THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of THE UNIVERSITY of MISSOURI, Columbia, Missouri

DEAR ALUMNI FRIENDS:

The March-April issue of The Magazine Sigma Chi carried stories of two Missouri alumni. "Babb on Japan" from a December Newsweek pictures Glenn Babb, A.B. '14, B.J. '15, in his position of foreign editor of the Associated Press. Through Walter Williams, former dean of the School of Journalism, Mr. Babb got a job in Tokyo, spending nearly twenty years in the Orient. The article says, "As slot man of the AP's day cable desk from 1936 to 1943 and foreign editor since, Babb has spun out a living AP legend. He bosses a staff of 30 men on the cable desk and approximately 700, including native translators and string correspondents, abroad."

"Charles G. Ross, A.B. '05, LL.D. '36, press secretary to the President of the United States, on Dec. 7 got a pretty fair idea of the great esteem in which he is held by his fellow members of the Washington Alumni Chapter. On that date more than 200 alumni of Sigma Chi assembled in the Federal Room of the Hotel Statler to pay him a fitting tribute in recognition of another historic milestone in his brilliant career in the field of journalism," states another article. The story is accompanied by pictures, one of which shows Mr. Ross with Lt. Joe Crowe, Lt. Chuck Campbell, James S. McAtee, '27-'32, and Francis G. Pendergast, A.B. '22.

Thomas Hart Benton, Missouri artist, told members of the State Historical Society that American art has suffered because of lack of contact between the artist and his public, at the society's annual luncheon April 25 at the Daniel Boone Hotel.

Jones Viles of Columbia was re-elected a director of the Society. Eight other directors re-elected were: Joseph Pulitzer and Jesse W. Barrett, St. Louis; Henry J. Haskell, Kansas City; Albert M. Clark, Richmond; William Painter, Carrollton; James Todd, Moberly; T. B. Watters, Marshfield; and L. M. White, Mexico.

Judge Albert L. Reeves, Kansas City, was elected a director to succeed the late F. M. Smith of Independence and Judge G. L. Zwick of St. Joseph was elected to succeed the late Morris Anderson of Hannibal.

The Benton collection of war paintings was put on exhibit by the society April 25 for the first time. The nine paintings, eight of a series and one separate, have been placed on the third floor of the University Library.

Mr. Benton's work was shown together with the war drawings and cartoons of Daniel R. Fitzpatrick, St. Louis Post-Dispatch cartoonist, to the guests of the society's annual meeting.

Dr. Isidore Loeb, of St. Louis, president of the State Historical Society, gave a short history of the society and introduced guests of honor before presenting Mr. Benton. The honor guests included past presidents William Southern, Jr., Allen McReynolds, William Painter, a charter member; and Floyd Shoemaker, secretary of the society since 1915.

Robert E. L. Hill, former alumni director of the University, was presented with a portrait of his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Hill, painted by Charles F. Galt of St. Louis April 27 at their home in Columbia.

Allen L. Oliver, of Cape Girardeau, chairman of the committee, presided at the unveiling ceremonies. Responses were made by representatives of the University, alumni, and townspeople.

An original copy of the special surrender issue of the Missourian, midget size newspaper of the battleship Missouri, has been presented to Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University, by Capt. H. A. Baldrige, curator of the Naval Academy Museum at Annapolis, Md. The paper will be added to the permanent archives of the University.

Annual Law Day Revived

The Law School Foundation honored student editors of the Missouri Law Review at the Daniel Boone Hotel April 26, at a banquet, a part of the 34th annual Law Day program, April 26 and 27.

No president or political party, for a long time, will again openly attempt to control the federal judiciary, Judge Evan A. Evans told guests of the banquet.

Judge Evans, senior federal circuit judge and senior circuit judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the seventh circuit, spoke on "Political Influences in the Selection of Federal Judges." He is the father of Orrin B. Evans, University attorney and associate professor of law.

