J. S. Rollins, Father of the University

THE Alumni Association of the University will observe Founder's Day, April 19, the anniversary of the birth of Major James Sidney Rollins, "Father of the University of Missouri."

Major Rollins was born in Richmond, Kentucky, in 1812. He was a student in Transylvania University in Lexington, Kentucky, where he received a degree in law, coming to Columbia soon after his graduation to practice. In 1838, he was elected to the Legislature, where he succeeded in passing a bill creating a University and locating it here. He ran twice for Governor, but was defeated both times by a small margin. He was a Whig, and although he was a large slaveholder, he voted for the thirteenth amendment abolishing slavery. He was elected to Congress in 1860 and while there he helped Senator Morill to obtain a grant of land on which was built the College of Agriculture.

In the following year, 1871, Major Rollins was voted, "Pater Universitatis Missouriensis" by the Board of Curators. He was also the author of legislative acts establishing the School of Mines, State Hospitals for the Insane, a School for the Deaf, Normal Schools and Lincoln Institute. In the spring of 1873, the citizens of Boone County presented the Board of Curators with a portrait of Major Rollins, who was president and leader of that organization for many years. The artist was George C. Bingham, a life-long friend of Major Rollins. The painting was presented Commencement Week at an official Presentation ceremony, the address in behalf of the donors being made by William F. Switzler. A. J. Conant, also an artist and a warm friend of Major Rollins, made the speech of acceptance representing the Board of Curators. This painting was destroyed by the fire in February, 1892, and a bust of the Major by Gardner was also destroyed at that time.

In 1886 Major Rollins retired as President of the Board of Curators and on that occasion, at a meeting of the Alumni Association in Kansas City, a graduate of the University, Jarrold R. Letcher of Salt Lake City, made the principal address. He said in part, "It is a kind act of Providence which has permitted him (Major Rollins) to see this day when the fruits of all his labors are being garnered. As Alumni, we are in an especial manner indebted to his efforts and to the sentiments of the Association." Judge E. H. Crowder was a speaker at this meeting.

Major Rollins won his title in the Black Hawk War for conspicuous action. He died in Columbia, January 9, 1888. The Rollins Aid Fund established by will in 1845 and Rollins Athletic Field remain as reminders of his work in behalf of education in Missouri.

An attempt is being made to revive the observance of Founder's Day. There will be a fitting program in keeping with the day in the Auditorium of Jesse Hall at the University of Missouri. The Chicago Alumni Association will observe Founder's Day on April 19 and this is an urgent request that alumni associations everywhere have an appropriate program, observing Founder's Day. April 19 is the date. A report of every Founder's Day meeting held by alumni associations of University of Missouri should be sent to the office of the Alumni Recorder for publication in the ALUMNUS.

The Boone County Alumni Association was founded in June 1906. By order of the General Alumni Association, the first meeting was planned to meet April 19, 1907. There was a banquet in the evening at what was then the Gordon Hotel, on Tenth and Cherry Streets. The building is now occupied by apartments. Among those at the first meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Todd Gentry, Professor and Mrs. John Pickard, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stephens, Professor and Mrs. J. S. Ankeney, Mr. Frank Conley, Professor and Mrs. Luther Defoe, Dr. Isidor Loeb, Dr. John H. Duncan of St. Louis, Walter Williams, Dr. A. W. McAllister, Mr.

and Mrs. Frank Harris, Mrs. Joseph Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Stephens and Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones. The meeting was opened by a prayer by the Reverend H. P. Horton, pastor of the Episcopal Church.

All of the speeches of the evening were tributes to the life, work and example of Major Rollins. There were no more meetings of the Association in Columbia until 1912, when one was held at the Virginia Grill. At this time the speakers of the evening talked on the debt University students and Alumni owed to Major Rollins. Mr. N. T. Gentry was the toastmaster of the occasion. During the evening the Glee Club and the University Orchestra helped to entertain the guests. Professor Hoffman spoke on "Major Rollins as a Citizen" and Miss Iva Thomas, Dean of University Women, talked on "Major Rollins and University Women".

As Thomas Jefferson was Creator of the University of Virginia and of the State University in the United States, so was Major Rollins the creator of the University of Missouri. Like Jefferson the substantial testimony of his ideal for popular education has not died, but has continued to exercise a continually widening influence for good. The one University begun by Jefferson has become but the trunk of the tree whose many branches are spread over the surface of the United States.

On the ground that Jefferson was responsible for the Louisiana Purchase of which Missouri is so important a part, Dr. S. S. Laws, President of the University in 1883, obtained for this institution the original marble slab that marked the grave of the statesman, as a gift to Missouri University. The descendants of Jefferson gave it to the University in recognition of the claims of its President and of A. F. Fleet, professor of Greek.

The slab was received in Columbia, July 20, 1883. It was placed on the campus between Academic Hall and the Auditorium. It was made in obedience to explicit directions given by Jefferson, which he had written on the back of a torn and soiled envelope. He asked that this be the epitaph on his tomb-

President J. C. Jones' Eastern Trip

ATTENT upon carrying to success the thorough organization of the alumni and former students of the University of Missouri, President J. C. Jones recently made a trip East to visit with the alumni and former students of the University of Missouri. Dr. Jones considers that the organization of the alumni and former students of the University of Missouri is one of the most important needs of the institution at this time and he is giving of his name, thought, work and money to organize the 70,000 former students and alumni into a permanent working organization such that it will be of the greatest benefit to the University of Missouri and to the youth of this and other states in giving them an opportunity for a thorough education.

President Jones left Columbia on February 13 and arrived in Pittsburgh on the morning of the 14th where he was met by G. Taylor Swarts, president of the Pittsburgh Alumni Association. They had lunch with Dr. W. W. Charters and Charlie Arnold, A. B. '07, who is now teaching English in Pennsylvania University. The afternoon was taken up with a trip through the steel mills of the Pittsburgh district and on that night the alumni and former students, now located in and around Pittsburgh, attended a banquet in the President's honor at the University Club. Mr. Swarts presided at the banquet. Talks were made by Mr. Swarts and President Jones. Many demands were made asking Mrs. Jones to respond to a toast but she would not avail herself of the opportunity. The four-reel motion picture, "The Tale of the Tiger," was shown during the banquet and was enthusiastically received by those in attendance. It is hard to tell, in an article of this kind, of the interest with which alumni and former students hunger for news and views of their Alma Mater such as can be depicted in a motion picture.

Secretary H. C. Medley and the committee in charge of the banquet deserve commendation for the splendid way in which they entertained the President and his party while they were in Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh alumni plan to have regular meetings hereafter and to do everything they can to assist in the organization of the alumni and particularly to give every assistance to the University of Missouri. They pledged their support to the President, the members of the Alumni associations in Washington, Pittsburgh, New York and Boston give him a royal welcome. Trip made to perfect alumni organization.

Faculty and lauded the efforts of the members of the Board of Curators.

Those in attendance at the Pittsburgh meeting were:

Charles Arnold, A.B. '07, B.S. in C.E. '09; J. S. Riggs, B.S., B.P. '94; G. T. Swarts, B.E., M.E. '09; E. R. Dinkle B.S., C.E. '06; A. K. Smith, B.S. in E. E. '06; E. J. Mason, B. S., M.E. '96; R. M. Bickley.

Mrs. R. G. Thompson, Mrs. William P. Hardesty, Mrs. S. A. Ringo, Mrs. C. Winn, Mrs. McKibben and Mrs. Weber; and Messrs. A. F. Porzelli, B.S., C.E. '09; H. C. Medley, B.S. in Eng. '18; W. G. Fowler, C.E. '19; H. G. Kanegy, B.S. in Ed. '16; C. H. Fwaawnswe, M.S. in M.E. '06, M.E. '08; Ralph Brown, A.B. '13; Prof. Theo. K. Kruse A.B. '12, A.M. '13; and Mr. Charters were among the other alumni present.

