Stephens Junior College

COLUMBIA, MISSOURI

Fully Accredited as a Junior College by the University of Missouri and Other Standard Institutions

Since its standardization as a Junior College in 1912, Stephens College has shown the following remarkable increase in resident enrollment:

1913-14	Increase in enrollment over preceding year	100%.
1914-15	Increase in enrollment over preceding year	15%.
1915-16	Increase in enrollment over preceding year	25%.

The enrollment for 1915-16 shows an increase of over 180% over the enrollment for 1912-13. Eighty-five per cent of present enrollment are graduates of accredited four-year high schools.

"E-E-EAT 'EM UP, TIGERS!!!"

By Robert W. Jones, A.B.'06, LL.B.'13

The Tigers can and did come back. They came back to the tune of a victory capable of gladdening the spirit of the most pessimistic student or alumnus. The 41 to 13 victory over Drake University, to the minds of innumerable supporters of the Tigers, means another and more glorious victory on Rollins Field Thanksgiving Day—a feast for the Tigers on Jayhawk meat.

The Beat Kansas stock has soared since the Drake game, and well it might, for the Drake game was a real demonstration of football ability on the part of the wearers of the gold and black. The Tigers' fighting spirit and the results it brought cheered the hearts of the watching students and will mean a larger and more enthusiastic and determined crowd of alumni and other visitors in Columbia November 25. And what that Drake victory will mean to the future fighting spirit of the Tigers can be pretty closely estimated by those who have watched the Tigers in the past. It means the Tigers are going to beat Kansas or mighty well know the reason why.

The Tiger backs, featuring, as usual, Clint Collins, punctured the Drake line time and again; the linemen helped the slaughter by opening big gaps in the Bulldog line, and end runs netted more than one good gain.

Collins led in the Tiger attack. The leading event of the afternoon, from the spectators' standpoint, was a brilliant 50-yard run Collins made for a touchdown after he had plunged through the Drake line. That was in the third quarter.

The echo of the opening cheers had hardly died down before the scoring started. Collins got away for a 45-yard run, going through the whole Drake team. With the ball on the 5-yard line, Reppy dived through for the touchdown.

Throughout the game, Reppy shared honors with Collins. McAnaw added the goal point to Reppy's touchdown. Both touchdowns in the first quarter came after steady advances.

In the second quarter Rider plunged to a touchdown and McAnaw missed goal. In the third quarter Collins's great run for a touchdown was capped off by McAnaw's kick. Reppy went four yards through tackle for another touchdown and McAnaw added another goal. In the final period Stankowski, quarterback, went through for the touchdown and Clay kicked goal.

Clinton Collins, the dependable star of the Tiger backfield

It was just before this final touchdown that the announcement was made that Nebraska was beating Kansas to the tune of 23 to 0 in the first three quarters. The bleachers went wild. The Tigers caught the spirit. Missouri was going to beat Kansas, too. But, first of all, Missouri was going to do up the Drake drubbing in right style. Then came the final touchdown. It was a great day, a real "Old Missouri" day. Drake made two touchdowns, one in the second quarter, the other in the last, gained on a forward pass, after forward passes had brought the ball the length of the field.

The Tigers tied the Kansas Aggies on Rollins Field October 30

Coach Schulte was watching Nebraska beat Kansas, getting pointers on how Missouri is to follow the Cornhuskers' example.

The first "shirttail" parade of the season was in order and after the final shot was fired and the victory was settled at 41 to 13, the University band left the field playing that rollicking chorus which expresses a profane indifference for Old K. U.

And there was that old time "shirttail" parade that night. Its equal has not been seen since Missouri beat Kansas 3 to 0 on Rollins Field in 1913. Everywhere the faith became firmed that the Tigers are going to add the final game of the season to their banner.

Missouri has no stars, except, perhaps, Clinton Collins of Lathrop, Mo., playing his third year for the Tigers in the backfield. He is a good quarterback, and also plays halfback or fullback. His first game was in 1913 when he went in at left halfback during the third quarter of the Oklahoma game, when Missouri won 21-17. He is not a flashy player, but steady, heady and dependable, sure on tackling, and excellent in running interference. If Missouri has an all-valley player, it is Collins.

Valley Standing

A revision of the scores to and including November 6 shows that Nebraska and Kansas alone are in the running for the Missouri Valley Conference championship. The conference recapitulation is as follows:

	Won.	Tied.	Lost.	Points.	Opp'ts.
Nebraska	3	0	0	100	13
Kansas	2	0	0	49	14
Ames	1	0	1	14	27
Washington	1	0	1	29	27
Missouri	0	1	2	6	27
Kansas Aggies ..	0	1	2	7	50
Drake	1	0	2	47	94

Conference and non-conference games included, the season's record is as follows:

	Won.	Tied.	Lost.	Points.	Opp'ts.
Nebraska	6	0	0	193	32
Kansas	5	0	1	144	40
Ames	3	0	2	54	61
Washington	2	0	2	71	40
Missouri	1	1	4	25	75
Kansas Aggies ..	2	1	3	30	63
Drake	2	0	4	93	121

The first three games of the season showed the Tigers without a unified attack with a squad of good physical specimens that will match up well with anything of recent years, but weak on attack.

In the first three games Missouri got only two touchdowns, and both of them were in the first game, against the Oklahoma Aggies. Speelman and McAnaw got these first touchdowns. Missouri won the first game from the Oklahoma Aggies 13-6; lost to Washington University 13-0; lost to Oklahoma U. 24-0.

In the second three games Missouri got two more touchdowns, and showed more attack, and more aggressiveness than at the first of the season.

Ames 14; Tigers 6

On October 23, Missouri lost to Ames, 14-6. Rutledge, quarterback, got the touchdown by diving through center. Ames could not hold the Missouri line plungers in the middle of the field, but was able to ward off two other threats at touchdowns when Missouri got to the 5-yard line. The game was played at Ames.

Here is part of a dispatch from Ames to the St. Louis Republic that tells how the game looked to the Ames contingent:

"Mayser viewed the last half of the Missouri game with audible disgust. He threw up his hands when Ames' offense was varied from open-end running, which gained ground consistently, or rather so, to line hammering on the third or fourth downs, when line hammering was no more effective against the Tiger defense than using a tack hammer on an anvil. The coach reprimanded the team for every feature of its work—the line for not stiffening when it demonstrated in close quarters that it was capable of withstanding the plunging shocks of the Missouri backs, the backfield for total lack of fight and ginger in the last half, and the whole team for letting up the last two periods. He bawled out the backfield for not coming through with enough punch to score on an ordinary high school team. He did not criticize some of the individual work, but, taking the eleven as a whole, he was severe in his criticism. Captain John as center and Reeve at tackle were absent from the lineup. John never entered the game and Reeve was in for only a few minutes, both men being too sore with injuries to send them in except in event of absolute necessity. The light Tiger backfield tore through the Ames center as if there was no center there. John's presence in the middle of the line will bolster it up considerably."

It might be added that Hamilton, a new man, played in the Ames, Kansas Aggie, and Northwestern games, replacing Lansing, the regular who was injured in the Washington game but will be able to play November 25.

