HERE'S THE VERY BOOK YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR MISSOURI SONGS AND YELLS

In response to an insistent demand by students and alumni, the Y.W.C.A. of the University of Missouri is compiling a book of Missouri Songs and Yells. It will contain "Old Missouri"; the new song of loyalty to be chosen in a contest now being held, and all the other favorites, old and new, of Missouri and other leading colleges—in all, about 100 songs, words and music.

All the Missouri yells will be included, in a form approved as official by the student body.

The book will be attractively bound in cloth, 8 by 11 inches, with a cover design to be chosen in a prize contest.

You'll want this book—for use at home, at banquets, at reunions of all kinds where college men and women gather.

Out about May 1. The price is $1.

Reserve a copy now. A postal card will do—or fill out and mail the attached coupon.

NOW FOR COMMENCEMENT!

The Stunts will be held again, and the University will celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of its foundation.

All doubt of the advisability of combining Stunt Week with the Commencement exercises was removed last year. Especially from the viewpoint of the alumni who came back was the plan a success. They found, instead of a campus deserted by all save the seniors and faculty, a campus alive with student activity—they found the University at work and at play, just as in the days of their own attendance. The usual academic, dignified features—the grave and reverend seniors in their new-found glory of cap and gown, the parade of the faculty, the formal Commencement exercises—were not lacking in impressiveness; indeed, they were made more impressive by contrast with the stunts of the undergraduates. And the stunts! What memories they recalled of student days! How they brightened the whole Commencement time with their wholehearted fun! Truly, Commencement last year was a fine blending of the grave and the gay. It was a Commencement worth coming a long way to attend.

Two hundred alumni came back and enjoyed themselves. Now that color and charm have been given to the occasion, it is reasonable to believe that more will come every year. The more the merrier! The pleasure to each increases as more of his classmates come back.

This year should show a marked increase in the attendance of alumni, for in addition to the Commencement exercises and the stunts, there will be held the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the University's foundation. It is difficult for all but the very-old-timers to realize that Alma Mater is so old. Old—and young! Come back and see how vigorous she is!

The alumni of the Pittsburgh, Pa., district, who recently organized, are showing notable enthusiasm. They are arranging for a special car to bring them to Columbia for Commencement and have invited the New York alumni to join them in the trip. Pittsburgh, New York and Chicago all have asked for speakers from the University for their annual spring banquets—another sign of the growing interest of the alumni in Alma Mater.

In a general way, this is the Commencement plan for 1914:

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached Sunday, May 31. Monday and Tuesday will be given over largely to the student stunts. Wednesday will be Commemoration Day, on which will be celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of the legislative act establishing the University. Alumni will be especially prominent in the activities of this day. Speeches will be made by Governor Elliott W. Major of Missouri; by W. P. Evans, state superintendent of public schools, representing the state school system; by a representative of the Missouri College Union; by a representative of the state universities, and by a prominent alumnus. In the afternoon the University will give a luncheon for its guests. This will be distinct from the regular alumni luncheon which follows the formal commencement exercises on Thursday. On Wednesday afternoon also there will be an address giving a resume of the University's development by periods. Thursday, as usual, will be Commencement Day, with the awarding of degrees and the Commencement address. Distinguished alumni, it is expected, will receive the LL.D. degree.

These alumni are the first to write the magazine that they are coming back for Commencement:

D. Warren Sherman, LL.B.'11, Lexington, Mo.; H. W. Prentis, Jr., A.B.'03, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mary Stophlet, A.B.'13, Flat River, Mo.; George C. Gundlach, B.S.in C.E.'10, St. Louis; Clara Louise Schwieder, A.B.'11, Springfield, Mo.; F. E. Williams, LL.B.'05, St. Louis.

This list is just a beginning. It will grow from month to month. Send in your name now, so that the magazine may tell your classmates that you are coming.

MORE RECOLLECTIONS

By HIRAM PHILLIPS, '80

Along in the late seventies, one afternoon there appeared in Columbia, tacked to trees and posts, rudely lettered signs announcing a meeting of Republican voters to select delegates to a gubernatorial convention to be held in Jefferson City.

Being a Republican in Boone County at that time was not a serious occupation. The organization, as I remember it, was composed of Colonel Schwabe, mail "star router"; Anderson Schweich, who carried the mail from depot to postoffice; Uncle Tom Henry, official bell-ringer, and Postmaster Ripley—just the right number to fill all national appointive offices.

To get a quorum and keep up the organization, Colonel Schwabe passed the word around among some of the students that their presence would be welcome. So on the night of the meeting a hundred or more students were present. They displayed remarkable interest, organized the meeting by electing officers and appointing committees from their own number, and finally, after due deliberation, declared the meeting a gubernatorial convention, composed of authorized and accredited delegates. They closed the proceedings by unanimously electing Colonel Schwabe governor. The whole meeting was carried out without remonstrance by Colonel Schwabe and his party.

Colonel Schwabe, in his capacity as "star router," could always be found at the postoffice superintending the dispatch of his "pony express." In those days there was no free mail delivery; a lock post-office box was a sign of affluence. At the postoffice after each incoming mail would gather practically all the students to await the opening and distribution of the mail. It was during these periods that Colonel Schwabe was always in evidence. Since the convention the boys had always called him "Governor." At first he made no objection to the title, but at last its newness wore off and he resented it.

Now Colonel Schwabe was a type in a class all by himself—small of stature, wiry, aggressive, positive in his likes and dislikes, impulsive and excitable. He had a most wonderful vocabulary of very expressive adjectives and adverbs, lurid and vitriolic, that he could deliver in a very explosive, sulphurous and inflammatory way. His accomplishments along these lines could never be acquired in one short lifetime; they must have been a gift.

It had now begun to be a pastime for the boys to nag Colonel Schwabe up to the explosion point. One afternoon when the student crowd was the greatest, George Vest, Jr., a student at that time, accosted Colonel Schwabe and made some remark concerning his duties as governor. Everyone in hearing expected an explosion of unprintable adjectives; but on the contrary the Colonel affably took Vest by the lapel of his coat and in a confidential, friendly tone said:

"My friend, if I live to see my next birthday, I will be three score and ten; by the laws of nature I cannot expect to live more than ten or fifteen years longer. Now in the days of Methuselah people lived 1,000 years or more. Methuselah might have had time to waste talking to a — fool, but I have not. Good-bye, my friend."

The old Colonel has been dead these many years, but his name will recall many pleasant memories to the old students. All had the kindest feeling for him, even if they did torment him by friendly "guying."

A MISSOURI SONG BOOK

Can you write a University of Missouri song, words and music, and get it to Columbia by April 5? Or perhaps you have one all ready to send in—a song that you wrote in undergraduate days and have put aside and forgotten. The Young Women's Christian Association offers a prize of $20 to any student, former student, faculty member or resident of Columbia who writes the best song of loyalty (words and music) for the use of students and alumni of the University. The announcement of the contest came too late for notice to be given it in the last issue of The Alumnus. But there is still time for some alumnus to win the prize—and win also the gratitude of all students and alumni of the University. A $5 prize is offered for the best cover design for the Missouri Song Book soon to be issued. This contest also closes April 5. Song or drawing should be enclosed in a large, plain envelope, bearing the name and address of the contestant. This should be enclosed in another envelope and sent to the Missouri Store Company or to the Song Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Missouri," the song chosen in the prize contest which has just been opened, and about 100 other songs of Missouri and other leading colleges and universities. The Missouri yells will also be included.

Such a book has long been contemplated. The idea took definite form after an embarrassing incident in St. Louis. At a meeting of the College Club there, the Missouri alumni were called on to give their University song or yell. There was no typical song or yell in which all could unite, and the effort to respond fell flat. The publication of a song book, it is believed, especially if the contest brings forth a rousing song of loyalty, will prevent future embarrassment of this sort. At any rate, the song book will be of great value in presenting a complete, authoritative collection of Missouri songs and yells in usable form. It will contain both the old-time songs and the newer "hits" from "Hundred Dollar Bill" and other student musical comedies.