General Smith and his wife, formerly Jean McCune, attended the banquet. They have recently returned from a tour of the far East in the interest of Mr. Smith's work. Mr. and Mrs. Bickley, formerly Miss Cauthorn of Columbia, Missouri, are as enthusiastic over the alumni organization as ever.

President Jones and his party arrived in Washington, D. C., the evening of February 15, where they were met by Walt C. Mandry, president of the Washington Alumni Association. Mr. Mandry is a most courteous and affable fellow and had made every arrangement and preparation for a very entertaining program for the President. While the time spent in Washington was limited, the President contrived a visit with as many of the alumni in their offices as was possible. Mr. Mandry accompanied him on these visits. They called on Assistant Secretary of State Fred M. Dearing recently confirmed Minister to Portugal; on Joseph W. Folk, formerly Governor of Missouri, who now has a law office in Washington and Charles G. Ross, formerly of the School of Journalism, University of Missouri, now Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who gave a full afternoon to showing President and Mrs. Jones through the National Capitol, taking them to the press galleries and to the House and Senate. Mr. Mandry, Misses Iena Bailey and Jacobbina Brandenburger, Louise Marbut and Professor Marbut very kindly entertained President Jones and his party at luncheon at the Woman's Club at Washington at noon of the 16th. The banquet, given by the Washington alumni, in honor of President Jones, was held on the evening of the 16th in the Hut of the Grace Dodge Hotel. Senator Selden Spencer, junior senator from Missouri, presided at the banquet. Talks were made by Mr. Mandry, Governor Folk and President Jones. There was a large attendance at this banquet and President Jones was enthusiastically received. One of the remarkable things about all of these meetings was the hunger for news from the University and Columbia by the former students and alumni. They wanted to know about every member of the faculty, about the citizens of Columbia, about the people with whom they used to room and board, about athletics, debating, the Glee Club, St. Pat's Day, the Scoop, the Barnwarming, Farmers' Fair, Home-coming Day, the Kansas game and dozen of other things and the thing that impressed you after you had talked with them about the things that they wanted to know was that it has paid in a big way for the faculty members and the townspeople of Columbia to show every consideration and courtesy to the men and women who attend the University of Missouri for they are going out into life and every mother's son of them is meeting with success and they have absorbed the fine things that permeate the atmosphere of Columbia. At Pittsburgh, the Washington alumni pledged their staunchest support to President Jones' administration and to his efforts to organize the alumni and former students.

The alumni were decidedly interested in the University Memorial Building. In all the talks made before the alumni, the Memorial Building was discussed in detail and the project was considered with much enthusiasm. The alumni and former students of the University of Missouri realize what the Memorial Building means to their Alma Mater and they all pledge loyal support.

The following attended the Washington banquet:

Joseph W. Folk, LL.B. '03; George A. Smith, C.E. '12; Charles G. Ross, A.B. '05; J. H. Van Wageman, B.L. '99; George Husmann, C.B. '82, M.A. '85; O. M. Spencer, President J. C. Jones, Mr. Durham, Roy Davis, Fred M. Dearing, and Tom Lloyd.

Miss Jacobbina Brandenburger, B.S. '99. Dora L. Ingram, A.B., B.S. '10; Mary Alice Hudson, Clara Chew, Stella Heldman, Elene M. Bailey, Louise Marbut, Mary Atkeson, Critchfield, Wilters, and Pritchard were present.

Messrs. Volney McFadden, A.B. '13, LL.B. '14; Millard Hudson, LL.B. '83; LeRoy Mooman, B.S. in Ag. '15; O. C. Bruce, B.S. in Ag. '13; Clarence A. Cannon, A.B. '08; F.

C. Hilder, B.S. in C.E. '07; John S. Hornback, A.B. '16, L.L.B. '18; John H. Patrick, A.B., B.S. in Ed. '12; Harry Borgstadt, A.B. '04; H. T. Moore, A.B. '03, A.M. '04; M. F. Gordon, L.L. B. '97, and R. A. Kizer, Curtis F. Marbut, R. S. Casebeer, Herbert Walker, Scheetz, Emmett, Lansing, and Nuckols were at the banquet.

The New York alumni turned out in full force for the meeting in New York on the evening of February 18. The meeting was in the form of a reception after which those in attendance "collated" as Homer Croy put it. The program called for a collation after the reception as arranged for by Burton Thompson who explained to Homer Croy at the proper time just how to "collate".

The New York meeting was just as successful as it could possibly be. There was much handshaking and everybody had a story to tell about his or her days at the University of Missouri. Here again was manifested that same enthusiastic and world famous Missouri spirit on the part of the alumni and former students of the University of Missouri. Homer Croy presided at the meeting and in his humorous way made everybody feel at ease whenever there was an opportunity for most of the time they were holding their aching sides laughing at his remarks.

Burton Thompson is the same enthusiastic fellow as of old. He played on the first football team that the University of Missouri ever had. He still plays every game every season through the press. He wanted to know about Ben Goslin, Sam Anderson and all that old bunch of boys who played on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd football teams that we ever had. Oh! how they hunger for information about old classmates and how they love to reminisce. Hamilton Dawes was there, Hobe Williams and his wife, Oscar E. Riley and his wife, you wouldn't know Oscar. Oscar is learning to drive a car and is building a home, in fact, is always trying to do something all the time. He is a dandy fellow.

Then there were a number of boys and girls who are going to school in New York, recently from the University of Missouri. They wanted to know about their friends and parents and if we didn't have a good message for each one of them, we made up a good one. Vincent "Red" Vandiver was there hobbling about on crutches trying his best to recover from the bandit's shot of over a year ago but cheerful in spite of it all. He is rooming with Sterling Thompson, just off Broadway, and Sterling makes a good mother for him. Jack Scholz, our noted track man was there. He is running up and around and through Madison Square Garden for the New York Athletic Club. Miss Mary Margaret McBride, formerly with the Columbia Daily Times, while she was in the University of Missouri, attended the meeting for a short time but she had to get back to her work at the offices of the New York Evening Mail. Mr. Lyman was there and wanted to know about every athletic contest for the last twenty years. "Easy" Anderson, same old "Easy", looks just like he always did. He is secretary of the New York Alumni Association and is in the middle of a campaign for hundreds of thousands of dollars for his Y. M. C. A. work. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Jackson were there. President and Mrs. Jones were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson during the New York visit. Among others who were there were: B. F. Anderson, economist for the Chase National Bank; W. F. Switzer, assistant cashier of the City National Bank; Walter Rautenstrauch, professor of mechanical engineering at Columbia University; C. J. Keyser, professor of mathematics, and John Grieg, professor of romance languages, also of Columbia University and Miss Clara Dunn, who is writing for newspapers, and many other former students who are reflecting credit upon the University.

From New York President Jones went to Boston where the alumni and former students had made preparations for a very fine banquet indeed which was held at the Hotel Lenox. There were about sixty-five in attendance. Claude B. Cross acted as toastmaster at the Boston meeting. Talks were made by O. D. Kellogg, formerly a member of the mathematics department of the University of Missouri, now teaching in Harvard; M. O. Hudson, formerly of the law school of the University of Missouri, now with the law school at Harvard; and President Jones. Mr. Smith, '86, traveled fifty miles from Worcester to attend the meeting. He graduated in the same class with "Daddy" Defoe and asked a thousand questions about the old timers. Morris E. Dry, graduated in Arts and Science, '18, attended the meeting. He was student president while in school and at present is an honor student in the Harvard law school. President Jones' party was met at the train and given every attention during the visit by Edwin A. Mayes, B. S. Ag. '21, and Anton Tibbe, Jr., A. B. '20. In the election of officers Arnold Leonard was elected president of the Boston Alumni Association for the coming year and Mrs. Floyd Thompson was elected secretary-treasurer. They are planning to hold monthly lunches. Those in attendance at the meeting were:

It was apparent after the first meeting at Pittsburgh and proven to be true after every other meeting in the east that the ideals of the University of Missouri are reflected by the activities of her alumni and former students and with the University of Missouri constantly increasing influence, the alumni bodies realize that they must keep pace and it can be truthfully said that the alumni organizations of Pittsburgh, Washington, New York and Boston are certainly willing and anxious to do all in their power to help their Alma Mater.

