stipend to full-time undergraduate students allowing them to work for 10 weeks in the laboratory of an established APS member during the summer. In addition, fellows receive a travel grant of $1,300 to allow them to attend and present their research at the following year's APS annual conference, Experimental Biology. Experimental Biology 2017 will be held in Chicago and is expected to attract more than 14,000 attendees.

Kristal Gant, who is part of the MU Post-Baccalaureate Research Education Program (PREP), which is funded by the National Institute of General Medical Sciences of the National Institutes of Health, was awarded the Larry Ewing Memorial Trainee Travel Fund. The fund is a travel fellowship awarded to trainees to assist in travel costs associated with presenting their research at the Society for the Study of Reproduction meeting. Awardees are selected based on their submitted abstracts. The award honors Larry Ewing, PhD, for his major achievements in male reproductive biology and his instrumental role in establishing and furthering the society.
