fame is now presiding over meetings of the Missouri Engineers of Chicago Society. It seems Missouri engineers are plentiful in Chicago. Among the newcomers is John Baldwin who came to Chicago after graduation last spring to work for the Commonwealth Edison Company. And we had a newsy letter from an engineer of 1909—Oscar Lee. Mr. Lee is sales manager for the Crystal City Fixture Company in addition to being at the head of his own business of creating display equipment and materials. Shortly after the M. U.-N. Y. U. game last month Mr. Lee was in New York and found the sports pages still overflowing with praise for a great football team from Columbia, Mo.

Howard Burnside

John M. Deininger, B. & P.A. '20, gives us one for the books: "Miss Alda Wallace 500 Beloit, Forest Park, Ill., is employed at the juvenile court in Chicago." According to the letterhead of the Sears-Community Bank, Mr. Deininger is auditor for this Chicago member of the Federal Reserve System.

Miss Zoo Ferguson has found time while teaching in Chicago to write a novel, a story of a mid-westerner, his wife, and "the other woman." The novel, entitled "Blight," is now in the hands of a New York publisher and we expect it to appear soon. The story of the main character is, quoting book reviewer Martha Lee, "closely related to the lives of the average middle class American family."

We alumni in Chicago watched with interest and pleasure the weekly achievements of Don Faurot's nationally recognized fightin' Tigers. A football campaign as successful as that enjoyed by the University of Missouri this past fall is indeed a fine Christmas present for all alumni.

Merry "Christman" and a Happy New Year from the Chicago alumni!

By Allan B. Miller

Inspired by the theme that "Old Mizzon was old Mizzon when Kansas was a pup," sixty-five sons and daughters of the Black and Gold sat down at a banquet table in Washington's National Press Club the night of November 15 to celebrate the centennial anniversary of their alma mater.

Guests of honor at the gala occasion were President Middlebush, Dean Emeritus Mumford of the College of Agriculture, and Dean Miller, successor to Dean Mumford.

In between courses of the swell turkey ordered for the occasion by H. L. Shrader, president of the Washington Alumni Club, years of campus tradition were bared joyously from person to person. The guests present at this birthday party represented a wide span of years—from Mrs. Sarah Gentry Elston, class of 1873, to your correspondent of rather recent vintage, '36.

President Middlebush, who with Deans Mumford and Miller, also attended meetings in Washington of the Land Grant College officials, outlined the development of the campus building program and managed to supply a few plugs for Missouri's scrappy football squad.

"We found," declared President Middlebush, "that we must make more efficient use of the University's physical plant if we were to make life more livable and enjoyable for our increased enrollment. Thus, in constructing men's and women's dormitories, we are going on the theory that students bracketed in the lowest economic level must have adequate housing."

"Before construction of the dormitories was begun, many said that students unable to afford good housing should go live on the other side of the railroad tracks. But to sanction such a policy would be obeying the counsel of despair. Our program is underway; our buildings will be modern and up-to-date."

In his pride over the doings of the Tigers on the gridiron, President Middlebush disclosed a deep secret.

"I was inspecting a plot of ground south of the gymnasium with Leslie Cowan and Professor Trowbridge. On our way back we decided to cut across the football practice field. Imagine our surprise when a student approached us with the order to clear out of secret football practice session. But fellow alumni, we've got some team!"

Harry Reed, assistant director of the Agricultural Marketing Service in Washington, performed his duties as toastmaster in true Mizzon fashion. Alluding to the "old" days of 1914 when life on the campus was full of stuff and vinegar, he got a mild rebuff from Dean Miller who reported that the same old stunts of yesteryear are still part of the tradition, "only now the students are adding to 'em." Dean Miller also praised the fine administration of the College of Agriculture under Dean Mumford's guidance and detailed recent additions to the College's land holdings and physical plant.

Dean Mumford, still as witty and human as when he balanced the destinies of thousands of ag graduates, told of his proudest achievement as follows:

"It took me 41 years to be designated an honorary alumnus of Missouri University with all the rights appertaining thereto. Now I feel just like a boy out of school who can cuss out the headmaster, football coach, and the professors."

As an afterthought, Dean Mumford declared: "You don't have to worry about the future of the University with the administration in very capable hands."

