Broadway around the world

Compare these huge turbines with the tiny lamp used by surgeons to examine the inside of an ear, and you will realize the variety of G-E products. Between these extremes are lamps, motors, generators, switch-boards and other equipment—all tools by which electricity works for you.

The biggest machines built by the General Electric Company are steam turbine generators of 80,000 horse power, used in great power houses.

One of these giants could generate enough current to run all the street cars in twelve cities as large as Wilmington or Spokane. Ten could light a street as bright as Broadway running around the world.

The Missouri of Yesterday

When the program committee of the women's faculty club learned that I had been officially connected with this University for twenty-five years, and had been a student here before that time they thought I would be equipped to speak of the ancient history of the institution.

This is an old State University, the oldest west of the Mississippi river, and younger than Michigan by only two years. So my memory does not reach far enough back and I have had to refer to ancient catalogues and histories of the institution.

As early as 1817 the national government concerned itself with the education of its future citizens and in 1820 a land grant of two townships laid the foundation for the endowment of this University. The land was situated in the heart of what is now Kansas City. In 1831 and 1835 most of the land was sold and the money, put out at interest, had amounted to $100,000 by 1839. Our first thought we are inclined to regret that the land was sold at so early a date and at so low a figure but the enrichment in the lives of the men and women educated by means of that comparatively small sum far out balances the millions the land is now worth.

In 1839 our State University was established by an act of the legislature. Several counties in the center of the state offered a bonus, and Boone County won with a gift of nearly $118,000. Callaway, our neighboring county came next with an offer of $90,000. It is not strange that these counties should have been eager to secure the University, for they were among the first settled and the pioneers had brought with them from Virginia and Kentucky high ideals of education. $118,000 was a large sum of money for a pioneer settlement to raise eighty-five years ago and many interesting stories are told of the generosity and self-denial of the donors. Perhaps the most praiseworthy thing about the whole matter is that every dollar subscribed was paid.

I should like to impress you with the dignity and worth of the generation that founded our University. They expressed it in the building and the old columns, the part left, are a fitting monument of their rugged honesty and artistic standards. The corner stone of the building the columns helped to support and adorn was laid in 1849. In that year John H. Lathrop was chosen president. Two years later his first report to the curators gave the number of students as seventy-five and the faculty five including the president. President Lathrop served the University until 1849 when he resigned to accept the chancellorship of the newly established

University of Wisconsin. The early years of the University of Missouri were not altogether peaceful. President Lathrop's resignation was due, in part, to sectarian and political dissension. Peace was not brought about by his withdrawal and in 1846 the legislature did not wait for a resignation but declared the chairs of the president and of all the faculty vacant. The newly appointed regime was getting things into shape when the civil war came.

During the four years of the struggle the University suffered seriously but in 1865 President Lathrop accepted a call to return as president, and a new era of prosperity began. Lathrop died in 1866 and Daniel Reard was appointed as his successor. His presidency is especially noted for two things. He persuaded the legislature that the state must help support the institution and thus the first appropriation was made.

To us the most important act was the admission of women in 1869. Read Hall is named for the president under whose regime women were admitted. At first they were allowed to take work only in the normal department but according to the report, "the board seeing that the young women did no manner of harm in the normal department took into consideration the question of throwing the doors of the entire University open to women."

This question was approached with cautious and doubting steps, for it was considered a bold and hazardous undertaking, says the historian. The step was taken in 1872 the University of Missouri led Michigan in opening her doors to women. It was a bold step for a conservative community with strong southern sympathies. Every safeguard was thrown around the young women. They were perfectly chaperoned at chapel exercises and did not use the library at the same time with the men.

Uniforms were worn until a fairly late day. They never had a uniform as picturesque as the sunbonnets worn by the female college girls. These bonnets were worn by the Christian College girls long after they had ceased to protect the wearer from the sun and the gaze of the less genteel sex for they were very tiny, coquetish things and were pressed far back on the head. The uniform of the University girl was usually a black dress without trimming and a hat chosen by the lady principal. Many deservits were recorded against the girl who dared appear in class clad in any bright apparel that might attract the eyes of the boys.

The hats were evidently chosen with an eye to economy and durability. Certainly the lady principal did not yield to any aesthetic tendency. I can even yet recall the brown wool hats worn one year. They were walking shape and had a fuzzy rim. But you as members of the Women's Faculty Club are interested in knowing when women first taught in the University.

In very early times a woman taught in the preparatory department connected with the Normal school and in the early eighties, Miss Grace Bibb was made head of the normal department, a position corresponding to a dean'ship. At about the same time Mrs. Carr, the lady principal did some teaching in English. But these two women left the University and for a number of years there was no woman on the faculty.

After the fire in 1892 the lady principal had no quarters and the place was left unfilled. Soon after the Main Building, the present Jesse Hall, was finished, Mrs. Louise Norward Pitch, a lady of the old school, the daughter of the former professor, was made matron and had her quarters in the Ladies Parlor.

