5 WAYS YOU CAN HELP

War-Time Transportation

★ Railroads are handling the greatest volume of transportation in history . . . and doing the job well. We will appreciate your cooperation in helping us keep our service up to the American standard. You can help by:

- 1 —Making your reservations and purchasing your tickets as soon as you can.
- 2 —Cancelling your reservations immediately if you change your plans.
- 3 —Traveling during mid-week when trains are less crowded.
- 4 —Taking no more baggage than you actually need.
- 5 —being early to trains to avoid the rush at ticket windows and parcel check rooms.

The University has a new and ever-increasing group of alumni—the boys of the United States Navy who receive their training in diesel engineering at the University of Missouri.

We realize that there are more serious things to think about now than having a good time; we also realize that earning a diploma in diesel engineering and an advanced rating hasn't been anything but a lot of hard work and routine.

The thing that keeps us going, though, is the thought that eventually the whole thing will be over and we can roll down our sleeves and start thinking about a good time again and the way to be an individual success rather than an efficient part of a great military machine.

We like to think that a good many of these young sailors liked us well enough to come back to Columbia and to the University when the war is over. Quite a few had planned a college education but were forced to postpone it. When the war is over (and we all hope it's soon) there'll be plenty of time and plenty of opportunity for our new "alumni" to come back to Missouri University for a more complete course. They'll be welcome and they'll be wise in doing so.

It requires quite a bit of real effort to make sure that every person in the state has the opportunity to invest in the World's most worthwhile enterprise—the United States government and peace. But besides the effort, there is a surprising amount of satisfaction and pleasure. You get an opportunity to meet some of the finest and most conscientious people in the State. Just for example, there is Chester Davis, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, chairman of the Victory Fund Committee, and a fine speaker; and John Longmire, the Victory Fund Executive Manager; and John McCutcheon, assistant manager. There are Sid Maestre, Tom K. Smith and W. T. Nardin and Walter Head of St. Louis, and H. G. Leedy, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City and Bob Caldwell, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of Kansas City, and Dan Nee, state administrator of War Savings. Working with and for these men makes you realize that American mothers, the public schools, and the University are turning out some fine examples of good citizenship in every sense of the word. All are doing more than their share to see to it that there is enough money to pay the bill for putting Hitler and Hirohito and Mussolini in their proper places.

The Board of Visitors recently came to the University and a more outstanding group of men has rarely been assembled for one task.

The chairman of the Board, A. P. Green of Mexico, is an honorary alumnus of the University. The company of which he is president, The A. P. Green Fire Brick Company, was recently awarded the Maritime Commission's "M" for outstanding production achievement. Frank C. Mann of Springfield, is a prominent attorney as well as a prominent alumnus. W. A. Cochel of Kansas City, long the editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, is also an alumnus and a friend of long standing to the University. D. Howard Doane of St. Louis, another outstanding alumnus, has contributed money and inspiration for research on synthetic rubber in the College of Engineering laboratories and has served the University and his state in many other ways. A. Frank Ridgeway of Shelbina, is well-known throughout the state, not only as a successful and progressive farmer, but as an alumnus of the University and as an important aid to its progress in innumerable ways.

Some time ago it was my pleasure to be the guest of Allen May, president of the Mutual Savings Life Insurance Company, at luncheon at the Noon Day Club in St. Louis. I found at my place a platter of hush puppies, a viand for which the Noon Day Club is famous. As a Boone Countian, it was natural to suppose that it was an individual service of hush puppies. I felt terribly cheated when Judge May asked me to please pass the hush puppies. We entered into a lively discussion upon the relative merits of corn pone, corn dodgers, hoe cake, corn bread, and hush puppies, during which the Judge kept digging in on my hush puppies. Following the luncheon I chided him no end for it so a few days ago he had me back for another hush puppy luncheon at which each one of us had an individual platter. Just about the time we got started John Longmire and Tom Perry sat down with us. Each of them began a boarding house reach, giggling my hush puppies with their forks and again I came out short. Judge May is arranging another hush puppy luncheon with the hope that next time I'll get my fill.

Some years ago I was chosen as one of the judges for a baby contest in Bolivar, for the organizers felt it safer to have "impersonal and uninterested" judges from out of town. After careful consideration of the relative merits of the infants assembled on the stage, I pinned a blue ribbon on the proud winner and a red ribbon upon the child awarded second place. His mother, however, had different ideas regarding the contest and removing the ribbon, she informed me there was no "second place baby" in their home and carried the baby from the stage.

Well, it turns out that she was right and I was wrong. The "baby" is young Frank Adams who graduated from the School of Law at the University, who has completed his naval training at Columbia University in New York and who is now an Ensign in U.S.N.R.

Young Warren Faller, also an alumnus and an Ensign in the Navy, brought us the news that Frank was doing a bang-up job of serving Uncle Sam.

THE MISSOURI ALUMNUS is published monthly except in August by the University of Missouri Alumni Association, 114 Jesse Hall, Columbia, Mo. Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Columbia, Mo., Oct. 8, 1912 under the Acts of March 3, 1879.

Governor's Board Visits University

The governor's Board of Visitors was in Columbia, on Oct. 16, preparatory to making its regular report to the governor on the conditions and needs of the University. The board includes, left to right: A. Frank Ridgeway of Shelbina, Frank C. Mann of Springfield, A. P. Green, chairman, of Mexico, W. A. Cochel of Kansas City, and D. Howard Doane of St. Louis.

Tom K. Smith, A.B. '04 Introduces Roosevelt

Tom K. Smith, prominent alumnus and a member of the Board of Curators, introduced President Roosevelt when the latter formally launched the 1942 Campaign of the Community Mobilization for Human Needs with a radio address over the four major networks on Oct. 5.

Mr. Smith, a St. Louis banker, is national chairman of the campaign. He spoke from the stage of the Philadelphia Academy of Music, where the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra played a short program before the president made his address.

Alumnus Comments On War in the Pacific

Morris James Harris, American foreign correspondent who returned in August on the Swedish liner Gripsholm from his internment by the Japanese in Shanghai, visited in Columbia during September. He graduated from the School of Journalism in 1921 and has had a wide range of newspaper experience in the Far East and in the United States.

