“Get the message through”

An Advertisement of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company

IN THE Sixties the “pony express” carried the mail over mountains and Indian wildernesses from St. Joseph, Missouri, to San Francisco. The express riders and station keepers won undying fame for getting the message through, regardless of hardship or danger.

Today, in the city of Denver there is rising on the site of one of the old pony express corrals another splendid structure dedicated to the service of modern message-bearing—the new headquarters building of one of the companies of the Bell System. In fact and in spirit, the Bell System is the lineal descendant of the pony express.

It is this spirit of responsibility that causes operators to risk their lives by remaining at their switchboards in the face of fire, flood or other great danger. The same spirit calls linemen or repairmen to go out, even at the risk of their lives, to repair the lines in time of accident or storm.

There are no instructions requiring Bell System employees to endanger their lives. It is the spirit of communication that bids them, “Get the message through.”

HOW "OLD MISSOURI" CAME TO BE

By John H. Casey '20

"Old Missouri, Fair Missouri,
Dear Old Varsity—"

It has come to light after these many years that those famous words, and the rest of that famous song, "Old Missouri," were written in a single night in the old house at 900 Conley Ave., a house that still stands in Allen Place across from the New Law Building. The author is a former assistant professor in English who taught at the University from 1891 to 1895, George Armstrong Wauchope, now Dr. Wauchope, 65 years old, head of the South Carolina University English department, and third ranking member of that southern university's faculty and administrative staff.

John H. Casey, the author of this article about "Old Missouri" was formerly a member of the faculty of the School of Journalism. He taught last summer in the George Peabody College at Nashville. He is now at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, starting a group of courses in country Journalism, similar to the courses which he taught here. He is also secretary of the Oklahoma University Publications Board. Mr. Casey married Mary Ellen McKay, B.J. '18, of Columbia.

Many were the interesting anecdotes about old times around the University that this man Wauchope related to me one warm evening this summer as we chatted in his room in the main dormitory of Ward-Belmont College, where we were both lodging for the summer, while engaged for summer lectures on the faculty of George Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville, Tenn.

"It was during these early years, '91 to '95, that the Old University Building burned to the ground," he began, and I knew we were off for an excursion into the past. Those were years when President Jesse was running things at M. U. To this young English teacher it seemed that President Jesse was about the greatest university president of all time, and to the present Dr. George Armstrong Wauchope, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., and LL.D., the name of Jesse still stands for the ideal college president.

He recalled how it was that memorable University fire that had given the University those famous Columns around which later grew up such fine traditions and around which has grown up that group of red brick buildings which now encloses Francis Quadrangle. Dr. Edward A. Allen, late father-in-law of Dr. Belden, was the head of the English department, and it was in Dr. Allen's home that the young author of "Old Missouri" lived, and wrote the time honored words of our alma mater.

E. W. Stephens was a member of the Board of Curators at the time. Gov. Francis was president of the Board. To be exact, "Old Missouri" was written and adopted in the spring of 1895. The author recalled, too, that the song was first publicly sung by the club, which was M. U.'s original and first glee club, in a Columbia theater, and that the words first went into print on the program of the glee club's opening night performance. The Columbia Herald printer, of which Mr. Stephens was the owner, printed the programs. The author doesn't know whatever became of the manuscript, probably went into the printer's or proofreader's waste basket, he thinks, but he possesses one of the first printed copies of the song—a complete glee club program of the evening, which he treasures. It is known that several others connected with the University during the early Nineties still have copies.

An original print of the glee club concert program, supplied to me by Dr. Wauchope since his return to South Carolina in September, carries the names of these eight Columbia ladies as patronesses:

Mrs. R. H. Jesse, Mrs. G. B. Rollins, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Mrs. Frank Thilly, Mrs. J. D. Lawson, Mrs. Woodson Moss, Mrs. C. W. Marx, and Mrs. W. J. Quick.

The program was held on a Tuesday evening, April 16, 1895. It was described as the "First Home Concert of the University of Missouri Glee, Banjo, and Mandolin Clubs." H. T. Cory was manager of the musical organization and H. K. White the leader. Their names appear prominently on the printed program. The entire personnel of the three clubs as constituted in April 1895 was as follows, and in this form they appeared on page four of the printed program:

Two of these young men became prominent attorneys in Missouri, both being still active in their profession. They are Guy A. Thompson of St. Louis and George H. English of Kansas City.

What I wanted to know was how this man Wauchope came to write "Old Missouri." What was the inspiration of so noble an effort? That it has lasted down through the years is proof enough for me that it was a noble effort and that it will survive for many years to come. And did he write both the words and the music? So, I asked him. This is the story:

"Ever write any verse?" Henry K. White, leader of the glee club one day asked the young English professor.

"Hardly any," was the modest reply.

"We must have a college song. Won't you try?"

"I'll try," was the brief rejoinder.

So, it seems, this story has bound up with it the historical background for Missouri's now nationally famous glee club, as well. Perhaps it is significant, and again perhaps not, that "Old Missouri" was not only sung for the first time publicly by Missouri's first glee club, but that it was sung at that first glee club's initial public appearance.