Kansas Aggies 0; Tigers 0

On October 30 the Kansas Aggies and the Tigers tied 0-0 in a ragged game in which neither side was able to get up to the other's goal line. Hamilton tried a field goal but it went low and was intercepted. The afternoon was warm. Missouri had been expected to show a revival and a more aggressive attack. But the team, after fighting Ames to a standstill the last two quarters of the game played the previous Saturday, on October 30 slumped back into mediocrity, and could not show the required punch. The Kansas Aggies won their first game of the season from Southwestern Normal 9-0; lost to Nebraska 31-0; lost to Kansas Normals 13-0; lost to Kansas 19-7; and then tied Missouri 0-0. But the game, which was played in Columbia, did not dishearten the Tiger followers.

Northwestern 24; Tigers 6

The following Saturday, November 6, Missouri was to play Northwestern in Evanston, and three hundred rooters went to Chicago and saw Missouri lose 24-6. Collins got the touchdown, through center.

At Northwestern University, Missouri lost the ball on the inch line, on the foot line, and on the yard line, on downs. The team had brought the ball up the field on real football, lacked the punch to put it over the line, and lost the value of its struggle from the fifty yard line to the goal posts. A little more united effort, a little more determination and a little more drive on the fourth down would have obtained three more touchdowns for Missouri. They were not obtained, and the advance on straight football made prior to each loss of the ball, hard work as it was, was futile and didn't count in the score.

The latter part of the game was largely Missouri's time. The Tigers showed ability to penetrate the heavy opposing line. The whole team played passably well at times, but the game was not consistently up to par.

Missouri uncovered an attack which brought the rooters to their feet, and stilled the Northwestern stands. Missouri lacked the drive and the punch, the hard-hitting, relentless attack that is required to punch over touchdowns against determined opposition. Three times Missouri got so close to a touchdown that nobody but the officials could see whether the ball was over or not. Once the ball was almost on the line, and the official had to lie down and squint to see if it was "on, over, or above the line," but it was not.

ROOTERS WENT TO CHICAGO

The Chicago papers weren't sure whether it was the Missouri Tigers, or the Missouri Mules that played Northwestern, nor were they quite sure whether the colors of the team were old gold and black or red and black, but they all recognized the fact that the Tiger rooters were on hand in force, kicking up plenty of noise. A bunch of Tiger adherents went through the Chicago Tribune office from cellar to garret, on a sight-seeing trip, and took occasion to tell the sporting editor all about the time Missouri whipped Northwestern 22-18 in 1895. Nobody knew about that in Chicago, and the rooters who reminded the Tribune of it were richly repaid next day, for the Chicago papers, without exception, after the game, had caught the Tribune's 22-18 reminiscence, and they told how Northwestern had now attained an even break with Missouri.

The Tiger rooters who went to Chicago to attend the Northwestern game made quite an impression with their Missouri yells and noisy enthusiasm, both before and after the game. Saturday morning's Chicago papers told about the arrival of the rooters, and estimated the number at from 400 to 700. As a matter of fact there were about 300.

The rooters were met at the Dearborn Street Station by a number of alumni and former students, and from there went in a body to the hotel district. The rooters were to be seen at all downtown places of amusement Friday night.

At the game the Tiger rooters sat together, and they cheered their team throughout the game, frequently standing up and giving yells with plenty of noise. Between halves they went onto the field, held a snake dance, and, standing up in a group on the fifty-yard line, took off their hats and sang, "Old Missouri."

When Coach Schulte would send a player up and down the track to warm up before going in, the rooters would shout encouragement to him, urging him to rip things wide open. The really big noise of the afternoon was heard when Missouri got a touchdown.

The Northwestern students cheered the Tiger rooters and when the Northwestern band paraded, the Tiger rooters applauded them.

The Chicago papers, almost without exception, referred to the Missourians as "Southerners" and "Dixie boys" and other phrases indicating the general impression in Chicago that Missouri is buried in groves of palmetto and is in the heart of the cotton belt. One paper didn't know the Missouri team was called Tigers, but referred to them throughout the story of the game as Mules. Still another paper referred to Missouri as "The Red and Black."

The Southern Club of Chicago invited the Tiger rooters to a meeting downtown, and the alumni in Chicago sat with the rooters at the game.

Buford Act in Supreme Court

The Board of Curators may expect a decision in three or four weeks on the mandamus suit brought against it in the Supreme Court by Harry T. Heimberger, to compel the board's compliance with the Buford Act passed by the last General Assembly. The suit was argued and submitted to the Supreme Court en banc at Jefferson City October 28. Frank H. Faris and Judge C. C. Bland of Rolla appeared for Heimberger, and O. M. Barnett and Charles E. Yeater, of Sedalia, a former curator, for the board.

The suit seeks to compel the Board of Curators to establish new courses in electrical, mechanical and chemical engineering and grant corresponding degrees in the School of Mines and Metallurgy, a division of the University at Rolla, as directed by the Buford Act.

The curators had declined to apply the law pending a decision on its constitutionality, pointing out as a further reason for their action that no appropriation was made by the legislature for the new courses authorized by the Buford Act, and that such courses at Rolla would cause needless expense by duplicating work already given in the divisions at Columbia.

The case was brought to an issue by the citizens of Rolla in the name of Heimberger, as that of a student seeking to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the Buford Act.

Women Best Scholars Yet

University women, who have been consistently leading the men in scholarship, continued their record, according to the report issued recently by the committee on statistics of scholarship, in the second semester of 1914-'15. The women's mark of 101.3 was 5.5 per cent higher than that of the men.

Varsity athletes are not flunkers, but lead the non-athletes. Their standing of 96.5 is .8 more than the average of the men not on athletic teams. The average for the total number of students in the University is 97.4. The averages are computed on the grading system which gives extra credit for superior work and detracts for inferior scholarship.

Sorority standings are: Pi Beta Phi, 107; Alpha Phi, 106; Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Gamma, 105; Phi Mu and Kappa Alpha Theta, 104; Alpha Delta Pi and Chi Omega, 103.

The fraternities stand: Beta Theta Pi and Pi Kappa Alpha, 101; Acacia, 100; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 99; Sigma Nu, 98; Sigma Chi, Delta Gamma, 105; Phi Mu and Kappa Alpha Kappa Alpha, 95; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 94; Kappa Sigma and Phi Kappa Psi, 93; Alpha Tau Omega, 92; Delta Tau Delta, 88. All but two social fraternities have bettered their standing since February, 1912.

PLANS FOR BIG GAME WEEK

Accommodations for twelve thousand persons on Rollins Field. The biggest crowd of alumni and former students in the history of home-comings of the University of Missouri. These are the plans and predictions of C. L. Brewer, director of athletics. And, according to all indications, Mr. Brewer isn't going to be far wrong either in his count or in his forecast of the home-coming.