When interviewed at the Tiger Hotel, Mr. Harris said that he believed the war with Japan would be a long hard struggle, expensive in men, materials, and money—the price that America must pay for victory if she values her freedom.

Mr. Harris, who was Associated Press Bureau chief at Shanghai, declared that we might expect a strong attack on Alaska, Pearl Harbor, the Panama Canal, or even the Pacific coast by a dangerous and formidable Japan who considers us her chief enemy. "I see no collapse of Japan in the near future. She has been preparing for this war for over 20 years."

"I have been encouraged since my return to the United States", Harris said, "by finding the American people awake and aware of the vital issues at stake in the war with Japan. I believe we are going ahead in vast strides toward winning this war."

J. B. Powell May Edit New Weekly Magazine

J. B. Powell, formerly editor of the China Weekly Review, and victim of Japanese cruelty during his internment in a prison camp, will be editor of the Far Easterner, according to an item in the Broadway Medley column in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat on Oct. 30.

On the staff with Mr. Powell will be Jimmy Young, foreign correspondent, as publisher. Mr. Young appeared here in Columbia, during Journalism Week in 1941.

Walter Robb of Manila will be managing editor. Dr. Lin Yutang, author, Col. Carlos P. Romulo and B. W. Fleisher, who owned the Japan Advertiser will be on the honorary editorial board.

"Chinese Views and News", a column in Chinese, will be written by former Ambassador Hu Shih.

Former Student Is Now Officer in WAAC

Officer Margaret Brown, a former student in the University, spent her two-day furlough in Columbia, during October visiting Prof. and Mrs. Arthur S. Emig. She received her commission, which is equal to that of a second lieutenant in the regular army, on Sept. 26 after completion of the six-week training course at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa.

"At the Fort we get up at 5:45 o'clock every morning and are out on the line by 6 o'clock," she said. "At first it was hard for some of us, but we learned to do it by starting earlier, cutting down time, and keeping everything ready."

Officer Brown said that women are allowed to wear only inconspicuous make-up at the training center and have been requested to wear no lipstick in the mess hall. It is too much trouble to wash the lipstick off the glasses, she explained.

The former Columbian was dressed in an olive drab covert cloth suit and cap with accessories of russet brown kid gloves, shoes, and pocket book. Her utility coat of olive drab was similar to an officer's topcoat.

"We're not part of the regular army but act as auxiliaries," Officer Brown explained. "We follow our own rules of conduct."

She was met by a number of puzzled sailors as she walked downtown in Columbia. "They didn't know quite what to do," she said, "some of them did salute me, however."

Officer Brown is now stationed at Ft. Des Moines, supervising, teaching, and testing programs.

Students Harvest Crops At M. U. Grad's Suggestion

Time magazine for Oct. 26 carried an interesting story about the University of North Dakota and a University of Missouri alumnus who is on the faculty there.

"One evening last fortnight," so the story goes, "Governor John Moses of North Dakota broadcast a desperate message to North Dakota's citizens. For want of harvest hands, one of the lushest crops in the State's history—millions of bushels of wheat and potatoes and tons of sugar beets—might rot in the fields."

Next day at the University of North Dakota, in Grand Forks, 1,000 men and co-eds jammed into the mass meeting. Up jumped Dean William G. Bek, M. U. '05, and roared: "Field work is not beneath any of us, and any one of you who thinks so is a slacker in every sense of the world." Then and there the college decided to shut down for two weeks and man the fields."

Tigers-Jayhawks Meet for Fifty- First Game

Ancient Rivalry Was Interrupted in 1918 By World War I.

The thirty-second annual Homecoming held in Columbia, on Nov. 25 and 26 featured the traditional activities and meetings such as the Torchlight Parade, Mass Meeting, Bonfire, Mortar Board Breakfast and Missouri-Kansas Football Classic.

A surprising number of fans changed plans after the postponement of gas rationing and arrived for the game. Experts estimated the crowd at 10,000.

The day was sunny but the temperature was uncomfortably low and a chilling wind swooped in at the open end of Memorial Stadium, where the Kansas boys were soundly beaten by a score of 42 to 13.

New Method for Choosing Homecoming Queen

The Homecoming queen, Miss Edith Dailey of Chillicothe, was crowned during the intermission of the annual Homecoming dance at Rothwell Gymnasium. Queen candidates were selected from the various divisions of the University and the candidate was crowned whose division completed the largest war stamp and bond sale per capita of enrollment. Miss Dailey represented the School of Law whose per capita contribution totaled approximately $1.00.

Creation of "Memorial Fund" Outstanding Event of Homecoming

A whirlwind three-day campaign climaxed by the Homecoming celebration, netted $1500 in war bonds and stamps for the Missouri Memorial Fund.

The contributions included proceeds from the Homecoming Dance, auction of the football used in Homecoming game, organization gifts, and the Homecoming queen contest among the divisions of the University.

The total amount of contributions was turned over to the Board of Curators following the Homecoming. The Board will serve as trustees for the fund which will memorialize those men and women of the University who lose their lives in World War II, and will be invested in some type of permanent symbol to their sacrifice. Decision as to the expenditure of the fund will not be made until after the war.

Contributions by students, faculty, professional and honorary associations of the University were considered exceptional.

Two $50 bonds were recorded, bought by Mortar Board, honorary senior women's organization, and Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity.

Phi Chi Theta, women's professional commerce group, and Alpha Kappa Psi, men's professional commerce fraternity, went on record for a $25 bond apiece. High individual donations to the Fund included those of Dean Harry A. Curtis of the College of Engineering, $10; and A. Walther, Jr., of the School of Medicine, $10.

Fifteen Attend 1917 Anniversary Reunion

Fifteen members of the class of 1917, which was graduated from the University shortly after the entrance of the United States into the first World War, observed its silver anniversary at a brief reception in Jesse Hall on Thursday morning, Nov. 26.

