Beacons of the sky

Between Cleveland and Rock Springs, Wyo., along the night route of the air mail service, tall beacons have been placed every twenty-five miles.

This achievement has been made possible by Engineering Laboratories of the General Electric Company, working with officials of the Post Office Department. A startling achievement now will be a commonplace of life in the new America which you will inherit.

If you are interested to learn more about what electricity is doing, write for Reprint No. AR391 containing a complete set of these advertisements.

Revolving on great steel towers, General Electric searchlights, totaling 1,992,000,000 candle-power, blaze a path of light for the airplane pilot.

What the lighthouse is to the ocean navigator, these beacons are to the conquerors of the air.

M. U. Glee Club Wins Third Place In National Contest at Carnegie Hall

Missouri Was Fourteenth and Last to Sing the Contest Number "Come Again Sweet Love," But Was Given Greatest Applause—Yale Placed First, and Princeton Second.

The University of Missouri Glee Club has just established an unusually valuable record for the University by winning third place in the National Glee Club Contest held in Carnegie Hall, New York City, on the evening of March 7.

There were fourteen University and College Glee Clubs entered in the contest, which was won by Yale, first honorable mention going to Princeton and second honorable mention to Missouri. This is the first year that the Missouri Glee Club has participated in the annual glee club contest, but be it remembered that this was the first time that a Missouri Valley sectional glee club contest was held. This sectional contest was won by Missouri on February 9, and thus Missouri won the right to represent the Middle West in this great national contest.

Professor Herbert Wall, chairman of the voice department of the School of Fine Arts, is responsible for the wonderful showing that has been made by the Missouri Glee Club this year. Much credit has been given him and the members of the club have been showered with praise for their untiring efforts to study properly and train for the contest work. The members of the Glee Club have been working twelve hours a week, but quality of voice was not the sole factor which determined the selection of the men to make the trip—each one of the boys had to rank high in scholastic work.

As a result of their trip to the east coast, the University of Missouri has again, within the last few weeks, been given nationwide publicity. Just recently the Missouri valley championship football team completed the trip to the west coast. Both of these trips brought much favorable publicity and prominence to the University.

After the Glee Club won the Missouri valley championship in Kansas City on February 9, they faced the problem of raising sufficient money to finance their trip to New York for the national contest, but there are ways and more ways to do things. President Brooks came to the rescue and, in response to his appeal, Columbia business men assisted liberally. Then he called on hundreds of alumni for a dollar donation from each one and the loyal alumni and former students gave promptly and cheerfully, many of them sending checks for several times the amount asked for by President Brooks.

The students realized the importance of the Glee Club's trip to the east coast. Bill Shumate, student president, called a mass meeting of student leaders, and a dollar ticket selling campaign which lasted two days was launched. Over a thousand students on the campus bought tickets for the two benefit concerts which the Glee Club gave in the Auditorium of Jesse Hall on March 2 and 3.

Don't you folks forget that it took approximately $4000 to pay for the expense of this trip, but the student council helped a little by giving a benefit dance for the Glee Club and the Razzers, the student pep organization, gave a dance. A little money here and there has helped a lot but the Glee Club still is short several hundred dollars of having sufficient money to pay the expense of the trip, so alumni donations are still acceptable. Leave it to President Brooks to do the right thing at the right time. For every dollar that the alumni sent in to help defray the expense of the trip, he gave complimentary Glee Club concert tickets to students in the University who were not financially able to buy tickets for the benefit concerts on March 2 and 3. Wasn't this a fine thing to do? Thus the alumni contributions were known as "dual-purpose" gifts.

The Club left Columbia on March 4. The University Band and the Razzers accompanied them to the train in real old fashioned fashion. They were greeted by a group of alumni in St. Louis; then on to Buffalo where they were met at the train by Sam Church, Roe Lotz, Archie Bedford, Nels Church and taken to Niagara Falls. The Buffalo alumni gave the Club a lot of publicity in the Buffalo papers, but could not entertain the club as planned on account of training rules.

The Glee Club arrived in New York on March 6, and rested and rehearsed for the contest on the night of the 7th. While in New York City the entire club was entertained at dinner by Oscar Seagle, famous baritone, whose son, a member of the Glee Club, is studying with Professor Wall who, in turn, has studied with Oscar Seagle. They lunched at the Harvard Club on the day of the contest as guests of the promoter of the national glee club contest, E. J. Pickernell.

The contest program consisted of three groups of songs. The first group was composed of the "choice songs", each club singing a song of its own choice. Missouri sang "The Dance of the Gnomes". Then each club in turn sang the contest song, "Come Again, Sweet Love." The contest program was concluded with a college song, Missouri singing its "Alma Mater". When "Come Again, Sweet Love" was sung, Missouri was the fourteenth and last to sing it and received the greatest applause. The University song, "Old Missouri" was not ranked high in the contest numbers and the judges stated that the song is not traditional of Missouri. This has brought out considerable discussion on the campus and among alumni in general. The judges, all three of them New Yorkers, gave Missouri first place on the choice song, "The Dance of the Gnomes", a number difficult of execution.

"It was a contest of wonders", wrote Now, Page 137 Please.

R. O. T. C. Has Placed M. U. on the Distinguished List Since 1920

Excellent Support Is Given Military Department by Rifle and Pistol Clubs, Tiger Platoon, Band, Drum and Bugle Corps, Scabbard and Blade.

By MAJOR O. S. WOOD

Graduates and former students visiting the University frequently express surprise at the growth and development of the Military Department. Every few days someone drops in headquarters to inquire how the "old corps" is getting along, and some good stories are brought to light from the "good old days".

We learn that when the Spanish-American War broke out scores of cadets hastened to volunteer for service. During the World's Fair at St. Louis in 1904 the entire corps went into camp on the exposition grounds, and gave daily exhibitions of drill. Whatever the brand of military training dispensed in those by-gone days, it must have been considered first class, for the University early acquired the habit of being on the Distinguished list.

It is now the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and in place of the one army officer and perhaps a sergeant, there are ten officers, and about twenty-five enlisted detailed here by the War Department. The enrollment in the Military Department this year was 1426.

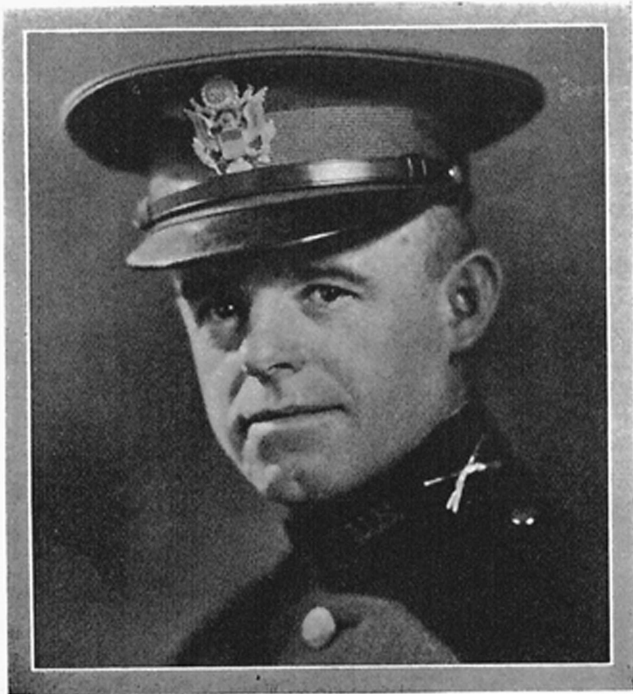

Equipment Increased

The training equipment has also been increased, and includes among other things sixty riding horses, all types of modern Field Artillery guns and motor transportation, as well as the latest Infantry auxiliary weapons such as the 3mm gun (one pounder), Stokes Mortar, and Browning machine gun.

The law establishing the R. O. T. C. was passed in 1916, but it was not until after the war that it began to function effectively. Now there are Senior Units in nearly all the larger colleges and universities in the United States. Junior units are maintained in more than one hundred high schools and Military Academies.

Two Courses—Basic and Advanced

The senior unit work is divided into two courses—the Basic and the Advanced.

Major O. S. Wood in charge of the University R. O. T. C.

The Basic Course corresponds to the freshman and sophomore years, and the Advanced to the Junior and Senior years. At Missouri as at most Universities, the first two years are compulsory. The Advanced Course is voluntary, and the student is required to attend one summer camp. In payment for the services thus rendered, the Advanced Course student receives the value of the ration allowance of a private soldier of the regular army, which, at present, is fixed at thirty cents a day. During the six weeks summer camp these students receive the pay of a soldier of the seventh grade, which is $21.00 a month. This pay is in addition to subsistence, clothing, and medical attention, which are furnished free. Transportation to and from camp at the rate of five cents a mile is also furnished. The Government supplies a complete uniform, or as at Missouri University, allows commutation at $30.00 per uniform for each student.

Special Uniforms

Special gray uniform consisting of cap, coat, breeches, and leggins has been adopted for Missouri University. The coat is of the roll collar type, and the cap is similar in style to the regular army cap. This uniform is expected to last for two years with an allowance of $6.00 the second year for upkeep. Cadet officers wear black leather belts with shoulder strap, and are equipped with regular sabers. Other cadets wear black leather waist belts.

The present cadet organization consists of a regiment of Infantry, and a regiment of Field Artillery. These organizations are based on army models, but are changed somewhat to meet the local conditions.

On The Distinguished List

The University of Missouri has had the honor of being designated by the War Department as a distinguished College each year since 1920. It was also on the distinguished list for several years prior to the war. Few people realize the competition that must be met in making the honor list.