In addition to the concrete bleachers, temporary bleachers are being erected on the north

The engineers mysteriously announce that they are going to make the old Quad brilliant with some special lighting features. They refused to give any hint concerning their plans. They want the returning alumni and the University's visitors and the rest of the crowd to have a surprise such as the annual St. Patrick's Day brings forth.

Wednesday will be a day for putting the final cutting edge on Missouri spirit. Alumni will vie with present students in enthusiasm and west sides of the football field. The visitors from Kansas will have the north side along with spectators holding general admission tickets. The concrete bleachers on the south are reserved for alumni and students of the University. There the noisy thousands will gather and with their supporting enthusiasm help the Tigers on the field beat the Jayhawkers. And no alumnus nor alumna has forgotten how the cheers and the belief in the team do help to win.

The Missouri-Kansas game itself will be reason enough for the great crowd that is going to be in Columbia on Thanksgiving Day. But there are going to be other reasons, too. There is going to be something of interest to the old grads doing every day of the game week.

A movement is on foot to bring the Kansas Glee Club to Columbia to give a joint concert with the Missouri Glee Club Tuesday night. Last year the Missouri Glee Club went to Lawrence, and a return of favors is expected this year.

and cheers for the Tigers at the big mass meeting in the University Auditorium Wednesday night. You remember those demonstrations before the big games. Your memory will tell you it's well worth while being in the Auditorium Wednesday night and listening to football oratory of alumni and student leaders and joining in on the old yell, the new yell and all the other yells and finally in the singing of "Old Missouri," when the determination to win is screwed up to the sticking point indeed.

Just following the mass meeting there will be a smoker at the Columbia Club for alumni of the University. Then Thanksgiving Day, the day of The Game! At 9:30 in the morning the parade of alumni and students will start from Rothwell Gymnasium and wind its way through Columbia. The alumni will be grouped by classes as will be the students now in the University. The cadets and the University Band will be there. The different departments of the University will be represented with floats. And the city of Columbia will see that its is not forgotten.

The game will be called at 2:15. Then will come the final test, the test which brings out in every Tiger the last bit of fighting force he has in his whole makeup; the test which calls up a grit and determination which no game other than one with Kansas can do.

Following the game there will be open house at the Gymnasium. There will be music, dancing and a light lunch. The Columbia Club will also hold open house for alumni and visitors of the University. The hours will be from 5 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 at night.

The M men attending the fifth annual reunion will be entertained at a banquet just after the game. About a hundred M men are expected to be at this banquet.

One of the unique features will be the awarding of an M to a member of the class of '95, C. F. Briegleb, who in 1893 helped Missouri beat Kansas to the tune of 12 to 4, the first Tiger victory over the Jayhawkers. No Ms were given in those early days.

Mr. Briegleb was valedictorian of the medical class, and now he is a physician at St. Clair, Mo. While in Columbia, he will also attend the banquet of the medical alumni and former medical students of the University. Dr. J. E. Jordan, also of the class of '95, has charge of preparations for this reunion.

The Columbia Commercial Club is going to see that nobody goes without meals or sleep. The club will have a directory of rooms and places where meals can be obtained and cards with the prices and locations will be supplied to all who apply at the club rooms at Tenth and Broadway.

The new Alumni Room, Room 114 in Academic Hall—the former location of the Historical Library—will be ready for the home-comers. A register will be ready for the signatures of all the old grads and former students and badges in Missouri colors and with class numerals will be waiting for all.

A Missouri-Kansas game entertainment committee made up of the students of the University will see that alumni get all in the way of reception that they desire. This committee, of which L. C. Lozier is chairman, makes the following announcement of the program for the information of alumni and all visitors:

Wednesday—4:30 p. m.—Special dress parade by the Cadet Corps.

7:00 p. m.—Concert by combined Missouri and Kansas Glee Clubs on the campus.

7:30 p. m.—Mass meeting of students, alumni and visitors around the Columns.

9:00 p. m.—Smoker for alumni only at the Columbia Club.

Thursday—9:30 a. m.—Parade through Columbia of students, alumni, M men, with department stunts.

10:15 a. m.—Annual Freshman cap burning on the campus.

10:30 a. m.—Central-Westminster football game on Rollins Field.

2:15 p. m.—The Twenty-fifth Annual Missouri-Kansas football game on Rollins Field.

5:30 p. m.—Annual M men's Banquet at Virginia Grill.

7:30 a. m.—Student reception and luncheon for alumni, visitors and faculty at Rothwell Gymnasium.

9 to 11 p. m.—Dancing in the Gymnasium.

Friday—8:15 p. m.—St. Louis Symphony Orchestra concert in the University Auditorium, under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha.

Special trains will run from all directions to Columbia the night and morning before the big game. The rates from all parts of the state will be about one fare for the round trip. Special trains will run from both St. Louis and Kansas City the night before the game and special local trains stopping at all stations will run from each of these cities to Columbia Thanksgiving morning.

The Wabash will run special trains over the Maryville and Kirksville branches. The M. K. & T. will run special cars from Fayette and Fulton. A special train will bring alumni and state officers from Jefferson City the morning before the game.

With the twelve thousand seats on Rollins Field, Mr. Brewer expects to be able to seat all who come, those who have made their reservations in advance and those who have been unable to do so, as well. The prices are $2 for bleacher seats and $2.50 for box seats.

Maris Heads Farm Advisers

P. V. Maris, B.S. in Agr.'14, has resigned his position as county agricultural agent for Saline County, Missouri, to accept a position as state leader of farm advisers in Oregon.

M. U. GRADS IN FOREIGN LANDS

Traditional tears at graduation time have been justified at Columbia, for M. U. alumni have become scattered to the ends of the earth. From New York to California, from Alaska to Australia they are found, and a line running around the world would be dotted at Hawaii, the Philippine Islands, Japan, China, Egypt and Porto Rico. Others look out over the scenes of Scotland, dwell in the shadows of the castles of Spain or live in sight of the trenches and sound of the cannon of the European war.

Lulu Graves, to whom was given the Principal of Pedagogy degree in 1889, is the farthest north of M. U.'s representatives. She is now a teacher in Eagle, Alaska. Between Alaska and Brazil, where there are five Missouri grads, are thirteen in Canada, nine in Mexico, eight in the Panama Canal Zone and one in Uruguay and one in Chile—that is, thirty-eight in the foreign parts of the Western Hemisphere.

The oldest alumnus outside of the United States is Franklin Cauthorn, who was graduated in medicine in 1878. He lives at Aguas Calientes, Mexico. A man of last year's class holds the honor of being the youngest. He is Glenn Babb, A.B.'14, who is in Tokio, Japan, with the Japan Advertiser. The last of the Missouri alumni to leave the United States is Hugh J. MacKay, formerly editor of the Missouri Alumnus, who went to Regina, Canada, last month to become editor of a newspaper.

The nine graduates in Mexico include a missionary, Ida Hayes, B.S.'79, M.S.'83; a surgeon, F. D. Cauthorn, M.D.'78, the oldest alumnus in foreign lands; a lawyer, Arthur Bassett, A.B.'00; an engineer, Paul Gamez, B.S.C.E.'11, and a farmer, James E. Landon, LL.B.'04. Others in Mexico are Lucinda D'Aubun, A.B.'09; A. P. Ellis, T.E.C.E.'91; Mrs. Charles L. Hotchkiss, A.M.'96, and W. W. Penney, surveyor '83.