Wauchope wrote the words in a single night, "dashed them off," as the author puts it. "I have always written rapidly when in the mood for composing," he explained. The next day, as he recalls after these many years, the polishing and shaping-up process took place. "Then it was," he said "that White worked on the musical setting. Then I showed it to Dr. Jesse for his judgment."

Because Dr. Wauchope's recollection of details concerning the origin of the song was admittedly a bit hazy in spots, it became advisable to get in touch with some of the student-members of the 1895 musical aggregation. Guy Thompson and George English both responded with letters that not only have helped to clear up doubtful points but which netted some interesting supplementary material on the subject as well.

Circumstances attendant on selection of the tune Mr. Thompson recalled very distinctly in his letter, which runs as follows and is probably authentic in every detail:

"After we had received the words from Professor Wauchope, it became necessary to select an appropriate tune to fit the words. George English and I enlisted the assistance of Mrs. J. C. Jones, wife of Dr. J. C. Jones, now president emeritus of the University. She had a thick book of old familiar tunes and, with Mrs. Jones at the piano in her home, and George English and me standing by, we spent all one Sunday afternoon trying out these old familiar tunes, and finally the three of us agreed that 'Annie Lisle' was the most suitable and it is the tune to which the words ever since have been sung."

It developed that Mr. Thompson also has saved a copy of the original glee club program. And now comes another chapter in the history of the Missouri alma mater song, which song, as revealed in the St. Louis lawyer-alumnus' letter, was for a time lost.

"There was no glee club at the University in the years '98, '99 and 1900," writes Mr. Thompson. "In 1901 Mrs. J. C. Jones organized and directed the glee club of that year. Meanwhile 'Old Missouri' was not being sung and the words had been lost. At least, no one at the University was sure of the words. Mrs. Jones wrote me for them. I sent them to her. Though I wrote them from memory, I am sure that I gave them correctly. Mrs. Jones' glee club revived the song and it has stuck. Thus you will see the University is indebted both to Dr. Wauchope and to Mrs. Jones for her varsity song. Dr. Wauchope wrote it and Mrs. Jones rescued it from threatened oblivion."

To this account, Mr. English of Kansas City adds: "I was not in school at the time Mrs. Jones reorganized the glee club, but it occurs to me that she wrote or communicated with me in reference to the words of the song. My recollection is not very clear but I probably helped Guy to recall them or confirmed his recollection about them."

Mr. English also remembered very distinctly that in preparation for the first concert considerable effort was made to select a suitable college song. "In point of fact," he writes, "I wrote one myself to the doleful hymn tune, 'Frederick,' of which I can remember only one line as follows: 'Round thy storm-beaten columns cluster memories dear.' My effort was very properly rejected and Dr. Wauchope's was chosen."

Mr. English likewise remembers that he interposed some objection to the tune on the ground that it was the tune of the college song of both Cornell University and of Kansas. "But," he adds, "White thought it would do, and let it go at that."

He goes on to tell of how the leader of the glee club engineered a little by-play that was popular at the first concert, as it worked a surprise upon the audience. "Responding to an encore," Mr. English says, "the club seemed to be unable to hit the key. Place (who was then an instructor) apparently being the chief offender, who sang off tune. After two or three attempts, White spoke angrily to Place who responded in kind and a free-for-all fight was staged before the audience, the belligerents being separated by the other members of the club. Just as the audience, or some of them at least, started to the stage to stop this undignified proceeding, the club fell into line, big Place with his arm around little White's shoulders, and united in the following verse:

*Blessed be the tie that binds
Our hearts in friendship true
In Harmony our discord ends,
We've got the laugh on you.*

"I think it was Wauchope, himself, who was so deceived by the little comedy," Mr. English added, "that he started up to the stage. He knew that White had been working very hard and was deceived by the good acting of White and Place into fearing that under strain White had really lost his temper and was making a scene."

"The last time the author of 'Old Missouri' was back in Columbia for a visit was about 1917 on the occasion of the University's seventy-fifth anniversary celebration. There was considerable in the way of memories in honor of the event, Dr. Wauchope recalled. 'As I walked onto the campus,' he said, 'the student cadet band burst forth with the strains of my song—'Old Missouri, Fair Missouri, dear old Varsity.' Never in my life have I experienced a greater thrill than on that occasion." I believe he mentioned that there were tears, as there might well have been. "And," he added, "I never expect to experience a greater thrill than that all the rest of my living days."

Yet, I seem to visualize for him one greater thrill that might come to pass. What a fine thing it would be, I reflected, as I sat listening to his reminiscent words, how fine if, somehow, sometime, the University of Missouri or the alumni association, or both, might invite the author of its alma mater song back to visit the Columns and to honor him appropriately. Thousands upon thousands have learned to sing it and to love it in this more than a quarter of a century since it was written, during which time the student-body has grown from a mere 700 in 1895 to over 4,000. I don't know how it should be done, but I believe ceremonies and honors could be arranged, with Mrs. J. C. Jones, Guy L. Thompson and George H. English participating in the ceremonies.

I do know that the author of the song is not an alumnus of the University of Missouri, and I am wondering if he shouldn't be? I know that he is a scholar of some standing, being a Phi Beta Kappa with an A.B., A.M., Ph.D. and Litt. D., from Washington and Lee University. He is a native Virginian. He has also studied at Harvard and at the University of Berlin. He is the author of nearly a dozen published literary works, including "The New Irish Drama," and "Literary South Carolina." He is the editor of the Southern Literary Magazine, and "Who's Who," that dictionary of famous men to which we are all more or less addicted who write, gives him a most generous amount of space.

