THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of THE UNIVERSITY of MISSOURI, Columbia, Missouri

DEAR ALUMNI FRIENDS:

Spring has come to the Missouri campus early this year and is really "showing off" for the new students. As shown by the cover picture, students choose the benches outside Jesse Hall these days for those between-class chats.

Spring . . . and the tulip trees and the jonquils are blooming . . . but did you know that the tulip trees are not tulip trees on the library campus of the University, and those pretty yellow flowers are not jonquils? Instead, the tulip trees are magnolias, and the jonquils are daffodils. This bit of information came from J. E. Smith, Jr., of the floriculture and landscape department of the College of Agriculture, who says that both tulip tree and jonquils are misnomers.

The magnolia trees found near the library campus and the College of Agriculture are not the usual magnolias found in the South. These magnolias are a hybrid of two plants that are natural to China, and as such, cannot rightly be termed tulip trees.

The daffodils are getting their share of attention this year. They make a riot of color, in contrast to the red bud trees and the japonica, or fire bush, with varieties ranging from scarlet to pale pink.

For the flower-lover, the gardens of the floriculture department would be a paradise, but since the gardens are primarily for study and observation by the students, the next best thing is just to stroll around campus.

One of the most beautiful trees on the campus is the flowering cherry tree in front of Mumford Hall. It is one of the many Japanese species.

The most common flower of them all, of course, the dandelion, is beginning to make headway at its usual rate.

Aspirants for the Varsity tennis teams are enjoying these warm days as practice moves outdoors. Tournaments are being played to determine members of the team who will meet St. Louis University April 30 in Columbia.

Tennis isn't the only sport holding the spotlight though. Huge numbers have turned out for baseball and football.

Coach John "Hi" Simmons almost thought he had reported to the wrong field April 1 for the opening day's Missouri baseball practice. One of the largest squads in Tiger history, comparable to an organized ball club's early roster, turned out to vie for the wide-open positions on the 1946 team.

About 100 prospects brightened Coach Don Faurot's grid program and practice opened March 4 with light drills. Faurot and Assistant Chauncey Simpson worked the backfield aspirants on the "T" formation, uncorking pass and running plays. With the flurry of football material present, Tiger backfields were able to team up in various combinations.

Assisting Coach Faurot in the opening grid session was Paul Christman, Missouri All-American quarterback in 1939. Christman, All Big Six back 1939-1940, and rated Missouri's best forward passer, worked with passing backs.

With 100 veterans in the reviewing line and another 100 people looking on, the ROTC unit here observed Army Day April 6, on the Crowder Hall grounds, with its first formal parade since 1942.

The cadets marched onto the parade grounds behind the University band led by George Stemmler. Garbed in the traditional ROTC blue uniforms, the students were commanded by veterans enrolled in the advance course, who wore the olive drab of their not-so-long-ago army days.

The unit formed a four-battery front on the parade grounds; officers made their reports, and then the batteries passed in review before the veterans. Official reviewers were University President Frederick A. Middlebush, Col. John Hinton, and Capt. V. R. Sinclair, Naval ROTC commander here.

Engineers Hold Annual St. Pat's Week

University engineers began the annual week of homage to their patron, St. Patrick, Sunday, March 10. They attended services of the Burrall Class together; that day also marked the beginning of the beard-growing contest.

Early in the week engineers were busy preparing for the coming events and on Thursday, March 14, the fun began. That evening Rollins Spring was the setting for the barbecue at which the longest beard was judged. After the barbecue, the Irishmen serenaded sororities, girls' dormitories, Stephens and Christian Colleges.

Campus Stunt Dedicated

On the following morning at 11 o'clock the "mysterious" campus stunt was dedicated. In 1933 it was a 36-foot slide rule, before that it was a suspension bridge across the campus, and way back in 1906, it was an elephant atop Jesse Hall. This year, with their usual ingenuity, they devised a Personality Analyzer. A timid student who didn't quite know his own strength with the opposite sex, could find his potentialities by being tested with this engineers' pride and joy.

The Analyzer, an eight-foot-square marvel of electrical, mechanical, chemical, and civil engineering was topped by a clock-like object whose face was divided into several personality traits, such as "glamour boy, apple polisher, and sucker. The possibilities of the mechanism have not been fully explored, but engineers rumor that the idea is greater than the discovery of the atom bomb.

Patron Saint Is Welcomed

Columbia was host to St. Patrick himself when Mayor Bruce J. Carl officially welcomed the patron saint of the engineers to the city March 15.

The green-clad saint, surrounded by student engineers, led a parade through downtown Columbia to the Engineering Building, where he dubbed twenty students and three professional men Knights of St. Patrick.