In 1899, Dr. John Burnam, assistant professor of Latin was given a leave of absence for a year, and I was chosen to substitute for that time. However, before leaving Dr. Burnam resigned and the administration felt that it might be wise to appoint a woman permanently to the place, since the number of women students was constantly increasing. They decided to offer the place to me in case I would spend two years studying in Germany before assuming the position. I was glad to accept on such terms and studied abroad from 1899 to 1901. But when I returned I was not the only woman member of the faculty, two had been appointed the previous year, one in the household economics and one in physical training.

The next milestone for women was the erection of Read Hall, finished in 1903 and the appointment that same year of an adviser of women. The title Adviser of Women was the one used until 1922 when at the request of the alumnae the title was changed to Dean of Women. For the past quarter of a century the appointment of women on the faculty has kept pace with the increase of women students and with the newly established school of Fine Arts we shall doubtless see further rapid growth in the number of women.

Dr. Brooks Debates With Butler

Members of the Missouri Society of New York, who attended the annual dinner of that organization on April 29 in New York City listened to what took the form of a debate when Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, clashed on the subject of prohibition. The debate was characterized as one of the most important on the eighteenth amendment in recent months.

Nothing of the kind had been expected by the diners and they were taken completely by surprise when Dr. Butler launched into an assault upon the eighteenth amendment. More than half of the 500 men and women present jumped to their feet but their surprise was the greater when Dr. Brooks answered in fighting fashion and those who had remained seated at the conclusion of Dr. Butler's speech arose and cheered the remarks of Dr. Brooks.

Dr. Brooks was at a disadvantage for Dr. Butler prepared his speech and Dr. Brooks had to speak extemporaneously after laying aside the prepared speech that he expected to deliver.

Upon being presented to the audience Dr. Brooks remarked that Dr. Butler was the president of Columbia and that he was president of the University at Columbia, Mo., and described the two as the "Columbia Twins." The remark produced a roar of laughter but in the last sentence Dr. Brooks brought the diners suddenly to a realization that he felt as deeply as Dr. Butler on the subject of prohibition but looked at it from the opposite position.

"I disagree with nearly every single sentence of the speaker before me," Dr. Brooks answered with emphasis and speaking with deliberation. "The one sentence with which I agree is that, America is in a serious situation because of its inability to be obedient to law." Wide spread publicity has been given to the argument which occurred at the Missouri banquet.

Dr. J. C. Jones, director of the Memorial Union and Stadium campaign was at the speakers table with R. M. Bandy, president of the Missouri Alumni Association of New York.

Upon his return to Columbia Dr. Brooks was met at the train by a committee of citizens, after which they assembled at the Daniel Boone Tavern where Dr. Brooks told them about the debate with Dr. Butler.

Dr. Brooks received hundreds of telegrams, letters and resolutions commending and endorsing his stand from every section of the United States.

In connection with the discussion entered into by Dr. Brooks in New York, it is interesting to note the following material from the Kansas City Times on May 12th, which was published in the column "In Kansas City Forty Years Ago":

"Col. W. F. Switzler, the veteran Boone County editor, was in the city Saturday, on his return from Southwest Missouri to his home in Columbia. In the afternoon he was given his first really comprehensive view of Kansas City, having been taken on a long buggyride over our business and residence streets by his friend, Hon. J. V. C. Karnes, who himself in his earlier years was a resident of Columbia. Colonel Switzler expressed much admiration for what he saw of Kansas City and predicted a great future for the young metropolis of the Southwest. Asked by a Times man about Missouri politics, the colonel voiced a belief that Judge Bashaw would be the Democratic nominee for governor, although he conceded much to the anti-popularity of General Marmaduke. Colonel Switzler is a believer in the ultimate triumph of prohibition, and says it is sure to sweep Missouri and the other southern states at no distant day, and eventually the nation."

Journalism Week A Success.

The fifteenth annual Journalism Week, under the auspices of the School of Journalism, held during the week of May 12 marked the most successful of the Journalism weeks to date. In addition to a most attractive, interesting and instructive program, presented by speakers from Missouri, from all sections of the United States and from several foreign countries, there were back for the Week more than seventy alumni and former students of the School of Journalism.

These men and women held their annual banquet and election of officers on the evening of May 15. The following officers were elected: Russell M. Bandy, Flatiron Bldg., New York City, president; Rex B. Magee, Jackson, Miss., vice-president; Sara Lockwood, secretary-treasurer; Vice-Presidents at Large: Catherine Ware, Springfield, Mo.; Glenn Babbs, Tokyo, Japan; J. B. Powell, Shanghai, China; Frank King, London, England; Goo Oehm care of W. V. Rathbone, Box 395, Harrisburg, Ill.; Eliseo Quirino, Manila; Katherine Wheeler, Kansas City; Robert Jones, Seattle, Wash.; Ward Neff, Chicago, Ill.; Buford O. Brown, Stanford University, Calif. Alumni Representative on Board of Directors: J. Harrison Brown, Mexico, Mo.