He is also the author of South Carolina University's alma mater song which he wrote in 1907 and which sways the crowds at mass meetings and at football games in that famous old state. It is sung to the tune of "Flow Gently Sweet Afton." And, by the way, he wrote the official story of the University of Missouri fire at the personal request of President Jesse.

Engineers Attention!

Annual Engineers' Week, March 16-17

President L. Walter Helmreich and Secretary Carl Brown of the Engineering Alumni Association, both of Jefferson City, are making great plans for the annual meeting and reunion of engineering alumni on March 16-17 in Columbia. You see them here talking over plans. Mr. Helmreich is in charge of the Jefferson City Water Plant and Mr. Brown is the Assistant Chief Engineer of the Missouri Highway Commission, which has had charge of Missouri's great highway system.

those already mentioned, he wished especially to be remembered to N. T. Gentry, Dean Walter Williams, Dr. J. W. Connoway, and Dr. John Calvert. He inquired also about Dr. A. Ross Hill whom he entertained as his personal guest in Columbia, S. C., a few years ago, while Dr. Hill was president of the University.

P. S.: Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. English speak with the fondest recollection concerning the famed glee club excursion to Lawrence, Kansas, one year after the club had been organized.

"It was the glee club of '95-'96 that made the disastrous holiday excursion to Kansas," writes Thompson. "You know they went broke and were obliged to leave their manager, Ben Thompson, at Lawrence as security for the payment of their debts. This afforded James A. De Armond, second tenor, inspiration for those at-one-time-famous lines sung to the tune of The Bowery. The first of the five verses was as follows:

*We just got back from the sunflower state
We packed our grips and we pulled our freight;
The audience gave us the marble heart,
It caused no grief when we had to part.
We all took sleepers beneath the train,
To shelter our voices from wind and rain.
And now that we're safe in Missouri again,
We'll never go there any more.*

To which George English adds:
"I was the leader of the club on the trip into Kansas and made the arrangement by which Ben Thompson was hypothecated for our board bill at Lawrence and some other individual was left as similar security at Atchison. I came to Kansas City and borrowed from Gardner Lathrop, who was then a curator, enough money to procure the release of our pledged members, and when we got back to Liberty and were greeted with a warm Missouri welcome and a full house, Jim De Armond burst forth into the song, one verse of which is quoted in Guy's letter. I think I could supply the remaining verses which are equally witty."

The Fifth Annual Meeting of the Association of Alumni and Former Students of the College of Engineering, University of Missouri, will be held in connection with the Eighth Annual M. U. Engineers' Week on March 16 and 17 of this year.

Dean McCaustland and Prof. Rodhouse, together with all of the professors in the College of Engineering, are making extensive preparations for a busy and instructive two-day session, to be held in connection with the time honored St. Patrick's celebration.

The Alumni, Former Students and present Students of the College of Engineering consider this annual celebration, not only one of pleasure and an opportunity to mingle with their professors and meet old-time friends, but an added opportunity to lend some assistance toward the betterment of the education facilities of the College of Engineering and the University.

The officers of the organization of Alumni and Former Students of the College of Engineering request that as many alumni and Former Students as can possibly do so will come to Columbia and assist in making this year's festivities one to be long remembered.

They request those who cannot attend this meeting to please drop a few lines to them, telling where you are, what you are doing and any other news that will be of interest to the organization.

They believe that it is the duty of every graduate and former student of the University to give some thought and help to the University, and that a large attendance at this celebration will lend material assistance in furthering the interests of the College of Engineering in particular, and the University in general. During the past year the Association of Alumni and Former Students issued Volume No. 8 of the Directory of Alumni and Former Students of the College of Engineering, University of Missouri and mailed out approximately 1200 copies of this directory to Engineering Alumni and Former Students whose addresses were known.

L. W. Helmreich, Manager of Water Dept., Jefferson City, President.

Carl W. Brown, State Highway Dept., Secretary-Treasurer.

T. J. Rodhouse, representative on the General Alumni Board.

Dean E. J. McCaustland of the College of Engineering.

Chaperoning one thousand mules from Norfolk, Va., to Barcelona, Spain, on the S. S. Maraka, which sailed on February 10, is the job of the following University men:

Snider, Geers & Geers, Arcade Building, President and Secretary, respectively, of the St. Louis Alumni Association, hereby call attention to all the alumni and former students in St. Louis to the annual Glee Club Concert to be held in St. Louis on March 7 at the Odeon. Prof. Herbert Wall and his championship Missouri Glee Club won the championship in the Missouri Valley contest in Wichita in February and on March 7 in St. Louis will give their annual concert there on their way to New York City to compete in the National Intercollegiate Glee Club Concert. Make your arrangements now to attend the St. Louis concert and for details and tickets call Mr. Wyatt or Mr. Snider.

J. Wesley McAfee is General Chairman of the Glee Club arrangements Committee, Russell R. (Rusty) Casteel, is treasurer, T. W. Parry, Jr., is in charge of Publicity, John W. (Bill) Kerr is in charge of the ticket sales and the St. Louis alumnae have charge of the sale of boxes, under the direction of Miss Alice E. Hall, President of the St. Louis alumnae, assisted by Miss Ann Lewis and Mrs. Louise Stark.