Four M.U. Men in Brazil

H. F. Sedgwick is quartermaster at Pedro Maguel. He was an A.B. in 1908. W. J. Spaulding is assistant engineer in charge of construction of the filtration plant at Mariflores. He was made B.S.C.E. in 1904 and C.E. in 1910. John E. Tiedeman, LL.B.'98, is a newspaper man with the Associated Press in the Canal Zone.

Many on Our Islands

The Philippine Islands and Hawaii claim twenty and six, respectively, from Old Missou. Among the former are three army officers: C. E. McAdam, B.S.E.E.'09; John R. Pinion, M.D.'09, and Oscar W. Sugart, B.S.C.E.'12.

Five of the remaining seventeen are teachers. These are Harry Borgstadt, A.B.'04; Thomas G. Ingalls, LL.B.'04; Ruskin Lhamon, A.B.'07; Carl M. Moore, A.M.'09, and Vest C. Wright, A.B., B. S.C.E.'11.

Five other Philippine Island alumni are engineers. C. W. Keith, B.S.C.E.'99 and E. L. Driggs, C.E.'08, are with the bureau of public works at Manila. E. C. Brown, B.S.C.E.'09; L. L. Vincent, B.S.E.E.'10 and R. H. Aquila, C. E.'11, are in commercial work. Charles M. Connor, B.Ag.'91, is with the bureau of agriculture at Manila. Others in the insular government service are J. R. Bryant, A.B.'13, with the bureau of education; W. E. Walker, B.S.C.E.'12 with the bureau of lands and E. J. Westermhouse, LL.B.'96, with the bureau of public works. J. Velesquez DeLeon, A.B.'09, is an inspector for the board of health.

In Hawaii is one army officer, a graduate of M. U., and five graduates in Y. M. C. A. work. Joseph Frazer, PeP.'85, is major of the First United States Infantry at Honolulu. The graduates in Y. M. C. A. work are Mrs. L. R. Kilham, A.B.'10; Charles F. Loomis, B.S.Ed.'11, and Mrs. Loomis, A.B.'11; Paul Super, A.B.'03 and Mrs. Super, A.M.'04.

In the Orient are twenty-three who were awarded degrees at Missouri. Fourteen of these are in China, seven are in Japan and two in India.

Three of the China representatives are natives. They are H. Kong Tong, A.B.'12; Hin Wong, B.S.J.'12, and Oong Hyuen Tsang, B.S.Ag.'14.

Wilmot D. Boone, A.B.'10, and Mrs. Boone, A.B.'11, are in Y. M. C. A. work in Nankin. Mrs. Strausie Hutcheson, A.B.'02, is a missionary. Thomas E. Breece, B.S.Ed.'10, and Charles N. Hartwell, A.B.'05, are teachers.

Seven in War Countries

There are seven alumni in the war areas of Europe. Chris Nichols Natchev, A.M.'12 and George Roshlovsky Staikoff, B.S.E.E.'97, are in Bulgaria. Sir Hugh-Gilzean Reid, an honorary graduate in 1904, is at Tenterden Hall, London and Lester R. Ford, A.M.'13, is a student in Edinburgh, Scotland. Percy F. Swindle, A.M.'12, is a student in Berlin and Olin Harris Moore, holding a traveling fellowship from one of the Eastern universities, is in Paris. Harvey Winfred Anderson is doing Y. M. C. A. work in Petrograd.

Two alumni are in Australia. They are Ernest G. B. Millar, B.S.E.E.'09, an engineer with the Sunshine Harvester Company at Victoria, and Cyprus R. Mitchell, A.M.'14, a preacher at Bendigo, Victoria.

Nearly 3,000 M. U. graduates are living in Missouri. Two thousand others are scattered in the different states of this country. There are 183 living in Oklahoma, twenty-six of them in Oklahoma City. Nine of these are on the faculties of the Oklahoma University and the Oklahoma Agricultural College.

Illinois comes next to Oklahoma with 155 graduates. California has 126. Vermont sends only two addresses to the Alumni Directory. Two states, Rhode Island and South Carolina, are not represented in Missouri's graduate list.

In Balloon With Governor

On the day that Alfred von Hoffman, Jr., a student in the College of Agriculture of the University, won his pilot's license by staying five hours in the air in a balloon recently, the M. U. student was one of the party of four that took Governor Elliott W. Major up in a balloon from Priester's Park, St. Louis. The governor and his party were in the air an hour and ten minutes. They landed near Columbia, Ill.

Von Hoffman was aid to William F. Assman of St. Louis when, two weeks before, he won the national race from Wichita, Kan., in the same balloon in which Governor Major was carried. The balloon belongs to Albert von Hoffman, father of the M. U. student.

IN KANSAS CITY

By Volney McFadden, A.B.'13, LL.B.'14.

Ward H. Webb, B.J.'15 who has been with the Potts-Turnball advertising Company, is now employed by the W. B. Finney Advertising Company with offices in the Keith & Perry Building.

John Linger, LL.B.'15, is now living in the city and expects to enter the practice of law the first of the year. John has purchased a Ford auto and seems to be enjoying life.

C. H. Taylor, B.S.E.E.'13, is now with the Kansas City office of the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing Company in the railway and lighting sales department. He came here recently from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he had been employed since leaving school.

Oliver Newberry, A.B.'14, has headquarters at 1107 Waldheim Building in a suite of rooms occupied by George Lockeridge, LL.B.'12, and Henry Ess, LL.B.'12. He is district manager for the Paul De Laney Company of Brocton, N. Y.

Harry E. Evans, LL.B.'12, is engaged in the practice of law with his office at 209 Scarritt Building.

The College Alumni Club has its headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. Building. Harry K. Poindexter, A.B.'15, was elected president at its first meeting. Ed. S. North, LL.B.'05, is on the membership committee and Volney McFadden on the social committee—its purpose is to promote fellowship among college alumni and aid in social service work in the city.

W. I. Deffenbaugh, a former student of the University and a graduate of Harvard, has connected himself with the law firm of House, Manard, Allen and Johnson with offices in the Commerce Building.

C. W. Terry is now with the law firm of Blackmar and Bundschu, 904 Commerce Building.

D. E. Hill, B.S.C.E.'10, who is in the engineering department of the Bell Telephone Company in the Gates Building, is the proud parent of a nine-pound girl.

J. D. Ferguson, B.J.'13, is now in the literary department of the Kansas City Star. Ferguson came to the Star from Boonville, where he had been editor of the Central-Missouri Republican. He retains his financial interest in the Boonville paper.

G. S. Dring, B.S. in E.E.'14, is with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. He is in the engineering department.

C. E. McCormack, B.S. in C.E.'14, is engaged in construction work for the Burlington Railway Company. He is now working on the Hannibal Bridge.

Kansas City will send a large delegation of alumni to help beat Kansas on Thanksgiving Day.