Missouri Needs an Armory

The Military Department is by far the largest in the University, yet it has neither house nor home. Thousands of dollars worth of equipment is scattered about in various storerooms, and classrooms are wherever vacant rooms may be found. It is not that the Department does not receive proper consideration in assignment, but it shows the pressing need of an armory. Practically all of our competitors for distinguished rating have armories, and since this one item counts so much, we can hardly hope to maintain our standing without one. The utility of such a building of course, is of more importance than the rating given by the War Department.

Nevertheless there are many advantages in being so rated, and none of us cherishes the thought of being eliminated.

Student Organizations

A great deal of the success of the Military Department is due to the splendid work of certain student organizations. Among these are the Rifle and Pistol Clubs, the Tiger Platoon, the Band, the Drum and Bugle Corps, and Scabbard and Blade.

The Rifle Club, which includes a girl's team, fosters intercollegiate matches as well as intramural matches. The rifle team lost only one inter-collegiate match last year out of sixteen fired. It won first place in the 7th Corps Area Match. It placed third in the National Inter-collegiate match, and fifth in the Hearst Inter-collegiate match in which one hundred and ten colleges participated. Two men of the team represented the unit at the National matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, last summer.

The Pistol team has made a splendid record, and is considered one of the best in the United States. The Tiger Platoon is a mounted organization, which fosters horsemanship and polo. It has special equipment, and is one of our show organizations.

Polo has its enthusiasts, and the team will soon be able to take part in inter-collegiate games.

Scabbard and Blade is an honorary military fraternity. It has exerted a splendid influence in the school, and is a most worthy organization.

We are especially proud of our band. It makes our ceremonies worth while, and is in demand at all college functions such as football games, and pep meetings, and their concerts are always popular. The Drum and Bugle Corps makes one step a little livelier and puts spirit into our work.

Colonel M. C. Kerth Will Succeed Major O. S. Wood

Colonel M. C. Kerth, Fort Benning, Ga. a wearer of the Distinguished Service Medal, for services in the World War, will succeed Major O. S. Wood as professor of military science and tactics, University R. O. T. C., on June 1 when Major Wood expects to leave for Fort Benning, Ga.

Colonel Kerth's military history dates from his graduation from West Point in 1898. The next year he was made First Lieutenant of Infantry and in 1902 was made Captain of Infantry. The year before the United States entered the World War, he was promoted to Major of Infantry, and was made a Colonel in July, 1920.

After his graduation from the Military Academy, Colonel Kerth took part in the Spanish War and the troubles in the Philippines. He served on the army's second tour of the islands from 1902 to 1905 and in China with the Fifteenth Infantry from 1913 to 1915.

He is an honor graduate of the Infantry and Calvary School in 1907 and was graduated from the Army Staff College in 1908. For a year he was an instructor at the two schools. From 1909 to 1912 he served at the Division of Military Affairs in Washington and was a member of the General Staff Corps from 1910 to 1912.

Colonel Kerth was re-detailed on the General Staff from March, 1916, to March, 1920. In 1916, he was attached to the Training Section of the War Plans Division at Washington and was made Chief of Staff of the Provisional Division at El Paso, Tex.

With the Rumanian Armies.

From November, 1916, to May, 1917, he was a military observer with the Rumanian armies who had taken up arms against Austria. Then he became attached to the American Military Mission in Russia to serve until February, 1918.

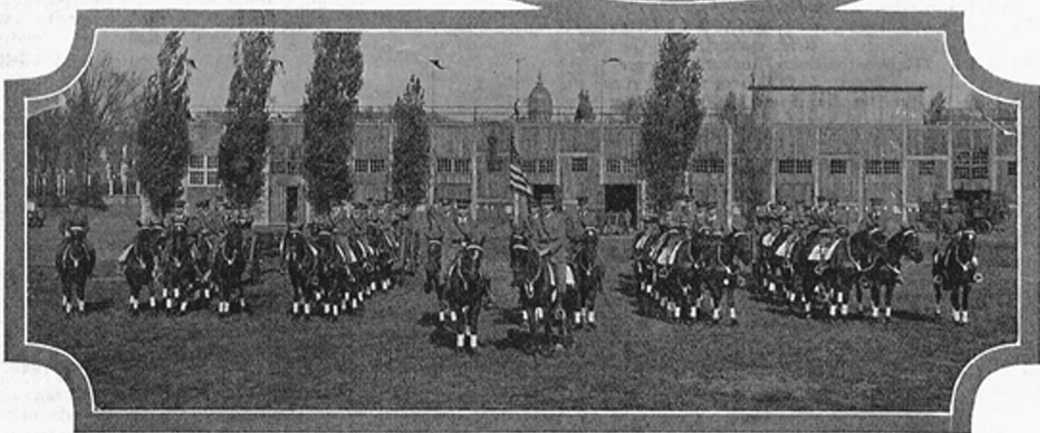

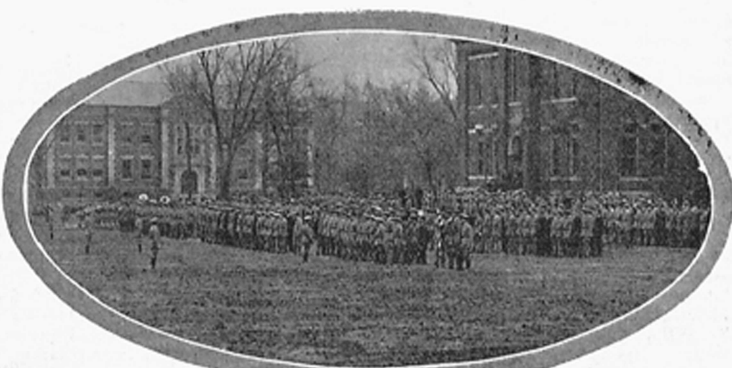

In March, Colonel Kerth was assistant at General Headquarters. Then he became Deputy Chief of Staff to serve with the First Army during the St. Mihiel offensive. After the offensive he was made director of the Army General Staff College at Langres, France.

Colonel Kerth has been at Fort Benning since March, 1920. For three years he was a member of the Infantry Board. Since 1923 he has been in command of the Twenty-ninth Infantry which is the demonstration regiment of the Infantry School.

He was born in Cairo, Ill., July 1, 1876.

Present Status of M. U. Appropriation

What about the appropriation for the University by the Missouri Legislature now in session?

The last issue of the ALUMNUS carried the itemized University biennial budget as presented so ably to the Legislature by President Stratton D. Brooks, a total of $6,626,864.68. The Missouri Tax Commission recommended but $2,671,700.00 of this amount, stressing the statement that there will be a shortage of funds in the treasury. The House Appropriations committee decided to recommend for the University just what the Tax Commission had recommended but later a sub-committee of the House Appropriations Committee reconsidered the University appropriations and recommended $3,558,203.02, an increase of $886,503.02, and the House Appropriations Committee accepted this increased recommendation. The sum recommended is $282,652 in excess of the amount released by Governor Hyde for the last biennium.

Miss Emma R. Knell of Jasper county was chairman of the sub-committee. Other members were: Edward H. Winter of Warren, Roger E. Kirchner, Cooper; Lon S. Haynes, Green; J. B. Crum, Audrain.

The sub-committee recommended $200,000 for the purchase of a site for the new $1,000,000 auditorium, for which an appropriation cannot be expected at this session because of a shortage of revenue.

The recommendation also carried an appropriation of $275,000 for a new dairy building and equipment. The sum of $10,000 was recommended for a nurses' home. The sum of $158,000 was recommended for repairs to other buildings.

The committee recommended $200,000 for agricultural extension work, a total of $61,600 for the agricultural experiment station, $15,000 for agricultural laboratories; $10,000 for agricultural bulletins and a general appropriation of $85,000 in which the agricultural college shares.

Other recommendations were: $2,000 for agricultural engineering; $25,000 for animal husbandry; $1,500 for agricultural chemistry; $10,000 for dairy husbandry; $3,000 for entomology; $3,000 farm management; $6,000 for horticulture; $5,000 for poultry husbandry; $2,000 for the soils department; $3,000 for veterinary science; $30,000 for short course agriculture; $4,500 for rent of lands; $20,000 for soil surveys; $25,000 for crop experiment field; $10,000 for equipment and maintenance of a hatch experiment farm; $10,000 to promote growing of improved corn; $10,000 for orchard and nursery inspection; $4,000 for refrigerating machine for meat laboratory and $16,000 for purchase of purebred live stock. The agricultural department will also share in a general appropriation of $60,000 for libraries.

The committee recommended the sum of $1,950,000 for maintenance out of which salaries are to be paid. President Brooks asked for $2,072,000 for this expense.

Other recommendations made by the sub-committee are: Contingent, $15,000; student labor, $25,000; general agricultural, engineering, fine arts, journalism, law, medical libraries, $60,000; engineering experiment station, $20,000; engineering laboratories $25,000; medical laboratories, $15,000; scientific laboratories $35,000; publication, $20,000; College of Agriculture, College of Arts and Science, School of Business and Public Administration, School of Education, College of Engineering, School of Fine Arts, Graduate School, School of Journalism, School of Law, School of Medicine, Missouri State Military School; physical education, $85,000; hospitals $50,000; University Extension Service, $55,000; heat and light station upkeep, $25,000; heat and light station equipment, $40,000; extension steam main to agriculture campus, $25,000; campus improvements, $10,000; repairs on old buildings and general upkeep, $25,000; repairs on barns, fences and feed lots, $3,000; repair and equipment of observatory, $5,000; changes in auditorium, $3,000; repairs and lockers, Rothwell gymnasium, $5,000; chemistry building equipment, $5,000; nurses' home, site building and equipment, $10,000; completion of live stock pavilion, $2,500; law building equipment, $20,000; remodeling and equipping old law building, $15,000; equipment for the home economics building, $2,500; journalism building, remodeling and equipping, $15,000; medical building, medical building equipment, remodeling and equipping present medical building, $15,000; home economics, $2,000; reimbursement of endowment fund, $5,603.02.