What a wealth of fellowship, what a volume of collegiate spirit, and what a measure of enjoyment does the annual College Club night hold for St. Louisans. This year for this occasion on Monday evening, January 30, the American Theater offered, "The Merry Wives of Windsor," with Mrs. Fiske, Henrietta Crossman, and Otis Skinner.

The charming stage settings, costumes, and fine acting made the play a most enjoyable one. There was a delightful mingling of Shakespearean humor and philosophy with collegiate fun, always present on College Club night.

In deference to Mrs. Fiske the college festivities were presented at the close of the play. Miss Ann Lewis, Vice-Pres. of the St. Louis alumnae, vividly and graciously presented a short talk on "The Spirit of Old Miz-zou." She closed by asking every loyal son and daughter of Missouri University as well as others in the audience who had seen a Missouri football game to stand and join in giving the varsity yell.

The Missouri box was advantageously situated. The decorations were very attractive, the black and gold color scheme was carried out. An added feature of the decoration this year was the Tiger.

On Saturday, February 4, the Missouri alumnae held their annual Benefit for the Scholarship Fund. This activity, one of the major projects of the alumnae, is always anticipated with a great deal of pleasure. The Benefit this year was a Bridge party given at the Town Club. Mrs. Louise Stark was chairman of the committee which arranged for the event. A large crowd attended and the old time Missouri fellowship was much in evidence.

Mrs. John D. Henderson of Missouri, wife of the late Senator John D. Henderson, will entertain the Missouri Glee Club in her home. Mrs. Henderson entertained the Glee Club last year.

Mr. Hornback is arranging for a big day for the Glee Club in Washington, with a visit to Congress and to the White House. In other visits to Washington the alumni there arranged for a sightseeing tour for the members of the Missouri party, which included a visit to the White House where a photograph was taken with the President. John B. Gordon, B.S. in Ag. '09, is assisting Mr. Hornback in the arrangements for entertaining the Club.

John S. Hornback, President of the Washington, D. C., alumni Association, and the following Washington alumni were hosts at a luncheon given in honor of William B. Burruss, A.B. & LL.B. ### CLAY COUNTY

At the close of an enthusiastic meeting held in Liberty on January 27th, the Clay County Alumni Association elected the following officers: President, Ethel Massie Withers, Liberty; Vice-President, Frank McAnaw, Excelsior Springs; Secretary, Luella Hoffman Goodson, Liberty.

Resolutions expressing confidence in Dr. Stratton D. Brooks and his conduct of the affairs of the University, endorsing the management of the University by the Board of Curators, and decrying any attempt to place the institution under the control of politics were presented and passed.

On this 27th of January the Missouri State University came into its own in Clay county, to be understood and appreciated as never before.

The occasion was a special meeting of the Liberty Fortnightly Study Club for which Mrs. Robert S. Withers of the class of 1903 had the responsibility of securing the guest speaker. Mrs. F. G. Hale, a former University student, and now president of the Fortnightly Club of Liberty was eager to join in making this a function with the University note dominant, the program to be in the interests of education.

Months ahead of time, Dr. Brooks was invited to give the main address and his acceptance insured the success of the plans.

There was much local publicity. The response was cordial and at the dinner given in honor of Dr. Brooks eighty were seated at the beautifully appointed tables. The place card programs were in old gold with a cut of the Memorial Tower on the back.

Among those seated at this table were Mrs. Hale, Dr. Brooks, Dr. H. C. Wayman, President of William Jewell College, and Mrs. Wayman, Dr. R. R. Fleet, Dean of William Jewell, a former University man, and Mrs. Fleet, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Goodson, Major Ralph Wilson of Washington University, Hon. B. T. Gordon, Senator from the Third District, C. F. Ward, Curator from Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Ward, F. G. Hale, and Mrs. Withers.

Another long table at which the chief decorative feature was an Italian marble replica of the historic old columns, was filled by University people from over the county. Leslie Bates, retiring president of the Clay County Alumni Association, and Mrs. Bates, Coach Frank McAnaw and Mrs. McAnaw of Excelsior Springs, and many others reminisced here. Dr. J. H. Jenkins from the days of 1884, Emmett Ward and Aubrey Bush carried back the farthest, while C. E. Martin of 1923 had the most recent memories to relate.

At other tables were many members of the William Jewell faculty with their wives, representatives from the Liberty public school system, ministers, and business men.

A program of music and toasts was introduced by Mrs. Hale between courses, and Dr. Brooks won a sympathetic response from all through his brief, informal talk.

Following the dinner, adjournment was made to the Methodist Church nearby where a large audience had gathered to hear Dr. Brooks give an address on the educational situation in Missouri, with especial reference to the management and needs of the University.

Mrs. Withers promised an evening of instruction with entertainment on the side and that was what was given, for Dr. Brooks is most enlivening and entertaining while giving facts and figures. All left with a feeling of pride in the University, a sense of ownership, and a realization of obligation towards it.