J. Harrison Brown, the retiring president of the Journalism Alumni Association, presided at the banquet. The banquet was in charge of Sara Lockwood, secretary, and the speaking program was called, "The Evolution of a Journalist", with the following program:

The Paleontologist—Bob Hill
Cambrian, Age of the Trilobite—Henry H. Kinyon, '12
Devonian, Age of the Fish—Vina Lindsay, '13
Triassic, Age of the Dinosaur—Rex Magee, '14
Cretaceous, Age of Birds with Teeth—Mildred Keogh, '20
Recent, Age of the Flapper—Katherine Wheeler, '24
Director of the Museum—P. E. Burton
Outline of History—Dean Walter Williams

The class of 1923 of the school of Journalism dedicated its memorial gift to the school to two stone benches on each side of the main entrance to Jay H. Neff Hall on May 16. The presentation speech was made by Eugene T. Stout of St.

Joseph, Mo., president of the '23 class, and president of the Buchanan County Alumni Association.

Dean Williams presided at the presentation and Don D. Patterson, assistant professor of advertising, accepted the gift on behalf of the school.

The alumni of the School of Journalism were the first to perfect the divisional organization. During the first year of their organization, the Journalism alumni have been brought into closer contact with the school of Journalism and the University as a whole. They have not only been appealed to for 100 per cent assistance in Memorial Union and Stadium Campaign but responded wholeheartedly and have helped materially in various ways in alumni activities. Harrison Brown has made the organization stand for and do something worth while.

The Journalism Week exercises closed with the annual banquet known this year as "The Special Edition Banquet", held at the Daniel Boone Tavern. Seats at a table the entire length of the ballroom were occupied by alumni and former students of the school of Journalism. President Stratton D. Brooks made an address covering a plea for law enforcement in which he said:

"The press of the nation has power far beyond that of the schools. It exerts a much wider influence. It can do much more for the public good if the newspaper men of the nation realize their power and fill pound into the people these principles for which our forefathers fought."

Dean Walter Williams presided at all of the evening sessions of Journalism Week. The Missouri Press Association and the Missouri Writers' Guild held their annual meetings in conjunction with Journalism Week.

Dr. Hetherington To New Post.

Dr. Clark W. Hetherington of LeLand Stanford University has been appointed professor of physical education in New York University according to a report from there. Doctor Hetherington was at one time director of athletics in the University here.

Journalism Field Trips Planned.

Nine central and western Missouri cities are included in the itinerary of the men's division of the second annual field trip of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri.

The party will leave here in July, traveling up the Missouri River Valley to South Dakota, through South Dakota from the Iowa border to the gold mines and national forests of the Black Hills, and back to Columbia by way of Des Moines.

The party leaves here July 7 to be gone four weeks. Eight hours credit will be given for the work, which will be essentially the work of a newspaper staff correspondent. Before leaving here it is proposed to visit state hospital No. 1 at Fulton, the state capitol at Jefferson City and attend the July 4 celebration at Booneville, in connection with the formal opening of the new Missouri River bridge there.

Elections 'Most Everywhere

We have just had a dandy time in Washington, and we want you people back there to know all about it.

We were all very anxious to meet the new President, Dr. Brooks, and Mrs. Brooks and had been looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to their visit. Needless to say we were delighted with both of them. Dr. Brooks made a fine impression here and we are all behind him. Of course, the very fact that Dr. Jones was to be present was sufficient to get out a good crowd. Dr. Jones had a strong hold on the affections of all of us.

Well, here is what we did. Wednesday April 30th at 6:45 p. m., we held our annual dinner at the University Club. We didn't have a chicken dinner, and, as I am not an Epicurean, I refuse to name our principal dish on the ground that it might tend to incriminate me (and that is a potent phrase in Washington). But it was good so what care we about the name. After the Nubian slaves had cleared away the wreckage, the speaking commenced. The Hon. T. L. Rubey, '86, representing the 15th Congressional District, acted as Toastmaster. Dr. Brooks was the first speaker and gave a good talk about the University as a whole and its relation to the alumni. Unfortunately he had to leave at 9 so could speak for only thirty minutes. We could have listened to him very much longer. We hope it can be arranged so that he can make us an annual visit. After Dr. Brooks departed Dr. Jones was introduced. He told us all about the plans for the Memorial Union and Stadium. His speech certainly aroused a lot of enthusiasm. If the alumni could catch only one-tenth the spirit and

Michigan Alumni Meet.

The second annual meeting of the Michigan Missouri Alumni Ass'n. was held at the Board of Commerce Bldg., Detroit, April 26th, at 6:00 p. m.

A short business meeting was held at which O. E. Reed '08, chairman of the dairy division of the Michigan Agricultural College was elected president. E. C. Robinson '12, of Detroit, who is district manager of the Century Electric Company of St. Louis, Mo., was elected vice-president; O. B. Price '20 of the Michigan Agricultural College was elected secretary and treasurer. It was decided to try to hold a summer meeting at one of the lakes in Michigan in July or August.