Bray in Colorado College

Charles I. Bray, a graduate student in Agriculture here last year, is now associate professor of animal husbandry in the State Agricultural College at Fort Collins, Colo.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

In Land of the Aztecs

Interesting news concerning the representation of M. U. in the land of the Aztecs and Cliff Dwellers came to The Alumnus in a recent letter from Hiram Phillips, C.E.'80, of St. Louis. Mr. Phillips had been in Santa Fe, N. Mex., attending United States District Court at the trial of the Raton Water Works Company against the City of Raton. On the side of the city, besides Mr. Phillips, were E. E. Wall, C.E.'84, O. H. B. Turner, C.E.'90, and Howard L. Brickley, LL.B.'95, chief attorney. On the side of the water company was J. H. Walker, C.E.'82.

In the court room at the time were also T. B. Catron, A.B.'60, A.M.'68, now United States Senator for New Mexico; C. R. Easley, LL.B.'08, United States assistant district attorney, and James L. Nicholas, LL.B.'90. Senator Catron said that steps are being taken to organize a state M. U. Association in New Mexico.

Jurey to Superior Bench

John S. Jurey, who was graduated from the University with the degree of LL.B. in 1882, was recently appointed by Governor Lister of Washington to the King County superior bench. Judge Jurey is 53 years old. He has been practicing law thirty-three years, the last twenty-six years in Seattle, and he is regarded as one of the most popular attorneys in that city.

Prather Directs Athletics

H. Lee Prather, A.B.'10, LL.B.'12, is now director of athletics at the Louisiana State Normal School of Natchitoches, La. He writes that on October 23 he won his first conference football game with a score of 52 to 0 against Louisiana College. He expects his team to be a strong contender for the college championship of the state. Prather's interest in his own players still leaves him plenty of time to remember the Tigers and hope for their success in beating Kansas.

From Panama to the Game

All the way from Panama to see the Tigers beat Kansas. That's what G. C. Dobson, B.S. in C.E.'05 C.E.'09, is doing. Mr. Dobson sailed from the Canal Zone November 5 on an eighty days' leave of absence and will reach Columbia in time for the big game. Mr. Dobson is assistant engineer in the building division of the canal work. Mrs. Dobson is now in Columbia.

Employs Several M. U. Men

The West Publishing Company of St. Paul, the biggest publishers of law books in the world, has connected with it several graduates of the School of Law of the University. Hubert M. Harvey, A.B.'07, LL.B.'09 is in the editorial department, writing syllabi for the cases, among which is the famous Hyde case of Kansas City. O. L. Herlinger, A.B.'10, LL.B.'12; and F. R. Anselment, A.B.'11, LL.B.'13, are connected with the sales department.

Teaching in Craig, Colo

Miss Edith Crawford, who was graduated from the School of Education of the University in 1912, is now teaching in the fifth and sixth grades in Craig, Colo. She is also teaching wood carving to the grades from the fifth to the eighth. Miss Crawford went to Craig, Colo., from Cherryvale, N. Mex.

Good Work by County Club

Florence Whitehead was chosen president of the students from St. Francois County at a meeting recently. The other officers are: Vice-president, L. R. Johnson; secretary, Miss Minnie Alper, treasurer, H. Hale. Last year the club had thirteen members. As a result of work among the high school students, there are twice that number from St. Francois County in the University this year.

Kinyon is Alumnus Editor

H. H. Kinyon, A.B., B.S.J.'12, has been appointed University publisher, secretary of the Alumni Association and editor of the Missouri Alumnus. He fills the vacancy made by the resignation of Hugh MacKay. Mr. Kinyon has been employed in the literary department of the Kansas City Star since his graduation.

Ames Won Cross-Country

Ames won the annual dual cross-country run held just preceding the gridiron contest at Ames October 23. The Iowa Aggies placed in the first five places.

Tigers Are Y. M. C. A. Members

About 500 additions to the membership of the Y. M. C. A. were the results of a campaign put on by the association among students in the University the latter part of October. Sixteen Tigers are among the new members. Their memberships were obtained by Clinton Collins and Captain Speelman on the way to Ames, Ia.

Alpha Phi Sigma, an organization of senior women, has initiated the following members: Frances Mitchell, Helen Williams, Mary Ann Stephens, Nellie Crockett, Mamie Sharp, Gladys Ayers, Gertrude Blodgett, Ruth Searcy, Ethel Moore, Hope Hibbard, Mary Guthrie, Louisiana Miller, Ethel Berry, Vida McKinney, Kathryn Douglass, Irma Gruner, Helen Carter and Mrs. Martha Trimble.

Entrances on New Quad

A large entrance has been built on the south side of the Agriculture Building, so that that building has an entrance facing the new quad on the East Campus. All of the new buildings on the East Campus have been constructed with entrances on both sides.

Think Well of M. U. Now

Charles I. Mullinax, who was the first president of the Agricultural Club visited in Columbia recently. Mr. Mullinax was a student in the College of Agriculture from 1899 to 1901.

"The College of Agriculture was then in Switzler Hall," said Mr. Mullinax. "There were only two or three in the faculty then and only about twenty students."

Speaking of the change in the attitude of the people of the state towards the University, Mr. Mullinax said:

"When I was in school the people of Mercer County thought the University about the worst place on earth to send a young man. Now they are all pulling for the University. We have been sending from fifteen to twenty students here for several years."

Theories on Gravitation Agree

A theory on gravitation practically identical with that recently propounded by Thomas Jefferson Jackson See, A.B., S.B., L.M.'89, astronomer and physicist, is now given out by William J. Spillman, B.S.'86, M.S.'90, chief of the office of farm management, United States Department of Agriculture. The theory is described in a technical pamphlet called "Gravitation and Related Phenomena."

The new theory points out how the ether pressure described by Newton actually arises. It is due to electric currents that circulate in the atom. Professor Spillman suggests that our present universe is self-perpetuating in approximately its present condition.

Johnson Writes Farm Circular

"The Value of Education to the Farmer" is the title of a four-page circular issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Missouri, written by O. R. Johnson, B.S. in Ag.'10, A.M.'12, assistant professor of farm management. The work is based on data obtained in a recent survey of Johnson County, Missouri.

Ross Edits Deskbook

Charles G. Ross, A.B.'05, now associate professor of journalism in the University, is the editor of a new and most complete newspaper deskbook, published as one number of the journalism series of bulletins of the University. Mr. Ross's deskbook gives the rules of newspaper style as used in the School of Journalism and calls attention to many of the errors commonly made in writing.

"Let us cease talking about 'newspaper English,'" says Mr. Ross in his deskbook, "as if it were a separate and distinct brand. Newspaper English is, or should be, simply good English. Generally it is well above the average, and the best newspapers set a high standard."

In Short Course 192

The enrollment of the Two Year Winter Course in Agriculture is 192 this year. Seventeen women are enrolled in the Short Course in Home Economics.