The degree of Knights of St. Patrick, Summa Cum Laude, which is given to professional men for exceptional contributions in their field, went to Maj. Gen. L. J. Sverdrup, St. Louis engineer; Edwin T. Mahood, Kansas City engineer; and Dr. Elmer Ellis, dean of the College of Arts and Science.

St. Pat Arrives In Stage Coach

St. Patrick arrived in an ancient stage coach bearing the name "Wells Fargo" on its side. Dressed in a velvet robe with peaked cap, the saint was an aged man whose beard and long white hair met to cover his face. Ac-ording to time-honored tradition, the saint's real identity is never revealed.

The Hickman High School Band headed the parade, and the stage coach, heavily guarded by engineers, followed. Then came cars bearing engineer alumni and guests and the candidates for St. Pat's queen: Pat Martin, Betsy Balsey, Pat Oberdahn, Pat Paterson, and Dottie Adair.

On his arrival, St. Patrick was handed down into a specially built chair. Moving with the difficulty of the very old, he carried a twisted green cane decorated with a serpent's head.

Dean Harry A. Curtis of the College of Engineering greeted the saint on the steps of the Engineering Building. A procession was formed, with St. Patrick at its head and the twenty-three men to be knighted, in caps and gowns, following.

Knights Of St. Pat Degrees Given

Each candidate was escorted to St. Patrick, and kneeling with his face close to the ground, heard St. Pat's quivering voice award him one of the four honorary degrees of knighthood.

The degree of Knights of St. Patrick, Magna Cum Laude, awarded for outstanding contributions to the Engineers Club, went to Paul K. Landtiser and Oliver W. Weiss.

Those dubbed Knights of St. Patrick Cum Laude, for active participation in the activities of the Engineers Club, were Harold Denkler, Gilbert Hasemann, Arthur T. Ismoto, Samuel C. Kraus, Jr., Allison F. O'Brien, and James L. McCubbin.

Knights of St. Patrick were Durward B. Brandt, George E. Brown, Charles A. Buehler, Adolph E. Buescher, William E. Bushnell, Edward Ditterline, Erich Farber, Hugh King, Robert Q. King, James D. Moore, John E. Norwood, Frank H. Rucker, and Edward W. Sweeney.

After the ceremony, all engineers present knelt before the knighting stand with their heads bowed low to pay homage to their patron saint.

Bill Yarnall headed a body of guards who kept an all-night watch over the University columns and the engineers' campus stunt that night. The guards were armed with wooden paddles to ward off possible enemy attack.

Labs Are Opened For Inspection

As a feature of the week, University engineering students opened classroom laboratories for public inspection, Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16.

Explanation of engineering devices and tools of a technical nature, and such stunts as water flowing from a faucet suspended in mid air, burning gas shooting from both ends of an unconnected pipe, and colored water fountains supporting balls were exhibited.

Engineers Hear Lectures

Reviewing accomplishments of the Corps of Engineers in our war against Japan, Maj. Gen. L. J. Sverdrup told University engineering students March 16 that "the seemingly impossible tasks performed by engineers throughout the war is marked tribute to their profession." Gen Sverdrup, holder of the Purple Heart, Silver Star, and the Distinguished Service Cross, spoke to several hundred engineers in the University Auditorium.

Saturday afternoon the Green Tea was held in the Engineering Library. That evening Dean A. Harvey, St. Louis, a 1935 graduate of the College of Engineering, addressed the engineers' alumni-faculty-student banquet at the Tiger Hotel.

St. Pat's Ball Ends Celebration

The climax of St. Pat's week was the crowning of the Engineers' Queen at the St. Pat's Ball Saturday night at the Armory. Patricia Ann Martin Stephens College student, was selected queen from 27 candidates nominated by all University women's houses, Stephens and Christian Colleges. Janet Whitehead, 1945 queen, presented the crown to Miss Martin. Following her coronation, the queen was given the first issue of the Missouri Shamrock, monthly engineering magazine. Music for the ball was furnished by Jack Teagarden and his orchestra.

St. Patrick Was An Engineer

How do we know St. Pat was an engineer? The engineers say that St. Pat was the first person to survey and map the Emerald Isle, in addition to ridding it of reptiles. St. Pat is said to have invented both differential and integral calculus and passed it on to the engineers.

It was not discovered until 1903 that St. Pat was an engineer. During the digging of the foundation of the Engineering Building, a stone was uncovered on which was recorded "Erin-gobraugh." Engineering students at the University are proud of the fact that the tradition started here. Now, throughout the nation, Engineering Colleges recognize Saint Patrick as their patron saint. But Mizzou's engineers say "We started it."

Gen. Omar Bradley To Give June Commencement Address

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, head of the Veterans' Administration and native Missourian who distinguished himself during World War II, will deliver the commencement address at the University June 6. President Frederick A. Middlebush has announced.