The book is being edited and the song contest conducted by the Young

The University is to have a Missouri Song Book—a complete, official song book containing "Old Women's Christian Association. It will be published, through the Missouri Store Company of Columbia, by a house making a specialty of college song books. The young women hope to have it ready for distribution by May 1.

President A. Ross Hill has given hearty indorsement of the idea. "The Y. W. C. A. is to be commended for its immediate attention to the criticism recently made," he said. "I shall give the book my greatest support."

The judges in the song contest are Prof. W. H. Pommer, Prof. Chester Murray and George Venable, director of the University Band.

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a typical University of Missouri song that can be used at any time or place where Missouri students or former students gather. It is not the idea to supplant the well-loved "Old Missouri," which will continue to be the University hymn, but to adopt a song distinctive of the University in both words and music. The music of "Old Missouri" is used in the hymns of Kansas and other universities.

The contest calls to mind the origin of "Old Missouri," which was adopted as a University song about twenty years ago. The words were written by Prof. George Armstrong Wauchope, assistant professor of English from 1891 to 1895. After the fire of 1892 which destroyed the old Academic Hall, times were dull and college spirit at low ebb. Prof. Wauchope thought a University song might help to liven things. He completed the words of the song one evening at the home of Prof. E. A. Allen, who was then head of the English department. Several days later he took the song to President Jesse and humbly asked him if he thought it good enough to be considered a University song. President Jesse did think it good enough, and University of Missouri students have been thinking so ever since.

The music was first derived from an old English song and is believed to have been first used in this country by Cornell University.

Prof. Wauchope left the University of Missouri in 1895 and went to Iowa State University for two years. Then he went east and has occupied many positions of honor with southeastern colleges and universities since that time. His present address is Columbia, S. C.

SHANGHAIED TO COLUMBIA

By E. R. A. FELGATE, A.B., B.S. in J.'12

While walking along Seward Road, Shanghai, China, in the year 1907, a desire for higher education came up behind me, threw a drugged cloth over my head and bore me to the ground. I gave in without a struggle. Several days later I found myself on the Great Northern steamship, Minnesota, bound for Seattle. To have rebelled would have been useless.

August 28, 1907, saw the good ship touch port, and three days later I was stumbling over the stepping stones in Columbia. Here was I, an Englishman, reared in China, now in America. The town was deserted; great billows of home and sea-sickness nearly drowned me; but it was useless to kick against the pirates that had brought me across the water and left me here.

A certificate from a public school in Shanghai was my mainstay. With this I marched up to Room 46 on the third floor of Academic Hall and was ushered in.

"You are conditioned on three units." This might have been Sanskrit for three rolls of wallpaper for all I knew, but as a "good morning" ended the interview I saw it was time to go.

The first kindly looking man I saw I went up to and asked "What does 'conditioned on three units' mean?" He, too, had once worn a colored cap, and felt for me, so in a kind way he told me that I was a debtor to the University for three hours of my education which they would give me because my face was honest and my credit was good. I thanked him and walked away.

Oh yes, I forgot to mention the chicken. It happened the first night I was in Columbia. There had to be chicken for supper and I was delegated to catch and kill the bird. Never before had I been ordered to such a servile task. Me, a monocle-wearer, raised in Oriental luxury, to catch and kill a chicken! What a barbarous country I had come to! How I longed for the fleshpots of Egypt!

Studies soon started with the strange class of persons I was thrown among. The men smoked funny looking pipes, made their own cigarettes, put on wool shirts when they saw fit and sometimes wore sweaters in place of shirts. Everyone had the right of free speech, and half a dollar in your trousers pockets made you a despot. The women—well, I think more of one of them than of the sheepskins that lie in the bottom of my box.

As for foolish questions, the joker who makes his living out of this branch of fun must have been a foreigner at Missouri, for that is where he got his subject matter. One crazy being asked me if I had brought my queue with me; another gink complimented me on learning English so well in the first sixty days of the first semester; still another wanted to know the exact flavor of rats and rice; one more foolish than the rest wanted to see a picture of my brother and compare it with the laundryman's downtown; and the last nincompoop said I did not resemble a Chinaman. It was then I longed to be shanghaied to Shanghai.

I am sure by now some English prof is looking up the records to see my grade in Unity, Coherence and Emphasis, for I have made widows of them all so far in the story. But there is another thing I must now put in, though out of place, and that is the luggage (sic) we arrived with. I must here explain that my mother and brother were witnesses to the above and hereafter. Well, one afternoon in September, 1907, the Wabash depot looked like Atlas bearing up the world, but in this case it was the luggage. Nineteen pieces, nineteen, as the show bills say, that was the total. Of course a most impudent reporter for the daily paper was there and had to know it all. If I had been a little bigger I would have hit him for his cheek, but I thought better. The story came out next day; it was noticed by a friend of mine who clipped it and carried it with him for five years, to bring before me whenever I mentioned traveling or packing up. Nineteen have given place to one, and the Gladstone to a grip—such is result of a college education. That reporter, how he ridiculed us, how I longed to go back home! As I look at it now, I laugh and think of the wisdom that has been absorbed.

In time the foolish questions ceased. I suppose my actions no longer warranted them. The years passed, and one sunny day in June I got a roll of parchment tied with a little ribbon. It was worth being shanghaied for.

CHAPTER HOUSES AT M. U.

Fraternities at the University of Missouri are solving the landlord problem by doing away with the landlord. Until eleven years ago, when the Phi Delta Theta fraternity acquired its own house on College avenue, all the fraternities paid rent, either for chapter houses or halls. Since that time ten chapter houses have been acquired by the fraternities. Some have built new homes; others have purchased and improved private residences. Nearly every year sees the building of one or more chapter houses. At the present rate of progress, it may be expected that within a short time every fraternity will own a house.

There has been considerable debate in University circles on the question of fraternity ownership of houses. It has been charged that some of the new houses represent an extravagant expenditure, for building and upkeep, that is not in harmony with the democratic ideals of a state university. On the other hand it is contended that the expenses of men in chapter houses are very little, if any, above the average expenses of students boarding in private homes; that the fraternities deserve the gratitude of the University for their help in solving the dormitory problem; that they are further to be commended for their altruism in building for future generations of students.

At any rate, the building goes merrily on. Missouri now has some of the finest fraternity homes in the Middle West—good, substantially built houses, fit for many years of hard knocks. The fraternity man is quick to resent the charge of luxuriousness in any of them.

New houses were occupied last fall by the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. During the summer bungalows were built for three other fraternities, Delta Omicron, Chi Omega and Phi Mu. Four others, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Nu, expect to build next summer.

Altogether there are twenty-one houses occupied by fraternities at Missouri. These houses, containing from twelve to eighteen rooms each, were built or remodeled especially for use as chapter houses. They are valued at $10,000 to $30,000 each. None of them are very old, except the Phi Delta Theta house, which is to be replaced by a $15,000 structure.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma house, 600 Rollins street, is the first house to be owned by a sorority. It is a brick and stucco three-story structure of Colonial design. The house cost $14,000 and the lot $1,800. An attractive feature is a sun room on the west side. The property is owned by the Kappa corporation, composed of active and alumnae members of the sorority. Bonds were floated to pay for the building.

The newest house to be built by a fraternity is the Aphla Tau Omega house. It is just east of the Kappa house and is numbered 608 Rollins. It looks much like the Kappa house. It has three stories, with stucco finish, and contains fifteen rooms. It was built at a cost of $17,500 on a lot worth $2,500. This, too, was paid for by floating bonds, to be taken up out of a building fund made up by active and alumni members.