Following the meeting, we were led to the banquet room where we ate, sang, talked, and had a few Tiger yells. During the course of the banquet we were entertained by two young ladies who played and sang popular and old-time songs in which they were given very generous support and hearty applause. Tudor Lanus, '18 of the Junior High School at Grand Rapids also entertained with a few readings. Hal Hursh '14, who had charge of the arrangements in Detroit made a few remarks followed by Miss Cynthia Starr '21, of Albion who was the youngest member present.

Dr. Brooks then outlined the possibilities of the University of Missouri and its graduates in his easy and forceful manner. The alumni were well pleased with his visit and to know that there is a man of such broad experience and vision directing the progress of their Alma Mater.

Dr. Jones then presented the plans of the Memorial Campaign with such clearness and earnestness that no one could fail to understand the real motive for this campaign and the sincerity of Dr. Jones himself in devoting his time to carrying it through. Following his talk everyone arose and expressed their appreciation of the progress of the campaign, of the good work that is being done to provide for the students and alumni and pledged their support. Hal Hursh was appointed chairman of the committee to solicit members not present and the secretary to assist. (Several life memberships were taken out but Mr. Hursh has not reported to me)

The following attended: Dr. and Mrs. Stratton D. Brooks, Columbia, Mo., Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Bates, Columbia, Mo.; Mrs. A. L. Barton (Ruby McClure) '17 Detroit; Mr. A. L. Barton, Detroit; Mrs. Robert E. Bethel (Miss Schmidt) '10 Birmingham; Mr. Robert E. Bethel; Paul T. Graves '13, Detroit; Mrs. Paul T. Graves, Detroit; Tudor Lanus '18, Grand Rapids; J. H. Hursh, Detroit; Mr. A. J. McCulloch '99, Albion; Mrs. A. J. McCulloch '03, Albion, two children; O. B. Price '20, East Lansing; O. E. Reed, '08, East Lansing; Cynthia V. Starr '21, Albion; J. O. Veatch '04, East Lansing; W. G. Wetstein '14, Detroit; Shultz, Eugene B. '19, Detroit; Sidney Levy '14 Detroit; P. J. Reese '16 and wife, Detroit; E. L. Dokin '13, Columbus, Ohio; E. C. Robinson '12, Detroit.

Mr. Dokin who is head of the poultry department at Ohio State University at Columbus, came up just for the meeting and gave his hearty support to the work.

Dr. Jones in New England.

Missouri alumni in New England held a most successful dinner at the Lenox Hotel, Boston, Mass. Saturday evening, May 3rd, with Dr. and Mrs. Jones as honored guests. An excellent menu was enhanced by the singing of Missouri songs with more than our usual spirit, due to Mrs. Jones's presence at the piano. In the stretch of the evening, Dr. Jones put the "you" into "Union", till each of us felt our individual responsibility for the success of Memorial Union and Stadium campaign, and realized that any sacrifice we might make in subscribing would be a slight return for all our Alma Mater had done for us, and that ours was the privilege of helping to perpetuate the memory of her brave sons who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War and at the same time give to the students of the future more adequate recreational opportunities than we ourselves enjoyed. That this privilege was appreciated was indicated by the enthusiasm of the speakers following Dr. Jones. The meeting was ably presided over by the president, Claude B. Cross, but towards its close he reminded us that this was the time to choose new officers, and the following were elected for 1924-25: President, Arnold Leonard A. B. '14; Sec'y-treas., Esther Hill, A. B. '23.

Those attending the dinner were: Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, Columbia, Mo., Geo. E. Bates, A. B. '23, A. M. '24, 4 Story St. Cambridge, (Harvard Sch. Bus. Adm.) Miss Catherine Carroll, 61 Mass Ave., Boston, (formerly a student at Christian College, now at B. U.) Claude B. Cross, A. B. '14, 6 Newport Rd. Camb. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and the Memorial campaign was heartily endorsed and supported by subscriptions of Life Memberships. The following committee was appointed to solicit Life Memberships of one hundred dollars each from the alumni and former students of Boston, and vicinity:

Nelson C. Tisdell, A. B. '20, 181 Parker St., Newton Center, Mass.; Chairman; Eugene Montgomery, A. B. '21, Cambridge, Mass., and Howard Jennings, former students '16-'18, Cambridge, Mass.

Henry County Meeting.

William Godwin of the Henry County Alumni Association, Clinton, Mo., reports that there were more than 200 in attendance at their second annual banquet given in honor of the senior classes of the high schools of Henry County on May 6. He reports that before last year Henry County had 25 per cent of its high school graduates in college and that last year after the high school seniors were entertained over 50 per cent were enrolled in colleges. Here is a concrete example of one of the worth while things that alumni can well afford to sponsor. Mr. Godwin says that the Henry County alumni are desirous of increasing the enrollment of their high school graduates in schools of higher education, training and that the annual banquet in their honor is the most effective way.

The following resolution was adopted by the Henry County Alumni Association at their meeting:

The University of Missouri Alumni Association of Henry County and the 1924 high school graduates of Henry County, extend felicitations to and endorsement of Dr. Stratton D. Brooks in his courageous stand in behalf of the Constitution and the Flag at the Missouri Society in New York on April 29. He showed the true Missouri Tiger spirit.