Gen. Bradley, born at Clark, just outside Boone County, Feb. 12, 1893, attended school at Moberly, Mo. He received an ovation there last summer during his visit upon his return from Europe.

Known as the enlisted man's general, he was selected by President Truman last July to head the Veterans Administration. At that time, he was commander of the 12th Army Group, a command in which he had led the largest field army ever under one man. As such, he had directed the American campaign through France and Germany.

At the time of World War I, he was serving as professor of military science and tactics at South Dakota State College. In 1920, he went to West Point, from which he had been graduated five years before, and was assigned as instructor in mathematics.

After graduating from the Command and General Staff School in 1929, he served four years as instructor in the Infantry School at Ft. Benning, Ga. He then went to the Army War College in Washington, was graduated in 1934, and assigned as instructor in military tactics at West Point.

He was called to duty on the War Department General Staff in 1938 and, in 1941, was assigned as commandant of the Infantry School. In February, 1943, he was given an unannounced overseas assignment, which turned out to be the African campaign.

Gamma Alpha Chi Presents Annual Spring Style Show

A mock wedding enacted against a colorful spring background climaxed Gamma Alpha Chi's spring style show, "A Young Man's Fancy," presented March 7 in Jay H. Neff Auditorium.

The show, which was presented again on March 8, featured fashions a young man's dream girl of 1946 would wear. The annual event was sponsored by the national advertising fraternity for women at the University in co-operation with The Columbia Missourian and local retail firms. Models were from the University and Christian and Stephens Colleges.

Miss Maggie Bradley, Midwest editor of Junior Bazaar, offered comments while the young man, Jim Rieser, casually perused the models selecting his dream girl, Miss K. K. Wright. A whirlwind courtship followed, including a coffee and doughnut date, culminating in marriage.

For her gown, Miss Wright, Stephens College junior, chose white marquise fashioned with a square neckline, double ruffles enfolding the waist, and a graceful sweeping train. Her quarter length veil was held in place by a braided coronet. Miss Wright modeled for Harzfeld's; her bridal bouquet was designed by Mueller's Florist Shop.

Bridesmaids Barbara Boxwood and Carolyn Jones of Christian College wore Harzfeld's chartreuse-faille dresses with cap sleeves and cream puff fluffs in the skirt. Their cluster bouquets were of red carnations.

Youngest members of the show, three-year olds Deirdre Burkhardt and Bobby Hulett, added a note of hilarity as they toddled across the stage dressed in Easter outfits from Turner's.

A musical backlog was provided by Bessie Birke and Dana Faye Ware of the University at the piano. Appropriate love songs were sung by Dick Watkins.

Farmers' Fair Will Return To Missouri Campus May 10-11

Farmers' Fair, at one time one of the biggest college student stunts in America, will return to the University campus May 10 and 11, it has been announced by the Ag Club.

The Fair will include a horse show, minstrel show, contests, parade, exhibits, and concessions. Duane McFarland, senior in the College of Agriculture, will manage the show. Other officers are: Bob Beatty, assistant manager; Winston Marshall, treasurer; David Archer, assistant treasurer; Clyde Bachtel, Howard Talbott, and Pat O'Brien, councilmen.

Chairmen of the main committees are: Horse show, Eugene Young and David F. Bryan; minstrel, Bill M. Claxton; contests, Edward Wiggins; parade, Bert D. Slatten and Charles Garvin; exhibits, Donald W. Owens and Wilson A. Nance; concessions, J. F. Matteson and Samuel D. Brady.

Farmers' Fair began in 1905 with a decision by students in the College of Agriculture that they should celebrate their birthday. A demonstration at the gymnasium, ending in a parade, started the celebration. At the head of that first parade W. A. Cochel, recently retired editor of the weekly Kansas City Star, rode in Dean Mumford's buggy. From this humble beginning grew the stunt annually presented by Agriculture and Home Economics students until World War II caused its discontinuance in 1941.

Spirit of 19th Century Is Created in Workshop Play

By GEORGIA TOWNSEND

The Workshop production of "Rip Van Winkle" March 12 was a most enjoyable journey into the spirit of the 19th century, created both by the old-fashioned sets and the flavor of the acting.

Prof. Don Rhynsbarger, in the role of the good-natured and hen-pecked Rip Van Winkle, held the audience in the palm of his hand throughout the play. In several scenes his was the only dialogue, but so commanding was his performance that attention never wandered from him. His comedy scenes were especially enjoyed by the good-sized audience, who entered into the spirit of the times to the point of cheering the dramatic banishment of the villains from the stage in the last scene.

Dorothy Chancellor, in the role of the spirited Dame Van Winkle, turned in a worthy performance. Her sharp-tongued jibes at Rip, and her repeated efforts to reform the schnapps-loving gentlemen were in fine contrast to the humbling of her proud spirit when she had to submit to the cruel treatment of a very villainous villain, Derrick von Beekman, ably played by Frank Connett, Jr.