The most expensive fraternity property is that owned by the Beta Theta Pi chapter at College and Keiser avenues. Its value is estimated at $30,000. The house was dedicated last March immediately after the members had moved in. It is built of brick on the Old English plan.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon house is unique in that it is built of Boone County stone. It is at Rollins street and Maryland place, across the street from the new A. T. O. and Kappa houses. The house cost $18,500 two years ago. It is owned by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Club, composed of alumni and active members over 21 years old. Ivy vines, like those on the University buildings, have grown up the walls, giving a very beautiful effect.

One of the prettiest houses is that occupied by the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at 616 College avenue. This is a frame house of Colonial design, with large Ionic columns in front. It is owned by the Phi Gamma Delta Realty Company, made up of alumni members. They built the house in 1911 and have since rented it to the active chapter.

Two other houses owned by the chapters are the Sigma Chi and the Kappa Sigma. The Sigma Chi house, at 500 College avenue, was built as a private residence by I. O. Hockaday, Sr. It was bought by a corporation of alumni members five years ago, when the Hockaday estate was being settled, for $17,500. It is now worth $22,000, improvements having been made and the property having advanced in value.

The Kappa Sigma house is on Stewart road. It is a large brick structure, containing seventeen rooms, built on the hill above the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad. The house cost $12,000. It was built by floating bonds, a large proportion of which have been taken up.

The Acacia fraternity rents a house at 909 Elm street. The Delta Tau Delta house, 821 Rollins street, is owned by one of Columbia's bankers.

The Kappa Alpha house at 713 Hitt street is owned by an alumnus of the fraternity. It is valued at $11,000. The upper part was destroyed by fire last year and rebuilt. The Phi Kappa Psi house at 809 College avenue is also owned by an alumnus of the organization. It has been occupied as a fraternity house four years. Next year this fraternity expects to build a new house at a cost of $25,000.

The Pi Kappa Alpha house is the old Walter Williams property, 517 Hitt street, which was remodeled for the fraternity last summer. It is owned by a Columbia real estate man.

The Sigma Nu fraternity at 414 Hitt street and the Delta Omicron fraternity at 1412 Rosemary lane both rent their houses. The Delta Omicron house was built last summer on plans made by the fraternity. It has an option on the property, which is valued at $8,500. The Sigma Nu fraternity expects to erect a $17,000 house next spring.

Six of the sororities rent their houses. Most of them have been built to be used as chapter houses. The Alpha Phis live at 805 Virginia avenue, the Chi Omegas at 1407 Rosemary lane, the Delta Gammas at 802 Virginia avenue, the Kappa Alpha Thetas at 511 Hitt street, the Pi Beta Phis at 315 Hitt street and the Phi Mus at 1421 Rosemary lane. The Pi Beta Phis and the Chi Omegas expect to build in the next two years.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Miss Helen Smith of Stanberry, Mo., a junior in arts and education, has been chosen Savitar Queen. Her picture will be given the place of honor in the women's section of the Savitar, the student annual. Miss Smith is a member of the Delta Gamma sorority. She was queen of the Farmers' Fair last year.

Read Hall was raided one night this month. A plot was formed by senior electrical engineers, and every member of the class made, or attempted to make, an engagement with a Read Hall girl. Every girl in the dormitory who was not otherwise engaged was taken to the picture show by an engineer. About twenty-five couples attended.

Miss Romaine Roach, a teacher of home economics in the Paris (Mo.) High School, has been appointed director of the art department of household economics of the State Normal School at Springfield, Mo. Miss Roach received her degree from the School of Education last June. She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

The course in theories of coaching, given by H. F. Schulte, has attracted several University women. They are doing well in the course and are now out passing judgment on the track squad. They predict a good track season.

Miss Marguerite Jackson and Miss Elizabeth Kiskaddon, students in the University, have signed contracts for two years' work as Young Women's Christian Association secretaries in St. Joseph. Miss Jackson will have charge of the educational and employment work, and Miss Kiskaddon of the extension work. Miss Jackson, who is a senior in arts, had charge of the employment agency of the Y. W. C. A. at Columbia this year. Her home is in St. Joseph. Miss Kiskaddon is a junior. She lives at Kirkwood, Mo.

Miss Margaret Middelcoff of Kansas City has been elected president of the University Y. W. C. A. for next year. The other new officers are: Vice-president, Miss Hope Hibbard, Columbia; secretary, Miss Helena Wilbur, Columbia; treasurer, Miss Eleanor Halley, Kansas City.

Missouri alumnae have been honored in two Springfield, Mo., associations. The president of the Ozark branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae is Mrs. Norman Freudenberg (Helen Lindsey), B.S.'01, and the vice-president is Miss Clara Louise Schwieder, A.B.'11. The president of the Pan-Hellenic Association of Springfield is Miss Sue Stone, B.S. in Ed.'09, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and the vice-president is Miss Schwieder, Delta Gamma.

M. S. Hardesty, a grain dealer of Weston, Mo., who was a student in the University thirty-five years ago, visited Columbia in February. One notable change that he found was in the number of women attending the University. In his time there were only about twenty-five women students.

---

FROM THE ALUMNAE IN KANSAS CITY

Dear Friends: At last there has been organized here, in Kansas City, an Association of the University of Missouri Alumnae. We find it such a source of pleasure, and are constantly meeting old friends at the meetings. Our purpose is "to further by united effort the interest of our Alma Mater and to promote feelings of love and friendship among the members."

Of course, this is the first year of our organization, but we are beginning to realize what big things we can do and we are so enthusiastic, and so eager to render some service to the University, that we want to sound a bugle call, as it were, throughout the state, to rouse the alumnae all over Missouri to form similar associations. It does not make any difference how small the town may be, for if there be merely a few alumnae, they can band themselves together, and in that way accomplish something as a unit. There is already such an organization in St. Louis, but what we are striving for, is to hear of other clubs in Joplin, Jefferson City, Hannibal, St. Joseph and even Knox City. Please do not read this article and then forget it. Here in Kansas City, we are going to do fine things, and we want all the women graduates to be in closer touch with each other and with the University.

At our last meeting there were twenty-eight present, and while that is not all of our number by any means, still it is a good start. We are growing. Now what town is going to be next to boast of an alumnae association?

Very sincerely,
Lucile Phillips,
Secretary.

3021 Forest avenue,
Kansas City, Mo.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority girls awoke a few mornings ago to find their house at 600 Rollins street quarantined. A large yellow sign hung by the side of the door read: "Warning—Quarantine—Keep Out." The milkman saw the sign and passed hurriedly by the place. He was persuaded to return a few minutes later when the house man came out and tore the sign down. It was found that a bunch of University boys had placed the sign on the house about midnight. They then took a flashlight picture of the house for publication in the Savitar.

Miss Bertha Earnest, who was a member of the first class in the School of Journalism, 1908-09, is now managing editor of Wide West, a monthly magazine published at Muskogee, Okla. Previously she was editor of the Ozark Countryman and was on the staff of the Springfield, Mo., Leader. She was active in the organization of the Missouri Women's Press Club. Her home was at Willard, Mo.

The success of the movement to found perpetual scholarships for farm boys in the Missouri College of Agriculture has led a Columbia banker to start a fund for farm girls. Alexander Bradford, Jr., of the Boone County Trust Company, has set aside in his bank $200 as a loan fund to send a Boone County farmer's daughter to the college. The money will be lent at 3 per cent and the recipient will have three years after leaving college in which to repay it. Mr. Bradford suggests that the bankers of the state take up the plan and establish the Missouri Bankers' Loan Fund for Girls. Each bank, under this plan, would keep its contribution in its own vaults and pay it out to some girl of the county upon the order of the committee having the scholarships in charge.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

More Basketball Disasters.