We may well congratulate each other upon the dignified and proud attitude which the University of Missouri now presents to the country and to the world, now along from the viewpoint of what the University is doing but from the viewpoint of the constructive work that is being accomplished by her alumni and former students. It must be remembered that the training that the men and women who attend the University of Missouri get there is in a great degree almost equal to all their learning and when it has been the boast of the University of Missouri to believe that the training received by the students of the University of Missouri has always tended to cultivate their honest and manly character and rid it of all shams and humbugs, an earnest preparation to make the most of themselves and to serve their times as men and women and their country as good citizens and patriots.

GLEE CLUB STARTS TOUR

Opened Season in Columbia March 8 With Concert.

The University of Missouri Glee and Mandolin Club gave its first concert of the season in the Auditorium at Columbia on March 8. Critics who know were loud in their praise of the entire program. The Glee Club's work this year is under the direction of Hermann Almstedt, '95. Richard E. McCullen is president of the Glee Club, R. H. Pearson, vice-president, Roy Swanson, Mgr., F. A. Asendorf Sec'y and Horatio Moore, Adv. Mgr. The Glee Club quartette, composed of Messrs. Symon, Farnham, Swanson and Tibbe, was especially fine. Messrs. McCullen and Symon are the soloists of the Club this year. Mr. Lorren P. Thurston, who for seven years has delighted many audiences with his Hawaiian music, made his last concert appearance for he sails for Honolulu, March 22. His work is extraordinarily fine and has been appreciated by everybody who has heard him. Arch Rodgers, premier comedian, was good as usual. The alumni associations in the towns and counties where the Glee Club will visit have made detailed preparations for a large attendance at the concerts and in most cases have invited the high school students to hear the concerts free of charge. The St. Louis Alumni Association has secured Moolah Temple and the high school students will be the guests of the association at the Glee and Mandolin Club concert. Circular letters were sent out by the association, extra large appealing posters were put up and everything has been done to make the concert a success. The clubs gave their concerts before the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce on March 16.

In Kansas City the Club will visit the high schools and the Kansas City Alumni Association is doing everything to make the meeting a success.

The St. Louis Alumni Association's circular letter on the Glee Club Concert there:

"Well, we're ready for that 'harmonic' bunch from Mizsou—the Glee and Mandolin Clubs. That fellow with the enthusiastic mouth which you see on the enclosed poster will be proclaiming the 'syncopated and luxurious revue' all over town during the next several days. The very first day out he was responsible for an invitation to the boys of the Glee and Mandolin Clubs to be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at their Noonday luncheon the day they come to town.

"Besides this chap who is straining every muscle to make a big success of the coming concert, the Missouri boys on the newspapers are making excellent use of this occasion to advertise the good things that come from Columbia. E. Lansing Ray of the Globe-Democrat isn't stopping his boosting of M. U. with that thousand-dollar 'rise' for the Memorial. You should have heard the instructions he gave the City Editor about our Glee Club stories. Are they with us? Dr. H. H. Shackelford, Old Doc. Shack, who is a veritable War Tank when it comes to pushing forward for University interests, will call on the high schools tomorrow in company with Chas. Collins to make a few speeches about this entertainment and invite the senior classes as the guests of the Alumni Association. 'Hot Air' Earl Nelson, too, has been offering suggestions for instilling pep into the ticket selling end of the affair. His wife, by the way, personally undertook to place a dozen advertising posters. 'I'll see that my grocer and butcher get these in their windows,' she said. O. L. Herlinger, Ernest Staude, Forrest Donnell, C. E. Ragsdale, B. H. Miller, Kenneth Teasdale and Emil Nathan are all in the bandwagon eager to make a 'Go' of this affair.

"And when Herman B. Almstedt comes trooping in with his Warblers and Wizards on the morning of March 16th, you can bet your income tax they'll get a warm reception in St. Louis.

"JAKE ELLMAN, A. B. '16."

Annual Law Banquet March 4.

The School of Law gave their annual banquet this year on March 4, in the Daniel Boone Tavern. The attendance was very good, although not equaling some of the preceding years. The banquet itself was one of the best ever held.

Dean J. P. McBaine acted as toastmaster and introduced the following speakers: Carl L. Crocker, in behalf of the senior class, Judge H. A. Collier, A.M. '05, who represented the Columbia Bar, and Miss Florence Meisner, all-law president, who spoke on "The Progress of the Law School". The principal speaker of the evening was Newton L. Wydler of Kansas City who delivered an address on "Respect for the Law". Mr. Wydler, besides being a lawyer of great ability and prominence in the State, is also president of the Kansas City Bar Association.

It is always customary at these annual banquets to enumerate the progress made by the school during the preceding year. This year the entrance requirements have been raised to two years of academic work. Prof. J. S. Simonton of West Virginia and Prof. S. I. Langmaid of Tulane have been added to the faculty.

The Origin of the Farmers' Fair

By C. B. HUTCHISON

Professor of Plant Breeding, Cornell U.

THE following letter is taken from the correspondence of C. B. Hutchison, B.S. in Ag. '08, and Charles I. Mullinax, a former student in the University. At the present time Mr. Hutchison is professor of plant breeding in Cornell. After April 1 he will be director of the Northern Branch of the College of Agriculture of the University of California. This letter was sent the Alumni Recorder by Professor Hutchison in answer to a request for a story of the Farmers' Fair.

February 3, 1921

Mr. Charles I. Mullinax,
Princeton, Missouri.

My dear Mullinax:

I have your letter of January 31 inquiring as to the origin of the Agricultural Club and the Farmers' Fair at the University of Missouri.

I regret that I cannot tell you of the origin of the Agricultural Club for it was organized and running when I arrived on the scene in September, 1904. In discussing the matter with "Bill" Chandler, (B.S. in Ag. '05, M.S. in Ag. '06, Ph.D. '14) whom you know is here at Cornell, (Dean of Research) he tells me that it is his impression that the Agricultural Club was organized about the time he came to Columbia in 1901. He is not quite sure whether it had been organized a year or two before that or in 1901. I think you could get this information no doubt from J. M. Doughty (B.S. in Ag. '03) of Hallsville, Mo., or from Professor W. L. Howard, (B.S. in Ag. '01, M.S. in Ag. '03) of the University of California. Both of these men were active in the organization of the Club in their student days.

In regard to the Farmers' Fair I have more definite information. In the spring of 1905 a group of students including practically everyone in the College of Agriculture at that time, for the numbers were small, felt that something should be done to acquaint the other students and people around the campus with the fact that there was a group of agricultural students in their midst. Up until that time students in that division of the University were not prominent in University affairs and the rest of the University was inclined to disregard them in the consideration of matters of interest to the whole student body. In other words, we felt the time was ripe for doing a bit of advertising of the college and ourselves.

The engineers had their St. Pat's Day, the law students their mock trial, and other divisions of the University special stunt days. We had never had such an affair and in attempting to formulate plans for a stunt we hit upon the idea of suddenly announcing to the public that it

The annual Farmers' Fair, put on by the students in the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, will be held on Friday, April 7, 1922, at Columbia. There will be a big parade in the morning and an unusual fair both in the afternoon and night. April 7 is not only going to go down in the history of the University as the date of the 1922 Farmers' Fair but this is Parents' Day at which time every student in the University of Missouri is asked to urge one, or both, of his parents to come to Columbia for that day spending Friday watching the activities of the County Fair stunts and seeing the University of Missouri from the viewpoint of student activities. These parents are also urged to bring the younger brothers and sisters along to the fair. A suitable program is being arranged to entertain the parents, showing them the city, the University in every department and making the trip worth while for them in every respect. Parents' Day should be given every encouragement and support by the alumni and former students.