These people were backed by good performances by the rest of the cast, especially little Elizabeth Roberts as Meenie Van Winkle, Jens Wennberg as little Hendrick Vedder, O. B. Langenbeck as Nick Vedder, Suzanne Carrier as Katchen, and Andrew Kastanas as Seth Slough. Wearing an appropriate sneer during most of the play was the other villain, young and old version, played by Dennis Drake and Robert Wren, respectively.

Hudson's men played by several elementary school children, Denis Overholser, Paul Johnston, Philip Gingrich, and William Vaughn; and Hendrick Hudson, portrayed by University student, Robert Whittemore, brought many laughs as the tiny, bearded men who caused Rip's long sleep.

Especially notable was the electrically created rain and thunder storm that was amazingly realistic, and the bright sunshine and wind-blown clouds that greeted Rip after his nap in the mountains. The three sets, designed by Herbert Philippi, the workshop designer-technician, added much to the spirit of the play. Much of the furniture was painted on the sets themselves, in the manner of 19th century scenery.

During the curtain call, Prof. Rhynsbarger introduced the students who worked behind the scenes. The play was also presented March 13 and 14.

TIGERS FINISH FOURTH AT K.C. MEET

Coach Tom Botts' Missouri track squad won only four second places and two thirds March 2 in the Big Six indoor field and track meet at Kansas City to finish fourth behind the Iowa State Cyclones who captured the crown for the third consecutive year with 44 points.

Oklahoma finished second with 29 points, Nebraska third with 23½, and Missouri fourth with 19½ points. Kansas and Kansas State had 12½ and 3½ respectively.

With Bob Chase sidelined with a leg injury, Rog Miller ran the hurdles and placed second in the highs, with Jon Sharp of Oklahoma coasting through to an easy victory in 7.8 seconds. Bob Crowson, defending conference sprint champ and unbeaten in the 60-yard dash until the Oklahoma duel meet here recently, was again defeated by Laddie Harp, Sooner ace, with a 6.4 seconds timing. Other Tiger seconds went to Bill Slagle in the 2-mile and Dick Higgins in the pole vault.

Iowa State scored in 11 of the 12 events and established new records in the high and broad jumps. Dwayne Feeken leaped 6 feet, 4 inches in the high jump to edge Kansas' Tom Scofield by an inch, thereby dethroning Bob Stoland's 1941 high jump record of 6 feet, 2½ inches. Scofield had surpassed Stoland's record before Feeken soared to his record height.

Norman Federson, Cyclone sprinter and broad jumper, shattered the broad jump mark in the afternoon preliminaries by going a strong 24 feet ¼ inch.

The broad jump record was formerly held by another Iowa State trackster, Everette Norcross, who jumped 23 feet, 4¾ inches in 1934.

Oklahoma pushed off to a banging start in the early events, racking up 15 points on three firsts in the hurdles and sprint. Sharp, flashy hurdler, scored a double victory with 7.2 seconds run in the lows and a 7.8 seconds time for the highs.

Nebraska's Bob Ginn, holder of the Big Six mile record, made his appearance in the two-mile race, but placed third behind Oklahoma's John Canaris and Bill Slagle of Missouri.

Tiger pole vaulter Dick Higgins, showed definite signs of improvement as he vaulted 12 feet, 9 inches to gain a second behind Dick Miller, Nebraska, with a 13 foot effort. Higgins, Tiger star in former years, should be in top form for the outdoor season.

Rog Miller surpassed his season high jump mark, going an even 6 feet to tie for third place with Tiger Jim Howard.

Iowa State's Bill Arlen, winner of the mile run for the past two years, thrilled the 8000 spectators at the Municipal Auditorium with a brilliant finish to beat Nebraska's Dean Kratz by ten yards and take permanent possession of the Glenn Cunningham trophy given by Dr. John Outland of Kansas City, father of the Kansas relays.

The Cyclone squad added another first in the mile relay, winning in 3:30 ahead of Oklahoma and Missouri. Because of a small track, the relay was run in heats with the winner declared on respective times. Missouri matched Nebraska and finished four yards in front on the strength of strong gains by Dick Schmidt and Jim Whitacre.

Coach Tom Botts protested the judges' decision in the 60-yard dash, contending John Coogan had finished second or third. Coogan ran on the inside lane close to the judges' platform and final tabulations didn't include Coogan among the first four finishers.

Stalcup Succeeds Edwards As Tiger Basketball Mentor

Wilbur N. Stalcup was approved by the Board of Curators as the new University basketball coach, succeeding George R. Edwards.

Mr. Stalcup, who will assume duties at once, comes to the University from Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville with a 12-year coaching record. Mr. Edwards will continue as business manager of the athletic department.