She Was Harvest Queen

Miss Mary E. Cochran of Columbia was chosen Harvest Queen by the students in the College of Agriculture at their annual barn-warming held Friday night, October 29, in Rothwell Gymnasium. She, with Dean F. B. Mumford, led the grand march. Besides, dancing, weiner roasting, marshmallow toasting and a possum hunt were enjoyed by the more than 400 farmer students and their friends.

Will Stop Cigarette Sale

The Columbia City Council has given the cigarette in Columbia a knockout blow. An ordinance was passed recently, to go into effect January 1, 1916, forbidding the selling or giving away of cigarettes or cigarette papers in Columbia. Violation of the ordinance is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment of not more than thirty days, or by both fine and imprisonment.

The ordinance prohibiting the sale of cigarettes followed closely on one placing a tax of $250 on cigarette dealers. Mayor J. M. Batterton says that the council is not trying to reform the confirmed smoker, but to save the young men and boys from the evil.

More Girls Come to M. U.

According to the latest enrollment figures, there is a 2 per cent greater increase of women students than of men students in the University. October 21 there were 2,778 students enrolled—808 women and 1,970 men. The increase in enrollment this year is 377. The increase among women students is 17 per cent and among men students is 15 per cent.

Journalists Plan for Parade

F. H. King was chosen president of the organization of students in the School of Journalism last month. The other officers are: vice-president, Charles Roster; secretary, Miss Margaret Murphy. A committee composed of Dean W. Davis, Charles Roster, Don D. Patterson, Ralph H. Turner and Miss Merze Marvin was appointed to plan a journalism stunt for the Kansas game parade.

Old Football Stars Here

Dan Nee, James Pixlee, C. P. LeMire, Bill Dunckel, H. L. McWilliams, L. B. Wikoff and Larry LaRue, former football stars on the Varsity, now coaches in other schools, brought their teams to see the game here between the Tigers and Oklahoma University, October 16.

Dan Nee's Drury College team of Springfield played LeMire's Westminster College team at Fulton the morning before the coaches came to Columbia. Pixlee brought the Missouri Wesleyan College team of Cameron from the Kemper Military School at Boonville, where he played Dunckel's military boys the morning before the game here.

H. L. McWilliams, who kicked the goal that beat Kansas in 1913, came with the Kirksville Normal School team, after a game with Central College at Fayette, to see the Tigers perform. Wikoff of Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, and LaRue of Missouri Valley College at Marshall came together to see their successors on the Tiger team.

Freshmen Learn to Dance

Students did not stay away from the barnwarming, the annual dance given by the students in the College of Agriculture of the University, this year because they did not know the steps. Paul Barnes, an instructor in physical education in the University and a student in the College of Agriculture, began teaching freshmen farmers to dance three weeks before the barnwarming was held, October 29.

New Journalism Society

A new journalism society called the Sphinx has been organized to promote good fellowship among the pre-journalist students and a closer relation between them and the regular students of the School of Journalism. The officers of the society are Dale C. Rogers and James W. Caudle.

Seniors Took English Exams

The examinations in English, required of juniors in the College of Arts and Science of the University, was given Oct. 16 to sixty-nine seniors, who failed to pass the test in their junior year last spring. The rule requiring juniors to pass a test in English grammar and composition was established last year. No student is graduated from the College of Arts and Science without satisfactorily passing the test.

He's The Best Book Agent

Robert Scott of Marshall, a student in the College of Agriculture of the University, is perhaps the best book salesman in the University, if results are what count. Scott is paying his expenses in school this year with the $606.80 profit that he made selling books twenty-nine days last summer in the rural districts of Nebraska. D. L. Fourt of Houston, Mo., sold the same books in Nebraska and made $630 in forty days. These are profits of $20 and $15 a day, respectively. W. B. Shelby of Madrid, Mo., sold the same book thirty-eight days for a profit of $13.88 a day.

College to Every Home

The College of Agriculture of the University is reaching practically every rural home in the state by one or more of its activities. Dean F. B. Mumford will explain by lecture and lantern slides how this is done when he addresses the second Pan-American Scientific Congress which meets in Washington, D. C., December 27 to January 8. Dean Mumford's subject will be "A State-Wide Agricultural College." That college is our own College of Agriculture.

Former Student in Opera

A former student of the University is now a grand opera singer. He is W. R. Rizer, who was a member of the cast of "The Hundred Dollar Bill," which was produced by University students a few years ago. Mr. Rizer has signed to appear with the Boston Grand Opera Company.

Know Them by Their Canes

By their clothes ye shall know them. The senior law students in the University all carry canes, the junior agricultural students wear great Dakota hats which appear to be entirely in charge of some of the smaller wearers, the sophomore engineering students parade in beaver-colored khaki suits with caps to match, the medics have black sweaters with skull and crossbones on them, and the men in the senior class of the School of Education announce that they will be known by light gray Fedoras with blue bands. The freshmen still wear their caps.

To Paris as War Nurse

Miss Mollie Utz of St. Joseph, Mo., who was a student in the University from 1904 to 1907, sailed October 27 from New York for Paris as an American Red Cross nurse. Miss Utz is a cousin of Miss Sara Lockwood, assistant in journalism.

Goes to Run Mexican Mines

A. Castaneda, a student in the University during the last Summer Session, has left for his home in Mexico. He left Mexico because of unsettled conditions, but he writes now that he will be able to operate his mines there.

Students Eager to Study

Common report to the contrary, the fact looms up that students at the University are interested in study. Some one counted forty-two waiting in the corridors of Academic Hall the other day for the arrival of the librarian in charge of the reading room for the College of Arts and Science. No professor is reported to have seen them.

Team Won $250 Trophy

The $250 trophy won by the live stock judging team of the College of Agriculture is now on exhibition in the trophy case at the College of Agriculture. The trophy is presented by the Kansas City stock yards. It must be won three years successively before it becomes the permanent property of any school.

Cowan in Agricultural Service

E. W. Cowan, a 1913 graduate of the College of Agriculture, is now employed by the Bureau of Agricultural Service and is managing the bureau's work in the Southwest. Mr. Cowan's headquarters is in St. Louis. The agricultural experiments with which his work is connected are being conducted in several states.

DEATHS

William Bates Wilson, LL.B.'78

After several years of ill health, William Bates Wilson, a graduate of the School of Law in 1878, died at his home in Lexington, Mo., recently. Mr. Wilson was forced to give up his law practice several years ago on account of bad health, but his opinion on legal matters continued to be sought frequently. Mr. Wilson was born March 14, 1851, at Wheeling W. Va. His death was due directly to a stroke of paralysis.

Warwick Hough, A.B.'54, A.M.'57, LL.D.'81

Former Judge Warwick Hough, A.B.'54, A.M.'57, LL.D.'81, died October 28 at his home in St. Louis, after an illness of seven months. He was 80 years old. For many years he was active in Missouri politics, and he was also a Civil War veteran and a scholar. He was a member of the Supreme Bench of Missouri from 1874 until 1884.

Robert L. Rowden, LL.B.'85

Robert L. Rowden, who was graduated from the University with the degree of LL.B. in 1885, was mysteriously murdered in St. Louis, October 24. Mr. Rowden had been practicing law in Pitts, Ark.