Dr. Brooks made a strong plea that the University be kept out of politics and that economy be not practiced to the extent that efficiency must be impaired, pointing out that an increasing attendance cannot be accompanied by a decreasing budget without lowering the efficiency.

It was found that the three people most concerned in this meeting all came originally from near-by points in Cass county—Dr. Brooks, Mrs. F. G. Hale, president of the hostess club, and Mrs. Robert S. Withers, Legislative department chairman in charge of the program.

NEW YORK

Tickets for this alumni party and for the Glee Club Missouri section at the contest may be obtained by applying directly to Mr. Kinyon or Mr. Resor. PLEASE TAKE DUE NOTICE AND GIVE EVERY POSSIBLE ASSISTANCE TO MESSRS. KINYON AND RESOR TO MAKE THIS PARTY A GREAT SUCCESS.

ALUMNI OF THE SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

Dean Walter Williams of the School of Journalism has announced that the dates for the annual Journalism Week will be May 6-12, at which time the School of Journalism will celebrate its 20th anniversary. The annual meeting and banquet of the alumni of the School of Journalism will be held that week.

He married Miss Jetta Hamilton of Gatehouse-of-Fleet, Kirkcudbrightshire, Scotland, in Miles City, Mont., on November 29, 1905. School, has been a student in the College of Engineering at the University of Missouri since 1926 and is a member of the Hope O' Tomorrow Club. Their second son, Hugh Douglas Gray, is enrolled in the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, an appointee from Alaska. Mr. Gray was born in Santa Fe, Mo., April 8, 1887, and is a graduate of the Perry Institute. He enlisted as a private in old Company 'I', Fifth Missouri Volunteers, Spanish-American War, organized April 18, 1898 by University of Missouri students under Captain George H. English, now Attorney of Kansas City. Mr. Gray writes that the last University of Missouri contact he had was by a visit with Warren Woodson, one of his old classmates in Miles City, Mont., in 1910, who was a sheep rancher at that time. He asked to be remembered to Dr. J. C. Jones, Prof. L. M. Defoe, B. F. Hoffman, and Dr. John Prickard. His next University contact was a clipping from some former Alaska friends, now living in Portales, N. M., showing the photograph carried in the Kansas City Star of the students in the University in the Hope O' Tomorrow Club. "On seeing Gordon's name and picture in the bunch, they immediately sent it to us. Some of the names are still quite familiar to me. Freudenberger—I knew three brothers there, and Norman was classmate and a pal, and one of the best friends I had there. I knew Herman Almstedt. He was a fine fellow and a brilliant student. Harry Jacks, I also knew. He was our favorite pitcher on our ball team. And Hill,—I can never forget

Ad and Ben Hill, two old Tiger stars in our famous team of those gridiron days, along with Capt. Young, 'Scanless' Thompson, Brigham, Senate, Gibson, Smith, Conover, 'Choctaw', et al. And while I am naming these, I must not fail to mention a few at least of my classmates, most of whom were pals of mine, throughout the four years there. Besides Norman Freudenberger named above, there was John L. Gerig, Murray Phillips, Marion, Roy and Byron McFarlane, D. C. Guffey, Dudley Conley, C. M. Barnes, our Major in the cadet battalion, and George H. English, who afterwards was my Capt. in Co. 'I' Volunteers. These just off hand, and many others that I will not mention here, but are equally to be remembered in my mind. (Especially Joe McIntyre and J. N. Wilson)."

"ENGINEERS' WEEK" 1928

The period allotted to "Engineers' Week" activities for 1928 has been materially reduced in length when compared to a like period during recent years. The present plan is to have addresses from visiting engineers on one day only, Friday, March 16. Although we have been very much instructed and entertained in the programs of recent years, the interruption of the regular class work for a period of four days has been quite serious. Therefore, the Faculty decided, and students have cheerfully concurred, that a shorter period may be the better plan.

The program will open with a smoker on Tuesday evening, March 15. This is the annual "get together" meeting of the student engineers with the Faculty members and the visitors. Friday morning from nine to twelve and the afternoon from one-thirty to five, the speakers' program will be held in Jesse Hall. The visitors selected for this program represent a wide range of engineering practices and every man who is honoring us with his presence is a leader in his particular field. No attempt has been made to specialize in any particular type of engineering, but the speakers have been chosen from widely different fields of practice. This will enable our students to gain an appreciation of the fact that trained engineers find successful and inspiring careers in widely different lines of activity. A special letter of invitation will be sent out to all the Alumni and former students of the College so far as they may be reached, and it is hoped that the attendance will be large.

Saturday, St. Pats' own day, will be devoted to social converse and to the special activities of the Knights of St. Patrick. The annual stunts, Knighting Ceremony, and laboratory exhibits will occupy the afternoon and evening.

"Erin Go Bragh"

ATHLETICS

Missouri Wins Honors in K. C. A. C. Meet.

To the Tigers went the greatest share of honors in the annual K. C. A. C. track meet, Convention Hall, Kansas City, Feb. 18. The Tigers won five of the twenty-one events on the program. Earl Diemund, Tiger football star, won both the high and low hurdle events. Diemund hung up a new record by running the low hurdles in 6 seconds, and won the high hurdles by placing second to Potts of Nebraska, who was disqualified for knocking down more hurdles than the rules allow.

