EASTERN ALUMNI HEAR AMBASSADORS PAY TRIBUTE TO M. U. PRESIDENT

The dream of students and the hope of thousands of alumni was realized for three hundred Missouri-trained men and women in Washington, D. C., April 27, when ambassadors, alumni and other friends of the University assembled to honor, as individuals and as a group, the President of the University of Missouri. The occasion was the Walter Williams Banquet and Reception at the Hotel Mayflower, given in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Williams by the University of Missouri Alumni Association and the Missouri Society in the District of Columbia.

Introduced by former-Governor Arthur M. Hyde, the toastmaster, the ambassadors to the United States from Mexico, Chile and Japan—all of whom have visited the University and spoken to University audiences—paid tribute to President Williams and told of the important place held by the University of Missouri in the minds and lives of their own countrymen. They were followed on the program by the Hon. Harry B. Hawes, United States Senator from Missouri, Mr. Strickland Gillilan, famous humorist, Mr. G. Ellsworth Huggins, president of the New York Alumni Association, and President Williams. Music was furnished between the addresses by Miss Aurelia Colomo of Mexico City, Miss Minna Niemann, head of the Gunston Hall School for Girls in Washington and a former resident of St. Louis, and Senor Arsenio Ralio, Guatemalan violinist.

Alumni were welcomed, following the reception, by the president of the Washington Alumni Association, John B. Gordon, who read a cablegram from Fred Morris Dearing, ambassador to Peru from the United States and a graduate of the University. Mr. Dearing said in his message: "I GREATLY REGRET MY INABILITY TO BE WITH YOU TONIGHT IN HONORING ONE OF MISSOURI'S GREAT MEN AND MY FRIEND WALTER WILLIAMS. WARM REGARDS TO YOU ALL."

Mr. Gordon then presented as toastmaster, Mr. Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture.

First among the speakers on the program was the ambassador from Mexico, His Excellency, Senor Don Manuel Tellez, who said:

"Over a year ago I was offered by the then Dean of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri, Dr. Walter Williams, the opportunity to address the student body of his School on 'Journalism and Diplomacy,' a subject near to my heart because it was my good fortune to initiate my experience in life at the service of the first and to have devoted the rest of my modest activities to the cultivation of the second of these two noble callings. Now, at the kind in-"The University . . . has done a great service, and will, with the aid of its alumni and friends, do yet greater service . . . to the State of Missouri, to the Nation and to the World."—President Williams.

invitation of the Washington Association of the Alumni of his University, it is my happy, my distinguished privilege to welcome to this wonderful Capital for your great Nation, emporium of World activities and hopes, and my honor to greet in the new responsible capacity to which his high deservings and accomplishments exalted him since, my respected friend and host on that memorable occasion, the Honorable Walter Williams, founder of the first School of Journalism and President of the University of Missouri.

"Life always has a purpose, without which it would be useless and unworthy; the attainment of Happiness, elusive Siren whom we may dream of and from whom we may expect no more than the refreshing sprinkle of the marvellous fountain of the undying human aspiration for betterment, without which Progress would cease.

"Happiness for some may merely imply still the subserviency to the instinctive laws of self-preservation and for others the attainment of selfish self-contentment. Even then, useless as they may seem to appear within the lentitude of the process of Evolution, their efforts which will not fail to help evolve new types of life, shall not be lost. But for men, for men of reason, for men like his objecting and rebellious disciples, who do not fall within the ingenuous but unhappy definition of men attributed to Diogenes, "unfeathered bipeds," if self-preservation is a natural commandment to be complied with, if self-contentment may be a desirable instrumentality for higher accomplishments, Happiness resides in the sincere and unfaltering and endless exertion—within individual capability—towards the attainment of an aspiration that may benefit some, or of an Ideal that shall benefit all. Great men never belong to themselves, for their exertions they belong to their contemporary fellow-beings, for their teachings they belong to human-kind.

"The foundation of the first School of Journalism, was an achievement which deserves permanent recognition and of which—if the credit is yours—not only yourself, Mr. President, but all your fellow-citizens rightly must be proud. The conception of the old ragged gazetteer, communal carrier of both, mischief and merriment, belongs to the romantic antiquity of coaches and witches; on modern conception, Journalism is not only entrusted with the laborious and exacting work of gathering, verifying and distributing World news in the outstanding measure and with the accuracy and efficacy that modern requirements demand, but also, and primarily, is loaded with a responsibility heavier than which maybe there is no other than that of government itself, that of interpreting, or guiding or still, at times, forming public sentiments, public mind and public opinion. And should the foundation of Schools of Journalism not have come to raise the standard—already high—of the Journalistic profession, it certainly did come to establish the recognition that Journalism is an exacting art, the honorable profession which cannot be improvised and open to all, but only to those that have the qualities and painstakingly—as in all other professions,—have acquired the qualifications to serve it.

"Happy indeed the man that breaks the ground and seeds and labors and sees the gloriousness of the crop that will feed many ripe; happier indeed, President Williams, the one that has sown in the soul of men and has the rare, almost unhuman privilege, to behold his crop ripe, because that will be food that may feed all forever."

His Excellency, the ambassador from Chile, Senor Don Carlos Davila, then said:

"Mr. Toastmaster, my distinguished colleagues,

"Ladies and Gentlemen:

"There is no greater responsibility in modern life than that of the educator and the journalist because of the influence they exercise, almost without control, upon the secret springs of the individual and collective mentality, which can not be reached by the treatise or the philosopher.

"Dean Williams is at once an educator and a journalist; more than that, he is an educator of journalists, the dependable friend, counsellor, and spiritual mentor of his pupils. His influence has been and will be greater, much greater, than his modesty wants to admit, but not more than we wish, we friends who know his lofty outlook and greatness of soul.

"I hope you will pardon me if I speak here only in my capacity as a journalist. With twenty years of labor from reporter to editor it will not seem strange to you if the profession of my heart continually shows through my diplomatic investiture.

"There is a thought that always came to my mind during my work as a journalist: Are the school, the college, and the university really the only vehicles of education? To what extent do the professors form the mentality of the students, and finally, that of a nation? Are not the writers, and especially the newspaper men, also essential factors in the education of a people?

"The concept of education today departs more than ever from the pedagogical idea of a function of the school exclusively. It seems to me, that perhaps in greater proportion than the school itself, the theatre, the newspaper, the magazine, the book, the movies, the museum, the arts, the church and the home are concurrent elements in education. And this concept, which evidently relieves the school and the university of a considerable part of their responsibility for the mental development of a nation, puts into the hands of others and the journalist a social function of deep significance. As a journalist I felt this responsibility.

"There is, however, according to my purely personal manner of thought a fundamental difference between the professor and the journalist. It occurs to me that the basic idea of pedagogy is, or should be, the Socratic principle: 'I know nothing; let us think',—which is the necessary stimulus to investigation and study. Well then, the fundamental idea of our profession of journalism is the converse: We know everything and we are always right!

"But, as in all things of this world, there is in this arrogant idea of our profession a warrant of destiny. Without it there could be no journalists; it is this concept, true or false, of our importance which keeps us bound to the hard instrument of our labor.

"All that is true, said someone, speaking of this importance of newspaper men, but it is not less true that each time a newspaper man dies we have to take up a collection to have him buried.

"To accentuate the irony of that situation there is frequently thrown in the face of the journalist what is actually the scantiest thing that he has—his salary. 'Subsidized pen' is the first insult that comes to the mind of the partisan who falls in a polemic with a professional of the press. Such was the case in an incident which became proverbial in my Country. A grand gentleman of politics and finance had exchanged with a journalist a series of articles and replies which were increasing in bitterness and violence until, the great man disturbed, wished to put an end to the controversy and wrote: "After all, it is not right that I should continue in this discussion; I write for honor while my contender writes for his pay." To which the journalist replied: "You are entirely right; I write for money and you for honor. Each one writes for what he lacks!"