Jasper County Has New Officers

The Jasper County Alumni Association elected the following officers at a meeting in Carthage on May 15: Vice-pres. eastern district, Hollis Moore; Vice-pres. central district, Lynn Hummel, Carthage; Vice-pres. western district, Warren Cogizer, Joplin; Sec-treas., Sam Murto, Carthage.

Topeka Alumni Organize.

Alumni of the University in Topeka met at the home of Mrs. James H. Mickey (Helen Smith) May 10 and formed an organization. N. N. Beeler was elected president; E. G. flaunted their war cry, "St. Patrick was an Engineer", the lawyers replied with their brand new song, "What would you do without the Lawyers?". The words and music of which have just been written by Thomas T. Railey, '07 now in the legal department of the Missouri Pacific Railway, who wrote so many of the well known songs of the University of Missouri.

Ernest M. Staude

Here it is

What Would You Do Without The Lawyers?

Words and music by Tom Railey, '07

When you're in a peck of trouble who can tell you what to do?

He-haw! The students of the law.

Whose fee to get you out of trouble troubles you anew,

He-haw! The students of the law.

(Chorus)

So what would you do without the lawyers?

What would you do without the law? We could get along for years

Without the engineers,

Butshaw! What would you do without the lawyers?

(2) '—

Who's your friend when trouble's brewing from some home-brew that you made?

He-haw! The students of the law.

Who'll try the case and make the jury think its lemonade?

He-haw! The students of the law.

(3)

Who'll obtain divorces for those who agree to disagree?

He-haw! The students of the law.

And if she's rich and beautiful may wed the divorcee?

He-haw! The students of the law.

Who can write the sort of will no haughty heirs will dare to break?

James L. Hamilton

B. S. EE. '04, with Century Electric Co. of St. Louis, president of the Alumni Ass'n of the School of Engineering and a most enthusiastic alumnus.

He has a son in the University

He-haw! The students of the law.

Yet when they want it broken who that job will undertake?

He-haw! The students of the law.

(5)

Who delights to speak in public just to bear the crowd applaud?

He-haw! The students of the law.

And passes up St. Patrick for a patron saint named Maude?

He-haw! The students of the law.

The Kansas City Alumnae Association has been very active and are getting results that are worth while to education in general.

High School Day Big Success.

High School Day of this year was the most successful that has ever been held. The weather was ideal, there were a greater number of entries than ever before and scores of alumni were back with teams and as spectators. The members of the student body were busy every minute entertaining the high school guests over the high school day week end. There was also held Junior Farmers' Week with hundreds of Missouri farm boys and girls in Columbia as guests of the College of Agriculture. There was the annual Farmers' Fair with a great number of Farmers' Fair officers here. There were two baseball games between the Tigers and Kansas. The annual dual track meet between Washington and Missouri and all in all it was a busy week.

Liberty, Kansas City Northeast and Kemper won the point honors in the high school meet, taking first in divisions one two and three respectively. Potts of Joplin, who represented his school by himself garnered twenty-five points and the school won second in division number two. Henley of Northeast was a close second for honors with eighteen points. George of Kemper scored twenty-two points but with only four schools in his division point gathering was just a trifling easer. Other individual stars included

Kennedy of Meadon, Bunker of Nevada, Wilcox of Liberty and Peltret and Clark of Principia.

The St. Joseph Central High School debating team, consisting of Miss Selma Goldberg and Miss Lyle Gifford won the tenth annual debate of the Missouri high school debating league and upheld the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that the commission-manager plan of city government should be adopted by Missouri cities of less than 100,000 population."

In the declamatory contest the silver medal for high school boys was awarded to Scott Hughes, of Columbia, whose selection was "The United States Constitution." Milton Gellers of Joplin, the other contestant received a bronze medal. The silver medal for high school girls was awarded to Miss Lois Fee of Chillicothe, who gave a reading by Eugene Field called "The Old Man." A bronze medal was also awarded Miss Margaret Harris of New London.

Cadet Lawrence Berger of Kemper Military Academy was awarded a silver medal for academies. He recited "The Last Word."

Prize winners in the musical contests are as follows: Class B. Orchestra contest won by Columbia High School and Springfield won first in Class A. Joplin High School was first in Boys' Glee Club, Girls Quartet, mixed chorus, Girls Glee Club and band contests.

Dean James T. Quarles of the School of Fine Arts of the University said that these musical contests would bring about the introduction of better music in high schools throughout the state and also stated that these contests would be a permanent feature of High School Week in the future.

Farmers' Fair Goes Big.

The nineteenth annual Farmers' Fair had the largest attendance in years and the most successful day with the attendance running between 12,000 to 15,000 as in other years with a big parade in the morning, features in the afternoon and a jam packed pike at night. The minstrel, the follies and the girls show held full sway. There were five former managers of Farmers' Fair from out of the state including Stockton, Centralia, B. S. in Ag. 1911; Ira Drymon, county agent, Harrison, B. S. in Ag. 1918; J. Frank (Poley) Richards, Bevier, B. S. in Ag. 1919; W. T. (Bill) Angle, East St. Louis, Ill., B. S. in Ag. 1921; and L. E. Slatte, publicity manager, Missouri State Fair, Sedalia, B. J. and B. S. in Ag. 1924.