The officers of the 1922 County Fair are: Charles W. Gaines, Manager, Clinton, Mo.; Earl Maxwell, Treasurer, Columbia, Mo.; L. E. Slate, Ass't Manager, Brush Knob, Mo.; and Ross Welch, Ass't Treasurer. They are making an attempt to get all the Farmer's County Fair officers to come to Columbia for the 1922 Fair.

was perfectly fitting to commemorate the well known influence of one of the celestial bodies upon the production of crops. At that time it was well known that potatoes always did best when planted in the dark of the moon and that the lower rails of the common rail fence did not sink into the ground if the fences were laid in the light of the moon. Such well known facts we felt deserved some recognition and, therefore, we proposed to commemorate the discovery of these and other similar phenomena by declaring a general holiday in the College of Agriculture and by assembling in more or less conspicuous array, putting on a general parade around the campus and downtown. We anticipated a little difficulty on the part of the engineers, expecting perhaps some opposition from them. That, of course, was in the days antedating the famous ag-engineer combine which at the present time plays so important a part in student politics at Missouri.

We did not anticipate any opposition on the part of the powers that be. We were therefore both surprised and disappointed. So far as the engineers were concerned we were received with open arms but when we went to convocation that morning decked out in all of our glory and accompanied by pitch forks, ho handles, and other means of defense, we found that although we had made arrangements with the general manager of the convocation we had neglected to inform the president of the University of our plans. As soon as we entered the auditorium in a quiet and orderly manner we were met with the stern disapproval of the president of the University and advised to go home and disrobe ourselves. We had no intention of breaking up the convocation that morning but if you will consult the minutes of the secretary of the convocation you will find that it was held that morning not in the auditorium but on the rear steps of Academic Hall. This, naturally, aroused a good deal of interest on the part of the students of the other divisions of the University and, as a result, there were practically no classes held in the University the rest of the morning.

We took advantage of this situation and put on the parade, headed by such well known persons as Dean Waters and Professor Mumford, impersonated, of course, by some of the more dignified and brilliant students of the College. To make a long story short, the parade was successful to a degree far beyond our anticipations and was generally declared by everyone the best stunt ever pulled off at the University. Of course, circumstances over which we had no control were largely responsible for this.

The affair went off so well that we at once decided that we must have an annual affair of some sort. The idea occurred to me that a permanent affair could be built up on the basis of a burlesque country fair. I suggested the idea to some of the members of the upper classes like Chester Starr, (B.S. in Ag. '06), Cochell, (A.B. '97, B.S. in Ag. '05), "Luke" Childers (B.S. in Ag. '06, M.S. in Ag. '09, county agent, Howard Co.), and others. The idea met with their approval and the first county fair was held in the spring of 1906. The old files of the College Farmer no doubt will contain a report of the first fair. Certainly the old files of the Independent will also refer to it. That briefly is the origin of the Farmers' Fair.

Another institution of long standing is the Annual Barnwarming which was started about the same time. It was held in the fall of the year the main barn was completed, the upper floor being used for dancing and a general good time. We were so successful in warming the barn the first time that we decided the following year and every year after to warm it until our numbers grew so large as not to be accommodated by the relatively small space of the barn. It was then transferred to the gymnasium where I think it is held now every year.

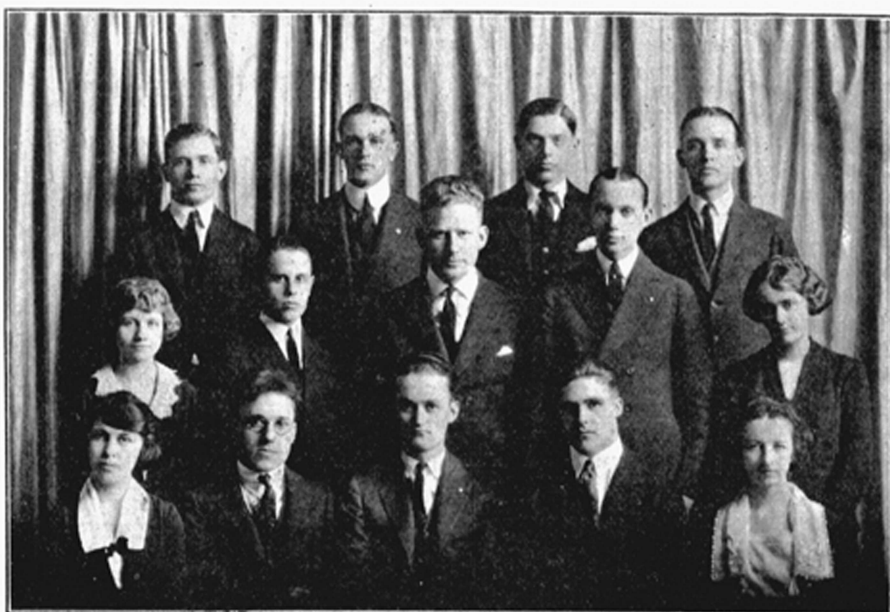

These two affairs, in my judgment, have done a great deal to develop a good fellowship and a spirit of loyalty to the College on the part of the student body. While they required a great deal of work, particularly the Fair, they also afford an opportunity for the students to learn to work together and to lend their support to a general public enterprise that is worth while and of interest to a large number of people. Everybody enjoys them and they have both become traditions in the College. I sincerely hope that they will always be continued. I know of nothing in any other college quite so unique as these.

With best wishes, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
C. B. Hutchison.

— Even though there have been no meetings in Columbia, the Alumni of other cities of the state and out of it have continued to meet regularly. There is an Association in Pittsburgh which has never failed to meet together to honor their Alma Mater. There are Associations also in Chicago, St. Joseph, Chillicothe, Hannibal, St. Louis, Kansas City, Springfield, Boonville, Sedalia, Kirksville, Columbia and Cape Girardeau.

Tentative plans have been discussed for a meeting of this Association this year if Alumni in Columbia wish it, but there have been no definite plans made as yet.

First Gridiron Banquet Held.

The Gridiron Banquet, held by the members of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, at the Daniel Boone Tavern, Tuesday, March 7, was the first of its kind ever put on by any organization in the University or in Columbia. Faculty members, business men of Columbia and prominent students were on the invitation list, and for two hours a great many of those present were roasted over the fire of publicity.

The first Gridiron Banquet given by the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi was a formal stag affair and 150 responded to the invitations.

Echoes From the Tiger Camp

Past, Present and Future Dope

The New Tiger Coaches

Myron E. Fuller, graduate of Yale, 1911, would be head coach of football at Missouri this coming year; and Henry Garrity, finishing at Princeton this spring, will be assistant football coach and head baseball coach. This announcement was made from Pres. J. C. Jones' office March 14. These two men have been chosen after canvassing a large field most thoroughly and investigating scores of applicants. They have the training, magnetism, personality, knowledge, drive, and experience that will make them an "unbeatable combination", as expressed by Bill Roper, head coach for years at Princeton.

Mr. Fuller has coached at Colby, Swarthmore, West Virginia, and Tulane. The teams that he worked with at the first three institutions were the best in the history of those schools. The famous West Virginia team not only defeated its ancient rival, Washington and Jefferson, but turned Princeton back 25 to 0. His work has been very successful and he has been exceedingly well liked wherever he has been.

He played guard three years on the Yale team and was one of the star linemen. He is a big powerful man with worlds of drive and pep, a hard, conscientious worker, with a square jaw of determination, but a most pleasing personality that will win the admiration of the boys he is working with.

Henry Garrity has played half back for three years on the Princeton football team and two years on the baseball team. He is one of the brightest stars ever turned out by that famous football school. He is chuck full of fight, drive, pep, and enthusiasm, and possessed of a delightful personality that will bring all the fellows close to him. He knows every angle of football, has been a keen student of the game, a wonderful player, believing most thoroughly in the open game, and in general will be a great asset to the Tiger coaching staff. According to the best critics he has a future ahead of him.