"The press, whatever may be the exception, represents the perennial and violent cry against conformity. For that, however critical it may be, it always is constructive, even though that affirmation may surprise the superficial observer to whom criticism is always negative. The press is the thorn in the cushion that humanity may not go to sleep. It keeps countries going ahead; and countries are like aeroplanes, they do not fall because they progress; they crash if they do not advance.

"Someone said that the trouble with the dissemination of knowledge through writing is that those who know, don't know how to write, and those who know how to write, don't know.

"This emphasizes the magnitude of the problems that confront the up-to-date journalist: we have to know and know how to write.

"Because of the high opinion that I have of educators and journalists, because of the great respect and affection that I have for Dean Williams, I consider a real privilege and honor the invitation that the University of Missouri Alumni Association and the Missouri Society were good enough to extend to me. I am proud to join in this homage to one of Missouri's predilect sons and one of the greatest exponents of her ideals and culture. I have visited forty States of the Union and everywhere I have found in the press, friends, admirers and former students of Dean Williams. They were for me a happy spiritual bond with the places I visited.

"Dean Walter Williams is the living spirit of philosophic journalism. He is what every good newspaper man down in his heart wishes to be: a moulder of minds; an influence upon the body politic; an inspiration to the cultural elevation of the masses. He is now the President of the University of Missouri, but every newspaper man thinks of him as the Dean of modern journalism."

His Excellency, the ambassador from Japan, Mr. Katsuji Debuchi, then spoke as follows:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I consider it the greatest possible pleasure to find myself tonight among this distinguished gathering of the members of the University of Missouri Alumni Association and the Missouri Society in the District of Columbia. I am particularly happy to greet President and Mrs. Williams whom my wife and I know very intimately.

"The University of Missouri has a close historic connection with my country; indeed a number of my compatriots have been educated there and have returned to their homeland carrying with them the fame of your excellent University.

"The stone lantern and group of Japanese cherry trees there on the campus symbolize our friendship and esteem for your renowned institution of learning.

"Availing myself of this opportunity, I wish to thank once more President and Mrs. Williams, the members of the faculty of the University and the citizens of the State of Missouri for the gracious hospitality which they were good enough to extend to us on the occasion of our visit to Columbia year before last.

"May the University of Missouri continue to progress and prosper under the able administration of my good friend, President Walter Williams, founder of the first School of Journalism in the world."

President Williams was the last speaker of the evening. He expressed for Mrs. Williams and himself deep appreciation and thanks. Whatever success had been attained, was due, he said, to the cooperation of associates and the loyalty and generosity of friends. He emphasized the need for higher education, education that was readjusted to meet the needs of today and tomorrow, not governed by traditions or prejudices of yesterday. Such education would take into consideration the realities of life, the romance of life, the right attitude unto life. The University of Missouri, he said, had had a long and honorable career, it had done a great service, and it would, with the aid of its alumni and friends, do yet greater service to those who came within its influences as students, to the State of Missouri, to the Nation, and to the World.

The school of education, with 173 candidates for the degrees of bachelor of science in education, leads all other divisions of the university. In the college of arts and science there are 166 candidates for the degree of bachelor of arts, and other undergraduate candidates include: journalism 108, business administration 76, engineering 74, agriculture 36, law 30, medicine 24, fine arts 16, home economics 9, rural public welfare 5, civil engineering 4, electrical engineering 1.

In the graduate school there are 107 candidates for the degree of master of arts and ten are seeking the degree of doctor of philosophy.

The Commencement Week program will begin Sunday, May 31, when the Rev. Hugh Black of the Union Theological Seminary, New York City, delivers the baccalaureate sermon at services in Brewer Field House. Class Day will be held on Monday, June 1. Alumni Day, June 2, and on June 3 the Commencement exercises will be held, at which time Dr. Manly O. Hudson, Professor of International Law at Harvard University, and a former member of the University of Missouri faculty, will deliver the Commencement address. Dr. Walter Williams, President of the University, will officiate at his first spring Commencement as President and will confer the degrees and present the diplomas. A feature of the Commencement Day exercises will be the conferring of the degree of Master of Arts by President Williams upon his wife, the former Sara Lockwood, who was graduated from the School of Journalism.

No class reunions have been scheduled for this Commencement Week. The attendance at class reunions at Commencement time in the past has been so light that the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association decided not to hold class reunions at Commencement this year but to hold them at Homecoming this fall as an experiment. The fourteen classes which will hold reunions at Homecoming, November 14, are: 1861, 1866, 1871, 1876, 1881, 1886, 1891, 1896, 1901, 1906, 1911, 1916, 1921, 1926.

The Class Day program on June 1 begins with the Pi Lambda Theta breakfast at eight o'clock at the Inglebrook; Blue Key breakfast at Harris' at eight-thirty. The members of the senior class, wearing cap and gown, will meet at ten o'clock in the University auditorium to elect permanent officers of the class of 1931. The Class Day exercises will be held at the Columns at ten-thirty and at eleven o'clock the class tree will be planted and the wreath will be placed in the Memorial Tower. There will be an eighteen-hole golf tournament beginning at one-thirty on the University course open to seniors, alumni and faculty, entry to be made at the Gymnasium or with Chas. Fisher, Superintendent of the Tournament at the golf grounds. The privileges of the University golf course will be available to all visiting alumni and parents of the graduating class during Commencement Week. Guest cards may be obtained at the office of Director C. L. Brewer at Rothwell Gymnasium.

The alumni who will be here for Commencement will, in the main, be those whose children are members of this year's graduating class. The Alumni Day program on June 2 has been arranged to permit as much time and leisure as possible for the alumni to visit with members of the faculty and Columbia friends.

Visiting alumni will register in the office of the Director of Alumni Activities, Room 217A Jesse Hall. Mortar Board, Mystical Seven and QEBH will have breakfast meetings at eight-thirty. University buildings will be open to visitors.

The Phi Beta Kappa-Sigma Xi luncheon will be held on June 2 at 12:45 in the ball room of the Tiger Hotel. The cost will be $1.25 per plate. Reservations are to be made with M. P. Moon, McAlester Hall.

An informal reception by the Curators, President and Faculty to visiting guests, alumni, parents of students, graduates and their friends, will be held in Read Hall at eight-thirty in the evening. Following the reception there will be dancing in the Women's Gymnasium.

Professor A. G. Capps, Chairman of the Committee on Public Exercises, is in charge of the arrangements for Commencement Week.

Dr. Ralph K. Watkins, Associate Professor of Education in the University, will act as marshal for the alumni in the Academic Procession on Commencement Day, June 3.

WITH THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

NEW YORK ALUMNI ELECT OFFICERS

Outline Plans for Quarterly Meetings (By Secretary Burke Gilliam)

Good old Missouri patriotism ran high at the annual Spring Dinner of the New York City Alumni Association held at the Crammercy Park Hotel, Wednesday evening, April 29.

A speaker from the outside, in discussing problems of Russia, found some of the Missourians present a little resentful of his "communistic" ideas and a spirited, although highly friendly, discussion took place. The speaker really wasn't communistic, and the Missourians really were not resentful, but it all made an interesting evening. So interesting, in fact, that the party didn't break up until midnight.

Twenty-four Alumni and former students and wives attended the dinner which was presided over by G. Ellsworth Huggins. Mr. Huggins has, it seems, been the Great Moving Spirit back of the New York City organization for some time, and with the assistance of Oscar Riley and others, his efforts have not been in vain.