All except four were from Columbia. Those attending were: Mrs. C. F. Dawson, Evanston, Ill.; Charles C. Hoke, Clayton; Carson Cowherd, Kansas City; Norman Clough, Lee's Summit; and Miss Lura Lewis, Mrs. Malcolm Perryman, Mrs. Patterson Bain, A. G. Capps, Mrs. Ruby McClure Barton, W. L. Bradshaw, Steele R. Petry, Fred Old, Fred Howard, Roy R. Cox, and Robert L. Howard all of Columbia.

Dedication at Half Is Feature of Game

The between-halves period of the Missouri-Kansas football game was dedicated to the men and women in the service in an impressive ceremony planned and supervised by Col. A. McIntyre of the University R.O.T.C.

Two Tiger batteries and an equivalent number of sailors from the Navy's Diesel Engineering School, formed in groups at opposite ends of the field and marched toward each other to the forty-yard line. With them, distributed evenly, were the national colors of about twenty allied nations. These colors formed in the center and Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush and Governor Forrest Donnell then dedicated the game to the armed services and our allies. Following these addresses, the navy men marched around the track to their seats and the two Tiger batteries followed. They were preceded by the band and "Old Glory."

Tigers Turn In Their Best Performance

Missouri's Golden Tigers of the gridiron, led by the twin-cylindered devastation of Bob Steuber and Jim Austin, ran out the string of the 1942 home season Thanksgiving Day with a performance which Columbia fans will remember as the best of the year. Swashing to a one-sided victory over the Kansas Jayhawks, the Bengals annexed their second consecutive Big Six conference championship.

The score was 42 to 13, but it could have been doubled if Coach Don Faurot had wanted it that way. For three periods the Tigers struck with lightning rapidity on the ground and through the air, throwing the ball around with reckless abandon on lateral passes to completely dominate the play.

Steuber was rival enough for Evans as an individual star, but for the first time this season Boundin' Bob had to share the spotlight with a new Tiger triple-threat back, Jim Austin of Trenton, a sophomore just up from the ranks of the unknown.

Steuber averaged 9 yards per try and reeled off touchdown dashes of 41 and 11 yards. In addition to his two tallies, Bob booted five extra points to boost his season's total to 114 points, highest accumulated by one individual in Missouri football history. And he had a third scoring dash called back on a penalty.

A. P. Green Co. Wins Maritime Award

Above: representatives of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Company of Mexico, are accepting the "M" burgee award of the Maritime Commission in recognition of their "outstanding production achievement." From left to right are: Mr. J. Harrison Brown, vice-president and general manager of the Company; Mr. A. P. Green, Company president and chairman of the Board of Visitors of the University; and Mr. L. J. Miller, also an alumnus, who is general superintendent. In uniform is Colonel Willard F. Rockwell who presented the banner in behalf of the Maritime Commission.

The presentation program was held at the plant at 2 o'clock in the afternoon on Nov. 11. The Honorable Clarence Cannon, Mr. A. P. Green, and Dr. Franc L. McCluer made addresses. Judge Frank Hollingsworth delivered the address of welcome.

Every employe on the payroll of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Company before Oct. 15, received a labor merit badge to be worn on the coat lapel, hat, cap, or shirt. The Maritime "M" is awarded for a six-month period only. At the end of that time, if the company holding the award still merits it, another gold star is placed on the banner and it remains in that company's possession.

We join many others in offering our hearty congratulations to officers and employes of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Company for their outstanding success in keeping "ships for victory" supplied with the firebricks no necessary in their construction.

Sen. Bennett Clark Visits In Columbia

Sen. Bennett Champ Clark was in Columbia, recently visiting his son, Champ, Jr., who is a junior in the School of Journalism.

In an interview with a Missourian reporter, Sen. Clark revealed that tax bills and the World Series don't mix. Sen. Clark, it seems, had tickets for games in St. Louis and New York, but a tax bill was in the last stages and he was detained in Washington.

It was the Senator's first vacation from Washington since early in the year and he visited in Jefferson City briefly on his way back to Washington.

"I think people are fully awakened to the situation," he said with reference to the national state of mind. When asked about the purpose of his visit to Columbia, he replied that "he was just down here to see the boy."

Gilmore Bradford Also Returns on Liner Gripsholm

Gilmore Bradford, manager of the far eastern interests of General Motors, Inc., and an alumnus of the university, returned on the Gripsholm in August to the United States. After a two-weeks rest at a Rochester, Minn., hospital, he is at home in Belton, Mo.

Mr. Bradford spent eight months in a Japanese internment camp in Hong Kong. When he arrived in Belton, 250 of his fellow townsmen were at the station to welcome him safely home.

He has spent many years in Shanghai, Hong Kong, and Tokyo, and is now speaking in the Cass County Bond campaign.

Secretary of Law School Starts Circular Letter

Mrs. Owen H. Price, secretary of the University of Missouri School of Law, has conceived and executed a fine scheme for keeping in touch with law alumni in the army and on the home front.

Mrs. Price keeps an up-to-date file of addresses and each month composes a letter containing the latest news of Law School activities, news of faculty members and graduates, mimeographs the letters and mails it to the alumni.

With regard to the letter Mrs. Price says, "I am sending out a letter in an effort to keep in touch with our law alumni while they are in the service. I am keeping a card index of all whose addresses I am able to obtain and hope to keep some kind of mail going to them at least once a month."

We think this is a splendid idea and hope that friends or families of alumni serving overseas or in the United States will send addresses to Mrs. Price in care of the School of Law.

Lewis Long Reports On Los Angeles Alumni Meetings

Lewis Long, president of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Missouri Alumni Association writes us that the group is still functioning even though "the going is rough and getting rougher."

"During the summer months," he reports, "we were inactive except for two picnics." "In June approximately seventy-five alumni and friends gathered in Griffith Park for a barbecued steak dinner. This meeting was held on Sunday, the fourteenth. Mr. Wilmer Hudson and Mr. Long prepared the steaks."

"On August sixteenth we held a joint meeting with the Missouri State Society in Sycamore Grove Park in Los Angeles. Some fifteen or twenty loyal alumni were present. I also noticed that several people followed typical Missouri tradition and had fried chicken for their lunches."