Miller Brown, King City, won the shot-put with a throw of 45 feet 3/4 inches. Missouri got another first when Keith Hursley of Kansas City won the quarter-mile in 52 4-5 seconds. Both Brown and Hursley have bettered these marks previous and are almost certain to improve later.

The performance of the Tiger relay team was one of the features of the meet. The Kansas Aggie team was a favorite to win over Missouri in the special mile relay event, but Allegri, Hursley, Thelen and Walton, all of Kansas City, led the Aggies all the way, running the event in 3 minutes, 31 seconds. The time was the fastest turned in for the mile relay, just two seconds faster than that of the Oklahoma quartet who outdistanced Bob Simpson's Iowa State runners in 3 minutes 33.2 seconds.

Missouri lost to Oklahoma, 40-24 in Columbia on Feb. 4. It was the game of the season to date, because the Sooners were leading the valley with an undefeated team, this being their 10th consecutive victory. The largest local crowd of the season attended the game and there was a host of alumni in attendance from all sections of the State.

The Tigers defeated the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater on February 10, score 56-47, in which they illustrated a comeback that has seldom been equalled on the Aggie Court, scoring five field goals in the last three minutes of play, holding the Aggies scoreless during that time. The Aggies had a ten-point lead at the end of the half.

The following night at Norman the undefeated Sooners won their 12th victory by defeating the Tigers 34-32.

The Tigers defeated Drake in Columbia 28-21 on February 17.

The Tigers snowed the Jayhawks under by a 49-29 score in Columbia on February 21. It was the largest point total ever scored against Kansas by a Tiger team, the largest margin by which Missouri has defeated Kansas in the last decade and was the first victory Missouri won on their own court from Kansas since 1921. It gives the Tigers a unanimous decision over the Kansas team for the season, for Missouri defeated Kansas at Lawrence 30-22. Jake Hamil, sports writer for the Columbia Tribune, stated the contest was the most thrilling exhibition of basketball in a decade for the Missouri followers.

Grinnell defeated Missouri at Des Moines on February 24 by a score of 38-37, Grinnell making the winning point in the last second of play. The Tigers defeated Grinnell in the game in Columbia.

The Tigers defeated Iowa State at Ames the following evening, 42-30.

Drake defeated Missouri at Des Moines on the night of the 27th by a score of 24-20.

It looks like an undefeated championship basketball team for Oklahoma; with Missouri second in the Valley.

The Tiger Captain, Yunker, is fifth individual scorer in the Valley.

The Tiger Wrestlers defeated Kansas at Lawrence on February 20, by a score of 14-11. Missouri scored one fall and three decisions.

The Tiger wrestlers defeated Iowa State at Ames on January 31, score 12-11 after forfeiting five points for not entering the heavyweight class. The following Tigers won decisions: Reese, specialweight; Young, welterweight; Hawkins, light-heavyweight; and Sappington, lightweight.

Coach Jack Crangle has announced the following baseball schedule and with the assistance of Captain Cecil Newman and Feldecamp, the one-armed Tiger pitcher, they are making plans for a successful baseball season:

April 11-12—Missouri vs. Oklahoma Aggies at Columbia.

April 17—Missouri vs. Washington at Columbia.

April 20-21—Missouri vs. Oklahoma at Columbia.

April 25-26—Missouri vs. Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.

April 27-28—Missouri vs. Kansas at Lawrence.

May 2-3—Missouri vs. Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater.

May 4-5—Missouri vs. Oklahoma at Norman.

May 9—Missouri vs. Washington at St. Louis.

May 11-12—Missouri vs. Kansas at Columbia.

The Inter-State basketball tournament, held at the University under the auspices of the High School Athletic Association, will be held in Columbia on March 16 and 17, with sixteen teams competing.

The Track Tournament will be held on May 5 in Columbia, during Inter-scholastic Week-end, May 3, 4 and 5. This competition is open to all high schools in the state.

The annual Farmers' Fair will be held on May 4.

D. G. (Pete) Peterson, B.J. '23, of Missouri football fame, is the subject of the following article recently published in Sport Comment in the Kansas City Star:

Delmar Guggenheimer Peterson, the sage of Bartlesville, has broken loose again. The former athlete of William Jewell and Missouri covers a wide field when he starts a running fire of comment, wise-cracking on everything from basketball to Oklahoma politics and in between.

"Got a laugh the other day when I read that Will Rogers says if more people laid down books without reading them we would have more Lindberghs and fewer Loeb and Leopolds," writes "Pete." "I laugh in the opening line of this letter simply because Will laughed, and not because of any other reason. But I just thought that if more men would lay down their hands, instead of trying to read the other fellow's, we would have more checker players and fewer poker addicts. On the other hand it was probably a good thing for Leopold and Loeb that Mr. Darrow's fingers stuck to a lot of books.

"If Hoover doesn't make a clean sweep of the country it won't be the fault of the vacuum cleaners. And if Al Smith sails up the canal to Houston, as it is rumored he is going to do, and parks his boat, Democracy may well hope that it won't prove the setting for a political Boston Tea Party. If Tommy Heflin, the Peck's Bad Boy of Democracy, gets to Houston before Al and his boat are within parking distance it might be well for them to anchor the Ark and send out the dove. If it comes back with tar on its feathers the chances are that Tommy has already arrived. If the bird returns minus any feathers at all it might be inferred that it had met the mosquito fleet. In the meantime who is going to write the biography call 'The Fall of Albert.' Whoever it may be, I don't believe it will be a Republican or a relative. Anyway, it should have a great sale.