Miss Arretta Watts, writer and originator of the popular "Eating Around the World" radio series, was the featured speaker. She told of her experiences in interviewing famous chefs in Europe during the past summer, and also of her interview with Mussolini. H. M. ("Easy") Anderson spoke briefly on conditions in Russia and introduced the gentleman who showed the three reels of pictures of Russia under the Five-Year-Plan from which the Open Forum discussion resulted. Mr. Huggins described the recent dinner in Washington given in honor of President Walter Williams, repeating a number of the funny stories told there as well as remarks made by the various speakers and by President Williams.

Oscar Riley presented the report of the nominating committee and the following officers were elected for the coming year: Glenn J. Degner, B.J. '30, president; Burke Gilliam, B.J. '30, secretary, and Marquis H. Lockwood, E.E. '93, M.S. '00, treasurer. Glenn outlined a plan for quarterly meetings to be held next year, and plans for special efforts to enlist the younger alumni in New York City in the Association.

Those attending the dinner were: G. Ellsworth Huggins, Miss Arretta Watts, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Anderson, Virgil C. Kline, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Tate, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Birch, Marquis H. Lockwood, Burke Gilliam, Glenn Degner, E. A. Hough, A. T. Weathers, Oliver Saylor, Oscar E. Riley, H. L. Fleischer, N. D. Chasoff, H. L. Mutnick, Volney McFadden, Dr. Sarah Kelman, and Henry H. Kinyon.

DR. HERMANN SCHLUNDT VISITS BIRMINGHAM ALUMNI

Dr. Hermann Schlundt, Professor of Physical Chemistry, reports that he enjoyed some real Missouri cordiality and hospitality in Birmingham, Alabama, recently. He was entertained by Mr. Jones, head of the Department of Chemistry in Birmingham Southern College, and Mrs. Jones.

Dr. Schlundt met Miss Belle B. Andrews, A.B. and B.S. in Education '14; Miss Florence Feaster, A.B. '18; Miss Mayme Yancy Hawkins, B.S. in Education in '19, and A.M. '26, all of whom are teaching in the Philips High School there.

He also visited with Oliver Lee Steele, A.B. '03, LL.B. '06, broker; and Keehn W. Berry, A.B. '13, LL.B. '15, executive Vice-President of the First National Bank of Birmingham. Mr. Steele and Mr. Berry were emphatic in their estimate of opportunities presented to professional men in the rapidly developing Southeast.

"Judging from the activity and prosperous looking group that I met in Birmingham, it seems that Mr. Berry and Mr. Steele are correct in their estimate," said Dr. Schlundt.

WALTER WILLIAMS HAM FURNISHES WASHINGTON FEAST

The alumni in Washington, D. C. had a real feast at their regular weekly luncheon at the University Club on May 13. The main dish was ham—a real old Boone County ham—the gift of President and Mrs. Walter Williams, who were the guests of honor at a dinner sponsored by the alumni in Washington recently. That dinner is said to have been the most outstanding Missouri Alumni party.

The Walter Williams ham was the product of Rockhurst, the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Gordon on the Ashland Gravel near Columbia.

Miss Elizabeth Northcutt, Secretary of the Association, was in charge of the arrangements.

Miss Madge Reese of the Department of Agriculture was the speaker. President John B. Gordon presided.

DALLAS HONORS EDY

Dallas Alumni Honor New City Manager; Kansas Alumni Guests

City Manager John Edy, B.S. Eng. '05, C.E. '09, and Mrs. Edy, were guests of honor at the monthly alumni luncheon at the University Club in Dallas recently. There were sixty-three in attendance. The alumni in Dallas from the University of Kansas were also guests at the meeting.

The feature of the gathering was the meeting of Edy and John H. McGinnis of the English Department at Southern Methodist University, who was on the Tiger Football squad when Edy was quarterback. The two met at the Dallas meeting for the first time in twenty-five years.

DR. WALTER E. DANDY MEDICAL DAY SPEAKER

Dr. Walter E. Dandy, A.B. '07, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, QEBH, noted brain surgeon and Professor of Clinical Surgery at Johns Hopkins, delivered the medical day address here on April 17. The title of his lecture was "A NEW OPERATIVE PROCEDURE FOR THE TREATMENT OF LESIONS OF THE CRANIAL NERVES."

Preceding the lecture there was a banquet at the Tiger Hotel. Dean Edgar Allen of the School of Medicine presided. The speakers were Dean W. J. Robbins of the Graduate School, Dr. W. C. Curtis, Professor of Zoology, and Dr. Dan G. Stine, Professor of Clinical Medicine.

The University conferred an honorary degree of Doctors of Laws upon Dr. Dandy in 1928.

ALUMNI SERVICE DEPARTMENT OFFERS STUDY

Suggested Readings for Alumni

The Department of Alumni Service of the Extension Division has established two definite lines of service for the alumni, namely, Alumni Reading Club and Lists of Suggested Readings for Alumni.

The Alumni Reading Club is proposed to an Alumni Library consisting mainly of recent books of importance and also standard books of unusual interest in a number of fields of general and special interest.

Any Alumnus or former student of the University is privileged to become a member of the club upon the payment of dues of three dollars or upon the contribution of a recent book or books of merit to the value of three dollars. A special bookplate containing the name of the donor will be placed in each book contributed.

After the first year membership may be continued by the payment of one dollar per year.

All money received from dues will be used either to purchase books for the Alumni Library or to carry on the service.

The Extension Division has already invested more than one thousand dollars in recent books to form the nucleus of this library, and will make additional purchases in the immediate future.

The books composing this library will be lent only to Alumni who are members of the club. In lending books the Extension Division will pay the outgoing postage; the borrower will be expected to pay the return postage.

Borrowers will be expected to return books in good condition.

Books will be lent for two weeks with the privilege of renewal for two weeks.

For the present, owing to the small number of books lent to any one alumnus at one time will have to be limited.

Suggested Readings for Alumni

In connection with these suggested readings the Department of Alumni Service will try to furnish to interested alumni lists of titles of standard and recent books in any particular field.

This service will be carried on chiefly through the aid of the various members of the faculty of the University.

Lists have already been prepared in the following subjects:
Contemporary Fiction

The Modern Drama
Current Poetry
Highways to Health
The New History
International Relations
Tendencies in Physical Science
The World in which We Live
The Modern Home Maker Recent Biography

Other lists will be announced from time to time.

Alumni wishing to pursue courses of reading in other fields, either special or general, should write to the Extension Division stating as definitely as possible the exact field in which they are interested and an effort will be made to obtain for them the desired lists of books.

The Extension Division will not for the present be able in all cases to furnish the books recommended but will do so whenever possible, either from the general University Library or from the Alumni Library, in the latter case membership being necessary in order to borrow books.

All service in connection with the lists of suggested readings is free.

General Service

In addition to the two definite lines of service announced in this pamphlet, the Department of Alumni Service will hold itself ready to be of assistance to alumni in any way possible by answering questions or giving information. The department has been established with the single aim of being of assistance to alumni, and any requests for information will receive careful attention.

Alumni or former students desiring to avail themselves of the assistance of the Department of Alumni Service should write to CHARLES H. WILLIAMS, Director of University Extension, 123 Jesse Hall, Columbia, Mo.

UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COMMITTEE INSPECTS KANSAS CITY HOSPITALS

President Williams is Chairman

Dr. Edgar Allen, Dean of the School of Medicine, and Dr. Dudley S. Conley, Director of Surgery, were in Kansas City on April 27 to inspect the hospitals which might serve as teaching hospitals in case the Board of Curators should decide to make some arrangements for their use in teaching students of the University School of Medicine. The visit of Dr. Allen and Dr. Conley was at the invitation of Dr. Paul F. Stookey, Chief of the Staff of the Kansas City General Hospital.

President Walter Williams has appointed a committee of five to confer with the committee of Kansas Citizens regarding the proposed transfer of the two years of clinical work of the University Medical School to Kansas City. President Williams is Chairman of the committee, and the other members are Senator F. M. McDavid, Springfield, Mercer Arnold, Joplin, H. J. Blanton, Paris, members of the Board of Curators, and Dr. Allen and Dr. Conley.