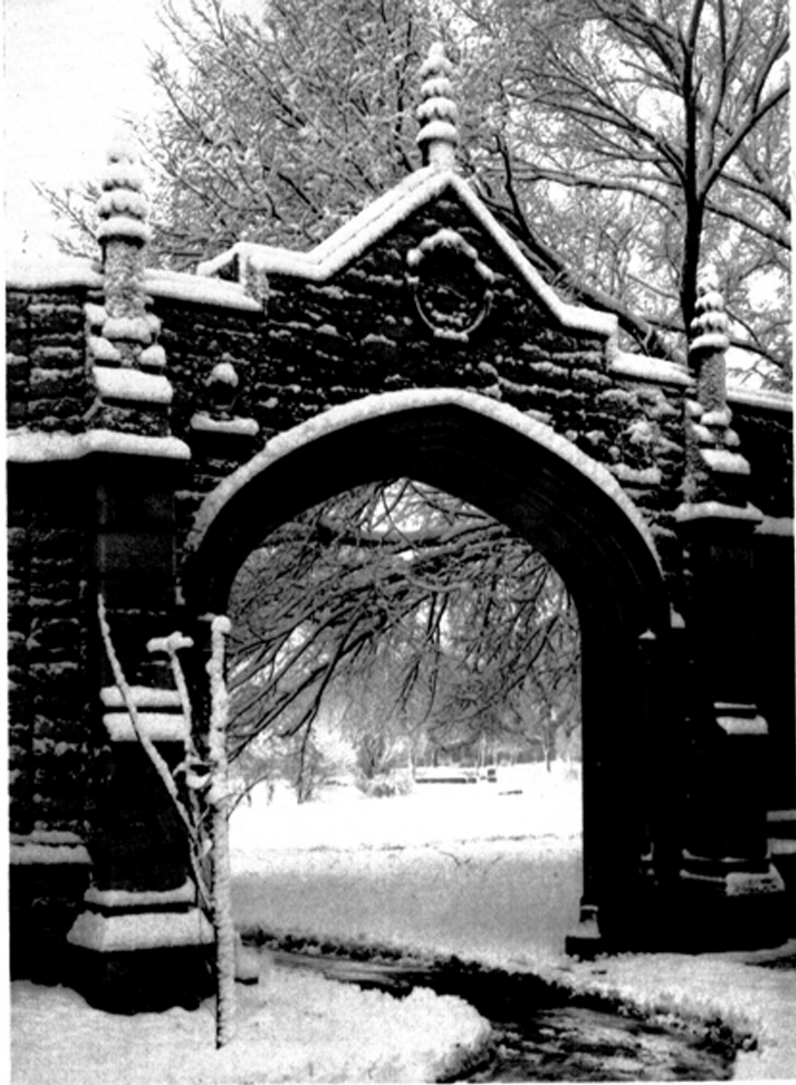

As a fitting touch to the centennial celebration, Dr. Charles R. L. Halley, vice-president of the Washington Alumni Club, displayed a silver soup ladle, dating back to 1838, and handed down from generation to generation in the Halley family. The handle bore the name of Lucy Wilcox who, in 1838, donated $600 to the infant house of learning in Boone County.

Prominent among the celebrants were silver-thatched Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, former president of the University, and Dr. Henry O. Severance, former head of the University Library.

"Jimmy" Burch, director of agriculture extension service at M. U., reviewed the Tiger football season and distributed well deserved bouquets to all members of the team and to Coach Don Faurot.

Skipping over the lone blemish on the Mizzon schedule, Jimmy had only this to say: "The Ohio State game: 'The reason we lost to the Buckeyes was because there were too many people watching the game. Playing to 60,000 spectators in Columbus was too much of a novelty, I guess.'"

Among those present were Preston C. Alexander, John C. Baumann, Milo H. Brinkley, Mrs. Rowena S. Carpenter, John W. Eddy, Belmont Farley, Marie Gurley, Florence Helm, John S. Hornback, E. G. Jansson, Grace J. Lynn, David Meeker, Oscar W. Meier, Roy E. Miller, E. L. Nelson, Prentiss Reeves, Preston Richards, Carl L. Ristine, Colonel Henry H. Rutherford, F. B. Scheetz, Paul Truitt, Myron Witter, Ann Wolfe, Mrs. Kathryn Wylie, Mrs. Jenna de Imhoff, Erwin C. Elting, Kenneth L. Turk, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Uhlend, Florence B. Currie, James Pixloe, Donald Dawson, Volney McFadden, and Claude M. Hochhaus.

New Book by Ward Dorrance

"Where the Rivers Meet," the third book by Ward A. Dorrance, assistant professor of French at the University, was published by Scribners last month. Mr. Dorrance's first two books, "Three Ozark Streams" and "We're from Missouri," enjoyed a wide sale and his latest is expected to reach an even larger reading public. All the moods and mystery of that part of America where the Missouri, Mississippi, Ohio, Illinois, Wabash, Tennessee, and Cumberland rivers meet has been recaptured in the same spirit that made his two earlier books so appealing.

Mr. Dorrance received an A. B. degree from Missouri in 1926, an A. M. in 1928, and his doctorate in 1935.