The appropriation for $275,000 for a new dairy building and $200,000 for the purchase of a site for a new auditorium are in a separate building appropriation bill. The site of the auditorium is the block between Francis Quadrangle and White Campus, bounded on the north by University Avenue on the east by Hitt Street, on the south by Lowry Street, and on the west by Ninth Street.

The question of greatest importance before the Legislature is whether or not there is going to be sufficient revenue to meet the appropriations as made. Governor Baker has recommended to the General Assembly the enactment of four revenue measures that would bring an additional $4,300,050 into the treasury and thus enable the state to appropriate what he believes will be sufficient money to provide for the state institutions.

His recommendations were made in a special message delivered at a joint session of the House and Senate on March 4. He urged the following:

1. A raise in the state tax levy from 5 to 7 cents.
2. An increase in the state income tax from 1 to 1-1/2 per cent.
3. A raise in the corporation franchise tax from 50 to 75 cents on every $1,000 of capitalization.

"We cannot recede one cent from the splendid support given our state institutions," Baker said.

The entire revenue-raising program recommended by Governor Baker was ingrossed in the House on March 11-12.

Another of the measures recommended by Governor Baker, that to transfer the collection of the state income tax to the State Tax Commission, has passed the Senate and is now before the House. It is estimated that this measure would add $1,000,000 to the revenue during the biennial because of less expense in collection and fewer evasions.

There has been some talk of a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of increasing the state's revenue, but Governor Baker has stated that no special session is necessary, and that if the Legislature does not pass the revenue-increasing measures that he would cut all appropriations "to the core", so that there would be no deficit. This would mean that the University would have only enough money for operating and none for expansion. This situation has aroused alumni activity all over the state.

March 17 was the last of the seventy days for which members of the Missouri Legislature received $5 a day after which they receive $1. The General Assembly will adjourn about March 30.

Missouri Legislatures have always been generous in appropriating money for the University when one considers that the available revenue has not been great. The point that must be emphasized now is that more revenue must be provided in order that adequate appropriations may be made to the University for expansion and maintenance. This is a matter which is uppermost in the minds of the alumni and friends of the University and the other state institutions.

Alumni loyalty and enthusiasm has been manifested in a most substantial manner during this session of the General Assembly. They are leaving nothing undone to be of beneficial and constructive assistance. They have learned that the state's revenue is limited; that Missouri appropriates approximately 60 per cent of its revenue for education in all its phases and that few other states equal this record; that Missouri's educational institutions, especially the State University cannot make proper progress and development; unless, more money is available and, lastly their interest is aroused to the point of approving sound plans for providing adequate revenue for the needs of the state.

Funds Are Needed to Keep Stone Carvers at Work on Memorial Tower

Contracts for Second Unit Will Not Go Into Effect Until First Is Finished—$50,000 Must Be Collected Before Work on the Stadium Can Start.

Unless there is an immediate response from those who now owe on their pledges to the University Memorial Union and Stadium fund all work on the carving of stone for the second unit of the Memorial Tower must be discontinued. A crisis has arisen in the matter of collection of money pledged to the fund. Not only must the work on the stone for the second unit of the Tower cease, but no progress can be made toward financing or beginning construction work on the Stadium until money due the fund has been sent in.

There has never been a time in the campaign "when funds are as badly needed as now. To keep the stone carvers employed on the Memorial Tower there must be an immediate response to the appeal sent out by the Committee. In order that a start may be made upon the Stadium, $50,000 in cash must be collected from those whose payments are overdue."

An intensive campaign to collect by mail has been launched.

All the stone for the first unit of the Tower will have been cut by April 1. A group of Swiss stone carvers has been at work all winter on the stone for this unit which includes the work on the Tower up to a line referred to as B-B, or several feet above the clock, approximately three-fifths of the Tower's height. Work on this unit of the Tower was delayed all last summer and fall because it was impossible to secure the employment of capable stone carvers. Since this Memorial Tower will be the finest Gothic tower in this country it was simply out of the question to employ any but exceptionally able workmen. Now that this group of stone cutters is assembled and about to finish cutting stone for the first unit of the Tower it would be a severe blow to progress on construction after the first unit of the Tower is completed to permit the stone carvers to become scattered and experience another long delay in starting work on the second unit.

In other words, the Memorial Union and Stadium Committee must collect enough on pledges to have the stone carvers go right to work on cutting stone for the second unit of the Tower about April 1, or just as soon as they finish cutting stone for the first unit. The Committee has collected and paid over to the contractors money for the foundation and the first unit amounting to approximately $19,000 and $106,000 respectively.

The contracts for the second unit of the Tower will not go into effect, of course, until the first unit is completed, but the money is needed right now to assure the stone cutters that they may go right on cutting stone for the balance of the Tower as soon as they finish next month cutting stone for the first. Thus stone will be ready for the contractors to go right ahead on work on the second unit of the Tower when the Simon Construction Company finish work on the first unit early in the summer.

The Memorial office has sent out on an average of two notices each month to subscribers who are behind in payments and the appeals have met with splendid response although many subscribers still owe payments on their pledges. If these would pay what they owe right now we would have enough money to guarantee the stone cutters continuous work.

The open spring weather has permitted rapid progress on the construction of the Memorial Tower. Several feet of stone has been added since this photograph was taken.

Furthermore, if subscribers in arrears will pay what they owe it will save a great item of collection expenses such as clerical work, printed matter and postage. The cost of collection is tremendous when subscribers do not pay up regularly. In a recent notice this item of cost of collection was emphasized with the hope that those behind in payments would pay now or notify the Memorial office when they would and thus save the cost of further notices.

A letter signed by the Stadium Building Committee was sent out to all Memorial Union and Stadium subscribers stressing the necessity for collecting funds for the Stadium and at this critical time in the progress of the campaign it is very important for subscribers who owe payments on their pledges to pay these at once. We simply must collect the back payments now to keep the stone cutters at work on material for the Tower and to enable the Stadium Building Committee to start work on that project. Furthermore, subscribers who owe payments on their pledges should realize that the Memorial Committee is trying to hold down the expense of collection which can only be done with the cooperation of the subscribers.

If there are any subscribers who owe payments and have been holding them back waiting for the time to come when their payments are needed, the Committee is now making an urgent appeal to them to send their money now. We cannot make progress on the Union or start work on the Stadium unless these payments are made promptly.

This statement of the situation was given widespread publicity in the Missouri newspapers recently and the result was a revival of keen interest in the two projects by the alumni all over the state. The publicity had a stimulating effect on remittances for immediately checks came to the Memorial office in goodly numbers and amounts.

$50,000 Needed for Work on Stadium

The Stadium Building Committee has notified the Memorial Committee that $50,000 in cash to be applied to the Stadium fund must be collected on pledges before any work can be done on the Stadium. Notice of this action was sent to all Memorial Union and Stadium subscribers in a circular letter signed by the Stadium Building Committee composed of C. L. Brewer, Chairman, E. S. Stephens, Frank B. Rollins, S. F. Conley, W. G. Manly and Isidor Loeb.

Work of Collection Involves Vast Amount of Correspondence

The Memorial Union and Stadium Campaign Committee is composed of nine members and has charge of the campaign for solicitation of subscriptions for the Union and Stadium, and of the collection of payments on the subscriptions. This committee also serves as a Memorial Union Building Committee.

Frank B. Rollins, president of the General Alumni Association, is chairman of this committee, which is composed of three faculty, three alumni, and three student representatives as follows: John Pickard, Walter Miller, L. M. Defoe, S. F. Conley, E. S. Stephens, Miss Elizabeth White, president of the Women's Self-Government Association, William Shumate, president of the student body, and Joe Simpich, veteran of the World War.

College of Engineering Seeks to Give Its Men a Liberal Education

Missouri Has Been a Leader in Movement to Base Training on Broad Cultural as Well as Scientific Lines—Six Years of Results Prove Encouraging.

By DEAN E. J. McCaustland

E. J. McCaustland, Dean of the Engineering College.

The College of Engineering of the University of Missouri has from the beginning been progressive in its outlook. It has never been committed to any specific educational formula but has always sought to plan its curricula so that they would function best in training the habits and the powers of the mind of the individual student. Like other engineering colleges it has at times been in error in choosing as its ideal a plan committed to the direct preparation of men for definite places in industry; in other words a training for the practice of engineering. There has been however a distinct reaction away from this ideal particularly since the close of the World War.

Engineering education has always been fundamentally founded upon the sciences; but in recent years there has been a tendency to extend this foundation so as to include economics, sociology, government and law. Furthermore the earlier tendency to specialize in narrow fields has been to a great extent abandoned, and the ideal engineer is a "man of cultivated mind, master of the fundamental sciences, and able to apply them in one or another field." At the present time all the curricula in the College of Engineering are practically uniform for a period of three years without regard to the special field for which the student may be preparing. To give a man a liberal education and to train him in the specialized knowledge necessary to enable him to take his place as a practical man in the industries, involves a larger task than can be accomplished in four years. The college has therefore recognized as its field more specifically the task of training the man's mind and the development of his judgment. So trained he may gain an individual outlook on life and its problems not likely to be attained by one more highly but narrowly trained in laboratory methods, particularly if these methods are falsely conceived as approximating actual conditions in industry.

There is a distinct movement at the present time in the field of Engineering education to recast thoroughly its form and to base it more specifically on a broad cultural as well as scientific training. Missouri has been a leader in this movement and the results achieved after a trial of six years are distinctly encouraging. All of the large industrial organizations of the country, extensive employers of engineers, send their representatives every year to interview members of the outgoing classes in order to select promising material for their personnel. This is in recognition of the Educational Standard maintained which is well stated by Dr. Pritchett in a recent paper which is to,—"consider the engineering training rather in terms of a liberal conception of education than in the narrow sense of expert technical facility. The making of an expert comes in the practice. The preparation of the engineer to perform high service in the field of applied science rests not upon his equipment in special fields, but upon his mastery of the process of reasoning by which science approaches and solves its problems."