The Kansas City committee appointed by the City Council there to offer the City Hospital facilities to the University include Mayor Bryce B. Smith, City Manager H. F. McElroy, Byron Spencer, president of the Missouri

Alumni Association in Kansas City and a member of the Kansas City council, and Dr. Calvin Cooper, city health director. Representatives of the Jackson County Medical Society will also join in the conference, it is understood here.

Under the provisions of the city charter of Kansas City the city council is authorized to offer to the university at any time the facilities of the General Hospital there for clinical work, and it was under that provision that the city council of Kansas City six weeks ago named the committee to confer with university authorities upon the subject. Since that time, Dr. Williams said today, he has learned unofficially that other Kansas City hospitals will also offer to make their facilities available to the university. He has not been informed, however, as to what hospitals would be included in such a proposal.

Until the current school year the university here has not offered the two clinical years of medical training for 23 years. Two years of academic training and the first two years of medical work have been available, with students then required to transfer to some other medical school for the remaining two years of clinical work. The clinical work had been discontinued because of lack of hospital facilities here, but an increase in the university hospital activities, the establishment of an out-patient clinic, and a crippled children's clinic, together with arrangements for the use of nearby hospitals made it possible for the board of curators to order immediate

CAMPUS NEWS and GOSSIP

The Englishman who remarked that, "American college students are the busiest people on earth—doing nothing," might have gained his impression from a visit to the Missouri campus in May.

With every organization electing officers; the honoraries choosing and initiating new members; High School Week; Farmers' Fair; horse-shows; spring formals; book reports, term papers, and final exams; the student body has been busier than a one-armed bricklayer.

About half of the student body decamped when four thousand high school students overran the campus for three days while performing to the best of their abilities at the Interscholastic Meet. Most of the fraternities and sororities invited a full quota of guests and found themselves sleeping on floors and tables while their future pledges enjoyed the "double-deckers" and a premature rush season.

Considerable interest was shown recently when the Savitar was twice threatened with injunctions against distribution. Both men anticipated being made Campus King and sought to stop the Savitar from defaming their "high moral character." One merely threatened action, but the other secured a temporary court order which he withdrew before the time for issuance of the book.

Congratulations to the Savitar

Editor Al McCollum and Business Manager Jack Pollitt have been receiving congratulations on their 1931 Savitar. The book is a strong contrast to the annual of last year both in its conservative color scheme and in its manner of development.

For the first time in several years the book will have a cash surplus when all bills are paid. Nothing that would injure its attractiveness has been removed, but the engraving and four color printing has been reduced to a point where subscriptions and advertising will pay all bills.

Honoraries Choose Members

A ceremony at the columns was the scene of announcement of new members of the three senior honorary societies. Dean A. K. Heckel led the procession of gowned actives and masked neophytes from Jesse Hall to the base of the Missouri tradition. There he spoke very briefly of "the honor and obligations" of the new members and called their names as they were unmasked.

Mortar Board, senior honorary for women, which chooses its members on the basis of scholarship, activities, and personality, elected ten members of next year's senior class. They were: Dorothy Andris, St. Louis; Virginia Estes, and Martha Gilliam, Columbia; Helen Hawkins, Webster Groves; Betty Holmes, Kansas City; Jean McKey, Hannibal; Harriet Shellenberger, Hutchinson, Kans.; Helen Seeger, and Fern Spolander, St. Louis; and Margaret Jane Thomas, Columbia.

QEBH, senior honorary, "Established to further the best interests of the University," selected for membership: Edgar Barbee, Butler;

John Ralph Graves, Maryville, William Harrison, Cape Girardeau; J. Albert McCollum, St. Louis; Jack Pollitt, Kansas City; James Shepherd, LaPlata; and James Wilson, of Bethany.

Mystical Seven honoring "Those who have given freely of their time and efforts for the betterment of the University," named Frank Bittner, Ia.; Max Collings, Independence; William Dalton, Columbia; Carl Dawson, Moberly; Herbert Fick; Chesterfield; Thomas Francis, Tulsa, Okla.; and Fowler Hamilton, Kansas City as new members.

Notables Get Panning

The Annual Gridiron Banquet of Sigma Delta Chi, professional news fraternity, provided some interesting minutes for some of the prominent state officials and newspaper men. Campus celebrities also fell under the storm of accusations brought against the guests who obeyed the court summons sent out by the organization.

The affair was planned after the famous Gridiron Club of Washington which has panned noted government officials, diplomats, and national figures at its annual event held in the nation's capitol.

Biggest Student Stunt

The Farmers' Fair, known as the "biggest student stunt in America," drew several thousands despite falling prices and a general business depression. Although the crowd failed to approach the largest mark of ten thousand attendants set a few years ago, the affair cleared about seven hundred dollars.

High school students attending the Interscholastic Meet were the largest contributors to the Ag concessions. The farmers presented a very creditable horse show in which boy and girl riders of the University participated along with student riders from Stephens, Christian, and William Woods Colleges.

The inter-sorority trophy was taken home by the members of Delta Delta Delta, after Anna Lane Allen of Hannibal took first in that riding event. Elizabeth Hickerson of Independence, took second for Pi Beta Phi and Florence Adams, Kansas City, of Kappa Kappa Gamma, was third. The large cup will become the permanent possession of Tri Delta if they win it again next year.

Arch Downing, Chilhowee, and Gentry Bryant, Palmyra, were in charge of the Horseshow. Von Robbins, Bolivar, was general manager of the Fair. Edgar Barbee, Butler, the assistant manager will handle the 1932 event.

Rebecca Stepp, Trenton, was the Goddess of Agriculture and presided over the Fair. She was chosen by members of the Ag Club from among several candidates submitted by the sororities.

Co-ed Turns Washer-Woman

The outcome of the student-presidential election last month brought several hours of practice on an Irish piano to one fair co-ed.

Lorraine Senn, Webster Groves, misjudged the probable outcome of the election and bet the candidate she was supporting would win. The loser of the bet was to wash one week's laundry of the winner. Not content with one such bet she raised the ante until three contracts were made with the managers of the opposing candidates campaign.

On the morning after the vote count she collected the laundry, chauffeured a washboard for several hours, ironed the clothes and returned the linens to the owners with appropriate laundry checks. The next evening according to the terms of the bet she escorted one of the gentlemen to dinner and the movies paying all expenses with the earnings for the previous day of the "Senn Laundry Co."

Three to the Coif

John W. Pegg, Kansas City; Robert Eastin, St. Joseph; and Paul Ochterbeck, University City, were announced at a recent Alumni meeting of the University Law School, as the new members of the Order of the Coif. This election based upon scholastic average honors the three highest ranking students of each Senior class of the Law School.

Scandal Sheet for Campus

The issuance of a "scandal sheet" circulated at campus newsstands created a shortlived scare among those students prominent in extra-curricular activities. Many made a hurried purchase and perusal of the magazine, only to find that the alleged scandals were known to nearly everyone on the campus, having been transmitted several months before via grape-vine telegraph.

Delts Scheduled to Win

Little possibility exists that the Delta Tau Deltas will not win the intramural athletic cup for another year. With a good lead over the nearest competitors, Delta Kappa, the Delts need only a few points to cinch the trophy for another year. Swimming, baseball, golf and tennis have not been run off yet but the Delts are favored to win, or at least to be runner up, in at least two of events while Delta Kappa is not expected to take many more points.

re-establishment of the clinical years of training last fall.

The project had been urged for a number of years by the Missouri Medical Association, which pointed to the difficulties which Missouri students encountered in securing training elsewhere, and a shortage of country doctors in the state as results of the state's failure to provide full medical training here.