The former Maryville coach established a total of 202 victories against 52 defeats for a .795 percentage. His teams were champions of the M.I.A.A. league twice, tied for the leadership once, finished second five times, and third on two occasions.

The 36-year-old native Missourian took teams to the National Collegiate Tournament in Kansas City six different times, finishing second once and teaching the quarterfinals in other years.

Outside of conference tournaments Mr. Stalcup nabbed first place honors in the 1939 Kansas City pre-Season Invitational, and repeated with a championship five in the 1940 and 1941 Sunflower Tournaments at Washburn College and Emporia, Kan., respectively. In 1942, Maryville reached the semi-finals in the Oklahoma City Invitational Meet.

"We are happy to have Stalcup on our staff, as we think he is a fine, aggressive young coach who is well proven in his college field," Athletic Director Don Faurot said.

Mr. Faurot also praised retiring Coach George Edwards highly when he said, "We appreciate very much the fine service that George Edwards has rendered to the University of Missouri and we are happy he is going to stay on with us as our business manager. His influence for fair play and good sportsmanship has been excellent."

The new Missouri basketball coach, who was born at Forbes, Mo., Feb. 10, 1910, was graduated from Oregon, Mo., high school, where he was an all-state forward on the state championship basketball team. He later won 11 major letters at Maryville, three in football and four each in basketball and track.

Playing under Henry Iba, now coach at Oklahoma A. and M., Mr. Stalcup sparked his team for four years at forward, gaining all-conference honors every season. For his fine play in the 1932 National AAU Tournament, the 5-foot, 9-inch Missourian was selected as a second team All-America guard.

Graduating from Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville in 1932 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Social Science and Physical Education, Mr. Stalcup immediately accepted an all-sports coaching position at Jackson, Mo., high school before joining the coaching staff of his former college in 1933. Mr. Stalcup's high school teams won the 1933 Southeast Missouri championship and took second in the state high school tournament.

The new Tiger basketball coach received a Master of Science degree in physical education from Louisiana State University in 1940. He has also done graduate work at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., and the University of Chicago.

War interrupted Mr. Stalcup's college coaching when he enlisted in the navy in 1943. He took charge of a team on the USS Gilbert Islands, winning 21 games without a defeat. He was separated from the navy last December.

Mr. Stalcup will build his 1946-1947 team around several Tiger veterans who have proved first rate basketball material.

Smith, 1942 Staff Member, Named Assistant Grid Coach

The University Curators approved the selection of Harry Smith as assistant football coach March 8 under Don Faurot. Mr. Smith's position brings the present grid staff back to 1942 standards when Coach Faurot, Mr. Smith, Herb Bunker, and Chauncey Simpson handled the team.

The former Southern California All-American guard of 1938 and 1939, joins Huston Betty as recent additions to Mr. Faurot's aggregate. Mr. Smith and Mr. Betty will confine their work to the Missouri line in the absence of Mr. Bunker who has turned attention entirely to the physical education program.

Chauncey Simpson, who coached the Tigers to the Cotton Bowl this past season, and John "Hi" Simmons, former freshman coach and scout, round out the Missouri staff.

After the 1942 grid campaign when Missouri copped the Big Six title, Mr. Smith went to Kansas City to work for the Aluminum Company of America as a sales executive. When peace was declared, Mr. Smith decided to return to Missouri. When the giant block of granite shook opposing linemen during his college football days, Grantland Rice, famed sports columnist and All-American selector, tagged Mr. Smith as "one of the greatest guards in college football history." Grid fans might remember Mr. Smith's running mate, Ben Sohn, who also was All-America mention.

The 27-year-old coach, born at Russellville, Mo., played professional football with the Detroit Lions in 1940 and then came to Missouri as an assistant coach in 1941.

Swimmers Approach Records In Second Course of Meet

The Missouri Swim Club and the women's varsity swimming team came close to the established records at the University Women's Gymnasium pool March 13 in the second course of the intercollegiate swimming meet.

The three best times in each of the eight events will be determined and telegraphed to Purdue University, sponsor of the Central section of the national event. The combined results will be released this month.

In the 40-yard free style event, Lucille Kelley's 26.9 of the last meet still held first place. Jacqueline Schoening, second, 28.8, improved her former mark by .1 second. Mary Summers held third place with 29.4, an improvement of 1.3 over the last meet. Sabra Tull took fourth with 29.5 and Pat Goodrich was fifth with 29.6.

Lillian Sandy, Miss Schoening, Theresa Watters, and Miss Tull comprised the 80-yard relay team which improved its score of 50.2 by .6. This was only 1.1 slower than the record for the pool.

Miss Watters swam the 60-yard individual medley event in 1:4.2, bettering her time by .2. Miss Sandy swam the same event in 59.6.