Much to the relief of Missouri followers, the Tigers closed their basketball season in St. Louis March 3. The season began with rosy promise of another Missouri Valley Championship and ended with eight straight defeats. Disqualifications and injuries took five men—an entire team—from the first squad, leaving the team at the end with only one M man, Palfreyman, on the floor. He acted as captain after Bernet, who had succeeded Taafe as captain, was disabled by water on the knee. In the last few minutes of the last game with Washington at St. Louis, Missouri played with only four men, all the available "subs" having been used. Finishing gamely, the battered four massed under the basket and were able to stave off further scoring.

On the final trip of the season, the Tigers lost two to Kansas, two to the Kansas Aggies and two to Washington. They had previously lost two close games to the Kansas Aggies on the home grounds. In one of these games the score was tied at the end of the regular playing time and the Aggies won in the extra five minutes of play.

The season's record is four victories and twelve defeats, putting the team next to the bottom in the conference standing. The championship lies between Kansas and Nebraska.

Glee Club in Quarantine.

The Glee Club members paid dearly for their trip to the Pacific Coast. At Albuquerque, N. M., on the trip home, their special sleeping car was placed under quarantine when it was found that three of the singers, D. E. Hudson of Montgomery City, Mo., Ray E. Miller and Virgil C. Klein of Savannah, Mo., had smallpox in a mild form. The others were allowed to return to Columbia after being vaccinated. On their arrival March 1, after a month's absence, they were taken directly to Parker Memorial Hospital and again quarantined. The wisdom of this precaution was shown a few days later when two others, Lisle J. Wormington of Monett, Mo., and Fred G. Seaton of Cameron, Mo., became ill with the disease in the mild form known as varioloid. These men were removed from the hospital and isolated. The University authorities announced that the others would be held till all danger of infection was past. Prof. C. L. Brewer, who accompanied the club as faculty adviser, shared the isolation of the students. A large ward of the hospital was shut off from the rest of the building for their use. Meals were served them in tents erected at the entrance to the ward.

Senator Walker Stricken.

Charles J. Walker of Columbia, former state senator, was stricken with paralysis at his home early in March. His entire left side and his vocal organs were affected. Senator Walker is widely known among the alumni of the University. He is the father of four graduates: Mrs. A. W. Hull, Worcester, Mass., formerly instructor in mathematics at the University; Charles J. Walker, Jr., promoter, of St. Louis; Ben S. Walker, Winchester, Ky., resident engineer of the L. & N. Railroad, and Lee Walker, instructor in law at the University and junior partner with his father in the law firm of Walker and Walker. Senator Walker is a graduate of Dartmouth, '70.

Judge Lawson Aids Law Reform.

Judge John D. Lawson, dean of the School of Law, argued before the Senate Judiciary Committee in Washington, D. C., recently in behalf of three bills designed to simplify legal procedure. Judge Lawson spoke as a member of the law reform committee of the American Bar Association.

Cargill Is Telegraph Editor.

John P. Cargill, who attended the School of Journalism in 1909-10, is now telegraph editor of the St. Joseph News-Press.

Dr. Scott Is 71 Years Old.

Dr. John R. Scott of Columbia, who was professor of elocution at the University from 1897 to 1910, was 71 years old on March 4. Doctor Scott's time is occupied principally with a book on elocution that he is writing. "I have been at it for twenty-one years," he said, "and have rewritten it eight or ten times. That's what I'm doing now. I hope this is the last transcript that I shall make."

'Gene Field Again.

Stories of 'Gene Field are as numerous as freshman caps in the fall. Here's one about a speech of introduction that Field wrote while in Denver for a negro deacon who was to introduce Wolfe Londoner, a friend of the poet, to an audience. This was the send-off that Londoner received: "I now take great pleasure in introducing to you our friend and brother, the Honorable Mr. Wolfe Londoner, who has always been our true friend and brother, who always advises us to do the right thing and stands ready at all times to help us in the good fight. Although he has a white skin, his heart is as black as any of ours."

Won Points in Kansas City.

Missouri athletes made a creditable showing in the annual K. C. A. C. indoor games in Kansas City March 7. The Tiger one-mile relay team, composed of Lake, Chapman, Murphy and Hutsell, defeated the Nebraska team; time, 3:42 4-5. Moss won the mile run, covering the distance in 4:37 4-5. Captain Thatcher was defeated by Lee Talbot of the K. C. A. C. in the shot-put, but finished ahead of his rival, Reber of Kansas. Talbot's mark was 46 feet 3 inches.

Dr. Davenport a Dean.

Dr. H. J. Davenport, professor of economics, has been chosen by the Board of Curators as dean of the new School of Commerce. The board at a recent meeting decided to establish the school next fall. Two years of college work will be required for entrance. The other members of the faculty are: President A. Ross Hill; George L. Clark, professor of law; H. Wade Hibbard, professor of mechanical engineering; T. B. Veblen, lecturer in economics; W. J. Shepard, associate professor of political science and public law; S. D. Gromer, assistant professor of economics; Charles P. Huse, assistant professor of economics; Walter W. Stewart, assistant professor of economics; W. D. A. Westfall, assistant professor of mathematics. Prof. Clark will teach the law subjects related to commerce; Prof. Hibbard, efficiency engineering, and Prof. Westfall, mathematics of insurance.

Another Railroad Rumor.

Every year or so another railroad, steam or electric, builds into Columbia—on paper. The latest report concerns the Chicago and Alton. This road, it is said, has had a break with the Burlington and must now build a line into St. Louis. The new road would start at Glasgow, Mo., and pass through Fayette, Columbia and Fulton to some point on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas west of St. Charles. Maybe!

On the Teaching of Poetry.

Prof. A. H. R. Fairchild of the English department is the author of a bulletin on "The Teaching of Poetry in the High School," soon to be issued in the educational series of the University. The bulletin gives an account of some practical work done in the University High School.

Phi Kappa Psi Celebrate.

E. C. Brandenburg of Fort Worth, Tex., and H. N. Brown of Wagner, Okla., attended the annual foundation day banquet of Phi Kappa Psi and were initiated into the fraternity in February. They were members of the local Zeta Chi fraternity, which in 1909 became a chapter of Phi Kappa Psi, but left school before the national charter was granted. Other out-of-town guests at the banquet were T. C. Wilson, S.B., N.G.'74, of St. Louis, former secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, and Royal Fillmore of Kansas City.

Medical School Ranks High.

The School of Medicine of the University of Missouri was retained in class A-plus, the first class of the American Association of Medical Colleges, at the recent annual meeting of the association in Chicago. One hundred medical schools were represented at the meeting. The retention of the Missouri school in the first class is especially noteworthy in view of the fact that it gives only a two-year course. Wisconsin was the only other school with a two-year course that was so honored. The others in the twenty-four comprising the first class give four-year courses leading to the M. D. degree. Work done at Missouri in the two years is accepted at full value by all the leading medical schools.

Tiger vs. Tiger.

Two former Tigers are making the race for city attorney of Lexington, Mo. They are Carl L. Ristine, LL.B.'10, the present city attorney, who was captain of the never-defeated Tigers of 1909, and Charles A. Keith, LL.B.'91, a member of the first Tiger football team.

Dean Williams Back in May.

Dean Walter Williams of the School of Journalism, who is touring the world as holder of a Kahn fellowship, will return to Columbia in time to preside at the meetings of Journalism Week, May 18-22. Dean Williams is now in China. He will visit Japan and sail thence for the United States. Among the speakers of Journalism Week, which is held annually by the School of Journalism, will be the following: Medill McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune; Governor Cox of Ohio; John A. Sleicher, editor of Leslie's Weekly; Paul Brown, editor of the St. Louis Republic; E. F. Cutter, manager of the Chicago office of the Associated Press; W. J. Pilkington, editor of the Merchants' Trade Journal of Des Moines, Ia.; Thomas Dreier, editor of Associated Advertising, published at Indianapolis, Ind.; Charles P. Cushing, news editor of Collier's, and T. M. LeQuatte, business manager of Successful Farming of Des Moines.