The date Sept. 20, 1869, is correct as far as the year is concerned. We could not find the exact day or month. Women were first admitted to the Normal Dept. in 1869; to the Academic Dept. in 1870; and to all Depts. in 1872, according to Switzler's manuscript history of the University.

Judge Kimbrough Stone, LL.B. '95, Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court, Kansas City, and Mrs. Stone, visited the University recently. Judge Stone attended the annual law school banquet. It is always a pleasure to have Judge and Mrs. Stone visit with us. Their younger daughter, Marjorie May, is enrolled in the University. Bettie Lou Stone, who is now Mrs. Albert E. WHAT CUSTOM PRESCRIBES

WHAT IMPORTANCE is a bridegroom?—None, except for his presence at the ceremony, to complete the picture. His absence would betray a lack of finesse. Custom requires that he shall be there, as part of the decorative ensemble. It prescribes also what he shall wear, lest he violate the artistic unities. What custom prescribes is what the well-appareled man must know, at all times, whether he is at a wedding, either as principal or second, or risking his neck at a five-barred gate in a hunting field. He may not always keep track of custom, for its moods are infinite. But there is no reason why he should. We are here to do that for him.

Edwin William Stephens

Edwin William Stephens, publisher and editor of Columbia, died at his home on May 22. He was born here on January 21, 1849 and was Columbia's oldest native citizen. He enrolled in the University in 1863 and in 1867 was graduated with the degree of A.B., received the degree of A.M. in 1870 and in 1905 received from the University the honorary degree of LL.D. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Mr. Stephens was one of the most prominent laymen in the Baptist Church of America. He had been identified with practically every public enterprise in this county and community and devoted to movements of state wide and national scope. Staunch friend always of the University, he served as a member of the Board of Curators and was ever alert to stimulate the progress of the state institution. Mr. Stephens married Miss Laura Moss in 1879.

The sympathy of everyone of our alumni is extended to Mrs. Stephens, and to the daughter, Mrs. Ashley Gray of St. Louis, and to the sons, Hugh Stephens of Jefferson City, James L. Stephens of Los Angeles, and E. Sydney Stephens of Columbia.

We make a living by what we get—we make a life by what we give.

The life of Mr. Stephens was one of continuous giving to the support of all that meant for good.

WHAT ABOUT COMMENCEMENT?

It seems to us that there is less enthusiasm shown for Commencement Week than formerly. It is true that there are fewer attractions scheduled for that week. Some years ago the members of the band stayed over for Commencement and their contribution was an outstanding feature of the week. Then, too, we had a Conference baseball game and a Track meet, and an alumni-faculty baseball game, and these events were drawing cards on the program. And we used to have a senior luncheon, when the Curators were hosts, and it was there that the alumni officers inducted the seniors into the alumni association. That luncheon was the big event of the week, always held immediately after the degrees were conferred. The senior ball was a real party, too.

But what's happened? Every one of the features mentioned has been discontinued. The natural result is that the seniors enter Commencement Week with little or no enthusiasm and alumni attendance has steadily decreased, and for the most part has been limited to those with children in the graduating class. The alumni attendance has been so light that the alumni officers have agreed this year to hold the class reunions at Homecoming instead of Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon, Monday is designated as Class Day, Tuesday is allotted to the alumni and the Commencement Exercises proper are held on Wednesday. Four days are given over to Commencement.

Can we not arrange a more attractive program of entertainment features that will stimulate attendance and enthusiasm?

Surely something should be done to bolster up the Class and Alumni Day plans.

What shall we do?

Shall we confine the Commencement Exercises to three days instead of four and have the Class Day Exercises and alumni activities on the same day?

Will the Committee on Intercollegiate athletics schedule a conference baseball game or a series of games, and a conference track meet and arrange an alumni-faculty baseball game?

Will the powers that be arrange to hold the members of the band over for Commencement Week?

Shall we revive the senior luncheon?

Can the seniors "swing out" for a ball?

Something should be done.

MEMORIALS THAT LIVE

We often wonder why more alumni and friends of education do not make some provision in their wills for bequests to the University of Missouri. The Memorial idea is a sound one and giving to institutions of learning a most fitting act. To quote an ex-president: "Universities are not repositories of the dead. They are more alive than the market-place: their eyes are not only on the present, but on the past and future. And the life within their walls is always young and acquisitive.

To place your name, by gift or bequest in the keeping of an active college is to be sure that the name and the project with which it is associated will continue down the centuries to quicken the minds and hearts of youth, and thus make a permanent contribution to the welfare of humanity."

It is most important at this time to call the attention of Missourians generally to the fact that the one hundredth birthday anniversary of their State University furnishes a most appropriate time for making gifts to the institution.

This question of gifts should not be considered as a delicate one. The consideration of proposed benefactions requires only good judgment, a knowledge of university plans and policies, and frank and tactful action. The best interests of donors and of the University would be safeguarded if the former were encouraged to discuss prospective gifts with the university authorities. No difficulties should be encountered in inducing donors to recognize that the interests of the University are best served by gifts for unspecified purposes or by benefactions for specific purposes under deeds of gift permitting the University to specify the uses for them as conditions change.

We are about fed up on the fellow who assumes responsibility for the safe-keeping of all institutions. It seems the number of these persons is increasing and that they think the world owes them considerable consideration. They offer a solution for every problem. They are eternally investigating the work of some one else or messing into something which isn't their business. Sometimes this is called research. It behooves these fellows to devote more time and study to their own particular jobs. (By the way, have you ever been behooved?)

The virtue of the ignorant is that they are willing to learn; the vice of the educated is that they think they know it all.

There's something kind of pathetic about a horsefly sitting on the radiator of a truck.

Salesman (rushing excitedly into police station): "I've just killed a purchasing agent."

Police Sergeant: "You've come to the wrong place. You have to go to the county clerk's office to collect the bounty."

It may be unpleasant to play poker with a bad loser, but it's a lot better than playing with any kind of a winner.

"Does your son Josh ever come back to visit you, since he got in the movies at Hollywood?"

"Every summer," answered Grandma, proudly; "every summer of the three years he's been gone."

"And did he bring his wife with him?"

"Each time," she answered. "And they was three as purty girls as you ever laid eyes on."

TIGHT PITCHING AND HEAVY HITTING BRINGS TIE IN BIG SIX BASEBALL

Fifteen Players Awarded Letters and Gold Fobs for Winning the First Title Since 1921--Only Two Regulars Graduate-- Embry Is Elected New Captain.

When Coach Jack Crangle's Missouri baseball nine staged a ninth inning rally to beat Nebraska 6 to 5 in the closing game of the season the Tigers assured themselves of a tie for the Big Six championship. Oklahoma and Missouri each won their last games and finished with six victories and one defeat. As this is written only two games remain on the conference schedule, and these are between Kansas and Nebraska, who are the trailing teams.

A restricted schedule was arranged for the Big Six baseball series this spring in which each team met the others in two championship games. Missouri won two from Kansas, two from Nebraska, one from Kansas State and one from Iowa State. The single loss was to Kansas State in the first conference game. Rain prevented contests with Oklahoma and one with Iowa State.

Non-championship games were played with Kansas, Kirksville State Teachers, and Central College. These resulted in victories in the Kansas and Central College exhibitions, and an even break in the two game series with Kirksville. The season totals show eleven victories and two defeats.

Heavy hitting by five regulars and sensational pitching by Wagner featured Missouri's play. Captain Sam Carter, shortstop, led the sluggers with a hitting average of .419. Harutun, husky centerfielder, batted .417, but was out much of the time with an injured ankle. Captain-elect Webb Embry compiled an average of .333 and won distinction for his hitting with runners on base. Two sophomores, Farmer at second, and R. Fruit, catcher, both hit better than .300.