With these two sterling men, one a lineman of excellent experience, the other a back with a brilliant future ahead, it is felt that Missouri is fortified with an extraordinary powerful coaching combination for the coming season. The Tigers are certain to be trained and developed to the highest possible pitch of efficiency.

The Basketball Season.

 March 4—Mo. 66, Oklahoma 22, at Norman.
 March 6—Mo. 32, Kansas Aggies 28, at Manhattan.

When Missouri defeated the Kansas Aggies at Manhattan, Monday, March 6, the Tigers went into a tie for the Valley Basketball Championship with Kansas. The latter team whipped the Tigers in Rothwell Gymnasium 28 to 16, February 26, for the only defeat chalked up against the local boys this season.

A resume of the season gives the Tigers a decided advantage over the other Valley teams. A tabulation designates that the Tigers made a total of 253 field goals, while Kansas, the nearest opponent, made 190. "Bun" Browning also leads the Valley players in total number of field goals, with 81, while Johnny Knight is a close second with 79 to his credit, Johnny having forged to the front rapidly toward the end of the season. Both Browning and Knight lead Rody of Kansas, who has thrown 61 field goals, and who is third in the list of Valley players. George Bond is close behind Rody, Bond having caged 57 baskets. Rody, however, has the honor of being high point man, in adding his field goals and free throws, for a total of 230. Rody threw 112 free throws. Had Browning been able to handle Missouri's free throws, there is little doubt but that he would have headed the list from this angle.

Missouri has also made a total of 616 points for the season against 372 for their opponents. This surpasses anything any other Valley Team can show.

The Tigers have fared well in the selection of the All-Valley teams by the various sport writers and critics over the Conference. Each regular—Captain Bond, Browning, Knight, Bunker, and Hays—has been given a first choice by one or other of the sport writers, showing that Missouri's talent is better thought of, as a whole, than any other Valley basketball team.

The total number of field goals made by Browning and Knight loom up as Valley records. In view of the fact that they were thrown in a schedule including but sixteen games, makes them all the more important. The previous Valley record was made during a schedule of eighteen games.

As a whole, the season was a very successful one. While the result of the Kansas game played here was a disappointment, nevertheless the Tigers showed well in most of the other games. The local lads seemed to be trained too fine for the Kansas exhibition in Rothwell Gymnasium. In the remaining games, Missouri showed the class it did prior to the second encounter with Kansas. There is little doubt in the minds of the Missouri fans but that the Tigers will come out on top of the post-season game, or games, as the case may be.

The existing tie between the Tigers and Jayhawkers possibly will be played off, the championship to be decided one game or three. The Missouri authorities wish to play but one game. Kansas is holding for three games, one game to be played here, one in Kansas and if a third exhibition is necessary, it is to be played in Kansas City. If the Missouri plan is adopted, the game will be played in Kansas City.

A Scholarship Cup for Fraternities.

Mr. Tom K. Smith, A. B. '04, of the firm of Kauffman-Smith-Emert Co., of St. Louis has offered the Men's Pan-Hellenic Council a silver cup to be awarded each year to that general fraternity which during the preceding year made the highest scholastic record. This is the true Missouri spirit. Good for you, Tom.

Mr. Smith is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and is at present a member of the Board of Archons of that fraternity. He has been for some time quite active in raising the standards of scholarship in his own fraternity and is now extending this interest to other fraternities. He practiced what he now preaches for he made Phi Beta Kappa as an undergraduate.

Under the terms of the offer this cup is open to competition of fourteen general fraternities as follows:

Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, Phi Gamma Delta, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Zeta Beta Tau.

The Men's Pan-Hellenic Council, to whom the cup is offered, is the legislative and executive head of the general fraternities. For some years it has shown an interest in scholarship and is endeavoring in many different ways to raise the scholastic standing of the fraternities. This cup will be a great help in stimulating further interest in scholarship. Furthermore, it sets a fine example to other Alumni. Dupuy P. Warrick, President of the Pan-Hellenic Council in commenting on this offer said:

"I believe the student body has long felt and with keen regret the seeming apathy of the great body of Missouri Alumni. We are assured that there

Pan Hellenic Council,
303 College Avenue,
Columbia, Missouri.

Dear Mr. Warrick—

In the hope and expectation that it may make the fraternities of the University of Missouri realize the great importance of maintaining high standards of scholarship I offer the Pan Hellenic Council a silver cup to be awarded annually under the conditions which follow. I will at any time be glad to receive suggestions from the Council relative to changes in these conditions.

1. This cup shall be awarded each year by the Council to that member of the Pan-Hellenic League which made the highest scholastic record in the preceding school year.

2. Those chapters that select their members from only one school or college or limit their membership to members of some other fraternal organization shall not be eligible.

3. In case of doubt or dispute the award shall be made by the alumni members of the Council.

4. The donor reserves the privilege of modifying these conditions if experience shows the need.

Please advise me of the decision of the Pan-Hellenic Council.

Respectfully yours, has been no dearth of fundamental loyalty on the part of our Alumni and yet the expressions of interest in and desire to make better some phase of our University life have been few. We hope the splendid gift of Mr. Tom K. Smith marks a new era. We cannot commend too highly the splendid spirit which has prompted the donation of this handsome trophy."

Track Team to California.

If some way can be found to have the Tiger track men take the final examinations a little later than scheduled, the Tiger track team will go to Berkeley, Calif., a few days before April 15, on which date the University of California and Missouri are booked to clash in a dual meet.

Missouri has a number of new men who will show well in meets this spring, and who are needed to assist the six letter men who are back this year. Missouri's strength is progressing as the season comes on.

The University of California has offered the Athletic Department, through Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director, a sum of money equivalent to pay the expenses of the local track team to and from Berkeley and while the team is in California.

There is little doubt but that the Tigers will take the trip—and it will be the first trip of such proportions ever attempted by the University.

Contracts for New Building.

The Executive Board of the University March 3rd, awarded contracts for the construction of Power Plant, tunnels and equipment as follows:

For the construction of Power Plant Building and tunnel, to Collins Brothers of Kansas City, Mo., $75,520.

For water and steam mains and all piping in Power Plant, to George Weatherwax Company of Chicago, $28,450.

For two 500 H. P. boilers, to J. F. Davis & Sons Company of Chicago, $15,960.

For chain grate stokers for the above described boilers, to the United Stokers Company of Hammond, Indiana, $6,790.

Contract was not awarded for the construction of radial brick or reinforced concrete chimney. Proposals were on a 200 foot chimney but it has been found feasible to reduce this height to 175 feet. Revised bids will be considered at an early date.

Plans and specifications for the three stone buildings to be erected on the East Campus are nearing completion, and will be available to prospective bidders on or about March 25th. These buildings are:

Agricultural Building	$200,000
Chemistry Building	125,000
Womens Gymnasium	150,000

Contractors for general construction, heating and plumbing, and electric wiring, desiring access to plans and specifications should communicate with Edward E. Brown, Business Manager, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., before the date named.

Other buildings to be erected and for which plans will follow, are:

Hospital Building	$250,000
Mechanic Arts Building	50,000
Addition to Medical Building	$35,000

These are to be located on the West Campus and will be built of brick.

News From Alumni Centers— Cass and Audrain Organize

Cass County Alumni.

The Cass County Alumni Association was organized in Harrisonville on Thursday, March 9. Ray E. Miller, B. S. Ag. '17, now County Agent of Cass County, was elected temporary president and Mrs. Helen Elizabeth King Pharis, A. B. & B. S. '17, was elected temporary secretary-treasurer. There was an awful rain storm the evening of the meeting and the attendance was cut on that account.

The meeting was held in the hotel at Harrisonville which is owned and managed by the father and mother of our world's greatest athlete, Brutus Hamilton. The banquet tables were profusely decorated with cups and trophies won by Brutus. Talks were made by all those in attendance and all the men were unusually enthusiastic over the alumni organization work. President Jones is expecting the staunchest help from the Cass County Alumni Association and they have pledged him their support. Donald C. Pharis, B. S. Ag. '20, who is teaching Vocational Agriculture in the high school at Harrisonville, was instrumental in showing the four reel motion picture, "The Tale of the Tiger," at the Harrisonville picture show house, having as guests of the Cass County Alumni Association, all the public school children of that county.