These five former managers and the two local men, Charles A. Helm and Bob Hill held their annual meeting and luncheon and were given a special tour in the parade. It was a great Farmers' Fair. Complimentary tickets were given to all the Junior Farmers' Week and High School Day visitors and the visiting High School students were indeed well pleased with this event.

Summer Session Enlarged

The best possible provision for meeting the intellectual, physical, moral and social needs of summer sessions has been made this year, according to Dr. J. D. Eliby, director of the summer session of the University.

In addition to offering students the general advantages which the courses of the fall and winter terms present, the University in its summer session provides for teachers who have special interests, either practical or theoretical. City superintendents, county superintendents, high school and grade-school teachers, special teachers, supervisors of industrial arts, teachers of vocational subjects, teacher-training teachers, teachers of physical education, teachers of subnormal pupils, graduate student in education, and college teachers of education will find courses directly related to their special interests. Practically the entire equipment of the University—buildings, grounds, libraries, laboratories, shops, fields and museums—is available for the summer session work. Most of the members of the summer session faculty are drawn from the regular staff of the University and trained instructors are available for all courses. Experts from other institutions are employed in some cases.

Positions are obtained for students who attend the School of Education during the summer by a committee of faculty representatives of that school assisted by other members of the faculty. In response to requests from proper authorities, teachers are recommended for positions such as instructors in colleges and normal schools, superintendents of schools, supervisors in special subjects, principals or department teachers in high school, and principals or teachers in elementary schools.

Credit toward county and state certificates may be earned in the summer session. Courses are offered in practically every subject required for any kind of certificate. Before beginning work for any kind of county or state certificate the student should obtain from the county or state superintendent of schools a written statement of what is required, and present this statement to the director of the summer session.

To students who are residents of the state tuition in all divisions of the University is free. Students who are non-residents of the state, excepting those admitted to the graduate school work only, are required to pay a tuition fee of $10 a term. With the exception noted above, no one may claim exemption from the non-resident fee who has not resided in Missouri at least one year immediately preceding the date when he seeks admission to the University. This rule does not apply to students whose parents have moved to Missouri and become bona fide residents.

Students in the summer session except those especially exempt by rules of the Board of Curators, are required to pay a library, hospital and incidental fee of $12.50 for the term or any part of it. Those who are permitted to carry work leading to three hours' credit or less will be admitted on the payment of an incidental fee of $6.25 for the term. Courses taken as a hiccup will be counted in making up the three hours in this regard. Such students are entitled to free consultation with the staff of the Student Health Service, but not to other hospital privileges without the payment of hospital fees.

Students who file their study cards after the close of the last day of registration must pay a fee of $5 for late registration. This rule does not apply to teachers or to teachers whose terms of teaching close after June 5.

For each degree and life certificate to teach granted by the University a diploma fee of $5 must be paid. The fee for other certificates is $2 each.

In all departments where the equipment is exposed to depreciation due to its being used by the student for purposes of receiving instruction, or where material of any description is furnished by the department and used by the student, departmental fees are collected in accordance with the following regulations: A fixed charge, which shall in no case be less than $1, is made for the individual courses in the laboratories and for other courses in which material or apparatus is used as described above. This fixed charge or fee is made to cover the cost of the material used and the wear of instruments as ascertained by experience in each particular course. Extra charge for breakage, etc., may be made in case the loss to the University is not covered by the deposit. The University reserves the right to make changes in the charge without notice.

For admission as a regular student to the College of Arts and Science, College of Agriculture or School of Engineering, fifteen units, the equivalent of a four-year high school course, are required. The completion of a four-year high school course or its equivalent and sixty hours credit (exclusive of required work in physical education and military science) in the College of Arts and Science of the University, or its equivalent, is required for admission to the School of Education, School of Business and Public Administration, or School of Journalism.

Credits may be offered in place of entrance examinations in any subject if certified by the proper official of the school in which the credits were made. Blank forms for such certificates will be furnished by the registrar of the University. Certificates should be sent as soon as possible so that the candidate may be notified that his credits are accepted or that he will be required to take entrance examinations in the respective subjects.

The University will admit without examination such graduates of any accredited school as offer proper credentials of the fact that they have completed the requirements for entrance to the college or school which they desire to enter.

In recognition of the fact that experience and maturity tend to compensate in a measure for the lack of scholastic training, persons who can give satisfactory evidence that they are at least 21 years of age will be admitted to the University as special students, without being required to pass entrance examinations, provided they demonstrate their fitness to pursue profitably all the subjects selected by them. Special students cannot become candidates for degrees until they have satisfied the entrance requirements to the college or school in which the degree is offered.