Norman Wagner, elongated basketball forward, proved more of a sensation on the pitcher's mound than any hurler Missouri has possessed in many seasons. He won six of the seven games he pitched and allowed an average of less than five hits per game. Wagner struck out an average of eight opponents in each contest. His peak was reached when he let Nebraska down with one hit when the two teams first met, and then went to the mound in the fifth inning on the next day to silence the Cornhuskers attack and give his team the chance to pull ahead.

At the close of the season Webb Embry, right fielder for the last two years, was elected captain for 1932. With but two regulars lost by graduation Embry should lead another fine crew of baseball players for Missouri next spring.

In recognition of their successful season the Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics awarded fifteen players the Varsity baseball M and in addition each was given a miniature gold baseball for being on a championship team.

Max Collings Awarded Harry Tidd Scholarship

Max Collings, junior in the School of Journalism, has been awarded the Harry Tidd Scholarship for the next

of $5,000 established by Harry Tidd of Hutchinson, Kan., a former Tiger football and track man. The award is made to the most outstanding student enrolled in the University, regardless of his years of attendance, and is based on 50 per cent scholarship, 25 per cent activities, and 25 per cent athletics.

Collings is an outstanding football and basketball player, a leader in student activities, captain-elect of the basketball team, and president of the M Men's Association. Last fall his play at quarterback was largely responsible for the late-season drive of the team that resulted in ties with Nebraska and Oklahoma after disappointing performances in the earlier games. He joined the basketball squad at the close of the first semester when the team was in a slump and became the key of the attack that brought eight victories in the last eleven starts. His sensational play won for his recognition on the All-American selections in basketball made by College Humor. His grades in scholastic work last fall were considerably above the student average. Reports for this spring indicate a continuance of this high level.

Pruett Goes to Newark

Herb Pruett, former Missouri mound star, whose left arm pitched balls that Missouri Valley Conference batters in 1921 could not touch, has recently been traded out of the National League by the New York Giants and is playing with the Newark team in the Eastern League. Pruett first broke into the big leagues with the St. Louis Browns and for several years was the nemesis of Babe Ruth who was fanned more often by the slow ball artist than any pitcher he ever faced. Later Pruett played with the Philadelphia Nationals, and for three years has been a member of the Giants.

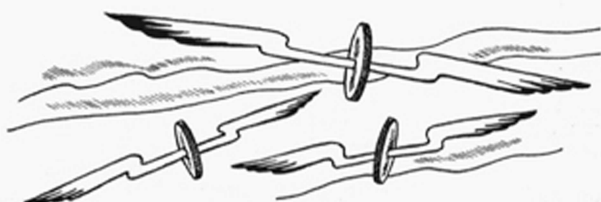

New Ponies Increase Polo Interest

Polo rapidly is gaining recognition at the University. The game is conducted by the R. O. T. C. as part of the military training. The schedule for the school year consisted of twenty-nine games with universities and club teams throughout the mid-west.

The result of the matches: The University lost two games to the University of Oklahoma; lost one and won one with Ohio State University; the University and the University of Chicago each won a game; won two games from Colorado Agricultural College, the freshman team of the University defeated Iowa State College, the University won a game with Oklahoma Military Institute; lost two

PENNIES FOR WINGS

DAY in and day out you take wings by talking over your telephone . . . with friends . . . the grocer . . . the doctor . . . a relative hundreds of miles away . . . and every month you get a bill for this service.

Perhaps a single call made during this period has been worth more to you in time, money or convenience than the whole amount of your bill. But the telephone company makes its charge—not on any such basis—but on what it costs to give the best possible service to its customers.

The Bell System has voluntarily taken the position that the telephone business is a public trust. Its policy is to give the best possible service at the least cost consistent with financial safety.

The more telephone subscribers there are, the more valuable telephone service becomes to each subscriber. Unlike most other businesses, the telephone industry does not enjoy reduced costs as the number of customers increases. On the contrary, the trend is upward. To offset this, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company takes advantage of every scientific advance and aid to efficiency which can possibly reduce service costs—and these savings are used for the benefit of the subscriber.

The twenty-four Associated Companies in the Bell System are pledged to this ideal . . . to give constantly better telephone service at the lowest possible rates . . . to reduce, by every means in their power, the number of pennies that you pay for wings.

ATHENAEAN JOKER

Judge N. T. Gentry Tells of the First Student Publication at Missouri U.

The Athenaeon Society is the oldest student organization West of the Mississippi river; and the Athenaeon Joker was the name of the first student publication at the University of Missouri. Once every three months, the society had an open session, and the Joker was given a place on the programme, at which time poetry, wit, pathos and sarcasm flowed in abundance. In 1869, the Athenaeon Almanac was the society paper and R. W. Dorsey, of Boone county, was the editor; but its life was limited to only one year. The Joker first appeared in 1871, with James H. Dryden, of Carthage, as editor-in-chief; and its last appearance was the year of the fire, 1892, with Joseph E. Smith, now of Seattle, as editor-in-chief. On account of the fire, Athenaeon open session was postponed, and held one week later in the Haden Opera house, in Columbia. The jokes of to-day in the Yellow Journal and the Guide Book of the Farmers' Fair are worthy successors of those in the Athenaeon Joker. This paper was similar to the Union Lit Bomb Shell, which was prepared and appeared at stated intervals in the Union Literary society.

At one exhibition, the editor-in-chief of the Joker read the paper, with the following item in it, "A certain young lady in Columbia, Miss Assa, has several brothers, James, Robert, William, Henry and John, who is usually called Jack Assa." This so shocked the president of a certain girls' college in Columbia that he rose in the audience, picked up his hat and beckoned to the college girls to follow him, and they all walked out. This was the first "walk out" in Columbia.

A number of young men in Boone county rode horseback to school, and hitch racks were provided for them in the back campus. At that time, the University had rules on nearly every subject; and these rules were enforced, by the way. There was a sign board in the front campus, with the following painted in large letters, "Horses must be hitched in the back campus." Accordingly, the Athenaeon Joker had this item of interest about E. E. Bass (now of Greenville, Mississippi), who then lived Southeast of Columbia and rode horseback to school. "Mr. Bass came in late to his first class the other morning, and was asked by the teacher the cause of his tardiness. He replied that he rode to town and put his horse up in a livery stable; but when he saw the sign, 'Horses must be hitched in the back campus,' he walked down town, took his horse out of the livery stable, brought him over and tied him in the back campus."

When the Joker appeared, roasts on the Columbia churches were in order. It was customary for some of the churches to raise money by means of ice cream parties and oyster suppers; and it was said that at such suppers, a bowl of soup would contain only one oyster. So the Joker represented two oysters as meeting and having a conversation in a bowl of soup. One oyster said, "This must be a church supper we are now attending." The other oyster replied, "I guess not; what are we both doing in the same bowl?" Then the Joker announced that the ladies of a certain Columbia church would give an ice cream party the next evening, the proceeds of which would be used to buy liver pads for the heathen.

A. J. Rummans, the University night-watchman, came in for his share of the jokes in this publication; for the boys said that he was accustomed to go to sleep when he was supposed to be on duty. One story about Rummans was as follows: "A brave woman in an eastern university town recently discovered a burglar in her house at midnight. She took her pistol and forced the intruder into a closet, locked the door, put on her hat and cloak, went out on the campus alone, found the night-watchman and had the burglar arrested. There are many women in Columbia, and in the neighborhood of the campus, equally as brave. Any one of these women could force a burglar into a closet, lock the door, put on her hat and cloak and go out on the campus alone at midnight, but she could not find a night watchman."

Finally, Jack Rummans, as we all called him, resigned and accepted a position as night-watchman in the Centropolis Hotel of Kansas City. Then the Joker had this parting shot for him:

"Rummans rest, thy warfare's o'er,
"Sleep the sleep that knows no waking;
"Dream of college boys no more,
"Days of toil, nights of waking."