Other events showed the following results: 40-yard back stroke; first, Miss Tull, 33.5; second, Mary Melton, 35.8; third, Lora Laslett, 39.7.

The results in the 40-yard breast stroke were: Marian Bruner, 35.5; Miss Sandy, 42.5; in the 100-yard free style: Miss Summers, 1:37.7; and in the 100-yard breast stroke: Miss Bruner, 1:45.1 and Miss Sandy 1:59.8.

The 60-yard medley relay was swum in 43.1 by Miss Tull, Miss Bruner, and Miss Watters.

Tiger Trackmen Rank High In A.A.U. World Standings

Three Missouri track and field performers were listed among the top ranking stars in 1945 in the March issue of Amateur Athlete, official publication of the Amateur Athletic Union. Bob Crowson, currently a sparkling sprinter and broad jumper, gained honors in the 200 meter standing, Bill Bangert placed in the shot put and discus, and Ed Quirk nudged the shot put event.

In addition, L. D. Howe, former Tiger high jumper, was listed fourth among the leading high jumpers in 1945 while performing for navy track squads. Howe cleared the bar at 6 feet, 5 1/4 inches which bettered his Missouri marks by several inches. Howe will return for Tiger competition if able to find housing here.

With a flashy 21.2 seconds time in the 200 meters last year, Crowson finished second behind Gordon Klemmer and O'Reilly, both turning in spectacular times of 20.9 seconds for the distance. Crowson's time in the 200 meter race signifies that he will be hard to beat this spring on the longer distances. The Tiger ace is a slow starter and has trouble on the indoor 60-yard dash.

Missouri was well fortified in the weight events in 1945 with Bill Bangert and Ed Quirk carrying the honors. Bangert, recognized as Missouri's greatest shot-putter, finished a strong second in top performances with a 53 feet, 4 inch toss behind Earl Audet who pushed the ball 53 feet, 7 3/4 inches. Quirk landed third place with 53 feet, 1/2 inch. Both 1945 Tiger stars outdistanced Elmer Aussieker, 1943 Tiger Drake Relay and Big Six champion.

In the discus event, Bangert finished second to Italy's Consolini, the world record holder. The Missouri husky flipped the iron plate 162 feet, 8 3/4 inches to place short of Consolini's 165 feet, 9 3/4 mark.

Coach Botts expects added strength for his 1946 outdoor track season from Mel Sheehan and Roy Tatum. Sheehan, discus and shot putter in 1943,

On Campus

Wu Ching Pei, son of Wu Chao-Chu, former Chinese minister to the United States who presented the stone lions to the School of Journalism, visited the campus recently. Mr. Wu, who has been in this country since 1941, is at the University of Chicago working on his A.M. degree.

The debate teams of the University are having quite a busy season. The main topics being discussed this year are: Resolved that this house approves Mrs. Glenn Frank's objection to the Greek system; Resolved that every able-bodied young man should have one year of compulsory peacetime military training before attaining the age 24; Resolved that the United States should take the initiative in directing the policy of free trade among nations. The teams have debated before civic clubs and in several state universities.

Members of the University International Relations Club and Prof. Jesse Wrench heard Dr. Clyde Eagleton, United States representative at Dumbarton Oaks and adviser to the United States government at the San Francisco Conference, at the club's regional conference March 1 held at Emporia, Kan. At the March 15 meeting Tseno-Te Lee of Chungking, China, explained the elements of his 5000-year-old language. Students from four continents, representative of 13 nations, attended the meeting.

Three more all-time enrollment records have been set at the University in the registration of 5774 students this semester. There are 2487 freshmen enrolled, almost a thousand more than the previous record established in the fall of 1941. The present number of 1876 women students surpasses the record of 1835 reached during the first semester and is 418 greater than the prewar all-time high established in the 1940 fall semester. The College of Arts and Science now has a peak enrollment of 2848 students. Its former record of 2144 was set in the fall of 1940.

Dorothy Adair, freshman in the College of Arts and Science, goes through her daily routine on the pages of the April 2 issue of Look magazine in the third of a series of articles dealing with American youth.

Billie Empson, Gamma Phi Beta, was crowned Panhellenic Queen at the annual Panhellenic Ball held March 23 in Rothwell Gymnasium. Sam Clevenger, president of Men's Panhellenic, introduced the queen, who was presented with roses and a gold bracelet by Dorothy Loeb, queen of the 1945 Panhellenic Ball. Music for the dance was furnished by Ted Weems and his orchestra.