Rayner Patents a Silo.

O. S. Rayner, B.S. in Agr.'12, has perfected and patented a new style of block silo and is organizing his company at Jacksonville, Ill. Since leaving the University Mr. Rayner has been doing government work in cost accounting at Jacksonville, under the supervision of the farm management department at Washington. He recently resigned his position to devote all his time to the silo company. Mr. Rayner's home was at Braymer, Mo.

M. S. U. Society the Winner.

The M. S. U. Debating Society will retain possession of the debating cup for another year, having placed four men out of the six composing the University debating teams. F. R. Chambers, G. C. Head and J. P. Smith, all of the M. S. U., were selected as the leaders, and Paul Carrington and R. H. Limbaugh, of the Athenaeum, and E. K. Lutes, of the M. S. U., as the associates. Claude Cross, Chester R. Longwell and W. H. Allison were named as alternates. The men selected will take part in the annual contests with the debating teams of Texas, Kansas and Colorado State Universities.

"Jack" Mills in Law Firm.

John C. Mills, Jr., LL.B.'13, has formed a partnership for the practice of law with S. W. Mills, a cousin, at Kirksville, Mo., under the firm name of Mills and Mills. John C. Mills is the "Jack" Mills of football fame. He was a 1911 and 1912 Tiger.

Rifle Team Loses to Oregon.

The University of Missouri marksmen were defeated by the team of the Oregon Agricultural College in the sixth series of matches for colleges and universities for the national rifle shooting championship, held in February. The score was 909 to 900.

Football as a Weight Reducer.

If you want to put off flesh in a hurry, try football. The only trouble with this method is that the lost weight quickly comes back. Coach Schulte recalled recently some cases of unusually heavy loss that he had observed. The most remarkable was that of the famous "Germany" Schulz of Michigan, who came out of a game with Pennsylvania ten pounds lighter than when he went in. He regained the weight in twenty-four hours, much of it coming back in the first three or four hours after the game. J. J. Gallagher, the big guard of the Tigers last year, lost seven pounds in the game with Oklahoma.

Brainard to Enter Vaudeville.

Carl F. Brainard, a former student in the School of Journalism and a member of the Tiger baseball team for two years, is to become a vaudeville actor. He has been booked for fifty-two weeks. Until the first of this year Brainard was a reporter on the St. Louis Republic. Since then he has been at his home in National City, Cal. He has been playing baseball with Tesreau and Meyers of the New York Giants, Tex Russell of the Chicago White Sox, Overall of the Chicago Cubs and other stars who have been spending the winter in California.

M. U.'s Portrait Gallery.

On the third floor of Academic Hall, on the walls of the main corridor which look down into the "well," hang portraits of many men who, in days gone by, helped to lay the foundation for the school of today. Presidents of the University, members of the Board of Curators, deans of the colleges, professors, librarians and historians are there. Some of the portraits are in oil, others have been enlarged from photographs and others are steel engravings. Among the portraits are those of Benjamin B. Minor, president of the University of Missouri, 1860-62; G. F. Rothwell, president of the Board of Curators, 1891-94; David Todd, judge of the First Judicial Circuit Court of Missouri, 1821-37; Joseph G. Norwood, librarian, 1862-77, dean of the medical faculty, 1872-80; Joseph Ficklin, professor of mathematics, 1865-87; William F. Switzler, author of "The History of the University of Missouri," and William H. Duncan, treasurer of the University, 1841-55.

Two Professors Knighted.

Prof. M. P. Weinbach and Prof. H. C. Rentschler were selected by the engineers to receive the honorary St. Patrick's degrees at the annual celebration March 17. President Hill granted the engineers a half holiday for the stunt. They expect also to give one of the stunts for the entertainment of visitors during Commencement Week.

A Course in Cotton Raising.

The College of Agriculture now has a course in fiber crops, which deals mainly with cotton raising. Twenty students are enrolled. It is not generally known that Missouri is a cotton state. The value of the crop runs annually from $3,500,000 to $5,500,000.

A Visit From Don McVay.

Don C. McVay, LL.B.'11, was in Columbia recently investigating the plans of the Y. M. C. A. Building. After Trenton, Mo., his home town, voted "dry" in January, the citizens started a movement to have a Y. M. C. A. Building there, to be modeled after the one in Columbia.

Mr. McVay came to Columbia from St. Louis, where he attended the annual Lincoln's Day banquet of the Young Republicans of Missouri. F. C. Donnell, LL.B.'07, was in charge of the banquet. Mr. McVay was re-elected vice-president for the second congressional district and made a member of the state executive committee.

Mr. McVay was asked whether he was still "General Manager of Things in General," as a writer on the Kansas City Star dubbed him when he was in school. He replied that he was only an editor and lawyer.

His paper, the Republican Tribune, was the only paper in Trenton that supported the "drys" in the recent election.

Their Worthy Deeds Recorded.

A record at the opposite pole from that kept by the Discipline Committee—which, by the way, has found little to do this session—is that on file in the University publisher's office. The publisher is now chief guardian of worthy deeds of every student in the University. He has a card index system which gives the home, high school attended, course in the University and Columbia address of each student. All the notable and worthy deeds of a student are recorded on his card and the information is sent to the home paper. This makes interesting news matter for the paper and, incidentally, advertises the University.

News of a Former Coach.

William J. Monilaw, former track and football coach at the University of Missouri, is now director of a camp known as the Wisconsin Highlands Camp for Boys. Between camp seasons he is connected with the School of Education of the University of Chicago.

F. C. Wilkinson a Candidate.

Frank C. Wilkinson, A.B.'10, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Missouri Legislature from the Second Jackson County District. The south part of Kansas City, his home, is included in this district. Mr. Wilkinson is a member of the law firm of Wilkinson and Wilkinson. The Second Jackson County District is now represented by O. H. Swearingen, LL.B.'97, chairman of the Committee on Appropriations at the last session.

Tests Coins for Uncle Sam.

Dr. William G. Brown, professor of chemistry, recently appointed a member of the United States Assay Commission by President Wilson, attended a meeting of the commission at the Philadelphia mint last month. He aided in testing samples of all the new coins manufactured in the Government mints.

Dean Charters to Be a Citizen.

W. W. Charters, dean of the School of Education, has filed papers declaring his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States. Dean Charters was born in Hartford, Ontario, Canada. He emigrated to this country from Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, in 1902.

Archbishop Glennon in Columbia.

Archbishop John J. Glennon of St. Louis delivered the Washington's Birthday address in the University Auditorium February 22. He was in Columbia to preside at the laying of the corner-stone of the new Roman Catholic Church.

Ridings Goes to Kansas City Star.

H. E. Ridings, a graduate of the School of Journalism in 1912 and managing editor of The Alumnus last year, has begun work in the advertising department of the Kansas City Star. Mr. Ridings had been with the advertising promotion department of the St. Louis Republic.

M. U. Graduate is Candidate.

Carl S. Hoffman, valedictorian of the law class of 1913, has been nominated for city attorney of Sedalia, Mo. Mr. Hoffman is running on an independent, non-partisan ticket. The nominees of this ticket are pledged to fight for commission form of government and have agreed to resign in case commission rule is adopted before the expiration of their term.

Joseph E. Chasnoff, '11.

Joseph Edwin Chasnoff, A.B., B.S. in J.'11, lost his life in a fire that killed more than thirty persons and destroyed the seven-story Missouri Athletic Club building in St. Louis early in the morning of March 9.