"Of course, you know the Democrats in our state got to thumbing their noses at each other and there followed the 'Ewe Lamb Rebellion,' an armed though bloodless revolt in which the governor was accused of paying too much attention to his Hammond eggs, and too little attention to other matters. And, later on, it was charged that liquor was served at a meeting of the State Bar Association. If that were true it is obvious that some outsider furnished the refreshments. It would seem then that sometimes something else besides justice is served at the bar. During the 'rebellion' it is said that 'Jack' Walton, deposed governor of one time, appeared at Oklahoma City. When asked what he thought of it, he is reported to have smiled, as he looked at the callow militiamen on guard, and said: 'Well, I had a bigger army.'

"Anyhow, another anyhow, why don't you fix it up with WDAF to broadcast a hockey game. I have never seen it played, but I have read the rules and have had the game explained and described by an Easterner who used to play the game. Last winter I enjoyed hearing some Chicago stations, I believe it was, broadcast hockey games.

"I guess your good health is good these days and your family are all happy. I am coming up to the big burg some of these days, and I shall remember your invitation to stop in and see you. That policeman you have down at the main entrance seems to think that every person entering the building has a poem in his pocket, the way he looks at one. And I'd bet most anything that his wife is a little bit of a woman who makes him wipe the dishes."

Mortar Board, Secretary of the Women's Council 1923-24, announce the birth of a son, Ralph L. Jr., at their home in Wichita Falls, Tex.

Emery Paxton, B.J. '26, Phi Delta Theta, QEBH, Sigma Delta Chi, Student Council, Savitar, Journalism Play, Memorial Drives, Kappa Tau Alpha, Eugene Field Scholarship, born in Colorado Springs on December 7, 1903, died on January 26 at his home, 511 Morton Ave., Ridley Park, Pa. He was on the staff of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. After graduation he went to Washington, D. C., where he was employed on the U. S. Daily. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Paxton, 2933 Victor, Kansas City, and by his widow, formerly Ruth M. Bursum, who was enrolled in the University in '25-'26, Kappa Kappa Gamma, daughter of H. O. Bursum, formerly U. S. Senator from New Mexico, and Mrs. Bursum; and a young son, David Olaf, born November 2, 1927; a sister, Betty Ann, now Mrs. Morris S. Moore, 4305 Robert Gillham Road, who attended the University in '24-'25; and a brother, John E. Paxton, 2933 Victor Avenue, Kansas City.

William H. Hamby, '06, writer of fiction and other articles, died on January 25 at his home in San Diego, Calif. He was born in Wright county, Mo., March 18, 1875, and was married in 1898 to Miss Edna L. Cornue, '06.

Mr. Hamby formerly lived in Chillicothe and was the first President of the Missouri Writers' Guild. His first novel was written in 1910, and from that time on he may be said to have "arrived" as a successful writer of fiction. Some of the novels to his credit are: Crooked Water, Vagabond's End, Ranch of the Thorn, The Seventh Hunch, Tom Henry of Wahoo County—one of his earliest books—and The Ranch of the Three Passes. This last book was the prize winning serial in the $5000 Triple X magazine contest last year. It was later sold at a good price for a motion picture. Perhaps the best loved of all his writings by his Chillicothe friends and relatives is "The Sound of the Hammer."

The most pretentious of his magazine articles was a series of articles written in collaboration with an admiral of the U. S. Navy on the Pacific fleet and which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, which for many years carried articles and fiction of this well-known writer. Other leading magazines in which his work appeared are: Scribner's, Century, Munsey's, Life, Sunset.

He is survived by his widow and one son, William C., fourteen.

Miss Ida J. Johnson, A.B. '22, M.A. '25, who was formerly an instructor in the extension division of the University, died at her home in Leadville, Mo., on February 2.

Y. M. C. A. to be Endowed!!

Dr. Brooks Heads Campaign

President Stratton D. Brooks announced recently that plans had been completed for a campaign to provide a fund of $100,000 for the endowment of the University Y. M. C. A., and included provisions for using the Y. M. C. A. Building for a temporary Union. A state-wide campaign for $60,000 has been launched, with Dr. Brooks as Chairman. The money raised will be used to pay off the Y. M. C. A. indebtedness, $22,000 to completely remodel and revamp the building, to cost $33,000, such that it will be ideally suitable for a temporary Union and to permanently endow the Y. M. C. A. It is hoped to have the building ready for occupancy when school starts next fall. All of the student offices, including the office of the student president, the student council, the Savitar, W. S. G. A., Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and other organizations too numerous to mention will be provided in the temporary Union, as will permanent offices for the Parents' Association, and one floor will be selected by the Alumni Association for alumni offices. The Memorial Union Committee will outline the plans which the Y. M. C. A. Committee will follow for remodeling the building for a temporary Union, on such a basis that the building will be remodeled in tip-top shape for a Union. Not one cent of the money pledged to the Memorial Union will be used for the temporary Union. Collection on Memorial pledges will go right along and as soon as sufficient money is collected on Memorial pledges the Memorial Committee will make financial arrangements to build the permanent Union at the site of the Memorial Tower.