Graduates of colleges and universities belonging to the Missouri College Union and graduates of standard colleges in other states will be admitted to the Graduate School of the University upon presentation of the proper credentials.

A graduate of a Missouri State Teachers College whose first regular enrollment for college work in a Teachers College was subsequent to September 1, 1916, and who has completed the 120-hour curriculum, will be admitted to the Graduate School upon presentation of the proper credentials.

A graduate of a Missouri State Teachers College whose first regular enrollment for college work in a Teachers' College was prior to September 1, 1916, will be granted credit in the University in accordance with the Conference Agreement of State Educational Institutions. In granting such credits the University will be governed by the recommendations of the Credentials Committee of the State Teachers' College from which the student was graduated.

The University now offers special curricula for superintendents, principals, supervisors, high school teachers, each leading to the B. S. degree with life certificate to teach. All courses required in any of these curricula as announced in the University catalog are offered this summer.

A carefully selected faculty of one hundred members offers courses in thirty-five departments.

Come On Back!

Enthusiasm on the part of the members of the classes that are to hold reunions at Commencement insured the success of the reunions. Hundreds of encouraging letters have been received and considerable interest has been manifested relative to the course to pursue on the part of these classes in doing something constructive and worthwhile as class units. This brings up the matter of the class gift to the University.

It is generally recognized that some plan should be adopted whereby each class is to give to the University something that not only perpetuates the memory of that class but something that can be used to the greatest usefulness to the school. This gift must be made without restrictions, a cash gift without strings, something which may be used by the University authorities for the greatest need.

The plan which was adopted two years ago to perfect and keep active permanent class organizations is, of course, just entering the field, but with its inception must come the thought to be of benefit to Alma Mater. The time for the class gift is at hand and it is encouraging to know that the alumni are enthusiastic about the class reunions and that Commencement is an opportune time to launch the plan for class gifts.

Attention Alumni!

Here is an opportunity for you to give service. There will be graduated on June 4, hundreds of students from your alma mater. These men and women are trained to enter the business world in the various fields. If you are in need of well trained men and women remember these graduates of the University of Missouri. Many loyal alumni have already arranged to employ recent graduates. Please, remember in this connection the experience that you had in finding a place to start work and then try to help out these boys and girls, who are just finishing their University work.

Journalism Week

Journalism Week is one of the outstanding features of the University of Missouri activities. It brings to Columbia and to the University the leading men and women in the field of journalism. In fact, it brings the representative journalists to the University from all over the United States and the world.

Journalism week adds to the course of the students of the School of Journalism for it brings to them a close communication in the field of their endeavors.

Journalism Week is a call to the alumni and former students of the School of Journalism to return to the University for a week of entertainment, instruction, and the renewing of acquaintanceship with classmates and friends. Like Farmers' Week and Engineers' Week, Journalism Week is an outstanding feature of the activities of the University of Missouri during the school year. The University always welcomes these visitors. Over seventy alumni and former students attended Journalism Week this year, men and women who are leading journalists and who are taking a leading part in civic work in their respective communities and making every effort to show their appreciation for the educational training which they received in the University of Missouri.

Francis Fountain Dedication.

The David Francis Fountain will be dedicated on Tuesday, June 3rd, at 5 p. m. These exercises have been made a part of the Commencement Week program in order that the alumni, former students and guests of the University on that occasion may have an opportunity to be present.

The erection of this fountain has been made possible through the generosity of former Governor David Rowland Francis who was for some years President of the Board of Curators and who holds the degree of LL. D. from the University of Missouri as of 1911.

This attractive piece of sculpture is located on the east side of Francis Quadrangle at the head of Lowry Street, facing the East Campus.

The exercises will consist of the presentation speech by Governor Francis, acceptance by the President of the Board of Curators, and brief remarks from a representative of the alumni.

Pettis County Has Dance.

Every member of the senior class, including parents and the members of the high school faculty were guests of the Pettis County Alumni Association at this dance. Practically every member of the alumni association attended.

This organization is always active in matters pertaining to the University of Missouri and to education in general and has established a record that has been hard to equal in the activities of county alumni associations. On May 12, the Pettis County Alumni Association had C. L. Brewer address the seniors of the Pettis County high school at the Liberty Theatre in Sedalia. The officers of the Pettis County Alumni Association are: President, Dr. A. J. Campbell; vice-pres., G. A. Sturges; secretary, E. J. Burger; treas., Jack Crawford.

Ames won the two baseball games from the tigers on Rollins Field on April 22 and 23, with scores of 9 to 4 and 6 to 1. 400 members of Masonic lodges of Missouri were guests of the University at the two games.

One of the features of the second game was the introduction of Judge B. E. Eigger of Hannibal, who was captain of the Tigers baseball team, who, in 1905, when Missouri played forty-five games, won thirty-eight and never lost a game on the home diamond. Kent Catron and Joe Estes, both of Columbia, old baseball players were also introduced. These men are going to play on the alumni team against the variety on June 3, Alumni Day of Commencement Week. Dutch Boncoy of Quincy, Harry Broadhead of St. Joseph, and Eddie Klein of St. Louis, Ficklin of Vandalia, "Dutch" Angerer of St. Clair, and many other old-timers are coming back to play on the alumni baseball team. He has written personal letters to all of the members of the team urging them to come to Columbia. The alumni-variety baseball game is going to be an attractive feature of Commencement Week.