The College is not committed to any particular form of procedure in education constantly seeking to take advantage of improved methods. It awaits with interest the report of the Committees now investigating Engineering Education under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation.

This organization was formed during Engineers, Week in March 1924, so that during this month, we will hold our first annual meeting.

Prof. J. R. Wharton was elected Secretary and Treasurer, Prof. L. M. DeFoe was elected as General Alumni Board Representative and the writer as President.

A number of vice-presidents were also

Each Alumnus Has a Duty to His Alma Mater

By WALTER RAUTENSTRAUCH

Every alumnus of a University owes to that University and to those who have instructed him, a debt which it will never be possible for him to repay, either in money or in service—because he has acquired, or should have acquired, as a result of his University training, an enlargement of his viewpoint on life, a development of his faculties of appreciation of the beautiful in life, and have acquired an opportunity for service to his fellow-men, which brings such rich rewards, all of which cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents.

The duty of an alumnus is to serve his Alma Mater in such particulars as his gifts may qualify him. Some may contribute material things. All should contribute a continued interest in its well-being and lend encouragement to those who are carrying on.

Many of the alumni feel that their alumni gathering should be concerned with hearing reports on the athletic activities of the University, and something about the general politics of the situation. I, personally—and I know many others, share the same feeling—would like to have those who bring a message from the University to our alumni gatherings tell us something about the educational and research work which the University is doing. Many of us would be surprised—I know I was upon my recent visit to the University—to find such excellent work being done in some very fundamental problems in research, which will contribute to our understanding of the universe and to the general welfare of mankind.

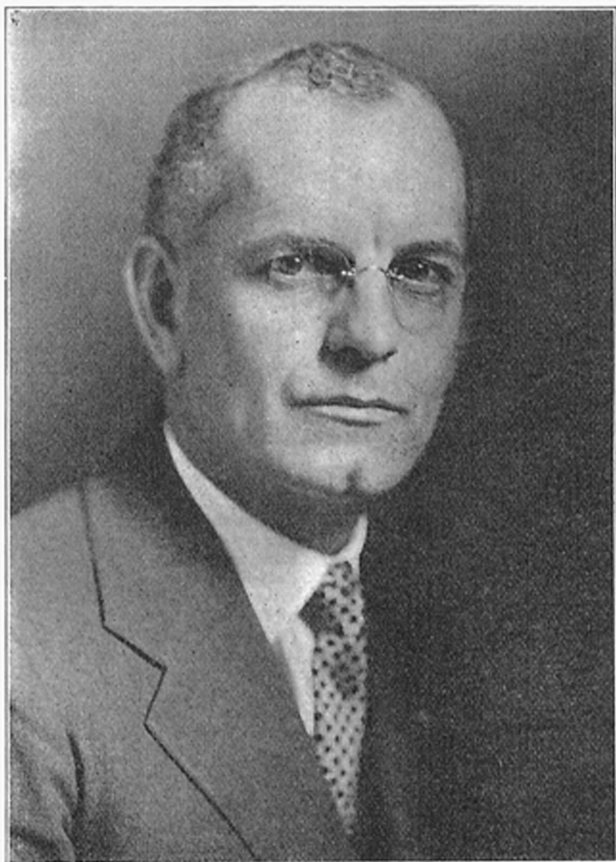

The alumni of the University are

Engineers Want Information For Their Family Directory

By Professor Roy J. Wharton

Professor Roy J. Wharton, Secretary of the Association of Alumni and former students of the College of Engineering.

For the convenience of our patron saint the Engineering Family continues to hold its annual reunion every month of March on Engineers' Week. It used to be only the younger folks of the college, still under her watchcare. Now the Old-timers, the alumni and former students of the College of Engineering, help "swell the glad refrain". And what a grand gathering it is! The old campus, and vine covered columns and buildings, bespeak recognition and a hearty welcome. The intellectual background affords a beautiful setting, and every face beams with joy and refreshment. Thruout the Speakers' Program, the Smoker, the St. Pat's Ball, and in the Engineering Laboratories there is a thrill for every son.

In this activity there is manifested a fine brotherhood, that highest law of our being, which unites us by inseparable bonds. It is approved and fostered by the local Engineer's Club, also by the Association of Alumni and Former Students of the College of Engineering. It appears that every member of the local club is zealous and vigilant for the honor of knighthood. But just how about your brother alumnus and former student, are you glad for the opportunity to continue your loyalty to the family, and have you identified yourself with the association? Will you exemplify your interest by affiliating, or will you permit oblivion veil to conceal forever you?

Doubtless you will be interested to learn that a family directory is in the making. The first issue will be good, IF? You will get your copy, IF? The university records are helpful, revealing something of each son in a historical manner, but you appreciate that the directory will be of greater interest and value in accordance with its exhibits of present addresses and vocations. So that each individual

No Longer a Primrose on the River Bank and Nothing More

By Warren W. Browne

President of the St. Louis Alumni Association

Warren W. Browne, manager Mortgage and Securities Co., St. Louis, and President of the St. Louis Alumni Association.

Prior to 1924 an alumnus of the University of Missouri residing in St. Louis felt akin to the chap to whom a primrose on the river bank was a primrose and nothing more. He was a resident of St. Louis and nothing more. Being an alumnus meant very little in his young life.

Perhaps in his business and social contacts he became acquainted with other alumni but they were casual contacts, more accidental than designed. True, there was a semblance of organization; meetings were held on occasions when the football team was scheduled to play in St. Louis and Founder's Day was annually celebrated and officers elected for the ensuing year.

Those in attendance renewed associations with classmates, discussed such important topics as the increasing automobile traffic and the removal of Junior's adenoids, listened to a speech on how the Tiger on the morrow would eat up the Pikers—which was true 99 44 100% of the time, parted with three dollars for the dinner for wife and self, and dispersed to forget all about University affairs until perhaps six months later when the process would be repeated.

Those of Umpty-three saw little of those of Umpty-fifteen and apparently cared as much. Graduates of the University slipped into the city unheralded and unknown and began whittling out their careers with no assistance from the Alumni Association as such. Law Barn graduates might know each other but they did not know the Missouri teachers, or the Missouri physicians, or the Missouri bond salesmen as such. Of course they knew the Missouri insurance men (who doesn't) and equally of course they did not care to know the Missouri engineers. This later sentiment was reciprocal.

Approximately a year ago came the Memorial Union and Stadium campaign and the Missouri Alumni in St. Louis got acquainted. Twenty-five teams of eight alumni each met daily at a luncheon for a week and learned to call each other by given names. New friendships were formed born of the common interest in the University and one discovered ere the week was over that old Bill Sourlook—who privately, one considered a first-class quince and a total loss as a good fellow—was really pretty human and could smile, especially when a particularly good one was told.

Those two hundred went forth and called on others and thus was the circle widened. The dinner given at Hotel Statler the night before the opening of the drive was a revelation to all. Some four hundred and ninety-nine loyal Missourians braved a wintry night to listen to inspiring talks about the institution to which we are all devoted and to which we owe so much. And seated at the speakers' table was an array of notables of which any University could be justly proud. Federal and Circuit Judges, teachers, bankers, lawyers, physicians and business men of high repute seated there, gave mute testimony of how well and faithfully the University had performed her function to the commonwealth.

Thus from the quickening contact of the campaign has come many valuable results. Missouri Alumni in St. Louis have felt their strength; they have become cognizant of the fact that in their organization lies the inherent power of furthering the usefulness of the University in many ways and in giving valuable cooperation to each other as individuals.

The extension of acquaintances among the Missouri men and women is proving a business asset of no small value for advantage is being taken of the ready-made connection built up by the common interest as sons of old Missouri. The appreciation of these values is resulting in closer affiliation of the members of the Association and interest in its affairs and those of the University is steadily increasing.

The alumni have awakened. Missouri is their school and while at heart they have even been willing and eager to serve her interests unselfishly, they had never been called on as a body to do anything constructive in a large way. The Memorial Union and Stadium Campaign has roused them from their lethargy and put them again in active touch with University activities and instilled the feeling that the University is sympathetically interested in their welfare. The monetary contribution of each is regarded as only an insignificant attempt to repay in some small measure the advantages of the University's training. The Memorial Union and Stadium will be built by the Alumni but without belittling the importance of these two structures to the University, they loom small by comparison to the other results of the campaign in figuratively bringing all the alumni back into the University fold and kindling anew the spiritual fires of undergraduate days. The St. Louis alumni acknowledge their indebtedness to the Memorial Union and Stadium campaign for all these tangible and intangible advantages; for out of it has grown a larger, more useful organization, and individually it has served to enhance the proud privilege of being known as a Missouri Man.

Alumni Legislators Are Entertained at Dinner

The Cole County Alumni Association gave a dinner on February 10 in honor of the members of the legislature, in session in Jefferson City now, who are graduates or former students of the University.

The following were present and most of them made short talks: James H. Whitecotton, LL. B. '86, Kansas City; William A. Brookshire, former student '14-15, Farmington, and wife; Thos. F. Montgomery, A. B. '07, Bolckow; Homer F. Williams, B. S. in Eng., Albany; James S. Rollins, LL. B. '10, Columbia; Gordon Massey, former student '16-22, Billings; Roger E. Kirschner, former student '10-13, Otterville; Thomas R. Ely, LL. B. '81, Kennett; Thos. J. Roney, former student '96, Webb City; Frank Howell, LL. B. '89, Troy; Jas. H. Morre, A. B. '14, Charleston; Wm. Edward Whitecotton, Pe. P. '87, Paris; Harry R. Pence, former student '12-16, Roscoe; Lewis Bell, B. S. in Ag. '08, Monroe; Oak Hunter, former student '97-99, Moberly, Lon S. Haymes, former student '13, Springfield, and Frank J. Quigley, A. B. '16, Tipton.