Mr. Chasnoff occupied a room on the sixth floor with Ernest R. Evans, A.B.'09. His solicitude for Mr. Evans, with whom he had been closely associated both in school and later in business life, may have been responsible for his death. Waking first, he aroused Evans and waited until they had talked over means of escape. Then, seeing that his roommate was about ready to leave, he told Mr. Evans "so-long" and walked into the smoke-filled corridor. Mr. Evans supposed that he had gone to a fire escape, the location of which both knew. Evans followed, went down the fire-escape and a pipe and reached the ground without being hurt. His surprise at not finding his roommate safe soon turned into deep anxiety. In a state bordering on collapse, Mr. Evans searched among the survivors until forced to the realization that Mr. Chasnoff had never left the building. It is supposed he lost his way in the smoke and flames.

Mr. Chasnoff after his graduation was for a year University publisher, alumni secretary and instructor in advertising. He was later in the publicity department of the Chicago Tribune. For the past year and a half he had been manager of the advertising promotion work of the St. Louis Republic. Mr. Evans is in the advertising department of the same paper.

Mr. Chasnoff founded the University Ad Club and was a member of QEBH and the Dana Press Club. He was secretary of the St. Louis Alumni Association last year. His parents live in Sedalia, Mo. A brother, Jacob Chasnoff, A.B.'03, is a lawyer in St. Louis.

The following resolutions have been adopted by the St. Louis alumni:

Whereas, Joseph E. Chasnoff, who lost his life in the fire of the Missouri Athletic Club on the morning of March 9, 1914, was one of the most devoted and loyal alumni of the University of Missouri, a valued member of the St. Louis Alumni Association, and a beloved friend of all University of Missouri alumni who knew him; therefore,

Be it resolved, that we express our appreciation of his high qualities of manhood, his splendid ideals and enthusiasm for the fine things of life, the qualities of honor and integrity which gave him high place among those who knew him as friend or business associate; and that we express our profound sorrow at his unfortunate and untimely death.

Resolved further that we extend our most sincere sympathy to his relatives and friends.

(Signed) J. T. Garrett, J. A. Whitlow, Wm. T. Nardin, Committee.

Hubert B. Carpenter, '12.

Hubert B. Carpenter, B.S.in Agr.'12, died March 7 at the home of his parents at Union Star, Mo. He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown for several weeks, but was not thought to be dangerously sick till a few days before his death. Mr. Carpenter taught in the Georgia Agricultural College for a year after his graduation. Since last September he had been adjunct professor of animal husbandry in the Nebraska College of Agriculture at Lincoln. He was a member of the '11 stock judging team and of the Alpha Zeta fraternity.

Miss Ida Leroy Fitzgerald.

Dr. H. F. Bailey.

Dr. H. F. Bailey, trainer of the Tiger athletic teams, was married at Parsons, Kan., February 23 to Miss Ida Leroy Fitzgerald, a former student of Christian College. They are living in Columbia. Dr. Bailey is a graduate of the School of Osteopathy at Kirksville.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Curran of Elyria, Ohio, on February 15. Mr. Curran, B.S.in E.E.'10, is associated with R. E. Burger, B.S.in E.E.'07, in the electrical business in Elyria.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Cripps of Elk City, Kan., August 2, 1913, a daughter, Virginia Gail—a future candidate, the father says, for the degree of B.S. in Home Economics at the University of Missouri. Mr. Cripps was graduated with the degree of LL.B. in 1902. Mrs. Cripps was Miss Minnie Williams, a former student at the University of Kansas. "After following the shade of Blackstone for three years," Mr. Cripps writes, "I have returned to my first love, the farm, to enjoy again the shorthorns, alfalfa, hogs and sweet clover."

IN KANSAS CITY

By E. W. PATTERSON

M. J. Dorsey, LL.B.'05, is agent for the Merchants' Underwriters and a number of other inter-indemnity fire insurance concerns, with offices in the Commerce Building.

Mrs. Henry N. Ess, Jr., has gone to California for the winter, to rest and recuperate from her recent illness.

Miss Bob Lindsay, B.S. in Ed.'13, of Carrollton, Mo., a Kappa Kappa Gamma, was the guest of Miss Helen Spencer at her home in this city on March 1. Miss Spencer was a student in the College of Arts and a Pi Beta Phi in 1906-7.

Walter H. Haglage, B.S. in C.E.'11, returned to his home, 3101 Park avenue, recently, after having been engaged on bridge construction work at Fort Worth, Tex.

W. W. ("Ozark") Wright, LL.B.'08, divorce proctor of the Circuit Court, added new renown to his prestige when he was recently given a full page write-up in the Ladies' Home Journal, commending his work in the abolishment of "trial marriages." "Ozark" is rapidly becoming known over the country as the man who took the "tri" out of "matrimony." (Can you forgive me, Beatrice?)

George B. Calvin, LL.B.'09, and Kumpf Rieger, a student in the College of Arts during 1909-11, formerly residents of this city, have gone to Tulsa, Okla., where they are engaged in the oil business.

Errett Combs, a former student in the College of Arts, recently underwent an operation for appendicitis. He is now fully recovered.

Shannon C. Douglass, Jr., LL.B.'10, recently left this city to engage in the practice of law in Seattle, Wash. Douglass will be remembered as a valuable point winner on the Tiger track team in the sprints and 440-yard dash.

The local alumni are planning to "get together" at the annual Missouri-Kansas indoor track meet in Convention Hall on March 27. A section of seats will be reserved for the alumni and former students where they may do some concerted "rooting." These seats will be sold only to alumni and former students. They may be had by applying in advance to the secretary of the local association. Out-of-town alumni who expect to see the meet should arrange to sit in this section.

IN ST. LOUIS

By OSCAR E. RILEY

William Talbot, B.S. in E.E.'13, has become manager of the house wiring department of the Union Electric Light and Power Company. "Bill" sold books at nights while certain other University students talked about the moon on the pier at Portland, Ore.

William Russell Rizer, tenor and star in "Hundred Dollar Bill," entered the St. Louis University Medical School this semester.

William Saul Smith, A.B.'10, A.T.O., basketball man, visited alumni on his recent hegira from Little Rock, Ark., to Buffalo, N. Y., where he has accepted a place as chemical engineer.

E. R. Evans was elected secretary of the local Alumni Association, to succeed Harry E. Ridings, who has accepted a place in the advertising department of the Kansas City Star.

Charles Arnold, A.B.'07, B.S. in J.'09, has hitched his wagon to The Star. He writes convincing headlines. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold live at 5092 Wells avenue.

Simon M. Frank, A.B.'05, managing editor of the Independent in '04, and for the last six years advertising manager of the Rice-Stix Dry Goods Company, has been elected president of the Frank and Meyer Neckwear Company, 1508-12 Washington avenue. Last spring he married Miss Mabel Pitzel of St. Louis, a junior in Wellesley College.

John D. Waugh, A.B.'12, has been chosen principal of the high school at Ferguson, a suburb of St. Louis.

Clinton T. Yates, B.S. in E.E.'09, has resigned his place with the Arrow Engineering Company to go to Phoenix, Ariz. He feared ill health was imminent.

John P. Nicholson, star track man, is a new reporter on the Globe-Democrat. He writes signed sport occasionally. "The boss" says he has the "makin's" of a fine newspaper man. Nicholson missed one semester, else he would be A.B.'13. He intends to make up the six-hour gap by correspondence work.

Ned C. Mann, E.E.'10, has left the United Railways Company to become electrical engineer for the Board of Education. Mann stood second highest in the United States in a recent civil service examination for junior electrical engineers in the War Department.

Louis A. Bell, B.S. in Ed.'09, has taken up the teaching of industrial chemistry in the David Ranken, Jr., School of Mechanical Trades.

Three Missouri men who will be awarded M.D. degrees by Washington University this June, have been notified of their appointment as internes, effective June 15. Samuel H. Snider, A.B.'12, will go to the General Hospital, Kansas City. Ellsworth E. Moody, A.B.'12, and J. Edward Smith, class of '12, will be at the St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Harvey H. Shackelford, A.B.'10, is taking special work in plant physiology at Washington University. His goal is an M.D. and a Ph.D.