The University Board of Curators accepted six awards in 4-H club contests for 1946 at their meeting March 8 in St. Louis. Awards received are: Six $100 scholarships to the University for outstanding members in Wildlife Conservation for the school year 1946-47, given by the Edward K. Love Foundation; four $100 scholarships to a State College of Agriculture to 4-H club members who do outstanding work in farm fire prevention, donated by the Farm Underwriters Association of Chicago; eight prizes totaling $200, given by the State Conservation Commission, Jefferson City; an educational trip to the 25th National 4-H Club Congress to be held at Chicago Dec. 1-5, for winner in a field crop contest, sponsored by the International Harvester Company, Chicago; five trips to the national congress will be given ranking club members from Santa Fe counties by the Santa Fe Railway; and a $50 bond to the state winner in a frozen foods contest.

A display of photographs taken by American soldiers in combat areas was begun recently by Eagles and Anchors, University veterans' organization. New photographs are shown every other day. The pictures are mainly of people and places in India-Burma, the Philippines, Guadalcanal, and other islands and countries, rather than of actual combat, though some shots of airplanes on combat missions are included. They give a good representation of the people and environment that surrounded the combat soldier.

President Frederick A. Middlebush of the University was notified March 19 that President Truman has named him a member of the Board of Visitors of the United States Naval Academy for 1946. The board, which will meet in April, will be asked to study the Academy's curriculum, according to Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal, who informed President Middlebush of the appointment, and recommend any change in method it considers desirable.

A new radio program, featuring student news of the University, goes on the air each Tuesday at 10:30 p.m. on station KFRU. The program is entitled "The Campus Columns" and is edited by Charles Ridgeway, Nancy Erdman, and Doris Henderson. The 15-minute program includes an editorial, front page news of campus

Former Tiger Star Dies

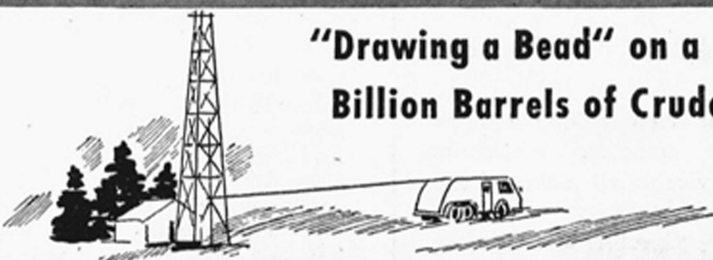

Friends of Harvey W. (Easy) Anderson, A.B. '07, old-time University athlete, were shocked to learn of his death in a motor car-train accident on a Pennsylvania Railroad crossing near his home at Belmar, N. J., Nov. 17, 1945. The news has only recently been learned. The famous Tiger athlete of 1903-'06, who played guard, was football captain in his senior year.

Harvey Anderson's freshman year at Mizzou was Dr. Isadore Anderson's senior year. Dr. Anderson, A.B. '04, was known in his athletic days as Izzy, the other Easy, and so the monikers remained.

After his graduation Easy Anderson was coach at Wentworth until a call came to become a member of the YMCA international relations committee. As a result he spent many years in Russia, went to school there, and became a mighty advocate of the Russian people. During the war period he was in Kansas City several times in the interest of Russian relief. Later he was a representative of the movement for a closer and finer relationship between races.

Early-day followers of Missouri athletics will remember Easy Anderson's record here. He was the winner of the shotput event in the first three dual meets with Kansas, held in the old Convention Hall. The first dual was held in 1904, Missouri winning 48 to 40. Easy won the shotput with a 41-foot hurl. In 1905, Missouri's meet by 57½ to 27½, he won the shot with a throw of 42 feet ½ inch. M.U. won the dual, 55 to 30, in 1906.

28th Annual Farm Contests Will Be Held At University

The 28th annual vocational agricultural contests will be held here April 25-26 in conjunction with the Missouri Association of Future Farmers of America convention on April 27. The contests are sponsored by the University.

The extreme housing shortage makes it necessary to limit the number of contestants to not more than 400. This will be done by a series of elimination contests which will be held on a district basis throughout the state as the five teachers' colleges.

The results of the contests will be announced April 27. The University will award certificates to both teams and individuals placing in Groups I, II, and III in each of the contests.

Individual awards of $100 will be made to the winners of the farm home electrification, and star state farmer contests. The Sears-Roebuck award of $712 given for improving the livestock and crops in communities served by departments of vocational agriculture will also be made.

The contests of the vocational agricultural department will include: Farm mechanics, animal husbandry, poultry, dairy production, and field crops. Those of the M.F.F.A. will include: public speaking, parliamentary procedure, radio skit, and reporter's, secretary's and treasurer's books.

'Missouri Student' Revived

The Missouri Student, weekly campus newspaper, was revived this month. Arthur McQuiddy and Alfred Schultz were appointed by the Student Government Association as editor and business manager, respectively.

The Missouri Student, before it was suspended in January, 1943, was a well-established and popular tabloid size newspaper, usually eight pages, published under the sponsorship of the SGA.

Authorized by the University, it was permitted freedom of content and was not subject to faculty censorship.