Walter Robertson, representative of Saline County, who is an honorary member of the Saline County Alumni Association, attended the dinner and made a talk. John C. Hall, LL. B. '10, of St. Louis was present and kept the bunch laughing. George F. (Polly) Reeves, B. S. in Ag. '13, representing the associated industries of Missouri before the legislature, told of his work. E. D. Brasfield, former student '05-08, of the State Highway Department, was chairman of the following committee which had charge of the dinner: W. W. Gibbany of the Education Dept., B. S. in Ed. '18, B. J. '21, A. M. '22, and Miss Adelaide Schott, former student '21-22, a teacher in the Jefferson City public schools.

The Cole County engineering graduates and former students of the University and the Rolla School of Mines will have a meeting some time in the near future, at which time engineering week, in connection with St. Patrick's festivities, will be discussed. They hope to have a large attendance at Columbia during engineering week this year.

L. W. Helmreich, M. E. in E. E. '11, is president of the Cole County alumni association.

Curators' Sunset Supper Will Be Given Again at Commencement

"We hope to have several hundred alumni to attend the Commencement Week exercises at the University of Missouri here on May 30 to June 3," said Frank B. Rollins, president of the general Alumni Association, "and to make Commencement Week an outstanding occasion. Alumni day will be on Tuesday, June 2nd, and the reunions of the classes will be held on that day, including the classes of '78 '79 '80 '81 '97 '98 '99 '00 '16 '17 '18 and '19. Bob Hill, Alumni Recorder, is making detailed arrangements for the class reunions and is sending them literature regarding the plans. The graduates of these classes are residents of forty-three different states and of twenty-two foreign countries.

"The Committee of Public Exercises which will have charge of Commencement Week, (May 30 June 3) consists of Professor R. J. Kerner, chairman, Dean Guy L. Noyes, Professor A. C. Lanier, Professor Thomas S. Barclay and S. Woodson Canada. Plans are being formulated so as to attract large numbers of alumni who are urged to attend Commencement Week annually in the future. It is a time when they can be free from the excitement of foot-ball and homecoming and when they can give their best thoughts for the good of "Old Missouri."

"In addition to the usual activities connected with Baccalaureate Sunday and Commencement, tentative plans include: alumni Class meetings, a glee club concert, intercollegiate baseball games, a play, the curator's sunset supper party, the curator's evening reception to alumni, graduates and their friends, and the Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi and other luncheons.

"The curator's sunset supper which was pronounced an outstanding event of last year's Commencement, will be held on Alumni Day, Tuesday, June 2, on the same plan as last year. A Committee composed of Bob Hill, chairman, Edward E. Brown, and L. M. Defoe, will be in charge. The Sunset Supper will doubtless be held on the white campus where it was held last year, with appropriate outdoor decorations and entertainment and a seating arrangement such that the visiting members of classes holding reunions will be together.

"Come back for Commencement Week and let us have your best thought on how to make a "Greater University of Missouri"; is the message that is being sent to the alumni by R. J. Kerner, chairman of the committee on Public Exercises and the officers of the General Alumni Association. Members of the classes which will hold reunions this year should make arrangements now to visit the University at Commencement time.

President Brooks Initiated Acacia.

The Acacia fraternity initiated President Stratton D. Brooks on March 14, following a banquet in his honor at the chapter house given by the active members and the local alumni.

Oscar Seagle Visits

Son and Gives Concert

Oscar Seagle, one of the world's great baritones, gave a song recital in Jesse Hall on the evening of February 16, under the auspices of the School of Fine Arts. Mr. Seagle appeared in Columbia under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha about five years ago. Mr. Seagle's recital was fine and thoroughly appreciated by an enthusiastic audience. Mrs. Roy Rucker was accompanist for Mr. Seagle.

Professor Herbert Wall, chairman of the voice department of the School of Fine Arts did most of his study under the tutelage of Mr. Seagle. Mr. Seagle's son, John, is enrolled in the University of Missouri and studying under Professor Wall. John is a member of the Glee Club which won the championship in Kansas City on February 9. Leonard Stokes, another member of the Glee Club, and Miss Dorothy Raymond, a student in the University, have studied with Mr. Seagle.

Miss Schmitz Is First Woman Appointed To a Missouri Board of Regents.

Miss Laura Schmitz, A. B. '11, B. S. '12, secretary of the Missouri Writers' Guild, Chillicothe, has been appointed a member of the Board of Regents of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville and, if her appointment is confirmed by the State Senate, she will be the first woman to be thus honored. Miss Schmitz is a former member of the faculty of the Chillicothe High School and later was city editor of the Chillicothe Tribune. She is a member of the Delta Gamma sorority.

Miss Hibbard To Study in Europe

Miss Hope Hibbard, A. B. '16, A. M. '18, has been offered a fellowship by the American Association of the University Women consisting of a year's study in Europe. She will probably sail June 6. Miss Hibbard is assistant professor of Zoology in the Elmira (N. Y.) College. She is a member of the Delta Gamma and L. S. V. sororities.

Dr. Ramsay Helps Select Best Story

Dr. Robert L. Ramsay of the English Department of the University was one of the Committee of the National Society of Arts and Science to award the best short story prize for the best story published by an American author during 1924. This is the first time that a member of the faculty of the University of Missouri has been appointed to such a position.

Paid-in-Full Subscribers

Appreciate Certificates

The memorial office is in receipt of scores of letters expressing approval and appreciation of the beautiful and attractive certificate that is being sent to Memorial subscribers who have paid their subscriptions in full. One girl is employed in the office whose duty it is to print in Old English the names of the paid-in-full subscribers on these certificates. She is working on the certificates just as rapidly as good work will permit and the certificates are mailed securely in tubes every day as they are finished. Be patient if your certificate has not reached you.

The fact that her full time is required is sufficient evidence that goodly numbers of subscribers are paying their pledges in full. The letters from paid-in-full subscribers state that the certificate has been framed (in every case) and hung in the office or in the home.

Marquis H. Lockwood, E. E. '93, M. S. '00, Mechanical expert, 2 Rector Street, New York City is pleased with the certificate as are scores of other alumni who have sent the Memorial office letters of appreciation and wishes for additional success in the campaign.

Track Team Shows Up Well In Spite of Heavy Handicaps

The Missouri track team lost to Kansas in the annual dual meet at Kansas City on February 25 by eighteen inches, 39-46. Victory hinged on the results of the relay and as usual, a great throng of spectators waited almost breathlessly for the results. Dysart, running first for Missouri, was completely outclassed by Rooney of Kansas, star quarter mile, and delivered the baton to Johnny Walsh, a good twenty-five yards behind his Kansas rival. Walsh clipped off five yards and Johnson, succeeding him, reduced the distance from the Kansas lead eight yards more, leaving Coggins and Fisher to decide the meet with Kansas starting with a twelve-yard advantage—just eighteen inches too much to overcome. Kansas won the relay and the meet.

Missouri made a wonderful showing and Coach Bob Simpson was greatly surprised for, if you please, just consider the following handicaps under which Missouri's track team was laboring.

(1) Pittinger was declared ineligible at the last minute, depriving the Tigers of the services of their best man in the mile and half mile.

(2) Walton was not declared eligible as expected, depriving the Tigers of their fastest sprinter and relay man.

(3) Keeble's injured knee and poor physical condition, following an attack of influenza prevented him from delivering in the hurdles as expected.

(4) And Chauncey Simpson's pulled tendons kept him out of the meet entirely.

But here is what tickled Bob Simpson. Coggins won second in the quarter, completely upsetting the wise ones, who had considered the Tigers entirely out of the event on account of the absence of Walton and, furthermore, Ponder gave the critics a big surprise by winning the half mile for, without Pittinger, Missouri was figured not to place in that event.

Further pleasure to Bob Simpson was brought about by Doss Richerson who established a new valley record indoors or out by putting the sixteen pound shot 46 feet 1 1/2 inches. His record last year was 45 feet, 6 1/2 inches. Etter was second in this event.

Lancaster set a dual meet record in the pole vault at 12 feet, 3/4 inch, winning first. Stuber won the low hurdles in six seconds flat, which was a big surprise, with Kansas second. In the high hurdles Coach Simpson stated that Cunningham of Missouri led the field by a safe margin of tape with Keeble and Graham of Kansas fighting for second place, but the judges apparently failed to see Cunningham and announced Keeble the winner and gave second place to Graham.

The Missouri track team is to be commended for the showing made at this meet, especially after considering the great number of their unusually heavy handicaps. The boys responded in fine fashion and the handicaps seemed to spur them on to greater effort. Coach Simpson is having hard luck with several of his men as stated above, but his team is making a good showing in spite of these drawbacks.

Alumni Entertain High School Students

The students of the St. Joseph, Mo., public schools and high schools were guests of the St. Joseph alumni association during the first week in March at the showing of the motion pictures of the Missouri-Kansas Homecoming football game and Missouri-U. S. C. football game in Los Angeles on Christmas Day. Arthur Burger had charge of the arrangements and stated that the pictures were most interesting to the students in St. Joseph. The pictures include many University scenes and are in great demand for alumni meetings and for showing to high school students.

Highway No. 2 To Be Paved in Nine Months.

Theodore Gary, Chairman of the Missouri State Highway Commission, has announced that the state highway (No. 2) between St. Louis and Kansas City (256 1/2 miles) will be completely paved nine months from now.

Commencement At Jefferson City

President Stratton D. Brooks will deliver the commencement address to the graduating class of the Jefferson City High School, May 28.