Kansas won in fast time, Missouri was again without the aid of Keeble, hurdler. The time of the relay was 3:25.8, the fastest outdoor relay in the Valley this year.

Missouri's Valley record was shattered by nearly twenty feet when Doss Richerson, weight man, hurled the discus 146 feet and ten inches. It was his best mark of the year and nearly seven feet farther than the distance with which he won the Pennsylvania Relay discus event a few weeks ago. He threw the discus 148 feet but fouled.

Business Life Insurance

Now Recognized as a Permanent Economic Factor—Executive Ability an Asset, and a Loss if Displaced BUSINESS LIFE INSURANCE must be recognized as an economic factor in indemnity for the loss of capital and brains. The death of a man closely identified with a business cannot but result in a shock to the organization, possibly affecting its financial credit, its business-getting ability, or its efficiency of operation, all of which may bring about pecuniary loss.

Hence it is both wise and prudent for business concerns to have the lives of men whose death would affect them in this way properly protected by life insurance, thus assisting to tide over temporary difficulties and provide for continuance.

A man who has great executive ability, or whose knowledge assists in shaping the destiny of a business, is of distinct economic value to the organization, and the same may be said of the Financial Man in touch with business conditions, banks, bankers, etc.

The same is true of the Sales Manager, whose ability and tact have developed the producing factor. It may be true of the Buyer of the concern, whose knowledge of market conditions leads to closer trading and better profits; also of the Foreman of the shop, whose skill and industry have become a permanent and substantial part of the business.

The loss of any one of these may throw the organization out of gear, resulting in disarrangement and actual loss.

All business men recognize the need of adequate fire insurance protection for their credit—in fact, they could get no credit if they did not have this insurance—and yet loss by fire is infrequent and may never occur, but death is certain to come sooner or later.

Here is developed a great need for the life-insurance policy, and it would seem that good business judgment would prompt the setting aside of the life-insurance premium among the fixed charges of a business concern.

The life-insurance policy is easily adaptable to varying conditions—to replace ability and brains, to safeguard credit, to buy out a retiring partner's interest, to satisfy the estate of the deceased member, to establish an emergency fund to tide over re-organization.

In contracts of this description, Security of the Indemnity will be the first thought of the careful business man and in this respect this Company offers the very best.

The Kro-Flite Ball

is achieving a new standard of durability. It is quite possible to play innumerable rounds of golf with this ball.

In the long driving competition held at San Antonio, J. M. Barnes was the leading professional with a drive of 288 yards. This was accomplished in a conspicuous field, which included the British Open Champion.

Joe Kirkwood won the San Antonio tournament by a margin of seven strokes, also winning the Corpus Christi tournament by sixteen strokes. The Houston and New Orleans tournament were also won by Kirkwood. Added to these performances—McDonald Smith won the California Open Championship. Each of these players used the new Spalding (Red Lettered) ball.

For the man beyond the campus

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO Joseph French Johnson, who was, and is, Dean of the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance of New York University, found himself faced with a problem to which there was no satisfactory answer.

He was constantly in receipt of letters from business men, many of them occupying places of executive responsibility. The letters asked such questions as these:

"What books shall I read?"

"Can you lay out for me a course in business economics?"

"How can I broaden my knowledge of salesmanship, or accounting, or factory management, advertising or corporation finance?"

Those were pioneer days in the teaching of Business. Dean Johnson, wishing to help, yet feeling keenly the lack of suitable facilities, conceived the plan of a faculty including both college teachers and business men, and a Course so arranged that any man might follow it effectively in his own home.

Thus began the Alexander Hamilton Institute. Dean Johnson has continued as its President; its Advisory Council includes these men:

DEXTER S. KIMBALL, Dean of the Engineering College, Cornell University; JOSEPH FRENCH JOHNSON, Dean of the New York University School of Commerce; GENERAL COLEMAN DU PONT, the well-known business executive; PIERCE H. JOHNSTON, President of the Chemical National Bank of New York; JOHN HAYS HAMMOND, the eminent engineer; FREDERICK H. HERDMAN, Certified Public Accountant; JEREMIAH W. JENKS, the statistician and economist.

To young men of college age, the Institute says: "Matriculate at a college or university if you possibly can; there is no substitute for the teacher." To older men, the universities and colleges, in turn, are constantly recommending the Modern Business Course of the Institute.

It is a Course for the man beyond the campus; the man who is already in business and cannot leave, the man who wants to supplement his college education. If you are such a man, may we send you, without obligation, a copy of "A Definite Plan for Your Business Progress?"

It tells how 200,000 men have profited by a business training founded upon university principles, and conducted in accordance with university ideals.

THESE COLLEGES and universities, and 80 others, use parts of the Alexander Hamilton Institute Course in their classroom work.