Plans are being made for monthly alumni meetings at Harrisonville for they are actively interested in everything that has to do with anything of benefit to the University of Missouri. In addition to those mentioned above, the following were in attendance at the organization meeting:

Horace Jackson Moody, Arts '13-'14, hardware salesman, Harrisonville; Laura Jim Patrick, former student '19-'20, 906 S. Independence, Harrisonville, Mo.; Alberta Maye Moore, former student '19-'20, Harrisonville; Harry Hudson Bird, Arts '11-'12, '14-'15, 110 Ed. Pearl St., Loans & Real Estate, Harrisonville; Noel Hall, Engineering '19, Poultry raising and farming, Harrisonville; Bethel B. Thomas, Engineering '19-'20, farmer, R.F.D. No. 4, Harrisonville; Claude W. Yoder, graduated Feb. 24, 1922, farming, La Tour.

Audrain County Alumni.

Twenty-one alumni and former students of the University of Missouri now living in Audrain County were organized into an association at a meeting held at the Hotel Hoxsey Friday evening, Feb. 24. Harrison Brown was elected president of the new organization. Wiley Corl was elected vice-president, J. L. Coontz, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Hollingsworth, treasurer.

The suggestion of Dr. R. T. Strode that the association hold a meeting shortly before the close of the McMillan High School term for the purpose of interesting this year's graduates in attending the University was received with approval. Further suggestions that it be in the form of a banquet to which the high school students would be invited, that it be held on Founder's Day, and that it be an annual affair were made. A banquet will be held this year at such time as is convenient for the students to attend and decision will be made later as to the annual date of the banquet. It is probable that Hardin and M. M. A. students who are completing their courses in those schools will also be invited.

A motion was carried that Mr. Brown appoint a committee to arrange for the meeting with the high school students and that another be appointed to have charge of membership. A list of eighty former students of the University in this county has been secured and these will be asked to aid in completing the list. Students who have attended only in the summer are as fully eligible for membership in the association as others. A membership fee of 50 cents was decided upon.

Previous to the organization of the association W. W. Fry spoke regarding the advisability of such an organization, speaking of the difficulty of securing support for such activities as University Glee Club concerts here and of the fact that only a comparatively small proportion of persons from this county attend University affairs considering the short distance from Columbia. He felt and his sentiment was approved by others that this was due to the lack of active boosting for the school by its former students here.

The former students present ranged from some who were in school during the first years of this century to a graduate of last year's class. There are in the county others who attended the University previously to 1900.

Wiley Corl presented the matter of the University Memorial Union fund. All alumni and former students in this county who wish to make contributions to the fund are asked to see Mr. Corl and send in their contribution through the Audrain association. Mr. Corl is anxious that subscriptions be sent in during the next week. Dr. Parrish, Harrison Brown and Rolla McIntyre have each taken a $100 life membership in the Memorial Union. Subscriptions were not taken at the meeting Friday evening.

Alumni living in Audrain County are as follows:

Maurine Margaret Campbell, B.J. '19; Bast Davis, former student, '17-'18; Lawrence W. DeMuth, A.B. '20; Mary Luch Denham, A.B. '16, B.S. in Ed. '17; Morris E. Dry, A.B., A.M. '18; David Fisher, former student '20; Winne Gibbs, B.S. '20; Alphonso Gorrell, B.S. in Ag. '21; Joe A. Gregory, former student '10-'11; Lee B. Hawthorne, B.S. in Ed. '10; George A. Hope, A.B. Subscription to the Alumnus is $3 a year.

Changes of address should be received by the Missouri Alumnus before the fifteenth of the month to insure prompt delivery of the magazine for that month.

Checks, drafts and money orders should be made payable to the Missouri Alumnus and all business correspondence should be so addressed. Address all news items to the managing editor of the Missouri Alumnus, 114 Jesse Hall, Columbia, Mo.

The year 1922 is going to be one filled with thought and energy on the part of the alumni for their Alma Mater. On January 3 Dr. J. C. Jones was appointed president of the University of Missouri and his voice rings sincerely and clearly with an appeal to the alumni, non-graduates and friends to support the institution.

William Volker, well-known philanthropist of Kansas City, has donated a graduate scholarship in the department of sociology at the University of Missouri with an annual value of $300. The scholarship is to be known as "The Volker Scholarship in Social Service." This is exceptionally fine and everybody connected with the University of Missouri is thankful to Mr. Volker.

Now let us make 1922 OUR year and fill it full of individual gifts and services which are as essential to the progress of the institution as the appropriations by the state. Mr. Tom K. Smith, A.B. '04, St. Louis, has started the year of gift and service by offering a cup to the Men's Pan-Hellenic Council to be awarded annually to that social fraternity which makes the highest scholastic record in the preceding school year. Here is a gift that will have a constructive result. The fine action of Mr. Smith gives permanent visible presence to things he stood for as a student and his liberality will mean much for scholarship here. This gift is most opportune and significant.

At this time the gift has a still further significance. It illustrates bet-ities, as follows: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Gamma, Alpha Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Delta Delta, Phi Mu, Gamma Phi Beta.

While the sororities have on the whole shown a tendency to maintain a high standard of scholarship there has been a recent tendency for some of them to slump. Right now is the time to do some boosting.

It is suggested that the cup be offered to the Woman's Pan-Hellenic Council of which Susie Crockett, Delta Delta Delta house, is president, and Maxine Christopher, Kappa Kappa Gamma house is secretary.

The rules follow:

1. This cup shall be awarded annually by the Woman's Pan-Hellenic Council to that social sorority which makes the highest scholastic record in the preceding school year.

2. In case of doubt or dispute the award shall be made by the Advisory members of the Council.

3. The donor reserves the privilege of modifying the conditions of the award.

A very attractive cup can be awarded annually at an expense not to exceed $50.00. This is indeed an inexpensive undertaking. Who will respond?

PRESIDENT JONES' VISITS.

The trips recently made by President Jones to the Alumni Associations of the University of Missouri in the East (at his own expense) will be of untold value to the University of Missouri, and the organization of the Alumni, a project of the greatest importance in which President Jones is deeply interested.

ter than anything else could possibly do the sort of opportunity. It illustrates one of the many ways in which hundreds of alumni can and should in this good year 1922 enrich the life of Old Missouri.

Who among the alumnae will show the same live spirit of devotion to their alma mater and following the example of Mr. Smith offer a similar incentive to the women in social fraternal organizations?

The Chi Omega sorority at the present time gives a silver cup to the freshmen members of any sorority who makes the highest record in her first year's work. The cup rotates from year to year and is held by Kappa Kappa Gamma at the present time.

The following is a tentative set of rules and a plan which can be followed, regarding a cup for the social sororities. All of the social and none of the professional sororities are members of the Woman's Pan-Hellenic Council. There are ten social soror-

Any body of Alumni or former students or any school principal or superintendent can secure without any expense, other than transportation charges, the four reel motion picture, "The Tale of the Tiger." It is an interesting picture for high school students everywhere. The picture depicts life at the University of Missouri. MEMORIAL CAMPAIGN WEEK

The Campaign Week has come and gone. Much work was done in many parts of the state and nation, and a great deal of this work can not be tabulated as yet because the work is incomplete in many places and the final records will not be in for some time. Considering the financial condition of the country and the imperfect state the financial condition of the country and the imperfect state of the alumni records of the University, the Committee feels that a great deal was accomplished during the campaign, and that one more important step has been taken in raising the $500,000 which has been set as a minimum for the proposed group of business. Work is actively going on in Washington and New York, and other cities outside of Missouri, and subscriptions are coming in from all over the state and nation. Steps are now being taken to push the campaign to a successful issue everywhere.