Clay County Alumni Hold Meeting

The Clay County (Mo.) Alumni Association held its annual meeting at the Snapp Hotel, Excelsior Springs, on February 12, and elected L. E. Bates, A. B. '04, LL. B. '07, Excelsior Springs, president, Mrs. S. D. Goodson, Liberty, vice president; B. B. Branstetter, Clay County Farm Bureau agent, Liberty, secretary-treasurer.

Fifty-five alumni and former students attended the dinner. Gwinn Henry, head football coach, was guest of honor at the dinner and made an address, as did Dr. Robert Withers of Liberty, Dr. Jenkins of Liberty, and Capt. H. L. Moore of Excelsior Springs. The Clay County alumni Association boasts as having among its members the oldest alumnus of the University, L. B. Dougherty, A. B. '48, of Liberty.

Another meeting will be held some time in the fall when at least eighty alumni are expected to attend. The Clay County Alumni Association promises to be one of the most forceful alumni associations in Missouri.

Twenty-five Finish Short Course.

Twenty-three young men and two young women were awarded certificates of graduation from the two-year winter short course at the Missouri College of Agriculture February 28 Miss Della Duval of Waverly and Miss Mary Ellen Grier of Hemple finished the prescribed work in home economics; while the work in agriculture was completed by the following young men. James DeWeese, Appleton City; C. Holloway Brashear; F. R. Boatright Marshall; Carmel Canning, Hale Humbert Clatterbuck, Guthrie, Paul Duebert, Labadie; Ray Ganser, Hamilton; Henry Grathwohl, Billingsville; Warren H. Godfrey, Amoret. Henry Harmon, Odessa; Robert L. Harvey, Marshall; Walter Nierman, Concordia; Harold Pepper, Columbia; Austin Pierce, Columbia; L. C. Quisenberry, Columbia; Albert Ringhusen, Hardin, Ill.; Everett D. Salmon, Pattonsburg; Theron J. Sweat, McFall; Vernon Stewart, Independence; Delmar Stiegemeier, Concordia; Ray Schaeffer, Greenfield; Donald Waggoner, Columbia; and F. K. West, Ash Grove.

Salmon of Pattonsburg, who completed the Short Course this term, was the youngest member of his class, being 16 years of age. Although he is not a high school graduate, he was elected to Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, and received a gold medal in grain judging.

Advanced Course Amounts To $300 Scholarship

For the information of those who are interested, it may be stated that the pay and allowance of the Advanced Course amount practically to a scholarship of $300.00. This is a very liberal opportunity which the Government offers to young men of high character, and ability. Graduates are commissioned as 2nd lieutenants in the Reserve Corps of the Army.

The Military Department urges all graduates and former students when in Columbia, to visit its headquarters, the class rooms, and field work.

M. U. Finished Sixth in Conference

Defeated Grinnell

Missouri defeated Grinnell 37-26 on February 20. Joyner, playing center for Missouri, was high point scorer with six field goals and one penalty throw, a total of thirteen points. Coach Bond made no substitutions and, in addition to Joyner, the line-up included Captain Wheat, McMillan, Buchner and O'Sullivan. E. C. Quigley was referee.

Between halves, Captain Pittinger of the track team presented tiny gold track shoes to members of last year's indoor championship track team and to the coach, Bob Simpson.

Close Game With Nebraska.

Missouri lost its first basketball game with Nebraska this year 25-20 in Columbia on February 21. The Tigers led 11-5 at the end of the first half and started on second period with a field goal, only to face a rally by the Cornhuskers who scored ten points and led the Tigers before they knew what was happening. At 19, Missouri tied the score, but from then on, a Nebraska victory was practically certain. Captain Wheat was high point man for Missouri, with Joyner second. It was a thrilling game and it looked like a Tiger victory during the first half when the Cornhuskers made only one field goal. The guarding of both teams was good to watch. Warren C. Giles was referee.

Heaviest Loss Was to Kansas.

The Tigers lost their second basketball game to Nebraska at Lincoln on February 27, score 21-24, in a game that was so close that the victory did not come until the last minute of play. Captain Wheat led the score for the Tigers with three field goals and three free throws. Coach Bond used eight men.

On the next evening in Lawrence the Tigers lost their second game to Kansas, score 33-17.

On March 4, in Columbia, the Kansas Aggies defeated the Tigers 43-32 when Tebow and Bunker, Kansas Aggie Stars, accounted for 34 of their team points. Captain Wheat of Missouri, playing his best game of the year, scored 19 points for the Tigers. Coach Bond used eight men in an effort to defeat the Aggies.

Thus ended the basketball season with the exception of the game in St. Joseph on March 5 when the Tigers were defeated by the Hillyards, 47-21. The St. Joseph alumni turned out in goodly number to attend the last game on the Tiger schedule.

Coach Bond worked faithfully with the basketball squad and deserves credit for developing a fighting machine out of an almost totally green lot of players. Capt. Wheat will be the only man lost on account of graduation this spring. While the results of the season were not productive of the championship pennant, the foundation has been laid for an excellent basketball team for next season. Missouri finished sixth in the Conference.

Quigley Calls Personal

Foul Against Himself

E. C. Quigley, noted basketball referee, made a personal foul against himself on the evening of March 3 when he walked out on the floor of Rothwell Gymnasium to referee a basketball game between Missouri and Kansas Aggies which was not scheduled to be played until the following evening, and when Quigley should have been in St. Louis refereeing the basketball game there.

He complained bitterly to himself about his mistake and then started to complain to those who have charge of affairs in Rothwell Gymnasium only to be called down by Virgil Spurling with a threat that if Quigley made further complaint, Spurling would call another foul on Quigley and repeat the fouls just as often as Quigley kicked himself.

Mr. Quigley's friends had a lot of fun at his expense as a result of his oversight and when he blew his whistle at the start of the Missouri-Kansas Aggie game, his friends among the spectators gave him a rousing cheer as an expression of their appreciation of his extended visit in Columbia.

South Dakota Wins Debate

The University of S. D. won by unanimous decision in a debate with the University of Missouri in Columbia on March 5.

The subject of the debate was, "Resolved, that Congress should be given the power to overrule by a two-thirds vote of both houses Supreme Court decisions declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional." George F. Wise and George H. Rose supported the affirmative for Missouri and Lawrence Newmark and Harold Fisher supported the negative for South Dakota. Dean J. P. McBaine presided.

The judges were: N. T. Gentry, F. G. Harris, the Rev. W. M. Haushalter, B. E. Miller and W. I. Oliver.

G. W. Hulbert, head debating coach, has announced that the debate between the University of Missouri and the University of Oklahoma will be held April 3, at Norman, on the same question.

Fred B. Smith Addresses Students

Fred B. Smith, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Carnegie Peace Foundation, vice-president of the Johns-Mansville Co., New York City, chairman of the National Movement for Law Enforcement and officer in fourteen different national movements, delivered five addresses to members of the student body in the Auditorium February 22 and 23.

Doctor Kirk has been president of the institution since 1899 and is one of the best known educators in the country. He was made president emeritus.

Doctor Fair was instructor in history at the University from 1908 to 1909 and was professor of political science here in 1918.

Alumni Loyalty and Enthusiasm

Alumni loyalty and enthusiasm is being manifested almost daily in sufficient force to warrant comment. Frank B. Rollins, president of the General Alumni Association, praises in strong terms the valuable assistance that has been given by the alumni and former students in Missouri during the present session of the Missouri Legislature.

The liberality of the alumni toward the Memorial Union and Stadium campaign, their willingness to subscribe, to arrange Memorial meetings, and to help the Memorial in other material ways, is stressed by Dr. J. C. Jones, Director of the Memorial campaign. During the Christmas holidays the football team went to the west coast and the alumni along the way gave their entire time to the entertainment and comfort of the University party. The Glee Club has just completed a trip to the east coast and the alumni in Missouri gave freely to help finance the trip and the alumni associations along the route were most courteous and attentive, as outlined in the story of the Glee Club trip in this issue.

Loyal Alumni and former students take pride in the prominence of the University and their ready response to the call for help from Alma Mater, no matter when, what for, or how often, is to be commended.

Kansas City C. of C. Takes Part

Appropriations for the University of Missouri recommended by the State tax commission are too low and would greatly hamper the work of the University, the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce believes.

The chamber will write to senators and representatives asking them to work for university appropriations at least as large as the appropriations of the last legislature.

The chamber has called particular attention to the reduction of appropriations for the agricultural department. The chamber's action was taken by the agricultural promotion committee and the executive committee.

From the Kansas City Star, February 26.

Newspaper Support

The alumni of the University of Missouri are deeply grateful to the newspapers of Missouri for their unstinted and continuous support. The press of the state, both city and rural, has demonstrated in a full-hearted manner its interest and allegiance to the state's leading educational institution. Alumni sincerely appreciate the cooperation of the press. The newspaper folk of Missouri are broad thinkers, progressive in their vision, powerful in moulding public opinion, and are friends of the highest type.

Commencement

The officers of the General Alumni Association, cooperating with the committee on public exercises, is making an earnest effort to develop a big but dignified commencement. Big in the sense that great numbers of alumni will gather in Columbia during Commencement Week in June to renew acquaintances with faculty and classmates, to pledge a new allegiance to the University to study the needs of the school and help in the work of worth-while alumni support.

The Alumni Association has adopted a systematic plan of holding Class reunions each year which promises excellent results. Commencement last June was attended by more alumni than at any time in years. Several hundred are expected during Commencement this year and it is predicted that Commencement at the University of Missouri is going to grow steadily in importance as an annual gathering of alumni.

The Legislature and Appropriation.

The investigation now being made by the Missouri legislative leaders into the state revenues and the needs of the state institutions indicates that only a very moderate increase in the expected revenues will be necessary. If the institutions, which include the university and the teachers' colleges, can be adequately maintained without resorting to new taxes, of course such an outcome is extremely desirable.