The new editor, whose home is in Sedalia, is a senior in the College of Arts and Science. He returned to the University this year after serving four years in the navy, 31 months of which were spent overseas. While at the University before entering the service, he was correspondent for the Associated Press.

Mr. Schultz of Waterloo, Ia., another veteran, was business manager of the Missouri Student before entering the army in 1941. He served as a liaison pilot, with 33 months of service in Europe.

Thornton Jenkins Elected 1947 Tiger Cage Captain

Thornton Jenkins, regular forward on the 1943 basketball team and sparkplug of the final six games this year, was elected captain of the 1947 Missouri quintet.

The Tiger Ace, all-Big Six forward in 1943 and honorable mention this season because of small percentage of games played, paced the Mizzou scoring attack in five of the six contests, gathering 80 points for a 13 point average.

Jenkins, an Army Air Forces veteran, will have two more years of varsity basketball at Missouri under present wartime regulations.

Alumni Elect Officers

At the State Convention of the Medical Association in St. Louis March 26, the Medical Alumni elected the following officers: President, Dr. James McVay, Kansas City; first vice-president, Dr. Claude Bruner, Columbia; second vice-president, Dr. T. E. Ferrell, Springfield; third vice-president, Dr. Harold Newman, St. Louis; secretary-treasurer, Dr. M. D. Overholser, Columbia; representative on the alumni board, Dr. E. Claude Bohrer, West Plains.

Kenny Bounds, regular basketball center during the latter part of the Tiger cage season, will perform in the weight and high jump, according to Botts. The Missouri mentor is also hoping for additional material from the spring football squad.

Returning veterans will bolster the outdoor track team considerably but Botts is concerned about draft re-classifications taking several squad members.

Athletic Committee Sets
Sport Schedules For 1946

The 1946 Missouri baseball, tennis, and golf schedules were announced March 6 after a meeting of the Inter-collegiate Athletic Committee.

Tennis and golf coaches will be announced after the committee appoints mentors from members of the athletic staff. George R. Edwards, retiring head basketball coach, acted as tennis and golf head before the war but may not resume the posts because of his athletic business manager assignment.

Coach John "Hi" Simmons' baseball team is booked for eight Big Six contests. Missouri is automatically eligible for the conference championship since only six Big Six games are needed to meet requirements.

St. Louis University and Washington University of St. Louis hold tentative spots on the tennis and golf charts, but these dates are expected to be confirmed shortly.

Simmons, now holding indoor practice sessions for pitchers and catchers, will open the season against St. Louis here, April 30. Two games are scheduled against the Billikens, Nebraska, Washington, Iowa State, and four against the Kansas Jayhawkers. Two dates remain open and may be filled by nearby colleges.

The baseball schedule:

April 30, St. Louis University at COLUMBIA.

May 3 and 4, Nebraska at COLUMBIA; May 6, St. Louis University at St. Louis; May 7, Washington University at St. Louis; May 10 and 11, Kansas at COLUMBIA; May 14, open.

A round-table discussion on point systems and awards, constitution revision, intra-mural and inter-collegiate competition, and program planning and financing followed.

From the morning discussions it was found that most of the schools have similar programs for athletics and health, but some unusual athletic events were pointed out.

Christian College varies its program with the election of an athletic queen annually. Miss Nancy Shelbourne was chosen this year's queen at the annual carnival held March 15.

The association at Washington University in St. Louis sponsors high school and college play days. A physical education department, organized this year, offers majors in P. E., and these majors help officiate at tournaments.

Southeast Missouri State Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, sponsors a mixed double tennis tournament as well as high school play days. The outstanding sport event is the hockey tournament when the entire school turns out to witness the finals.

Lindenwood College, St. Charles, entered a college league for inter-collegiate athletics three years ago, and, the delegate said, there have been no complaints from the faculty in the three years of participation since athletics have been put on such a high plane.

A national WAA convention will be held at Washington University in St. Louis in April. Miss Anne Stewart, who led the discussion group, will be one of the delegates.

Schools sending delegates were Stephens and Christian, Columbia; Fontbonne College and Washington University, St. Louis; Southwest Missouri State Teachers College, Springfield; Northwest Missouri State Teachers College, Kirksville; Lindenwood College, St. Charles; Northwest Missouri State College, Maryville; Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg; Culver-Stockton College, Canton; Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau; and the University.

YOU CAN ALWAYS DO THIS . . .

If your home has been plunged into gloom by bulbsnatching, you can always take your chair out in the driveway and read by the headlights of your car. But it's a lot simpler to go to the store and buy enough lamp bulbs to fill all the empty sockets and keep a supply of spares on hand for emergencies. Remember, dust and dirt can rob you as much as 50 percent of the light you buy. So keep bulbs and reflectors clean; keep those empty sockets filled; and use light colored shades which gives you more light for your money!