Many interesting letters have been received. One was from a former student who worked his way through the University, supporting a family in the meantime, who had a son in the war, and who himself made every effort to get across the water. In spite of the fact that owing to the exigencies of the war he is still unable to make a contribution to the good cause, he insists on sending in a note with the expressed determination of paying that note at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. J. A. Kiskaddom, father-in-law of Lieutenant Floyd Boutwell, whose splendid record in the war is one of which the University is most proud, sends in a check for $50 to be placed in the fund as a memorial of Lieutenant Boutwell.

Dockery Wilson, who did not himself attend the University, sends $100 in memory of his brother, "Chuck" Wilson.

Letters like these prove the interest which the Memorial is arousing in the minds of all loyal citizens.

Many of the loyal American Legion Posts of the state have been named in honor of former students who died in the war. Many of these Posts are passing resolutions approving the plans for this Memorial and expressing an earnest wish that all loyal Missourians should unite in support of this great cause.

State Commander Parker of the Legion expresses much interest in the plan and a willingness to bring the matter before the state meeting of the Legion in April.

In fact, though times are hard and money is scarce, there is no lack of appreciation of the value of this great Memorial, and there is no lack of zeal in pushing on towards the completion of this great campaign.

The Committee having charge of the Memorial Campaign, makes a renewed appeal for support in two important particulars: First, the alumni and former student records in the University are in a very unsatisfactory and imperfect state, and it would be of the greatest possible service to the cause if former students would assist the Alumni Recorder, R. L. Hill, in his efforts to secure an accurate mailing list. Second, we would call all former students of the University who have not yet received the literature and the pledge blanks for this fund to communicate with the Committee here in Columbia in order that such literature and pledge blanks may be forwarded to them.

It is the earnest desire of all who are interested in this great movement that when this building is completed it shall represent united contributions from every living alumnus and former student of the University. We desire that everyone who has ever walked beneath the shadow of the Columns should own at least one stone in this splendid Memorial.

We place a pledge blank at the bottom of this sheet which may be detached and sent into the Committee.

I hereby subscribe $..... toward the UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI MEMORIAL FUND, payments to be made to Leslie Cowan (Secretary of the Board of Curators, or his successor or such), as follows: 25 per cent with subscription; 25 per cent July 1, 1922; 25 per cent January 1, 1923; 25 per cent July 1, 1923; with interest at 6 per cent on each installment from maturity.

(All checks should be made payable to Leslie Cowan, Treasurer, University of Missouri Memorial Fund).

MISSOURI GEOLOGIST

CHAMBERLAIN GEOLOGY CLUB

Forty members of the Chamberlain Geology Club send greetings to all of the old members. The Club has had a successful year. The last program consisted of an illustrated lecture on vulcanism by Mr. Rutledge. He showed lantern slides of modern volcanoes and a movie reel on Kilauea. The program was given in the auditorium of the Agricultural Building before a large audience.

The program for March 10th is a travelogue of the Grand Canyon and Painted Desert by C. D. Williamson. Dr. Williamson is widely known as a lecturer on the Grand Canyon.

Virgil Cole is president of the Club, Verne A. Hardin, vice-president and Charles Close, secretary. The Club would be glad to have old members on its program next year. Write us when you are coming and what you would like to talk about. All of you are doing work that would be of interest to us.

The Department extends its sympathy to Leslie Fahrner, B.J. '17, on account of the death of his wife. Mrs. Fahrner died in February. Leslie paid us a visit the last week of February. He expects to return to the University next year for graduate study in Geography and Geology. During his Journalism course in the University of Missouri he specialized in our Department, and after the signing of the armistice he spent a few months in Lyons, France, studying geology.

Members of the Department were very sorry to hear of the death of T. P. Bryan of Kansas City, Secretary-Treasurer of the Gray-Bryan-Sweeney Coal Company. Mr. Bryan was the father of Parke K. Bryan, who graduated from the University in April, 1921. Parke took his major work in geology and earned a good reputation by his scholastic work while enrolled in the Department. He is now engaged in the coal business in Kansas City.

George Robertson, B.S. in Ag. '18, paid the Department a call on March 4th. Since returning from France George has been trying to regain his health and at last seems to have succeeded. In 1917 he had an opportunity to go on an extensive geological expedition through South America, but the entrance of the United States into the War broke up his plans. He was with the 1916 geological field party in Wyoming and after the field season won some recognition by walking through Glacier National Park in record time.

After having been forced to quit geological work for over a year and a half on account of sickness, Walter Placke is again considering reentering the field. He has never lost his enthusiasm for geological work and says it will be a joy to him to get back in the field again.

I. A. KEYTE

I. Allen Keyte went to Wyoming in 1911 with the first geological field course conducted by the University of Missouri. He had graduated from the University in 1909. He became interested in paleontology through collecting with Mr. F. A. Sampson, at that time secretary of the State Historical Society. While he was teaching physiography and chemistry in the high school at Hannibal, Missouri, he made large collections of crinoids from the Burlington limestone, and many of these were presented to the geological department of the University of Missouri. He worked in the Wyoming field with great enthusiasm and returned to the same field in 1913, though he remained only a week on account of contracting spotted fever. From the Hannibal High School he went to Salida, Colo., as teacher of physiography and chemistry in the high school there, from Salida to Gunnison, Colorado, High School and Normal School; thence to Colorado Springs High School and Colorado College. In 1920 he gave up all high school work to become associate professor and head of the department of geology in Colorado College.

He returned to work or teach in the department of geology at Missouri for four summer schools. As a thesis for the master's degree, for which he completed the work, save the thesis, in 1915, he is investigating the crinoids of the Chouteau limestone. He was with the Columbia-to-Pacific Coast field party last summer from Scott, City, Kansas, to the Grand Canyon.

Mr. Keyte has made an enviable record as a teacher. Added to fine teaching ability, he has enthusiasm and real joy in workmanship.

When you return to the University you may see Mr. Keyte's name as collector and donor on more than 600 labels of fossils. Every region that he visits makes contributions to the Department's collections. His collections are increasing the Department's teaching equipment and efficiency. As this was being written a package of fossil fish remains from the Niobrara formation of Colorado reached the Department, with Mr. Keyte's name on the label.

A fine loyalty to his University is one of Mr. Keyte's outstanding characteristics, and this has led many of his students to select Missouri as their school. He has two sturdy high school boys of his own, and we expect to see them taking courses in geology in the University of Missouri within a few years.

Gilbert P. Moore, A.B. '19, A.M. '20, was in Buenos Aires when last heard from. Nearly two years ago he went to South America as geologist for the International Petroleum Company. He spent more than a year in Peru, crossed from the Pacific side to the head waters of the Amazon, went through the country of the head-hunters, just escaped a Peruvian revolution, sailed down the Amazon to Rio de Janeiro, and from there went to Buenos Aires. His firm wants him to go to south Argentine for a year, but he is anxious to get back to the United States. We hope to publish a letter from him telling of some of his experiences.

The marriage of Miss Treva Soderstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Soderstrom of Pawhuska, Oklahoma, to Cuthbert D. Stephenson was solemnized on September 6, 1922 by Rev. T. E. Bingman at Pawhuska. Stephenson is a graduate of the department of Geology and has made an excellent record in geological work in the Mid-Continent field. He now holds a responsible position with the Pierce Oil Corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson are at home in Okmulgee, Oklahoma.

Dr. Helen Strong, assistant professor of geography, will teach geography at Northwestern University during the summer. She went to Washington during the Christmas vacation to attend a meeting of the American Geographical Society. During the war Miss Strong was in Washington in government geographical work.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Next summer E. B. Branson and James S. Williams will work on the Mississippian formations in Missouri for the Missouri State Bureau of Geology & Mines. The work that they are undertaking will require two or three years to complete, and the results will be published in two volumes. Williams will use a part of his work as the basis for a thesis for the Ph.D. degree.

W. A. Tarr will conduct a field trip in southeastern Missouri during the spring term. His camp will be located near Flat River. The students will study the geology, the occurrence of the lead ores, and the mining methods of that region.