W. E. Kemp Presents Awards

William E. Kemp, president of the Foundation and new mayor of Kansas City, was toastmaster and presented the awards to the editors.

Jackson A. Wright of Moberly and Harold J. Fisher, editor of the Law Review, also spoke.

Gold keys were awarded to four editors, Marian Maring, '45; Tom H. Parrish, '45; Edith Dailey Wright, '44; and Jackson A. Wright, '44.

Other high ranking students to receive certificates were: Eugene A. Andereck, William W. Beckett, Jerred G. Blanchard, James E. Craig, Harold J. Fisher, William E. Gwatkin, Jr., Paul D. Hess, Alfred J. Hoffman, and Walter R. Kegel.

After the banquet, the Foundation elected officers at its annual meeting. William E. Kemp was re-elected president of the Foundation, Wallace Fry of Mexico and Oak Hunter of Moberly, vice-presidents; S. P. Dalton of Jefferson City, secretary; and R. B. Price of Columbia, treasurer.

Judge Watson Makes Address

Veterans now returning to Law School have gained more than they have lost in the three or four years they spent in service in the practical experience of understanding people, Judge Ray E. Watson, president of the Law School Alumni Association, told students and alumni members of the University Law School in his address April 27.

In speaking to the students, Judge Watson said, "Law is an outstanding profession because it has more to do with the welfare of our people than any other profession. It upholds the principles of our government."

Judge Watson emphasized that more good men are needed to fill public offices. In order to get these good men, he said, an increase in salary is needed.

Concluding his talk, Judge Watson warned that the right of the individual must be looked after honestly and with responsibility, or individual rights will be overlooked.

Luncheon Given at Clark Home

A luncheon was given at the home of Boyle G. Clark, April 27, at which 350 students, former students, and guests were present.

The program for that afternoon included the finals of the Junior Case Club competition at 2 p.m. Four finalists from the junior class argued an alienation of affections case before Judges Albert L. Reeves, James M. Douglas, and N. T. Cave in the law library in Tate Hall. The meeting was open to the public.

At 4 p.m., the annual initiation and meeting of the Order of the Coif, legal honorary scholarship club was held. Robert B. Caldwell of Kansas City, honorary initiate of 1942, presented this year's initiate, Judge Albert M. Clark, of the Missouri Supreme Court.

Following the Coif initiation, Tiedemann Inn chapter of Phi Delta Phi gave an honorary initiation to Gov. Donnelly. This ceremony was held in the Faculty Club room of the Law School building.

Judge Stone Is Main Speaker

Judge Kimbrough Stone, senior circuit judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the eighth district, was the principal speaker at a dinner April 27 closing the annual Law Day program. The dinner was given at Rothwell Gymnasium.

He urged veterans to take part in the campaign for freedom and justice, which are safe neither in peace nor in war, but are two things that can't exist separately; they must thrive together if either or both are not to wither and die.

Some 500 persons, including prominent members of the bar and bench, attended the dinner which climaxed the Law Day celebration at the University.

William W. Beckett, of Kansas City, law student president, served as toastmaster and introduced the honor guests including members of the Missouri Supreme and Federal courts, Governor Phil M. Donnelly, President F. A. Middlebush, and Chief Justice Albert M. Clark.

Student speakers included Warren D. Welliver and Tom B. Mobley, representing the two law classes, while Prof. Willard L. Eckhardt introduced members of Orders of the Coif.

Alumni Honor Judge Allen May

Judge Allen May, president of the Mutual Savings Life Insurance Company of St. Louis, was awarded an honorary membership in the University of Missouri Alumni Association at the 34th annual Law School banquet in Rothwell Gymnasium. Oak Hunter, president of the Alumni Association, read the citation and made the award.

The citation read in part, "The award is made in recognition of his years of faithful service to the distinguished profession of law since he first became a member of the Missouri Bar three decades ago.