During the administration of President S. S. Laws, the law students were considered rather boisterous occasionally; and President Laws, in speaking on that subject, said that they were as noisy as a drove of mules. So the Athenaeon Joker gave those students the nick name of "Mules," and the law rooms the "Barn." In a week or two, the following appeared in the Joker: "The Engineers work on the campus, "The Ag students work on the farm, "The Medics work in the dissecting room,

"But the Mules in the old law barn."

DISCOVERS NEW STARS

Shapley Discovers Stars of Great Radiance and Dimensions

Dr. Harlow Shapley, A.B. '10, A.M. '11, LL.D. '27, astronomer and director of the Harvard observatory, in addressing the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences in Washington recently, announced the discovery of stars 40,000 times as radiant as the sun, and as much as 186 million miles across.

Dr. Shapley told of the huge new stars in describing explorations into distant reaches of space that may shed new light on the "limits" of the universe and on mathematical theories about the nature of space.

Discovery of the enormous new stars resulted from a census being taken by the Harvard observatory of the thousands of remote galaxies, giant star clusters that contain tens of billions of stars and are thousands of light years across. The galaxies serve as distant "mile posts" in the night sky with the aid of which Dr. Shapley is seeking new knowledge of the universe.

The "boundaries" of space, or at least the boundaries of the space occupied by galaxies, apparently still are far beyond the reach of man's largest telescopes, Dr. Shapley said. So far, his galaxy census has shown no evidence that telescopes are approaching these boundaries. The greatest distance the largest telescopes have been able to "see" is about 200 million light years. That is the distance light would travel in 200 million years at its speed of approximately 186,000 miles a second.

Dr. Shapley said he had found the more distant galaxies do not seem to be uniformly distributed in space, and this may be significant in relation to mathematical theories concerning the universe. Uniformity of matter, he explained, is assumed by Albert Einstein and other mathematicians, to simplify working out of their calculations dealing with the universe.

Ward A. Neff, of Chicago, B.J. '13, was recently elected President of the Corn Belt Dailies, upon the retirement of his uncle, George N. Neff, as President. games to University of Oklahoma; lost a game to the Kansas City Country Club, and the freshman team won a game with Iowa State College.

There are ten men on the Varsity squad: Captain Leo A. Scott, Wm. E. Cheatham, John A. Kizer, Albert L. Terwilliger, Eugene B. Reaves, William I. Robinson, Donald P. Mossman, Conrad Fields, Jack Willoughby, and Shirley Metzger. The five freshmen who have competed in intercollegiate matches are: Edward Brown, Billy Burks, Joseph Gregg, Humphrey White, and Ellsworth Meteer.

The government's buying eight additional horses in the fall of 1928, for the University, did much to increase interest in the sport here. Six of these horses, with training, developed into excellent polo ponies. Since that time, the government has replaced condemned animals, and added a few additional horses. Now, the University has seventy-four horses, forty of which are used for polo. It is expected that twelve more will be sent by the end of the summer.

Missouri Colleges Hold Meet on Rollins Field

With four conference records topping, the Westminster college track and field team won its sixth consecutive Missouri College Union championship on Rollins field at the University of Missouri with a total of 47½ points.

Tarkio took second place, with 25 points, and other teams finished as follows:

Central 24, Missouri Valley 22½, Culver Stockton 20½, Rolla 19½, William Jewell 13½, Drury 4.

Two of the new records went to Westminster, with Talbott clocked in 15 seconds flat in the high hurdles and 24.9 seconds in the lows.

Monroe of Rolla was timed in 1 minute 59.3 seconds in the half-mile run, and Moulder of the Missouri School of Mines did 12 feet 4¼ inches in the pole vault for the other new marks. The track was fast, but there was a brisk wind that made the going difficult at times for the runners.

The tennis tournament held at the same time as the track meet, May 16, was won by Tarkio with first in both the singles and double. Joe Stevinson, Tarkio tennis ace, won the singles rather handily from McCorkle of Central College, and than was largely responsible for his school's victory in the doubles. His partner was James McMullen.

Tennis Team Ranks High

Tennis at Missouri this spring enjoys the highest ranking in a decade. Beginning the season with an entirely new group of players the court men have developed into a fine squad that has, as yet, to meet its superior in conference play, and bids fair to be either the champion or runner-up in this popular spring sport.

Early season matches with Central College resulted in easy victories. The team invaded Oklahoma where a heavy rain had flooded the courts. Rather than be appointed after the long trip Missouri's players consented to play an exhibition match on the board floor in the field house. Oklahoma won the match and since then has counted it as a regular contest. The matter will be a subject of discussion at the regular spring meeting of the athletic directors.

The high point of the local season was reached in an exhibition meet with Kansas. Two singles and one doubles were played in the afternoon, and the other two singles and doubles matches were played on the clay court in the Field House under the Flood lights at night. Missouri won two singles and one doubles to split the meet with Kansas.

The experiment of night tennis in the Field House proved highly successful. The balcony was filled with more than thousand spectators who had come to see Wilbur F. Coen, Kansas ace and former member of the Davis Cup team, in action. Coen won his singles match against Charles Rovin, Missouri's ranking player, but was forced to show all of his ability. The most interesting match of the evening was won by Robert Williams of Missouri from Prosser, Kansas number two player. The scores were 4-6, 6-2, 7-5. The long, fast rallies staged by both players brought prolonged applause from the crowd.

Popularity of night tennis led to similar arrangements for the meet with Nebraska. Missouri won four of the six matches. Central College was defeated in a return contest five matches to one at Fayette. The first clean sweep of a series was earned when the Kansas Aggies were defeated in all four singles and both doubles matches at Columbia.

The schedule will be completed with another meeting of Kansas at Lawrence and the invasion of Columbia by Iowa State. As yet Kansas has won all championship contests due almost entirely to the work of Coen and Prosser. The meet between Kansas and Missouri probably will decide the champions for 1931.

Throughout the season Charles Rovin has been ranked number one in singles; Robert Williams has been number two; Adolph Rovin number three; Richard Hanwell, number four; and Phillip Hannum, number five. The Rovin brothers have formed one doubles team, and William and Hanwell the other. Of this group all are sophomores except Williams.

Seventy Missouri High Schools Compete on High School Day

High Schools from St. Louis county and city swept all of the favorable positions in the annual Missouri Interscholastic Track and Field Meet at Columbia, May 2. Webster Groves was first with 31½; University City was second with 26; Maplewood was third with 22; and Roosevelt was fourth with 16½.

Webster Groves is coached by Charles Roberts, a former student at Missouri, while Henry Schemmer, coach at University City, will be remembered for his running on Tiger track teams when he was in school here.

West Plains won the Class B. section composed of high schools with enrollments less than 500 with 22½ points. Shelbina was second with 19; Fulton third with 15; and Mounian Grove fourth with 12.

A still closer battle was waged by the Class C schools which have enrollments less than 150. Senath and Malden tied for first with 17; New Cambria was third with 16; and Grandview, St. James, Maysville tied for fourth with 10 points each.

Nearly seventy schools competed athletes in the various events, and of these fifty-two schools scored points. The meet is held under the auspices of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association with the University conducting the events.

State High School Tennis Title To Kansas City Westport

Making up for lack of skill by their schoolmates in track Kansas City Westport tennis players won both singles and doubles in the annual high school championship tournament held in conjunction with the Interscholastic Track Meet.

Nelson McIninch, Westport singles player, was the class of the tournament winning all of his matches with ease except the finals against Frank Miller of Kansas City Paseo. Miller forced the Westport player to his best form but McIninch was too expert. The doubles team from Westport composed of Kiley and Ralston had still an easier time in taking their section coasting through the two days of play with little opposition.