Mrs. W. J. Carothers

Mrs. W. J. Carothers, wife of William Carothers, a former Tiger football star who was graduated from the College of Agriculture in 1909, was killed in a grade crossing accident near Trinidad, Colo., October 27.

B. P. Gentry, A.B.'01.

Prof. B. P. Gentry, who had been head of the department of Latin at the State Normal School at Kirksville thirty-four years, died November 7 in Kansas City. Professor Gentry fell from a street car while attending the recent meeting of the Missouri State Teachers' Association. The fall fractured his skull. Mr. Gentry, who was 69 years old, received an A.B. from the University in 1901. He first attended the University in the '80s, later finishing a few requirements for graduation. Mr. Gentry was a brother of D. T. Gentry of Columbia.

Edgar A. Remley, A.B.'08.

Edgar A. Remley, who was graduated from the University of Missouri with the A.B. degree in 1908, died of pneumonia in Chicago, November 5. For several months Mr. Remley had been in Chicago as sporting editor of the Chicago Herald, which position he had held for a time in previous years. Since his graduation, he had devoted himself mostly to newspaper work, going first to the Kansas City Journal. Later he held positions with the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and with the Star Telegram of Fort Worth, Tex., and last year became editor and part owner of the Columbia Daily Times. This connection he gave up to go to Chicago.

The body was brought to Columbia for burial in the Columbia cemetery.

John C. Moore

Col. John C. Moore, who attended school at the University of Missouri back in the '50s, died at the home of Harry L. Moore, his son, at Excelsior Springs, October 27. Colonel Moore was in school here with R. B. Price and Mr. Price remember "the charming John Moore" as a beau of renown.

Colonel Moore was 86 years old. He was born on a Tennessee plantation, went with his parents to St. Louis when his father, John S. Moore, became president of the Missouri Medical College there and came from St. Louis to Columbia. He went to Yale University after leaving the University of Missouri and was graduated from there.

Colonel Moore crossed the plains in the early '60s and became the first mayor of Denver. While there he established the Rocky Mountain News, long one of the leading papers of the West. Returning to Kansas City, he was one of founders of the Kansas City Times, now the morning edition of the Kansas City Star.

BIRTHS

A son, Lemuel Wesley, was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Matteson of 3012 Brooklyn Avenue, Kansas City, Mo., August 22. Mrs. Matteson, who was Miss Ethel May Coffin before her marriage, attended the College of Arts and Science in 1911-13.

A son, Edward E., was born to Prof. and Mrs. M. F. Miller October 22. Professor Miller is head of the soils department of the College of Agriculture of the University.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hutchison November 4. Mr. Hutchison is head of the farm crops department of the University of Missouri.

A daughter, Sarah Louise, was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Johnson of Lebanon, Mo., October 23. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Miss Helen McGill, A.M. 1912, and assistant in botany. Mr. Johnson received the C.E. degree also in 1912. He holds the Missouri mile record of 4:27 4-5, which was made at the Western Conference meet in Minneapolis in 1911.

A Call for Dan Cupid

There are 158 married and 60 unmarried members of the University faculty according to the new faculty directory. Twelve members of the faculty have been married in the last year. There are 235 members of the teaching staff and 43 officers of administration. Fifty-three are full professors, twenty-eight associate and forty-three assistant professors, fifty-three instructors, forty-eight assistants, ten deans, and one president listed.

Grad Students in Indian Play

Students in the Graduate School of the University held their annual beefsteak fry at Rollins Spring October 27. An Indian play in two acts was given. The first act showed John Smith rescued by Pocahontas from the Indians; the second act portrayed President Wilson rescued from the situation with Germany, England and Mexico by Mrs. Norman Galt, a lineal descendant of Pocahontas.

FROM PEOPLE YOU KNOW

"Enclosed find my check for The Alumnus. It is welcome every time it arrives. It helps to keep in touch a little better. Anyhow, I do not want to miss a copy."—M. Walker Cooper, LL.B.'11, Bloomfield, Mo.

"I received the first number of The Alumnus and was highly pleased with it. I just proceeded to devour it from 'kiver to kiver' before I could do another thing..... Once more let me tell you how very much I appreciate The Alumnus."—Imogene Dennis, A.B., B.S.'11, East Fourteenth Street, Pawhuska, Okla.

"I am highly pleased with the Alumnus, and am glad to know that such a needed publication is at last on a successful basis. Every alumnus should read it, as there is no better way of keeping in touch with our old classmates and with our University. I hope we shall soon see the day when every citizen of this state will realize that this is his or her University, and that it must be kept up and maintained to as high a standard as other state universities. We are proud of its improvement and progress at this time, and I hope to see it continue, as no doubt it will."—W. W. Fry, Jr., LL.B.'09, Mexico, Mo.

"I have received much pleasure in the last year's subscription to The Alumnus and each issue of your magazine is nearly worth a personal visit to the University itself."—Henry N. Eversole, A.B.'09, LL.B.'11, Fulton, Mo.

"Vol. IV, No. 1 of The Alumnus has arrived and lives up to the reputation established by its predecessors of being a newsy sheet with the 'letter from home' idea uppermost. Such a publication is of most value when it keeps you in touch with your former classmates—and our alumni organ seems to do that better than any other publication of alumni associations, if I can rightly judge from those I have seen from other colleges and universities.

"Here in the East about the only notice M. U. gets on the sporting page is an entry under the column headed 'Football Results.' I eagerly await The Alumnus for the details of a glorious victory or an unexplained defeat."—Jas. A. McMillen, A.B.'13, 141 N. Union Street, Rochester, N. Y.

"It is really a treat after listening to the babble of the multitude of natives of the Far West extolling without mercy the greatness of their climate, their productions, their accomplishments and themselves to retire to the shade of a nearby palm and peruse the chronicle of the doings of those who were once seekers at the fount of knowledge and who have now gone forth to win fame and jitneys."—John N. Snow, B.S. in Ag.'08, 56 Worcester Avenue, Pasadena, Cal.

"Enclosed please find my check for dues for 1915-16. The Alumnus continues to be o. k. Will be there for the Kansas game."—L. W. Helmreich, M.E., E.E.'11, St. Louis.

"I enjoyed your first number very much. The half tones greatly enhance the attractiveness of the magazine, and I hope they may be continued.

"We have a number of Missouri people here. Vaughn Bryant, B.S. in J.'11; B. O. Brown, A. B.'08, B.S. in J.'12, and Dr. Earl L. Bradsher, A.B.'03, are in the University of Texas, and Claude Brown, B.S. in J.'11 is city editor of the Austin American. We have about six or seven altogether, and hope to form a Missouri Club.

"It looks as if Coach Schulte is pointing his team for One Game, and we all know what that one is. Hence, the green Tigers will just about be hitting their stride Thanksgiving, and, if so, we shall have the same happy conclusion reached on McCook Field last year."—Edwin W. Patterson, A.B.'09, LL.B.'11, 1304 San Antonio Street, Austin, Tex.