All students who were living in the Y. M. C. A. dormitory moved out at the end of last semester, all the equipment in the building was sold recently, and remodeling work will begin as soon as the campaign for funds has been completed.

The campaign started in St. Louis early in February. President Brooks met there with the St. Louis chairman, John T. Garrett and the following members of his committee: Guy A. Thompson, vice-chairman; and W. Frank Carter, Forrest C. Donnell, Arnot Finley, Ralph T. Findley, Fred D. Gardner, Arthur M. Idler, William T. Jones, Harold M. McPheeters, Franklin Miller, E. Lansing Ray, Albert L. Schwitzer, R. H. Switzer, Frank R. Tate, and Grant Wyatt, Jr.

President Brooks also visited Kansas City in the interest of the campaign. Julian Wornall, President of the Kansas City Alumni Association is chairman of the campaign committee there. Other members of the committee are Senator James S. Summers, R. B. Caldwell, Shannon C. Douglass, and William Buchholz.

Dean Albert K. Heckel is sending student solicitors throughout the state for funds for endowing the Y. and John F. Williams, University Publisher, is handling the publicity.

It is the hope that this campaign will be a success in order that the Y. may be permanently endowed and relieved of the handicap of the present building and in turn a temporary Union will be provided until such time that funds will permit the building of the permanent one.

Judge Merrill E. Otis, A.B. '06, A.M. & LL.B. '10, was commended recently as follows on the editorial page of the Kansas City Star: "American judges are handicapped by complicated and cumbersome codes and methods of procedure, but some of them have not always availed themselves of their full prerogatives in speeding up their dockets and facilitating justice. There is, however, increasing effort among judges to effect such reforms as are possible in their handling of cases. Judge Merrill E. Otis, on taking charge of the criminal docket of the federal court for the ensuing year has announced a program for expediting cases and making punishment speedy and inexorable. 'A sentence is for punishment,' said Judge Otis in making his announcement for the session. Judge Otis's attitude is not encouraging to criminals and their counsel. The more criminals are impressed with the belief they can not escape punishment by delays, by legal chicanery, by soft clemency, the more they will fear and respect the law."

KEEPING PACE

Kansas City grows. The advertisers and printing craft of Kansas City and the Southwest increase their demands in business art and photo-engraving. We are keeping pace. A merger with the Baird Company Engravers of Kansas City adds greatly to our resources of skill and equipment, making this more than ever a versatile and effective organization, one of the largest in its line west of Chicago. Ben F. Seward, '15, is president and treasurer. When corporate changes are completed, our name will be "Burger-Baird Engraving Co." For the present, address

“Submarine sighted—position 45”

BATTLE PLANES leap into action—springing from a five-acre deck—sure of a landing place on their return, though a thousand miles from shore.

This marvel of national defense was accomplished—and duplicated—when the airplane carrier, U. S. S. Saratoga, and her sister ship, U. S. S. Lexington, were completely electrified.

In each, four General Electric turbine-generators deliver, combined, 180,000 horse power to the propellers—enough to drive the ship at 39 miles an hour—enough to furnish light and power for a city of half a million people.

The General Electric Company has developed powerful marine equipment, as well as electric apparatus for every purpose of public advantage and personal service. Its products are identified by the initials G-E.

And in the familiar occupations of daily life, electricity is working wonders just as great—improving industrial production, lifting the burden of labor, speeding transportation, and multiplying the comforts of home.

Telephone Co. Is a Permanent Institution in Missouri

Building A Home?

If you plan to build a home this Spring, it is well to consider the location of your telephone. Building plans should provide a permanent niche for your telephone and perhaps for one or more extensions. If this is done in advance, the telephone wires can be concealed and protected.

You can obtain a pamphlet at the Telephone Business Office, which contains suggestions, explanations and wiring diagrams for the proper installation of telephones in homes and apartments. This pamphlet is also of particular value to architects and contractors.

The Modern Salesman

A salesman ready to start on a round of his territory found the roads impassible. It looked like a week lost until he decided to call his customers by long distance. He did so, got his orders just as though he had called in person, and saved both time and money.

In Missouri
ONE YEAR AGO
 636,000 Telephones
 26,470 Long Distance calls daily
TODAY
 655,000 Telephones
 28,700 Long Distance calls daily

Building Today For Telephone Needs of Tomorrow

The business of supplying telephone communication is a permanent business. It is not working just for today, but for tomorrow as well. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is committed to a continuous program of extension and improvement, a program which is based upon the estimated growth and expansion of the region in which it operates. Money is expended to provide equipment in advance of the needs of the community. The telephone company has faith in the future of Missouri.

Today it serves directly through its own central offices 99 towns and cities in Missouri. In 29 of these communities it owns its own buildings. A network of some 1,760,000 miles of wire covers the State. Each year thousands of miles of wire are added to the system and thousands of new telephones are connected.

At present there are approximately 655,000 telephones in Missouri. Telephone engineers forecast a growth in population and an expansion of industry that will require almost double this number of telephones in 1950. Construction activities now are planned on that estimate of future requirements.

The permanent policy of the Bell System is to supply the best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety.