"Our September meeting was held on Monday, the fourteenth at McDonnell's Monterey Restaurant on Beverly Boulevard. About twenty-five members turned out for a talk by Paul Zimmerman, Sports Editor for the Los Angeles Times. He told of many interesting things which he has encountered as a reporter in the various parts of the United States.

Our October 15 meeting was held at the Rosslyn Hotel. It was our regular "home movie" night. Several members brought in interesting films. Some of the outstanding ones were contributed by Mr. Andrew Orear and were color movies of famous bird collections in the different sections of the United States.

We hope to continue our meetings during the war but have an idea our attendance will be pretty slim after the gasoline rationing starts."

Our sincere thanks go to Mr. Long for his splendid summary of the activities of the Los Angeles Alumni.

Milwaukee Alumni Back Tigers on October 10

Twenty-seven Milwaukee Tiger enthusiasts, alumni and their wives and husbands, met for dinner and their first meeting for several years on the eve of the Missouri-Wisconsin game on Oct. 9. They named Walter W. John, a member of the information staff of the Soil Conservation Service, chairman of the group; made tentative plans for future meetings; and started the cheering for the Missouri team in Madison.

Representing the "oldsters", Mr. R. H. Pinkley, president of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Transport Company and first chairman of the Missouri alumni group in Milwaukee, spoke informally, telling of some of the Missouri alumni organization's earlier meetings and activities. Mr. William J. Calvano, Milwaukee attorney, reminisced on College and football days in behalf of the "youngsters." Each of the alumni gave a brief history of his or her activities since graduation.

A "Pass-it-on-to an alumnus in the service" plan was suggested for keeping news of Missouri graduates circulating during the war among service men. Members were urged to send their copies of the Missouri Alumnus to men in the service.

Mr. John was unanimously named chairman of the group and Miss Ruth Harman treasurer. Our sincere thanks to Miss Jean Rae Adams, who submitted details of the meeting, and who was elected secretary.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wilson, 1006 E. Sylvan Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Beatty, 4605 North Morris Blvd.; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Pinkley, 2502 E. Newberry Blvd.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Gardner, 1320 South First Street; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Calvano, 312 East Wisconsin Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ferguson, Milwaukee Journal; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cheverton, 5435 North Berkeley Blvd.; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gundlack, 4870 North Oakland Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. John, 1700 E. Chateau Place; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Scanlon, 4110 North Newhall; Mr. and Mrs. George C. Cairns, 2424 North 82nd Street; Mr.

Missing or Dead

"He who loathes war, and will do everything in his power to avert it, but who will, in the last extremity, encounter its perils, from love of country and of home . . . who is willing to sacrifice himself and all that is dear to him in life, to promote the well-being of his fellowmen, will ever receive a worthy homage."

LIEUT. LAWRENCE M. KIRK, B.S. in B.A. '38, was killed in an airplane accident near Winslow, Ariz., on Sept. 30. Lieut. Kirk was president of the School of Business and Public Administration during his senior year and was also a member of QEBH. He was formerly stationed at Camp Wolters, Tex.

CURTIS HURLEY, JR., a student in the School of Journalism of the University in 1941, was killed at Jacksonville, Fla., on Oct. 28. He entered the College of Arts and Science in 1940. His home was in Morrilton, Ark.

CAPT. FRANK THOMAS HINSHAW, a former student in the College of Engineering, has been reported missing in western Europe since Sept. 9. Capt. Hinshaw is a member of the United States Army Air Corps and was presumably piloting a B-24 Consolidated plane. He is a native of Boone County and his two sisters are enrolled in the University.

Any omissions in this list are accidental and such names should be sent immediately to the MISSOURI ALUMNUS, 114 Jesse Hall, Columbia. Please include all information available regarding branch of service, service record, date of death or capture, etc.—The Editors.

and Mrs. Okley R. Fuqua, Waukegan, Ill.; Miss Ruth C. Harman, Plaza Hotel; Miss Jean Rae Adams, 3432 North Downer Ave.; Mr. William Tandy, Federal Building.

After the game a reception was held at the home of Prof. H. B. Wahlin and Mrs. Wahlin. Guests drank cider, ate doughnuts and bon bons before a roaring fire in the Wahlin fireplace. Those attending in addition to alumni mentioned in the list above, were: Evelyn Hansen, formerly hostess at Read Hall in Columbia, now hostess at the Student Union at the University of Wisconsin; Verbenia Thomas Anderson; Jessie Hill McCause; John M. Lamb; Josephine Dale Annin; W. M. Thomas; Harold and James E. Cook (both hitchhiked from Norfolk, Va., 11) C. E. Ragsdale; Mrs. N. K. Barr; Mr. N. K. Barr; Homer K. Smith; L. E. Lockwood; Elizabeth Miller Hanson; Mrs. E. R. Hines; Prof. Hugh Smith; Prof. Ralph McCause; and Gerald E. Annin.

Washington, D. C. Alumni Plan Year's Activities

The Washington D. C. Alumni are having a lively year with more alumni than ever assembled in the capitol city.

J. Barnard Gibbs, president of the Washington Alumni Association, sent us minutes of the first fall meeting on Oct. 2 and the tentative plans for future activities.

Other officers of the association are Dr. William D. Curtis, first vice-president; Mr. Donald R. Rush, secretary; Mr. Frank B. Scheetz, treasurer. At Oct. 2 the meeting, Garland B. Conley was named second vice-president.

A motion was unanimously adopted which proposed that alumni activities include regular monthly luncheon meetings, four parties—three in the evening and an afternoon picnic in the spring. The dates for these events were tentatively set at Oct. 24, Dec. 5, and Feb. 13, the picnic for May 8.

The first evening party was held on Oct. 24 at the Manor guest house where there was dancing a-plenty, contests with cash prizes, bridge, sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks.

Our thanks to J. Barnard Gibbs who keeps us so well informed as to the activities of the Washington Alumni.

Lincoln Alumni Hold Pre-Game Meeting

Bengalumni in or around Lincoln, Neb., assembled at a luncheon on Nov. 7 preceding the Missouri-Nebraska football game. About forty alumni attended and time was allowed for "Nebraska Missourians" to have a good visit.