"Enclosed you will find my personal check for the price of my subscription to The Missouri Alumnus for one year. I have just finished reading the October number and can hardly wait for the news of the next number."—Lettie L. Evans, A.B.'15, East Prairie, Mo.

"Issue No. 1 of Vol. IV of The Missouri Alumnus just received, and right now while the matter is fresh I am enclosing my check for $2 to pay for my subscription this year. It is mighty good to get The Alumnus, as it certainly keeps one in touch with the improvements and happenings at the University."—R. W. Jackson, Ac.'06-'07, secretary-treasurer, Monroe Drug Company, Quincy Ill.

"Enclosed find two dollars for which send me the Alumnus for the year. I took my Ph.D. degree from Harvard last June. I am now assistant professor of anatomy here in the Vanderbilt School of Medicine. Carter Alexander, B.S. in Ed.'05; A.B.'06; A.M.'08, is here at the George Peabody School. There is a Powell here in Vanderbilt in modern languages. The Vanderbilt football uniforms are the same as Missouri and when I am out on the field it recalls the days of the past when I saw the Tigers charge down the line and annihilate their foes. Here's hoping for the success of the team this year."—M. M. Miller, A.B.'11, A.M.'12, Nashville, Tenn.

"Wish to congratulate you upon the Directory. I can realize the task, and can appreciate the excellent performance of it. . . . I received my M.D. from Harvard, 1915, and am now Pathologist to Danvers State Hospital. My address for quite a while to come will be here."—Lawson G. Lowrey, A.B.'09, A.M.'10, Danvers State Hospital, Hathorne Mass.

"Change my address from Tonopah, Nev., to Monterey, Cal. Porter Magruder, A.B.'11, is also in this camp. Don't forget to send me the Alumnus—can't get along without it."—F. L. Jackson, A.B.'11, 326 Larkin street, Monterey, Cal.

"Herewith my check for one pound sterling, for which please send The Alumnus to me as long as this will pay its way, then ask for more. Mrs. Lawrence (Mary S. Logan, B.S. in Ed.'10), and I have missed the magazine greatly this last year, and are looking forward to its arrival."—James C. Lawrence, A.B., B.S.Ch.E.'10, Chemical Engineer, 16 Glencairn Drive, Pollokshields, Glasgow, Scotland.

"At present I am horticulturist for the Extension Department of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas at College Station, Texas. We have some extension department, too. Already I feel at home here for there are so many Missouri men on the college faculty. Among them are: I. E. Cowart, A.M.'14, assistant professor of horticulture; M. L. Hayes, B.S. in Ag.'13, professor of agricultural education; W. L. Driver, A.B.'09 director of athletics; D. V. Graves, who attended the University in 1905-'09, athletic coach; J. M. Jones, A.M.'12, animal husbandman in the experiment station; J. D. Blackwell, B.S. in Ag.'14, associate professor of agricultural education; Mrs. J. D. Blackwell, formerly Miss Lucy Salome Love, A.B.'14; L. B. Burk, B.S. in Ag.'11, associate professor of animal husbandry; Mrs. L. B. Burk, formerly Miss X. Y. Z. Harper, A.B., B. S. in Ed.'10; W. T. Magee, B.S. in Ag.'13, assistant professor of animal husbandry; George Simpson, B.S. in Ed.'09, principal Bryan High School. With best wishes for the success of the Alumnus."—W. B. Lanham, B.S. in Ag.'07.

In which Mr. Barth shakes hands with home-coming alumni

BY A GRAD

—The minute I stepped in the store Mr. Barth came over to me with a hand stretched out in welcome. It was a good, cordial grip he gave me, too.

—"Tell the old boys for me," said Mr. Barth, "that I extend to them my most hearty welcome and greeting when they come back Thanksgiving to see the Tigers dine on Jayhawk meat.

—"I want each and every one to drop in and shake hands with me. I'll be right here by the door waiting for them. I want to talk over old times with the whole bunch that used to buy everything from freshman caps to suits for Commencement here.

—"And tell them," he continued, "that the Barth Tiger, which they can see in the window, has confidentially given me advance dope on the game, saying that he was going to 'come back' with a vengeance when he faces the Jayhawk."

—It won't be a real homecoming until you shake hands with Mr. Barth.

Are You Coming To Help Beat Kansas?

Your Classmates Will Be Here

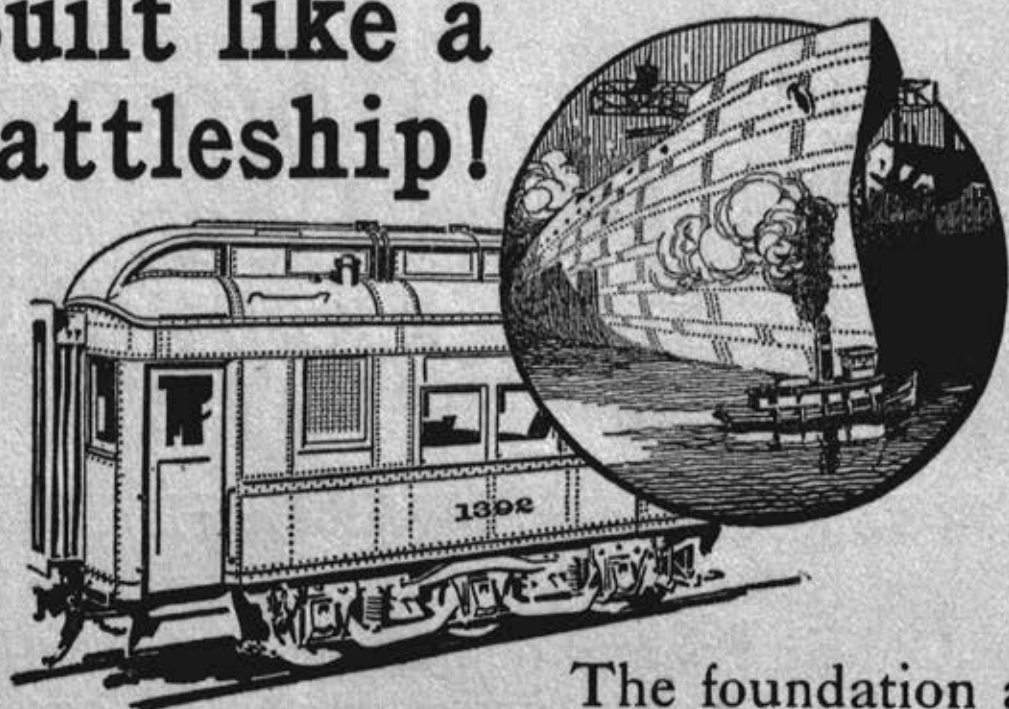

Old-timers and new timers and members of all classes are going to be here Thanksgiving Day. You will find your old University associates here. They will be looking for you. Don't disappoint them.

The new Alumni Room, Room 114, Academic Hall, will be ready for your reception. It will be alumni headquarters. There you'll meet your classmates. There you'll find mementoes of your class. From there you will go to see the Tigers fight and win—yes, they are going to win again.