JOHN B. POWELL, B.S. in Journ. '10, was the subject of a detailed feature article in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of Dec. 10. He was described as a fighting editor from Missouri who has been for the past eight years holding the top place of foreign newspapermen unfriendly to Japan. He has been staging his own special war on Nippon's empire builders through the columns of the China Weekly Review, a news magazine, which he owns and edits. Powell's policies are sympathetic toward China and defense of American interests in the Far East. Despite the fact that the Japanese provisional government has barred his magazine from postal privileges, it is delivered on schedule in the heart of Japanese-controlled territory. The Post-Dispatch reports that his circulation has been booming in recent months.

Journalism Graduate Publishes Fifth Biographical Volume in Series

DAVID LOTH, B.J. '20, has just published "Alexander Hamilton," the fifth of a series of biographies of historical figures which he is writing. The four previous works are "The Brownings," "Lorenzo the Magnificent," a best seller in 1929, "Charles II of England," and "Philip II of Spain."

Immediately after his graduation Mr. Loth joined the staff of the old New York World, where for years he was a reporter, feature writer, cable editor and editor of the metropolitan section. He was on leave in Europe in 1931 when the World discontinued publication.

With another American he organized the first English language newspaper in Spain, the Majorca Sun and Spanish Times. It was highly successful, but was later forced out of business by the Spanish Civil War. Loth returned to this country and has since been on the staff of the New York Times. In 1938 he published "Pacific Plunder," a history of graft in American politics.

balloons was a very intricate mechanism, carrying photographic film, which took pictures automatically for research in cosmic rays. A tag requested the finder to wire Dr. Jesse and collect a reward for returning the instrument. He received a message from a fisherman in Electric, Canada, and immediately went there. But upon arrival he discovered that local police had confiscated it, believing it to be some flendish device either to take pictures of Canadian war zones or to blast the dominion off the map. Only after frantic calls to the University of Toronto and to his associate, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, was Dr. Jesse able to procure his gadget from the vigilant constabulary.

LANE WELLS ORIENTED AND MAGNETIC OIL WELL SURVEY SERVICE

With an inclination of only 3°, an oil well can bottom anywhere within a 628-foot circle at 6000 feet. Lane-Wells Surveys help the driller hit his mark.

A two-mile string of drill pipe is as flexible as a fine silk thread eight feet long. From the surface the driller must control accurately the course of the drill pipe to reach the producing sands. Lane-Wells Oil Well Surveys provide a permanent record of a well from top to bottom, and if made during drilling tell the location of the bit at all times to help the driller do a better job. The complete story of Lane-Wells Oil Well Surveys is available to petroleum engineering students without cost. Write the nearest Lane-Wells office.

What Modern life insurance plan has been designed particularly for Fathers of Young Children?

THE NEED

Nearly every father of young children would agree that he faces a real life insurance problem. How can he, within his limited budget, provide adequate 'income protection' for his family at least until his children are grown? If anything should 'happen,' he wants his wife to be entirely free to watch over the home; for he knows that the greatest gift that any father can leave his children is their mother's time and care. Also, he wants permanent protection for his wife to continue after their children are grown.

But when he thinks of his expenses and all the things he wants to do for his family, he wonders, 'How can I afford all this insurance protection now, when I need it most?'

THE POLICY Here is the way this problem has already been solved by thousands of fathers of moderate means. For example, a young father takes a New York Life 'Family Income Policy' of $10,000 (face amount) with a '20-year period.' If he dies at any time during the '20-year period,' the New York Life will pay an income of $100 a month for the remainder of the 'period' . . . and then, at the end of the 'period,' will in addition pay $10,000. To illustrate the maximum of guaranteed payments that might be made: If the father died immediately after the policy was issued, the income payments of $100 a month would run for the full 20 years; so the total income payments of $24,000 plus the $10,000 payable at the end of the period would amount to $34,000. If he outlives the '20-year period,' the sum payable in event of his death would be the face amount, $10,000. Of course, if he lives to retirement age, as so many do, he can obtain, through his policy, a life income for his later years.

And the premium? You will probably be surprised to learn that during the '20-year period' the rate is not much higher than for Ordinary Life. After the 20th year it is exactly the same as the Ordinary Life rate. In short, the premium is very attractive in view of the amount and kind of protection offered. This policy, of course, is also issued for larger and smaller amounts than $10,000, but $2,000 is the minimum. Policies with ten, fifteen or twenty-year periods are available according to the age of the father.

As you can see, this policy fills a real need for a great many fathers. Ask a New York Life representative to tell you about it . . . or write to the Home Office at the address below for our Family Income booklet.

THE COMPANY The New York Life aims to provide life insurance at the lowest cost consistent with the ample margins of safety which the Company feels it should always maintain. A policyholder's premium rate cannot be increased above that stated in the policy, but annual dividends, as declared, may be used to reduce the premium payments. Dividends are derived from earnings of the Company in excess of the amount deemed necessary to keep it in a sound financial condition. Policyholders get their insurance at cost. The Company pays dividends to policyholders only. The New York Life is, and has always been, a mutual company.