John Cooper, until recently a member of the Athletic Department of the University of Missouri, and now in charge of physical education at the U. S. Army Air Base at Lincoln, talked to the group about the team and recent happenings on the Missouri Campus.

The following officers were elected: F. L. Duley, senior soil conservationist, U. S. Department of Agriculture, re-

TIGER TALK

by George Kentera

A quick look these days at the team standings of the Big Six will disclose a familiar and heartening sight—the University of Missouri Tigers are perched right at the top of the heap in their quest for a second successive conference title and a third in the last four years.

Yep, the Bengals are having things their own way in their loop this fall, but any hardy critic can tell you that they haven't come up to pre-season standards by any means. Picked in early September as one of the greatest potential elevens in the country, the men of Don Faurot have dropped two contests in eight games to date, losing to the University of Wisconsin and the Sailors of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

But a searching look behind the scenes brings forth some slight consolation for the state of things. True, the Tigers have been beaten twice and no longer hold a place of favor among the leading teams in the nation. But since their opening affair with the Ft. Riley Centaurs, the Bengals have been the victims of more injuries than is ordinarily the misfortune of a whole conference of football outfits.

The situation has reached such a stage that Don Faurot said recently, "What we're trying to do now is put together just two teams ready for action—not three."

Such a statement is revealing by the man who believes whole-heartedly in action for all, and it shows the real nature of the battered and limping Tigers who inhabit the regions adjacent to Rollins Field. Let's go back and review the broken bones, bad knees, and long string of injuries that have hampered the Bengals throughout the fall campaign.

Jefferson Davis, No. 1 center and the only capable replacement for last year's All-American Darold Jenkins, came down with an attack of influenza immediately after the opening Ft. Riley clash, and when he finally reported for practice, sprained his ankle. After two months of gridiron warfare for his mate, Davis is just now rounding into shape.

Chief casualty in the Colorado game was Maurice "Red" Wade, No. 2 left halfback and famed member of last year's vaunted Touchdown Trio. He never recovered effectively from a back injury, and withdrew from football late in October. Also injured was Wilbur Volz, sophomore candidate for Bowen's right halfback position.

The contest with the St. Louis Billikens was passed without further mishap, although none of the incapacitated players returned to action. And the rough meeting with the Wisconsin Badgers materially added to the Tiger hospital list. Bernard Pepper, starting tackle, was out of action for a week with a knee injury, and Wade, Bowen, and Davis were still absent. Also hurt were Bob Sweeney, who had taken over Davis' pivot post, and Don O'Hara, right halfback. O'Hara had shown to good advantage in the Colorado affair, but remained inactive following the Badger tussle until some weeks later against Nebraska.

Came the game with Kansas State, and while the Bengals won handily in their first conference appearance, Keith Parker, fullback, and Marshall Shurnas, No. 1 left end, were injured. And in the second Big Six tilt with Iowa State, right halfback Fred Kling and end Jack Van Dyne joined the bleeding ranks. And Jimmy Darr, No. 2 halfback, was also injured enough to keep him out for more than a week. The injuries to Darr and Kling left Missouri only two deep at the halfback posts.

But the next brace of games were to prove of most disaster to the Bengal scheme of things. In the Great Lakes contest Capt. Don Reece, all-conference fullback and one of the key men in the Missouri T formation, was injured so severely that he is not expected to return this season. And Bob Steuber and Fred Bouldin, with only one replacement, were battered into unconsciousness during the contest.

Then came the meeting with Nebraska, which saw the Tigers take undisputed possession of first place in the Big Six. It was a costly victory. The Bengals limped homeward after the fray minus the services of two of their stand-out linemen—Jack Keith, guard-center, and end Jack Lister. It was Keith who stepped in after injuries had laid up both centers, Sweeney and Davis, and took over the post effectively. And the fine defensive play of Lister had been consistent all season. Both received broken arms against the Cornhuskers, and probably will play no more football in 1942.

Such is a re-count of the direct hits scored by Old Man Injury on the Bengal squad. It cannot be doubted that such a string of accidents had much to do with the defeats absorbed by Missouri thus far in the campaign.

Not that Coach Faurot offers any alibi for defeat—that's not the way he does things. But many are the impartial observers who will tell you that injuries and the resulting lack of peak condition have kept the Tigers from an undefeated season.

Missouri faces four more games until they reach the end of the 1942 football road. Coming in order are the Oklahoma Sooners, Fordham, Kansas University, and the Iowa Pre-flight Cadets. Before this magazine is issued, the majority of these games will be water under the bridge, and it seems that despite the injury situation the Bengals will take them all handily.

Then looms the season's climax—a battle with the ranking Cadets of Bernie Bierman. The Tigers will be the underdogs—that seems sure at this time. But if there is one way to bring themselves back into the national picture, the Cadet game furnishes the opportunity. A victory over the naval eleven would do much to silence the talk that Missouri has not yet reached the heights of big-time football. Such a victory seems improbable now. But by Dec. 5 the Tigers should be in pretty good shape, with only Reece, Keith, and Lister out, and the Bengals will be in there playing good football. Whether or not the triumph is forthcoming depends upon many things—and not the least of these is the injury shadow which just doesn't want to go away.

The name of Wade no longer appears on the Varsity roster of the Missouri Tigers. Both Maurice ("Red") Wade and Clell Wade have withdrawn from school and football.

"Red," who last year was heralded as Missouri's next All-American back, had been hampered all year with injuries and never reached the peak which saw him score three touchdowns in the Oklahoma game in 1941. He has enrolled in the Springfield Teachers College to continue his education.

Clell left the squad to enlist in the air corps. A center, "Red's" fiery-headed brother had not seen much action this year, but was being groomed for future use.

The Missouri B football team, after successfully opening its season with an easy victory over the Rolla School of Mines, has dropped a pair of contests since that time.

The Baby Bengals traveled to Ft. Riley to meet the Centaurs, the eleven that was trounced, 31 to 0, by the Missouri Varsity, and then dropped a 14-to-2 contest to the Cape Girardeau outfit in the teachers' college homecoming affair.