The bunch misses Logan Herbert Keller, B.S.in E.E.'12, who has a pretty fine job, thank you, as manager of the Chicago branch of the Moloney Electric Company. Keller knows about that Portland pier.

Louis J. Portner, A.B.'10, is the busy boy these days. He is a senior in law at Washington University, besides being a live wire in the life insurance field.

Stanley Stokes, E.E.'12, has been transferred from the Mississippi River Power Distributing Company to the Electric Company of Missouri, at Webster Groves, Mo.

W. H. Woodward, LL.B.'13, football '11, has entered upon the practice of law in St. Louis. He lives at 8401 Florissant avenue.

Three alumni have been transferred from the St. Louis office of the Southwestern (Bell) Telegraph and Telephone Company to other cities. L. H. Curtis, B.S.in E.E.'12, departed March 7 to become district traffic chief at Hannibal, Mo. Orin E. McClain, B.S.in E.E.'13, and H. E. Thompson, B.S.in M.E.'13, have departed for Oklahoma City, Okla., to work with the Pioneer (also Bell) Telephone and Telegraph Company. McClain is in the traffic, and Thompson in the commercial department. The Bell Telephone system advances its Oklahoma City men rapidly, so that it is considered an honor to be sent there.

Frank L. Wilcox, B.S.in C.E.'02, C.E.'06, a consulting engineer, has been retained by the city of Caruthersville, Mo., to construct a sewerage system costing $60,000. He is now employed on similar jobs at Charleston, Dexter and Kennett, Mo.

H. A. Mansur, LL.B.'09, was quarantined recently in Chillicothe, Mo., while on a trip as a member of the legal department of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company. It was smallpox.

The paint is still wet on the law firm shingle of Blodgett and Rector, in the New Commerce Building. Ralph Eugene Blodgett, A.B.'05, was the first Rhodes scholar from Missouri, attending Oxford University from 1904 until 1907. He was awarded an LL.B. by Washington University in 1909. James A. Rector, University of Virginia '09, was 100-yard man for America at the Olympic Games in London in 1908.

IN CHICAGO

By W. T. CROSS

We had about forty or forty-five in attendance at our meeting February 20, most of them coming in time for dinner at the La Salle Hotel, where the meeting was held. Diligent efforts of members brought out several new ones, and there were about a dozen ladies. The senior member of the group was Mr. Enoch Fudge, of the class of '73. It is a great inspiration to have among us one who used to play pranks with "Chomeau, the Field boys and the rest."

With his letter Mr. Cross, who is president of the Chicago alumni, enclosed a copy of "Rah!"—an eight-page yellow folder published by the association. "Rah!" shows the right Missouri spirit and sets an example in "rounding up" members that other alumni associations in the big cities might follow. On the four inner pages are printed the names and addresses, so far as known, of all the alumni and former students in the city. Everyone is urged to read the list and send corrections and new names to the secretary. The issue of "Rah!" is labeled "No. 1—a whole volume in itself." The outer pages tell of the previous meeting and announce future meetings.

"The Alumni Association," says an editorial, "exists for the good fellowship of its members and the perpetuation of those golden memories which cluster about Alma Mater—like the ivy on the Columns."

Under the heading, "The Law," this announcement is made: "No action of this association is ever unconstitutional. We have no constitution. Hoary tradition has it that there has been one by-law only. It runs thus: All good members pay their dues. This was modified at the December meeting to read: Members living in this city pay a $1 membership fee annually. Students attending school are given membership free. This means that the students' checks are not good at our bank. We always prized their good will more than their money, anyway."

It is hard to see how any alumnus in Chicago can stay out of the association after reading the inspiring "Rah!"

IN HANNIBAL

The Hannibal chapter of University of Missouri alumni reorganized February 25 and elected the following officers: President, Scott Meyer; vice-president, Will A. Cable; secretary-treasurer, Miss Ida A. Jewett. Ways of advertising the University in Hannibal were eagerly discussed by the seventeen former students present. Plans were formed for the celebration of University Day with a banquet at which the forty-five members of the senior class of Hannibal High School are to be guests. It was voted that The Alumnus be informed that it is the wish of the organization in Hannibal that the yell known as the "New Yell" be made the Missouri yell.

FROM PEOPLE YOU KNOW

News and comment in letters from alumni. "Your Own Page" has brought in a wealth of notes of the kind that alumni like best—notes flavored with personality and the spirit of the "old days." The page is in the magazine again for your use.

"I left Mexico in September last on account of political conditions there. Am just getting settled down on a farm and may not return to Mexico. But I wish to keep up my subscription to The Alumnus. I hope now to be able to visit the old M. S. U. occasionally."—James E. Garrett, C.E.'86, R. F. D. No. 6, Paragould, Ark.

"The Alumnus, not unlike some other things, grows better with age, and I take much pleasure in reading of the men I knew in school, and from whom I have not heard for several years."—A. H. Mansfield, LL.B.'95, law department Missouri Pacific Railway Company, 1125 Railway Exchange Building, St. Louis.

"Am digging along in the practice of the law, enjoying myself and getting portly. Am doing Chautauqua and lyceum on the side in spare moments, and have even received money from a magazine for literary effort. ("Effort" is good!) Am still married. Have one wife—the same one. No change anticipated. . . . We have one Missouri U. organization in this Jayhawk town, at any rate. C. L. Cole, LL.B. '11, Mrs. C. L. Cole, a former student at M. U., with myself and Mrs. Gresham, constitute the quartet choir of the First M. E. Church here. . . . Keep up the good work. We could not do without The Alumnus. It is worth any man's money."—Walter J. Gresham, LL.B.'11, Cottonwood Falls, Kan.

"I have just finished reading the February issue and must say that it is improving wonderfully. It is a great pleasure to read of the old alumni and of their whereabouts and of the happenings at Columbia. Keep up the good work."—J. L. Vandiver, B.S.in C.E.'06, Wells, Nev.

"Where Homer Croy leaves on a trip to gather new fame, I stay to gather new facts. Have seen the serious humorist only once in three years, and that was at the other end of a crowded elevated car, so I could not speak to him. He looked so sad anyway that only an assistant pastor would have dared approach. . . . My work here has been for the most part the investigation and reporting of financial and economic status of various public utility promotion propositions, for a group of capitalists. At present, however, I am collecting an exhibit, for a group of business men, of concrete examples of those activities in industry which promote better relations between employer and employee. Previous to coming to New York, I attended the University of Chicago, doing graduate work in economics and law, and in the capacity of special agent assisted the Department of Commerce and Labor to negotiate the thirteenth census in the first District of Illinois. Prior to those adventures I took a graduate degree in the University of Kansas, in sociology. . . . At present I am married (SHE is a grad of U. of Chicago), and have one yearling boy."—Clarence J. Primm, A.M. '07, 64 Pendleton place, New Brighton, S. I., New York.

"'Your Own Page' in The Alumnus! I really could not fill a page. In the language of the old darky who was asked to change a 'Five,' 'I can't do it, Boss, but I thanks you fo' the compliment.' . . . On the page opposite the one left blank for me is the name of a fellow Savitar editor, Charles G. Ross, managing editor of The Alumnus. The members of the Savitar Board of 1904 led a serious existence. We even got solemn over Mark Twain, and the name of 'Doodle' so near my page starts a brotherly feeling and encourages me to send a paragraph or two. . . . No, I am not a Supreme Judge, I haven't become rich, I haven't married, I am just an ordinary transcontinental 'flunky' for a big trust company. I have traveled the United States from Bozeman to Boston, and from the Dominion of Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. I am not a bloated bond holder—I am as lean as ever. I have handled a lot of money, but it belonged to other people—they still have it. After leaving the University I joined a Bachelors' Club. The other members all married, and now I am the club. Today I am comfortable and well fed. I am sitting in a big chair at a glass-covered mahogany desk dictating these lines. Next week I may be cold and hungry on a slow train a thousand miles from here. Such is life this side of the 'Mule Barn.'