Sons of Former Tiger Captain Make Fine Records

Three sons of Dr. E. Lee Miller of Kansas City, Missouri's football captain in '07 and '08, show evidences of surpassing the great athletic records made by their father. Dick Miller, 15-years old, the youngest of the three, recently was made an Eagle Scout at the annual round-up in Kansas City and thus followed in the footsteps of his two older brothers who also are Eagle Scouts. Dick was captain of the second football team and a member of the second basketball team at Southwest High School. He is a sophomore.

John Miller, the second son, will be graduated from the Southwest this year. He was captain of the football team which won six straight games, the best record any Southwest High School team has enjoyed. It lost the city championship in the final game of the season to East High School, 6 to 0. John will enroll at Missouri in the fall.

William Miller, the oldest is a sophomore at Missouri and a valuable future prospect in football. He was a little too light for Varsity competition, but has increased his weight about fifteen pounds and should make his letter next year.

In addition to these fine athletic records all three boys have made superior marks in their scholastic work. Dr. Miller, the father of these boys, holds

You seniors who have been marking time are soon to get out in the business world. You may find that there is no officer in command to give you the "left, right, left, right."

Your training at the University of Missouri will prompt you always to keep in proper step and to always keep to the right. One of the best ways to follow in the accepted paths is to be neat in appearance and well shod.

We want all you seniors, both boys and girls, to call at the store and equip yourselves with attractive shoes for the Commencement exercises because, as you know, the old cap and gown covers up everything but the feet and you certainly want your shoes to be attractive. Then with these same shoes you can march right out into the business world and do your stuff as it should be done.

Come and see us right away. There will be a big senior rush to Miller's.

Don't forget before school is out to bring down all of the curtains and linens and let us get them all cleaned up and in readiness for summer storage. This is very important. We will take care of all this for you so you will have it ready for use when you come back this fall.

All the fraternity boys and girls should see that this matter is attended to immediately. Don't put this off until fall.

Those who are operating rooming and boarding houses should call us at once regarding the cleaning of all their laundrying material in order that we may return everything in time for the summer session students.

We want to convey a message to the summer session folks, too, that Laundry headquarters in Columbia are:

the distinction of being the only man in the forty years of football at Missouri to captain two teams. He was a tackle of prominence.

Beat Washington In Track

With first places in each running event except the relay Missouri easily won a dual track meet from Washington on May 11 in Columbia, 74 to 57. After compiling a big lead Coach Huff withdrew most of his best men in the field events and the relay to give the reserves a chance to gain some experience.

The records in most events were very poor since Missouri was not pushed to any great effort in taking eleven firsts, and the reserves offered Washington little competition in events in which they competed.

Simpson's Track Men Win From His Old School

Bob Simpson, Missouri's own son, brought his Iowa State track men to Columbia on May 1, the day before the Interscholastic meet, and handed his alma mater a severe trouncing in a dual meet for the third successive year. The victory was by an 83½ to 47½ margin.

It was one of the fastest dual meets seen here in years in all events except the 100 yard dash. Hager, Iowa State's great hurdler, showed the effects of his coaching when he won both the high and low hurdles in fast time. The outstanding effort, however, was turned in by Putnam, Iowa's distance runner, who stepped off the mile run in 4 minutes 16.3 seconds,—a mark very close to the national record. Labertew, visiting half miler, out-speeded Barber, Missouri's best entry in the 880 yard run in the exceptional time of 1 minute 55 seconds.

For the Tigers Ullfers ran his best race of the year to win the quarter mile in 49.8 seconds, and the relay team made perfect touchoffs to win by twenty yards in 3 minutes 22.8 seconds.

Jayhawkers Win Annual Dual Meet By Large Margin

The Kansas Jayhawker track team, coached by Brutus Hamilton, former all-round athlete at Missouri, defeated the Tigers in the closing dual track meet of the season by the worst score any Missouri team has ever lost to this great rival.

Kansas won ten firsts and tied for another in the fifteen events. The Jayhawkers scored sweeps in the shot, discus, and javelin.

Three meet records were broken and one tied. Sickel of Kansas ran the 220 yard dash in 21.3 seconds which bettered the old record held by Grady of Kansas by .3 of a second. Gridley of Kansas broke the low hurdle mark held by Welch of Missouri when he leaped over the barriers in 23.6 seconds. Bryan, also of Kansas, beat Jim Bausch's old mark in the javelin throw with a heave of 191 feet 4½ inches. Sickel and Klaner of Kansas equalled the 100 yard dash mark when they ran a dead heat in 9.3 seconds.

Missouri took both distance runs.

The mile was won by Captain Swartz and Weinken ran away with the two mile by a big margin. Ullfers showed that he rapidly is returning to form in the 440 yard dash when he again finished first in that event in 50.1 seconds. Eaves tied for first in the pole vault reaching 12 feet 6 inches. The mile relay team threatens to win that event at the conference meet as they won from Kansas in fast time.

- Late in June, 1931, there will be great stir in the far-flung ranks of the N.E.A. Great expectations and a vast packing of bags will preface departure of several thousand delegates to the annual Convention at Los Angeles from June 28th to July 3rd.

- Los Angeles, colorful melting pot and human magnet, will be an experience in itself. Once there the make-believe of Hollywood,
- the mellow dignity of the old Spanish missions, or the grandeur of Yosemite will pull and tug for your leisure moments.
- The broad beaches and surf-whitened headlands of the Pacific will be calling you all the way from the Mexican border and
- San Diego, northward to fascinating San Francisco's Golden Gate.

- But what of those precious days enroute? Have you given thought to filling their every unrelenting moment with its quota of interesting things seen and done and learned?

- The journey to or from California, via the Santa Fe, can be made in its own right a joyous education in the immensity that is America.

- The Santa Fe way from Kansas City to Los Angeles is the shortest, by many miles. It is the only railroad direct to the rim of that indescribed spectacle—the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

- And only via Santa Fe—through its comfortable Indian-detour side trips by motor—can one conveniently visit these prehistoric ruins, age-old inhabited Indian pueblos, quaint Mexican mountain settlements and scenic marvels that are the hidden glory of our Far Southwest.

PALATIAL SINCLAIR TAVERN

Tiger students, faculty members, alumni, here is luxury at the price often paid for mediocrity.

Aloof from the city's noise, near the University of Missouri, new, modern, fireproof, this is the ideal stopping place for relatives visiting students, for alumni, for the discriminating public generally.

Replete with comfort, modernness and good taste are the forty bedrooms each an outside one, each containing two double beds. A private bathroom, tiled and having tub, shower and electric fan, running ice water and other conveniences, adjoins each bedroom. The basement is a garage, free to guests.

Wire, telephone, write or call for reservations.

This hotel is part of the Sinclair Tavern located one mile west of Columbia on U. S. Highway 40. Close to the hotel is the terminal building containing a 154-person-capacity restaurant serving meals epicures relish and popular for banquets, dinner-dances and other events. Here again the prices are moderate. The French renaissance rest room for women is royal in comfort and beauty.

The other Sinclair Taverns are on U. S. Highway 66 near Rolla, Mo., and Miami and Tulsa, Okla. The hotel at the Rolla terminal is identical in style with the one near Columbia. Both are official A.A.A. hotels.

The courteous service at Sinclair Taverns is far-famed.

'25, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Upsilon, member of the English Department, University of Wisconsin, is the author of The Road to Hollister, an Ozark pastoral, love story to be published in book form June 1 by the publishers of POET LORE. The story is the glorification of the idyllic peace, tranquility, and beauty of the Ozark hill-country, and will contain reference to early history of the region in general, and of Springfield incidentally. The whole force and value of the book is derived out of its representation of the natural beauty of the Ozark locale. The scene is Hollister, Missouri, and the Table Rock hinterlands.