At this writing the B boys are preparing for a game with the freshman outfit of John ("Hi") Simmons. In two previous games with the first-year gridsters, the B squad has come out on the long end of 14-to-7 and 21-to-0 scores.

The freshman team also is gaining experience in real competition, and defeated a squad from Ft. Leonard Wood, 25 to 0, recently. The clash with the B team will be the final freshman game of the season.

Bob Steuber, the Tigers' ranking All-American candidate and runner-up in the nation in individual scoring and ball-carrying, has been selected as the Missouri Valley A. A. U. candidate for the James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy, which each year is awarded to the outstanding amateur athlete in the country.

The announcement was made by Marion H. Miller, district A. A. U. secretary. Steuber will compete with athletes from forty other districts for the national honor.

Past candidates for the trophy from this section were: Clyde Coffman, Jim Bausch, and Fred Pralle of the University of Kansas; Archie Sam Romani, the Emporia State track star; and John Munski, Missouri's great distance runner.

Despite the difficulties of transportation involved, the Missouri polo squad will have at least part of a schedule this year. Under the guidance of Lieut. Leslie Green, the horsemen have already taken part in a contest with Ohio State at Columbus, O., losing by a 7-to-2 count. A scheduled second game was cancelled because of rain.

And the Ohio States paid a return visit to Columbia on Nov. 12 and 14, playing a brace of games with the Bengals. Also on the schedule are a series of contests with Culver-Stockton. The date for this series has not been set, but will probably come sometime in the latter part of November.

While the majority of attention has been turned to the gridiron activities of the Golden Tigers, Coach George Edwards, head basketball mentor, has been sending his charges through regular practices for the past four weeks, and the squad is rapidly rounding into shape.

The roster has been cut to fifteen men, led by junior Captain Earl Stark, and the team is anxiously awaiting the beginning of the season.

Freshman basketballers also opened practice Oct. 20 under Coach Edwards, but now are working under Herb Greg, former Varsity player and co-captain of the 1941 aggregation. To date the yearlings and Varsity have scrimmaged only once, with the advanced men having all the better of it.

Chicago Alumni Meet

The University of Missouri Alumni of Chicago attended a buffet dinner at the Bismarck Hotel on Oct. 30 and enjoyed an evening with M. F. Miller, Dean of the College of Agriculture; Harry Curtis, Dean of the College of Engineering; and Curtis L. Wilson, Dean of the Missouri School of Mines, who told all about happenings in Columbia and how old Mizzou is helping win the war.

The Missouri Engineers of Chicago postponed their September meeting and joined with the general alumni group to make the attendance record one of the best which the association has had.

"Country Gentleman" Salutes Faculty Members

Space in the December issue of the "Country Gentleman," a magazine published in Philadelphia, was devoted to the faculty members of the College of Agriculture at the University for their reports and findings in regard to animal and poultry husbandry.

Harry L. Kempster and Richard Irwin, professor and instructor in poultry husbandry respectively, will be given credit for their formula involving different proportions of soy-bean meal and animal-protein supplement in the diet of chicks to improve their growth.

Ship's Company Has New Bi-Weekly Paper

The first issue of The Mariner, ship's company newspaper of the United States Naval Diesel Training School, appeared Nov. 16.

The eight-page paper is written, illustrated, edited and mimeographed bi-weekly by the trainees and enlisted personnel of the school's Ship's Company under the direction of S. G. ("Bud") Wintraub, who graduated from the School of Journalism in June.

Besides featuring a Thanksgiving motif, the first issue was dedicated to the third class of about 250 men who graduated Wednesday, Nov. 18.

Holiday to Last 8 Days

Christmas vacation for the University will remain the same eight and a half day period as originally placed on the University calendar, President Middlebush announced on Nov. 3. The holiday will begin at noon Saturday, Dec. 19, and end at 8 o'clock Monday morning, Dec. 28.

M.U. Pays Tribute To Student Dead

Against a background of flags of the United Nations, flying in front of the Columns of Francis Quadrangle, students in the University on Nov. 17 paid tribute to the memory of those War II.

Prof. John G. Heinberg spoke briefly, commending the memorial service and presenting the concept of the "eternal student."

"Machine guns have not caused the Prof. Heinberg said. "Students have conquered people to recognize force," been the seekers of truth and now they must be the fighters for truth."

A two-minute silent tribute to the University students who have lost their lives in the present conflict was observed following the reading of the names of these students by Michael Trachtenberg.

The names read were: Robert Evans, Vernon Heindinger, David Kaufman, Jerome Notowitz, Kurt Schaefer, William Stone, Joseph Tuttle, William Winemiller, Morris Penner, William Shea, Walter Pierce, Thomas Harris, John Busiek, Curt Hurley, and Lawrence Kirk.

Plans for the Missouri Student War Memorial Fund were announced by Russell Thompson, president of Blue Key. The campaign to raise this fund began Nov. 17 and continued until Homecoming.

Classes were dismissed from 10:50 until 11:20 o'clock so students and faculty members might attend the ceremony.

WAAC'S Visit M.U.

Lieut. Florence Mead and Lieut. Marcia T. Marple, recent graduates from Officer's Candidate Training School at Fort Des Moines and now assigned to the Missouri Headquarters recruiting station, were in Columbia on Nov. 3, 4, and 5. They spoke before a group of upperclass women at the University on Tuesday night, Nov. 3, at the Physics Building Auditorium.

"Spread the Word" Is New J. Show

Chorus tryouts for the 1943 Journalism Show, "Spread the Word", were held in the University Auditorium on Nov. 19, and tryouts for singing and acting parts were held on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 21.

A SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALUMNI

Alumni of the University of Missouri are being asked by the U. S. Civil Service Commission to assist in the increasingly difficult task of finding high grade personnel for the expanding needs of war service agencies. Executives, administrators, and technical men who can get things done are particularly needed.

The Commission is now establishing a reservoir of material on qualified candidates for all types of high grade positions, and is looking for persons of high rank earning capacity and proven ability as evidenced by their top-ranking status in leading business concerns. There is also a need for exceptional able junior executives who have been rapidly advanced and groomed for managerial posts. Most of these Government positions pay salaries of $4600 to $8000 per year, depending upon experience and qualifications.