M. G. Mehl and two or three students will be engaged in collecting from the Red Beds in New Mexico and Arizona during the spring term. During the summer term, Dr. Mehl will have charge of the field course. The party will locate their camp near Las Vegas, New Mexico.

R. B. Rutledge, instructor in geology, will map a quadrangle in southwestern Missouri for the Missouri Bureau of Geology and Mines. His investigations are to form the basis for his thesis for the Ph.D. degree.

DEATH NOTES

Mrs. H. M. Cheavens, 88 years old, died at Columbia, March 4, 1922. Three of her grandchildren are in the University. Martha Cheavens, a senior in the School of Journalism, Sarah Cheavens, a senior in the School of Education, and John Watson Cheavens, a freshman pre-medic.

Allen Green Bryan, a short course agricultural student 1912-13 joined the navy at Benidge, Beltram Co., Minnesota, June 16, 1917 and was sent to Norfolk, Virginia, and from there to Charleston, South Carolina, for training. He was afterwards stationed on the battleship Denver and made three trips across as fireman. While stopping in Norfolk, Va., he contracted pneumonia from exposure while on guard duty July 12, 1918, and then tuberculosis from which he died in a navy hospital August 20, 1918.

Lloyd C. Ruggles died at the Fitzsimmons United States Army Hospital at Denver, Colorado, on January 23, 1922 and was buried at his home at Monett, Missouri, four days later. Mr. Ruggles was enrolled in the College of Arts and Science of the University of Missouri during the sessions of 1912-13 and 1913-14 and matriculated at the University of Colorado the following year. He was a student there when he volunteered for service in the army, one day after the United States entered the war. He served in the Fifteenth Engineers and was stationed at Camp Kearney, San Diego, California, until December 24, 1917, when in the physical examination that he took for his commission, it was found that he had contracted tuberculosis. He was given a physical disability discharge at once and was placed in an army hospital where he remained almost continuously until his death.

During his career at the Universities of Missouri and Colorado, Mr. Ruggles was a brilliant student and was prominent both in social circles and student activities. He was a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

It is with the most profound regret that his many friends learn that he has made the supreme sacrifice and that another gold star has been added to the service flag of the University of Missouri.

Ernest Campbell Moorhouse, a former student of the University, and an "M" football man, died January 3, 1922, at Albuquerque, New Mexico. On the advice of his physician, he had gone to Albuquerque a week before Christmas, to spend the winter, hoping the change in climate would help his bronchitis, from which he had been a sufferer for a number of years. The altitude proved to be too high for him and he died very suddenly of acute dilation of the heart. For the past five years he had been engaged in farming near North Kansas City, Missouri. He is survived by his wife, Emma Hansen Moorhouse, a six year old son, Ernest Campbell, Jr., and a two year old daughter, Anna Belle.

"I am already a subscriber to the Alumnus. I am glad to note that you intend to print special news of the alumni of the geology department of the University, as that will be particularly interesting to one who was both student and teacher in that department. I have not yet received my copy of the February Alumnus and if by chance it has gone astray, I wish that you would see that I get another one.

"I do not meet many alumni of the University in this part of the country, but recently Jacob Speelman, coach of the teams at the Aberdeen Normal College at Aberdeen, S.D. brought his basketball team out here to play with our School of Mines team. He had a well coached and smooth working team, and beat us after a well played and interesting struggle. Speelman won instant respect and admiration from the basketball fans of this town for his thoroughly good sportsmanship.

"Very sincerely yours,

The ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

offered by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston for the best answer to Mr. Edison's question, "Who Was John Hancock?" has been awarded to Leon V. Quigley, a student at the Worcester (Mass.) Polytechnic Institute. This answer, giving a correct, concise and comprehensive statement of the position occupied by John Hancock in American history, is printed below in full.

"Who Was John Hancock?"

JOHAN HANCOCK was an American statesman and patriot. His signature is found on the oldest and most important documents of Massachusetts, and of the United States. He was the first signer of the Declaration of Independence and was the first Governor of Massachusetts.

John Hancock was born at Quincy, Massachusetts, in 1737. He graduated from Harvard College, and entering upon his uncle's business became a successful merchant in Boston. He gained much in social power and in wealth, being meanwhile justly popular for his integrity and ability.

He was in 1765-1770 a selectman of Boston and a member of the general court. With Samuel Adams he led the Massachusetts Whigs, and only escaped capture at Lexington and Concord by virtue of the valiant fight by the Minute Men on the "Nineteenth of April in '75."

John Hancock was subsequently known in various positions: as President of the Continental Congress, as Major-

General of the Massachusetts military forces, as President of the Constitutional Convention. He died at Quincy, Massachusetts, October 8, 1793.

The historical position of John Hancock is unique in State and Nation. He wielded great political influence but was always liberal and public-spirited. His name is most prominent as a Whig leader during the American Revolution in such events as the Boston Massacre, the Boston Tea Party and the battles of Lexington and Concord.

John Hancock signed his name first to the Declaration of Independence. He thus risked his own "life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness" that these privileges might be obtained for others to enjoy. To this end he "pledged his life, his fortune, and his sacred honor."

That he was popular and efficient may be judged from the fact that he was for ten years Governor of Massachusetts, being elected annually to this office by popular vote.

With Every Change in Season Comes a Change in Athletics; Now It Is Baseball

Good baseball material is hard to get and keep in college baseball. This is probably due to the commercial development of baseball more than any of the other popular sports. Missouri has not decorated the end of the list with her name in recent years, and it is hoped that each year she may be able to put forth a stronger team until she has a baseball team whose record will parallel that of the basketball team of 1922.

So far, this year, weather conditions have prevented much active preparations for the coming season, but there are some definite opinions permissible, based on the "cash on hand" in the form of last year's men. Missouri played in second place in the Missouri Valley Conference standing at the close of the season last year, which was not so bad considering the prospects at the first of the season. This year Jerry Jones is in charge of coaching the candidates for the teams. Probably it will be well to say a little concerning Jones.

Jerry Jones came here from Notre Dame last fall and was assigned the task of whipping a line into shape for the coming season. He did. Now Jones has the job on his hands of getting a presentable baseball aggregation which will produce a nine that will help Missouri hold her own. Jones is handicapped by the three-term year now in practice at Missouri, as has been other attempts to make a showing in baseball by Missouri. Jones has had considerable professional experience, having played in and managed a team in the southwestern league.

There are W. E. Williams, O'Reilly, captain, Lowrance, former captain, Packwood, Bunker, Knight and Hayes from last year's freshman, on which the foundation of the team will rest. Then, there are several good prospects for vacancies on the squad.

With the three-term year, many of the valuable baseball men leave at the close of the second term and the team is weakened just that much. It is to be hoped that a two-term year will be adopted in a year or so and Missouri will be enabled to stand a season without losing men from the regular team.

However, there should be plenty of really good baseball material attending Missouri—more and better material than is already here. You Alumni can act as scouts in your own territory and send men to Missouri that show promise for a good future. You can aid your Alma Mater by showing the light to high school seniors in your town and really get them interested in coming to Missouri.

The basketball team tied with Kansas for first place in the Valley. Missouri tried to arrange a championship game with Kansas, but Kansas refused to play.

A certain professor in the University of Missouri came to us a little over ten years ago and asked us to explain our proposition to him. We did, and he decided to take out twenty shares. His plan was to have a fund when his two children were ready to enter the University that would finance their education. Later he came to us again and took twenty more shares, saying that he wanted to be sure and have a substantial educational fund for his children so they would not be handicapped by lack of funds.

Today this professor has realized on his investment, he has his children in the University and he is not being continually pinched for money to maintain them in their educational pursuits.

All this goes to show, Alumni, that there is a method by which you can save money and when the time comes to buy that home, pay off that debt or to give your children a college education, you can realize on the little saving you have been doing and use the accumulation of seemingly inconsiderable amounts to accomplish the big purpose which you have in view.