. . . These 'personal notes' have expanded from a paragraph to a page, but if they are one-tenth as interesting to others as the personal notes of other alumni are to me I will be repaid. . . I am coming back for Commencement if the trains run and I can finance the trip."—F. E. Williams, LL.B.'05, Bankers Trust Co. of St. Louis, 622 National Bank of Commerce Building.

(Howdy, F. E.! "Do you like Mark Twain?" Remember Ida Benfey, famed reader and impersonator, whom the Savitar Board brought to Columbia, and the $80 we lost on the deal? Happy days!—C.G.R.)

"Every month we look forward with pleasure to the coming of The Alumnus."—F. C. Streeter, B.S.in Agr.'10, Central Missouri Serum Company, Marshall, Mo.

"I have just received and read every line of the February Alumnus. The Alumnus is one of my most welcomed visitors. While I enjoy the athletic features of the various issues I enjoy the "doings" of the old students more than any other feature. Tell us more about the young men and women, former students of the University, who are making fame for themselves and honoring the Old School."—W. H. Truitt, LL.B.'87, 4911 Budlong avenue, Los Angeles, Cal.

"I should not want to miss a copy—which reminds me to enclose a check to renew my subscription. . . For the past two years I have been located in New York and am engaged by Henry L. Doherty and Company, bankers."—Virgil Board, E.E.'10, 60 Wall street, New York City.

"I always enjoy reading the news about the Old School."—F. J. Bullivant, B.S.in E.E.'07, 6400 Plymouth avenue, St. Louis.

"I have now dissolved partnership with Marion Reynolds of this place, and am practicing law alone. The firm was formerly Reynolds and Hill. It is very seldom that I ever see a Missouri Alumnus down here; however, I do see S. E. Fish every time I go to Amarillo. He is a law graduate in 1905, and is one of the leading lawyers in Amarillo. I saw Newton Dale, Law 1911, here one day last spring, and that is the only person from U. of M. that I have seen in Shamrock. . . The Alumnus is better every issue and is the best thing that I have seen at any time. I look forward to the issues for a whole month in advance, and no reading pleases me more."—H. B. Hill, A.B.'10, LL.B.'12, Shamrock, Tex.

"On a recent visit to Kirksville I met a number of Missouri graduates. J. S. Stokes, a classmate of 1883, R. E. White, '03, Byron Cosby, '04, E. H. Fair, '04, W. H. Zeigel, '04, W. H. Bray, '09, are leading members of the faculty of the First District State Normal School. Felix Rothschild, '11, is principal of the Kirksville High School and is looking forward to his new building for which $80,000 has been voted. E. O. Jones and J. C. ("Jack") Mills, both of the class of 1913, will compete for the Democratic nomination for prosecuting attorney of Adair County. Incidentally, it may be noted that the Missouri men are active in public service and are contributing to the marked improvement which is evident in Kirksville."—Isidor Loeb, B.S.'87, M.S.'93, LL.B.'93, Columbia, Mo.

"I enjoy reading The Alumnus and was particularly interested in the article by Hiram Phillips, "I Remember When," in the January issue. It recalled to my mind many incidents and scenes of the time during my attendance at the old M. S. U., which was in the days before the fire. . . We have quite a number of the alumni living around Pittsburgh. A former student and instructor in the University, Silas Dinsmore, is an osteopath physician located at Sewickly, Pa."—C. A. Swift, C.E.'90, 331 Elizabeth avenue, Avalon, Pa.

"Have things about settled in my new place and think I shall enjoy working in Oklahoma. The opportunities for a geologist are much better here than in Missouri. The Missouri Alumnus will be greatly appreciated each month."—Alex. W. McCoy, C.E.'12, department of geology, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Okla.

"The rush is beginning on to-day's 'Extra,' but I am taking time from my telegraph to say here's your $2. I wouldn't be without The Alumnus for many times that amount. It's the next best thing to a visit on the Quad. E. B. Miller and myself (Miller, you know, is a Missouri U. product) began publication of an evening daily January 1. In February we started an "early mail edition" which covers practically all of Northwest Texas. We have a circulation now of 1,750 copies. The Evening Herald has both Associated and United Press Service. I handle editorial, telegraph and some local news. We print eight pages daily, and get along with one No. 5 linotype. . . . Some day when we don't print I will write you about the Missouri crowd here. District Judge L. S. Kinder and L. G. Wilson (who pays taxes on 15,000 acres of land in this county) are dated back in the 70s. O. D. Coan, in the mercantile business, A. G. Harrison, principal of our ward school, Miller and myself come in three decades later. Long live The Alumnus!"—Buford O. Brown, A.B. '08, B.S.in J.'12, Plainview, Tex.

"The Alumnus improves with every number. It is an additional reason why I am proud of Missouri University."—A. H. Kiskaddon, A.B., LL.B.'10, St. Louis County Trust Building, Clayton, Mo.

"Since last writing you a son has arrived, James Wilbur, born October 2, 1913. . . . This part of China is very unsettled. I have not been at my station for over seven months now. Last May Sienyu City was attacked by bandits while I was there. I got out in the middle of the night and at daybreak I watched the bandits capture the walled city and drive out the garrison. It was a poor exhibition of fighting on the part of the Government troops. In fact, they do not deserve the name of soldiers. They did manage to keep the bandits from hurting them and at the end of the fight got out of the city unpursued. This left me in an awkward position. The road leading to my home in Hinghwa, twenty-seven miles away, was now infested with the bandits. I had to make a long detour to get around them, walking forty-three miles through the hills in one day. The entire region where my mission works is so disturbed by the depredations of the bandits that our Consul has held us in Foochow some seventy-five miles away. Several of our churches have been burned and native members robbed of all their possessions. Uncle Sam has asked the Provincial Government to straighten up the country down there but nothing is done so far."—W. B. Cole, A.B.'06, missionary, Hinghwa, China, via Foochow.

"The Alumnus is as necessary to me when I want to keep in touch with the old University as the telescope is to the astronomer. Even the advertisements are interesting to read."—Homer C. Greene, B.S.in Agr.'05, superintendent Mt. Adams Orchard Company, Husum, Wash.

"I have received the first two issues and I hope my credit holds good until you get the money. That news of the doings in Columbia about Thanksgiving Day was better than a cold 'chop' on a hot day. Let's do it all the time."—H. K. Rutherford, B.S.in E.E.'08, Caixa do Correio 218, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

(Credit rating is A1; the money came. An interesting item of news about Mr. Rutherford appears in the wedding column.)

"Am still with the St. Louis sewer department as assistant engineer in charge of construction of district sewers. I always delight in reading the little magazine because it gives me all the dope, from those qualified to give it. Am also pleased to note the space given to athletics. I have two little 'Guns' growing up who will try to follow their father and become M men also."—George C. Gundlach, B.S.in C.E.'10, 4530A South Grand avenue, St. Louis.

"The Alumnus is a welcome visitor all the time. There are several old Missouri men down here and only the fact that I work while they sleep keeps me from being with them most of the time. Probably our most distinguished one is Marvin (Pat) Doyle, who is at the penitentiary here in an official capacity—not as an inmate. He is secretary of the penitentiary commission, I think. . . . I am rooming with a Kansas University man, the managing editor of the Kansan last year. He is telegraph editor here now. The night editor is a Michigan man, one of the reporters is from Purdue and another from Drury, Springfield, Mo. There are two Missourians besides myself on this paper. I see Lloyd Driver now and then when he comes through here with his Mississippi University athletic teams. I'm reading copy now, on the state desk. If ever I get a week off, I'm coming back to Columbia."—Maurice Hicklin, A.B.'09, B.J.'13, Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock, Ark.