The Commission realizes that the acceptance of a Government position might involve a financial sacrifice for many of the executives who would qualify, but in view of the urgency and the gravity of the present situation it is hoped that many will be willing to serve the nation during the emergency. Submitting a personal record for consideration does not involve acceptance of a position when offered, nor does it commit the applicant in any way whatsoever. Included among the particular positions for which vacancies exist at the present time are statisticians, marketing analysts, industrial specialists in various lines, procedural analysts, budget and fiscal analysts, economists, administrators, engineers, physicists, chemists, and various other technical posts.

Alumni who may not wish to apply themselves can greatly assist the war effort by suggesting to others who they know can qualify to send in their applications without delay. The types of positions change from week to week as the intensity of the war demand grows. For this reason rosters of available opportunities change constantly. But the general type of positions which are in constant demand, however, are those requiring administrative and executive experience of the highest order.

Application Form No. 57 for use in filing for these positions can be obtained from any first or second class post office, or from the district office of the Commission in the New Federal Building in St. Louis. The application (Form 57) when properly filled out should be mailed to the Ninth U. S. Civil Service Regional Office, St. Louis, Missouri, and marked to the attention of either Dr. T. W. Bruce, Recruitment Specialist, or E. D. Dail, Associate Recruitment Specialist.

Under the Stars and Stripes

The University of Missouri can now add another Brigadier-General to its list of alumni in key positions in the army, navy, and marine corps. The new general is FRANCIS BRITTINGHAM, graduate of the College of Engineering in 1915. Brig.-Gen. Brittingham, who brings the number of Missouri generals to six, is a nephew of R. H. Jesse, president of the University from 1891 until 1907. He expects to begin service overseas sometime in the near future.

LIEUT. AND MRS. FORD NELSON of Miami Beach, Fla., announce the birth of a son, Ford, Jr., on Nov. 7. Mrs. Nelson is the former MISS MARY CONLEY of Columbia.

EVELYN FOREMAN of Kansas City and MAJ. PAUL VAN OSDOL, JR., were married Nov. 15. The wedding was originally planned for the holiday season of 1941 but was postponed because Maj. Van Osdol was sent to Alaska.

MISS MARGARET ELLEN PEEBLES and LIEUT. KARL W. BLANCHARD were married on Nov. 11 in Paris, Tenn. Lieut. Blanchard has been stationed in Camp Edwards, Mass.

PVT. WILLIAM PLUNKETT, B.J. '42, is now stationed in the Armored Replacement Training Center at Ft. Knox, Ky.

ROBERT F. HOPPER, B.S. in Eng. '40, formerly of Columbia, has been promoted to the rank of Captain and is now serving with the United States Army in Northern Ireland. Two brothers-in-law are also serving overseas: Capt. Arthur E. Strang, a graduate of the School of Journalism, who is thought to be a prisoner of the Japanese, and Col. R. Becker who is serving in the Pacific with the United States Medical Corps.

PVT. JOHN CROCKER, a former student, visited his parents in Columbia recently. He is stationed at Camp Anacostia across the Potomac from Washington, D. C., and is now on the capitol guard in Washington.

LIEUT. HAROLD F. HENTON of Slater, a former student, has completed a special course of instruction in the officers' department of the Eastern Signal Corps School at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

LIEUT. THOMAS McHARG, '36, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain. He is stationed at Camp Gruber, Okla.

BOB FAUROT, brother of Coach Don Faurot, has been promoted to captain in the Army Air Corps.

NED ETHERIDGE, former president of Missouri Workshop, and a graduate of the School of Journalism, left recently for Ft. Riley, Kan., after spending a week with his parents in Columbia. He is a private in the infantry, specialized service.

Hobart S. Vincent, recently commissioned a second lieutenant.

ENSIGN LOWELL HEAD and Miss Emilie Gautier of Webster Groves were married on Sept. 22. Mr. Head, now serving in the naval air corps, was one time a member of the faculty in the School of Law at the University.

WILLIAM B. NEATE, A.B. '33, is now on duty as a second lieutenant at Jefferson Barracks. For the past year and a half he has operated a clothing store in Mexico, Mo.

CAPT. FRED W. MAY, publisher of the Lebanon Daily News and a B.J. '27, suffered a broken leg at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., recently while training for a new army assignment. He later contracted pneumonia.

MISS KATHRYN SELECMAN and Loren L. Roberts, both of Savannah, were married Oct. 9 in Savannah. Mr. Roberts has been assigned to headquarters company at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

WALTER FRANK GERARD, a former student, has entered active duty with the Coast Guard and has been assigned to Omaha, Neb.

JOHN ROBERT HARRIS, a former student from Columbia, has enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps. He is stationed temporarily at Jefferson Barracks.

CAPT. LLOYD G. HANLEY has been promoted to the rank of major. He is now adjutant of the Kansas City quartermaster depot. Maj. Hanley, A.B. '34, is a member of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity.

LIEUT. ROBERT N. FLEMING, of Columbia, left recently for Ft. Sill, Okla., to take over duties in the Field Artillery.

RAY DEVILBISS left Oct. 24 to enter Columbia University for Officers' training under the navy V-7 program.

Miss Helen Lahey and LIEUT. R. C. FULTON of Kansas City, were married in Wichita on Sept. 28. Lieut. and Mrs. Fulton live in Columbia, S. C.

EDWIN C. ORR, prosecuting attorney for Boone County, left Oct. 12 for Tucson, Ariz., to begin training at the naval officer school there.

CORP. JOHN SITTNER, B.J. '39, was recently transferred from Camp Grant, Ill., to Ft. Sill, Okla.

LIEUTENANT THOMPSON E. POTTER, of the U. S. Medical Corps, has been promoted to rank of Captain. Capt. Potter, A.B. '35, was ordered to foreign service in the Puerto Rican department in 1941.

Wartime readjustments . . . #2

THE GIBSONS GET AROUND RUBBER RATIONING — AND GET AROUND!

THE American sense of humor — and American ingenuity — make our many wartime adjustments easier than they otherwise would be.