But the legislature must provide at this time for two years. It would be unwise for it to take chances of reducing the efficiency of the university with all its ramifications, and other institutions, merely to avoid a slight increase in the property tax.

ected. In these busy days, there is no excuse for an organization which has no very definite or concrete purpose and aim.

This new organization was formed for the definite purpose of assisting the University in general and the College of Engineering in particular.

Those of us who are familiar with the building and equipment of other Colleges of engineering, with which we usually compare this college, are quite aware that there is much work which can be done to bring this College of Engineering at Missouri University to much higher efficiency.

The Engineering buildings for the most part are old, worn and out of date and inadequate for efficient engineering training.

The equipment as a whole is fairly adequate, but a considerable percentage of it should be replaced and some equipment added.

An inspection of the high school buildings and shop equipment of the high schools in our larger cities convinces one that the buildings and equipment of the College of Engineering suffers by comparison.

It is therefore evident that we, as Alumni, must be alert and impress on our state officers and legislature the importance of adequate support of higher education in the state, from whence comes a large majority of our leaders.

In addition, there are many other needs, which as an organization we are beginning to interest ourselves in, such as forming local organizations so as to get better acquainted and so as we may work as a unit and keep ourselves familiar with and in contact with the University and its ever growing needs.

As we interest ourselves in these activities, we will talk about the University to our friends and acquaintances and particularly to the youth who is preparing for university work, and I trust ere long that we will be active in approaching the graduating classes of the high schools of the state, with a view of getting a considerable number of those inclined toward engineering to attend the University of Missouri.

The alumni of the College of Engineering stand as high as those of any College in the country and the need for men with engineering training far exceeds the supply. Therefore, the number of graduates from the College of engineering should be increased in number and as time goes on improved in quality so as to keep pace with the general progress. In all of this work, the Alumni Organization can be of inestimable value.

Working for a cause such as this, by the alumni, of course requires some effort and self-denial, but will repay those who put forth the effort, greatly in the satisfaction of knowing that they have helped along a worthy cause.

President Brooks to Speak at K. U.
President Stratton D. Brooks will be the 1925 Commencement speaker at the University of Kansas.

Hill, Alumni Recorder, is assistant director.

All forms of remittances to the Memorial should be made payable to Leslie Cowan but the payments should be mailed direct to the Memorial Office, 217 Jesse Hall. Here is kept a card index file of all subscribers, which shows the name, address, date and amount of subscription, plan of payment and amount paid and when. This record is kept up daily as payments are received and new subscriptions come in. The remittances and subscriptions are then sent to Mr. Cowan's office where a duplicate record is kept. This record in the Treasurer's office is never used as a mailing list and is accessible only to the Treasurer to avoid any confusion or errors in the records. This plan is more costly but necessary to safeguard the records.

Sending statements regularly twice each month or at least once a month involves considerable time and labor. Each unpaid pledge has to be checked carefully to ascertain the amount due to date. This figure is then copied on the statement, as well as the name and address of the subscriber. An envelope must then be addressed, the statement stuffed in the envelope, the envelope sealed and postage affixed.

When remittances come to the office in response to the statements, the credits are made on the cards in the Memorial office and receipts mailed, and in case of paid-in-full subscribers a certificate is printed and mailed.

And just imagine, if you can, the vast amount of daily correspondence which the Memorial office must handle. It is tremendous. Hardly a day passes that part or all of the office force does not work in the evening in order to keep up with the work.

Mention is made of these details to show that this all requires time and necessitates clerical help and expense. Rest assured, however, that all this is being done with the least possible expense.

$200,000 in Pledges Must Be Secured

The Memorial Committee is still vigorously engaged in securing pledges from alumni, former students and friends of the University to the Memorial Union and Stadium. The intensive collection campaign that has been under way for the last few months has had a tendency to overshadow the efforts of the committee to secure pledges.

There are scores of cities in Missouri and even a greater number of cities out of the state where practically nothing has been done to complete the solicitation work. It is going to take a great lot of time to get around to all these places but the Memorial Committee is determined to keep right at the work until every possible subscription has been secured.

Approximately $200,000 in pledges must be secured in addition to the $800,000 which was the goal at the outset of the campaign. To get this additional amount in pledges demands time and hard work, but the pledges are going to be collected and at the least possible cost in time and money.

Several solicitors are giving liberally of their time and these are travelling in Missouri now from town to town, working night and day, to see every alumnus and former student who has not subscribed in an effort to get a pledge from every one of them. The alumni are giving these solicitors wonderful assistance and cooperation and the solicitors are to be commended for their work.

The alumni Memorial chairmen in cities in and out of Missouri who have not successfully completed their respective city campaigns should do so at once and give this very valuable assistance to the campaign right now while it is needed.

Work on the Memorial Union Tower is progressing rapidly in spite of the worst kind of weather. Students and townspeople are surprised that it has been possible to do as much work as has been done on the Tower during the winter months. Both the east and west arches have been completed and the Tower is taking on the lines of beauty which have been emphasized so much but have been so hard to visualize.

The Tower will be the finest Gothic Tower in the country, as has been claimed for it by Dr. John Pickard and others. The magnificence of the structure and the beauty of its architecture are just beginning to be appreciated.

Groups of students and townspeople gather at the Tower every pleasant day to watch construction work. It is a most interesting pastime. Students of the College of Engineering are watching with practical enthusiasm the skill and ease with which the great derrick handles the stone from the trucks to its final place in the structure. The architecture of the Tower is being studied by students specializing in that department and the work of the stone engravers is marvelous to say the least. Upon the face of the stone has been engraved every character which is at all indicative of University life and tradition.

Visiting alumni ask to see the Memorial Tower and each expresses personal pride in the satisfaction of having helped to make the Tower and the Union and the Stadium possible.

scattered throughout the United States, and become interested in different activities, all of which are, in some respects, dependent in their development upon the advancement of human knowledge in the particular fields with which they are associated.

It seems to me that a wide-spread knowledge of the University's equipment in men and facilities, and its needs—also in men and facilities to carry on research work—might be the means of many alumni taking an interest in the development of this phase of the University's activities, and perhaps contribute materially to this work.

Again, I feel that the alumni sometimes forget their old professors. They may feel somewhat timid in corresponding with them. It would be a source of encouragement and add a great deal to the joy of life of our professors if we would write to them once-in-a-while, telling them what we were doing, and keeping in friendly touch with them.

Oscar E. Riley, B. J. '11, A. B. '12, formerly president of the New York Alumni Association.

Just before the judges made their decision, the manager of the Hippodrome, in New York City, one of the largest theatres in the world, offered to Professor Wall and the Club a week's engagement at this theatre. The offer, of course, had to be refused.

The judges were: Chairman, Ralph Baldwin, director of the Mendelssohn Society; Arthur Sodansky, conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company; and Kurt Schindler, conductor of the Schola Cantorum, a mixed choral society in New York. Yale was given 249.6 points out of a possible 300, Princeton received 223; and Missouri 212.2.

The other colleges in the contest were: Amherst, Columbia, Dartmouth, Fordham, Harvard, Middlebury, New York University, Penn State, Syracuse, Wesleyan and Wisconsin.

Station WEAJ in New York City broadcast the national glee club contest, and alumni all over the country heard the University of Missouri Glee Club sing the famous University songs.

Tillman Merritt was the student director of the Missouri club, in the contest, the other members of the Club are: First tenors; Archie Boucher, J. Garnett Fowler, Lynn E. Hummel, Lester D. Maddox, James H. Nash, William H. Scannell, Ben G. Symon, President and Howard Joyner; second tenors, Lester M. Abbott, William J. Abbott, business manager, W. F. Bailey, Robert G. Dudley, H. L. Duncan, David Flournoy, Glenn Milburn, and Marion E. Moore; first basses, V. M. Fay, C. C. Greim A. D. Otto, Jr., John D. Seagle, R. Leonard Stokes, Richard Nelson and Don Walker; second basses, Paul M. Fuller, C. B. Haynes, Lee S. Montgomery, Buel Ridenhour, Oliver Sovereign, and G. S. Young.

As a result of the wonderful singing of the members of the Glee Club, Dean James T. Quarles and Professor Wall are confident of placing several University of Missouri men in the chorus of five hundred American singers who will tour Europe this summer under the leadership of Archie Leslie Hood, president of the International Music Festival League. The purpose of this tour is, first, to further the cause of international peace and good will through the medium of music; and second, to create an international alliance of singing societies on the two continents.

Talk about a big time, the Glee Club had it in Washington, D. C., where Cleveland A. Newton, LL. B. '02, member of Congress from St. Louis and president of the Missouri Society in Washington, Walt Mandry, LL. B. '17, and John Spencer Hornbeck, A. B. '16, LL. B. '18, president of the Missouri Alumni Association in Washington, put on a real party for the Glee Club members. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat story as follows gives a dandy report of the club's visit to Washington:

"Washington, March 9.—Missouri songs resounded and echoed through the capital today when thirty-two members of the University of Missouri Glee Club lifted up their voices in melodious harmony at the conclusion of a luncheon tendered them by Representative Newton, president of the Missouri State Society of Washington and an alumnus of Missouri State University. The luncheon was an agreeable interruption to a busy day of sight-seeing. The state society and the local chapter of Missouri alumni united in entertaining the students. It loaned automobiles, in most instances driven by the owners, themselves Missourians, the young men were taken on a tour which began at 9 o'clock and did not end till nearly 5 o'clock. Some of the high spots of the tour were shaking hands with President Coolidge, posing for a group photograph just outside the executive offices, and inspection of the President's yacht, the machine shops of the Navy Yard, the Library of Congress, the Capitol, Arlington and the unknown soldier's grave, Lincoln Memorial and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Robert E. Lee's home overlooking the Potomac, a visit to the Senate, where they met senator James A. Reed of Missouri, and a visit to the United States Supreme Court which was in session, where Chief Justice Taft gave them a very friendly welcome.