Out of the whole process — learning to balance on a bike again and grow our own vegetables and live more simply — comes a new perspective. Non-essentials show up for what they are, and big things take their place at the head of the list.

For most of us, putting first things first means paying taxes, buying War Bonds and adding life insurance. Certainly life insurance has a special service to render in these tense times.

It's the quickest, cheapest, safest way to provide protection for families who now need protection more than ever. Its purchase helps to curb inflation, and contributes to the war effort because much of your premium dollar is promptly re-invested in Government bonds.

And it's one commitment that helps finance itself when premium payments come hard. How? Ask any New England Mutual Career Underwriter.

Here are some of the advantages of a New England Mutual contract

1. DIVIDENDS begin at the end of the first year.
2. CASH VALUES begin at the end of the second year.
3. A PREMIUM LOAN is available toward payment of the second annual premium.
4. CONVERSION to Retirement Income or higher premium plans requires the payment of difference in reserves only.

How to balance bike or budget

Both take practice. Both bring tumbles — at first. Both are easier with a little expert coaching.

Even if you're a born bike-rider, you can probably use some real help with the budget adjustments imposed by war.

Now is a good time to turn to the men listed below. They're alumni of your college and they talk your language. They are also trained representatives of the First Mutual Life Insurance Company Chartered in America.

Out of their experience you'll get practical, constructive suggestions. They'll help you make the most of your limited life insurance dollars — help you protect your present policies with premium loans if necessary.

Check your protection now when you need it most. If none of these men is near you, you can get similar service at the New England Mutual office in your city.

We're making readjustments, too. With some 15% of our field force now in military service, we have real opportunities for able men in several cities.

If you're interested in a satisfying career where you can be your own boss — and if your draft status is reasonably assured — we'd like to talk things over. Or perhaps you have a friend who might appreciate the tip.

In either case, just write to Wm. Eugene Hays (Stanford '26), 501 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., for information. There's no obligation, of course.

"TOPPING"

Our Biggest Job

Long ago the railroads made possible the swift settlement and development of this land.

Today they face their greatest test in the struggle to preserve it.

For this is essentially a war of rolling wheels. Millions of men, and tens of millions of tons of vital raw and finished products, must be moved swiftly and surely, where and when they are needed. Stop the wheels that move them, and we stop all that floats and flies as well.

That is why today, on the Santa Fe, movements essential to the war effort are topping the biggest job in our history. They must come first, beyond argument or selfish interest, on every American railroad.

Let's All Fall Together

As the tide of military rail travel mounts, you can help us maintain adequate civilian passenger service as well in these ways: Make reservations and buy tickets early. Cancel unwanted reservations promptly. Carry least possible luggage, checking extra pieces to avoid crowding. Vacate dining cars quickly after meals. Travel mid-week, avoiding week-end and holiday rush periods. And please turn freely to any Santa Fe representative for help with your travel problems.

Electrical Workers Are Production Soldiers

Like army engineers, the job of these "production soldiers" is to keep the supply lines intact; to carry vital electric power to war production industries.

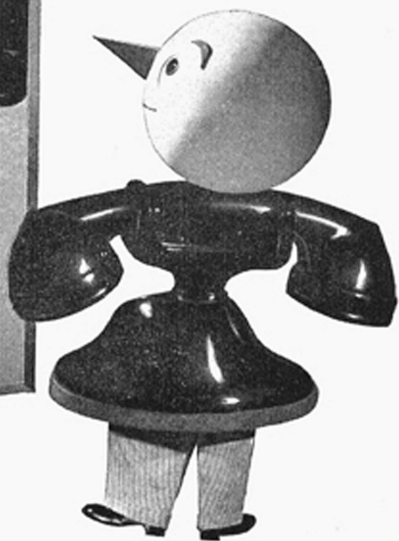

Before a wheel can turn, or a rivet be "set," factories must have an adequate supply of this "life blood" of industry... because power is as vital to industry as is the blood in your veins.

Today America has more electric power than Japan, Germany and Italy combined. It's a production war, and the power to produce will win.

That's why these employees, 2,200 of them, realize their responsibility as first line "production soldiers." They are grimly determined to furnish plenty of electric power, 24 hours a day, so that no war production will ever be delayed.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

PASSING THE AMMUNITION

JUST One OF THE WAR-TIME TASKS OF THE MISSOURI PACIFIC LINES

Missouri Pacific Lines and their more than 40,000 employes are proud of the way they are responding to Uncle Sam's request to "pass the ammunition." Yet the movement of actual ammunition is but a small part of the gigantic war task this railroad is performing.

Day and night Missouri Pacific Lines' trains carry soldiers by the hundreds—often by the thousands. Day and night scores of freight trains heavily laden with raw materials destined to war plants, with supplies for the Army and Navy or with guns, bombs, planes and tanks roar over their rails.

"Without adequate transportation we could not even begin to fight," sagely remarked the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation. And without adequate rail transportation the civilian population could not be kept clothed or fed, nor homes, stores and factories be kept heated.

There is nothing formidable looking about trains. Yet they are proving one of the nation's most effective weapons — weapons that are playing an important part in the grim business of crushing the Axis.

Meeting the transportation demands of a nation at war and, at the same time, meeting the transportation demands of civilian travelers and shippers is a big and important task. The Missouri Pacific Lines and their employes realize the heavy responsibility that the war has placed upon them, and are pledged to do their utmost to fulfill that obligation promptly and efficiently.

Today the Missouri Pacific Lines are carrying the heaviest volume of freight traffic in their history, are handling more passengers than at any time since the advent of highway transportation — a feat that would have been impossible save for the many millions of dollars spent during the last score of years in improving and modernizing their railway plants, save for the ever growing efficiency of an army of loyal, skilled employes.

But each day the volume of military and civilian traffic grows while new freight cars, passenger cars and locomotives will be hard to get, because critical materials for their construction are more urgently needed for waging war. So the need increases for the continued and fullest cooperation of shippers and travelers.

This war has increased our business but has not lessened our desire to serve you. For information about freight or passenger transportation see, phone or write any Missouri Pacific Lines representative.