"Tonight the young men gave a concert to a crowded auditorium at Wilson Normal School, and were given a rousing welcome and an ovation. At the conclusion they were escorted down one aisle and back another, so the audience could all meet them."

Professor Wall and the Club members returned to Columbia on the evening of March 11. Their record has aroused enthusiasm on the campus and among the alumni for Glee Club work. Arrangements are now being made for the Club to make a tour of the state later in the spring.

charge of the R. O. T. C. work at the University of Missouri since September, 1923, will relinquish his post this June. No definite word has reached Major Wood from the War Department, but he expects to attend the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., after leaving Columbia.

Major Wood has served seventeen years in the American army, beginning as second lieutenant.

Major Wood was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1908 at Fort Logan H. Roots, Ark. He served along the Mexican border from 1914 until 1916 when the regiment went into Mexico under General Pershing on a punitive expedition following Villa's attack on Columbus, N. Mex. During this expedition Lieutenant Wood was promoted to first lieutenant and assigned to the Thirty-fourth Infantry at El Paso. At the time the United States entered the World War, April, 1917, Lieutenant Wood was ordered to Fort Benjamin Harrison at Indianapolis, where he served as infantry instructor at the training camp. He was appointed captain the same year and after seven months was ordered back to the Thirty-fourth Infantry at El Paso.

Later Captain Wood was detailed to Camp Lee, Va., where he was in charge of training drafted men. Here he received his appointment as major and was instructed to take a special course for general staff officers at Washington. After completing that course he was appointed to the General Staff and assigned as plans and training officer to the Seventeenth Division, then stationed at Camp Beauregard, La. This division was ready for overseas service when the armistice was signed in November, 1918.

In February, 1919, Major Wood went to Charleston, S. C., as assistant superintendent of water transportation, but in April he was transferred to the adjutant-general's department in Washington. In June, 1919, he was sent overseas, as chief of the administration division of the Ordnance Department of the American Expeditionary Force, in Paris.

He returned to America in December, 1919, and was assigned to duty at Fort Douglas, Utah. Major Wood remained in command there until October 1920, when he came to the University of Missouri as assistant professor of military science and tactics. In June, 1922, he was transferred to the headquarters staff of the Seventh Corps Area of the R. O. T. C. at Omaha. Following a year's service there he came back to the University of Missouri to assume charge of the R. O. T. C. work, succeeding Col. W. E. Persons.

Men's Rifle Team Takes Second Place

The men's rifle team of the University added two more victories to its perfect record of the season by winning matches in February from the Kansas Aggies and the University of Indiana.

The Missouri rifle team placed second in the 7th Corps Area indoor match completed on March 1. The match was won by Minnesota.

A Flourish of Sombreros and "Viva U. of M.!!"

"Ours are hearts that fondly love thee, Here's a health to thee!"
And it's amazing the spirit that went down with that health on the night of February 2 when a group of Missouri alumni raised their glasses in a candlelit dining room 'way down on the Mexican border.

The town had been inspected with a hand lense for folks in El Paso who might understand the significance of a certain group of columns, but as the diners sang "Old Missouri" several hitherto unknown persons in the lobby of the Hotel Paso del Norte sought out the little dining room to pay their respects to Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones whom the dinner honored. They were Miss Madge Reese who was stopping awhile on her journeyings in this district in interest of domestic science. She is working with the United States department of the interior, isn't that the department that domestic science should be connected with?

Then Capt. L. E. J. Browne, who is connected with the medical department at Fort Bliss, dropped in with his father. They were on their way to a medical meeting, but had seen a notice of the meeting in the paper.

Howard V. Jordan and M. G. Snell who are teaching at New Mexico A. & M. State College. N. M. came down all unexpectedly for the dinner, which was a trial to the waitress who had to keep putting new places at the table every five minutes.

Frederick Simpich whose brother Joe headed the student drive for the Memorial at the university was there. Mr. Simpich is not a graduate of the university, but has been closely associated with it both through his brothers and through his friendship with Dean Walter Williams of the school of Journalism. Mr. Simpich is, incidentally, a Missourian of which the state may well be proud. He was in the diplomatic service of the United States for 14 years, serving as consul at Bagdad at various points along the Mexican border and in Germany. He was in the diplomatic service in Paris during the peace conference. He has written many articles for Colliers, the Country Gentleman, Saturday Evening Post, National Geographic and other magazines. Oh yes, he was in the best short stories anthology one year, too.

He gave an interesting talk on his personal experiences in the garden of Eden. Oh, he's been there, but it was some time after Adam had his little seance there with a woman and a snake. Mr. Simpich didn't say anything about snakes.

Each alumnus at the dinner got up and spoke a little piece about himself. Mrs. Maude Phillips Harvey told of having taught in Cape Girardeau and then attending the University. She received her B. S. in Education in 1912 and attended a summer session in 1919. She taught in Kansas City until January 18, 1923 when she married C. M. Harvey, a prominent citizen of El Paso. She is now quite taken up with a young baby.

E. F. Cameron, told of being graduated in 1896. He gave an interesting talk in which he recalled the landmarks of the University in his day. Barton Lockwood, a member of his class, was the one thousandth alumnus of the university.

Miss Lucille Smith, a teacher in the El Paso high school, received her B. S. in Education in 1919 after studying intermittently at the University. She plans on going to Columbia, N. Y. next year for her masters' degree.

Mr. Snell and Mr. Jordan both took their masters' degree in agriculture last year.

Judge P. R. Price, who was elected president of the El Paso Alumni Association, attended the University between 1897 and 1902. After leaving the University he spent a year in Michigan and came to El Paso in the next year. He has been here ever since and is judge of the 44th district court here.

Miss Mildred Keogh was graduated from the school of journalism in 1920 and for nearly three years has been connected with the El Paso Herald. Credit goes to Miss Keogh for the success of the meeting. She is an ardent and enthusiastic alumna.

Then it was Dean Jones' turn. He described to the alumni the plan for the student memorial and stadium. Five of the seven alumni at the dinner who had not pledged to the fund, pledged $425.

Do you want all the trimmings of the dinner? There were Mexican hats and nut cups, candles and flowers and place cards, songs and soup, nuts and chicken with ruffled pants.

During their visit in El Paso Dr. and Mrs. Jones were entertained by Judge Price, Mr. R. E. Gardner, Mr. Cameron and Mrs. Harvey. Miss Smith and Miss Keogh did the chores.

And it all ended with a flourish of miniature sombreros and the rousing cry, "Viva, U. of M.!!"

must be a regular contributor needs on emphasis.

In the matter of personal expense, the association of alumni and former students does not purpose to be a dunning agency. It merely wants every one eligible to be in the association and serve with the whole as a medium of exchange and brotherly service to its members and to the College of Engineering. The annual issue of the family directory, delivered to each known address, and an employment service of our own, constitute no small return. One big dollar a year, annual dues, is big because of its big returns, its service among men. So note it be.

The Co-Op

Don't forget to state the size you want of the photograph of the Columns. The picture is beautiful and is certainly to be desired for the wall over your desk or in your home.

Scores of alumni have ordered this photo of the Columns. Many have ordered the standard University of Missouri Shield, which will furnish an added feature to your room.

Missouri pennants, banners and blankets are still in vogue, and the alumni purchase them with regularity.

We give immediate attention to orders from the alumni.

Those of the old school remember Joe and Vic, while those of more recent years know Isadore Barth, jovial and good-natured, who is ever-ready to assist the University, the students and the alumni.

"What about the alumni, Mr. Barth?" the copy reader asked.

"Hardly a day passes without a visit from some one of the old students," he replied. "They are a great bunch."

Spring Football Practice to Last Six Weeks

Coach Gwinn Henry has issued a call for spring football practice which will last for six weeks and he predicts that the formation of next year's team will depend a great deal upon the spring workout. The fall practice does not start until September and, with the Tigers' opening game with Tulane coming the first week in October, there is little time to prepare in the fall. Football fundamentals and some formations will comprise the spring practice program.

Pruett Is Released to Oakland Club

Hubert (Shucks) Pruett, famous Tiger pitcher who has been with the St. Louis Browns baseball club for the last three seasons, has been released by them to the Oakland Club of the Pacific Coast League. In 1922, Pruett gained national fame through his uncanny ability to strike out the great home run king, Babe Ruth, who struck out eleven out of the thirteen times that he faced Pruett.

Pruett's most memorable game in 1922 was the Sunday battle of the little world's series at Sportsman's Park in September, when "Shucks" held the Yankees to a few hits and easily defeated them. The only home run Ruth got off Pruett that season came that day, after the Browns had the game clinched.

The Missouri Store

We're always glad to see the boys of yesterday.

Who do you think dropped in to see us last week?

None other than E. W. Clausen, LL. B. '10 now attorney for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. St. Louis.

He had lost his senior column pin of 1910 and we found another one for him. And low and behold, David Elijah Impey, LL. B. '14, attorney at Houston, Mo. who hasn't been in Columbia since he was graduated, surprised us profoundly with a good visit this month.

It's good to see the old boys. Mighty glad you came in fellows. No telling who'll be in next month.

Will Your Children and Theirs go to College?

Do You Know

—that Brown goes back to his twentieth reunion this spring, and that he has just taken out educational insurance?

To this day he doesn't know which parent or aunt or uncle paid most of his school and college bills. But he does know that he can never repay those obligations created, except by insuring ample money for the education of his own two children.

So he has recently arranged endowment policies for both, to mature at the beginning of each school and college year. He believes that his children will more genuinely appreciate their education by paying for it out of their own funds.

And Brown also believes that they will better capitalize their own increased capabilities, on or before graduation, by taking out insurance for the education of the next hoped-for generation, as well as to create an immediate estate and financial guarantee of family unity.

The John Hancock is particularly interested in insuring college men and women and in obtaining college graduates for the personnel of the field staff.