"His alertness as a citizen to his responsibilities to society by giving constructive assistance to business and civic groups, especially the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, the Civitan Club of St. Louis, and the Civitan International, and by serving well the interests of the people of the state as a member of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Committee which co-operated in the drafting of the new Constitution of Missouri."

Judge May received his bachelor's degree in law at the St. Joseph Law School, later serving as judge of the Municipal Corporation Court of Buchanan County as special assistant attorney-general of Missouri. He also served as legal counsel for the Missouri State Life Insurance Company.

Judge Reeves presented certificates to the junior case club finalists, a contest won by Glenn A. Burkart of Richmond Heights and Eugene E. Anderock of Affton at which Judges Reeves, Douglas, and Cave sat as the court.

Governor Donnelly Honored At Annual Ag Club Banquet

Responding to President Frederick A. Middlebush's suggestion, the University's Ag Club welcomed Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to their 18th annual banquet with the traditional "hog call." More than 225 students, faculty members, and guests attended the dinner given May 1.

Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers' Association, was the guest speaker. In his discussion of "From the Plow to the Plate," he laid down four major points for a better farming program including application of conservation measures and a balanced farming program, farmer-owned and operated co-operative markets, concentration on quality rather than quantity production, and an elevated standard of living for rural and urban America.

Awards to 18 outstanding Ag Club officers and directors, and to two horticulture students were made. M. F. Miller, dean emeritus, presented the awards to the following members of the Ag Club: First semester officers, president, Pete LaRue; vice-president, Dale Costigan; secretary, Robert Kullmann; treasurer, Lester Thornton; chaplain, Calvin Agee.

Club officers for the second semester, president, Mendel Cline; vice-president, Calvin Agee; secretary, Gordon Sudduth; treasurer, Ward Harrington; chaplain, Cecil Bronson; and banquet manager, Russell Drane were also given awards. College Farmer officers to receive awards were: Editor, Jim Gooch; associate editor, Ray West; business manager, Bob Beatty; circulation manager, Fred Matteson; Gene Young, Barnwarmin' manager; Duane McFarland, Farmer's Fair manager; and Winston Marshall, secretary and treasurer of Farmer's Fair, also received awards.

The $100 Burpee Award offered to the outstanding student in vegetable gardening and flower-growing research went to Earl Shaw. This award was offered for the first time, and will be continued annually. The Missouri State Horticulture Society awarded a plaque to Gordon Long for leadership, service, and scholarship. Russell Drane acted as toastmaster.

University Officials Plan Statewide Adult Education

An adult education service which will extend the educational facilities of the University to communities throughout the state has been established by the Board of Curators, President Frederick A. Middlebush has announced.

Amos J. Snider, veterans community adviser of the University, was named acting director of the adult education service and will set up the program immediately. Mr. Snider was also re-appointed veterans community adviser.

President Middlebush explained that while emphasis will be placed upon the training of war veterans at first, the University plans to make the program available to all citizens of the state as rapidly as possible.

"This is one of the most significant steps in the history of education in the state," Dr. Middlebush said. "It has been considered by educational leaders for several years, but it is made imperative now by the critical need for a statewide system of correlated and supervised training for veterans."

As executive officer, Mr. Snider will serve under an administrative committee on adult education and will carry out the policies of this committee with the advice of the resident departments of the University.

Throughout the state, the program will utilize local educational facilities and teachers as much as possible. Local school authorities will be reimbursed for expenses and retain custody of equipment.

The local school boards will handle enrollment, placements, testing and screening of applicants, and sectioning of classes. Local school boards will select co-ordinators to tie up on-the-job training with organized instruction.

The approval of training agencies in towns or on farms for integration of job training with organized academic instruction will be delegated to local community centers with the approval of the State Department of Education and the University.

A contract between the employer and the University providing for an agreement between the employer and the trainee will be required for all job training connected with related instruction in the University.

The adult education program will include both credit and non-credit courses. The subject matter and personnel employed will be approved by the University departments concerned and their deans in all cases where courses come within the scope of resident University departments.

No additional physical plants, or facilities of the extension centers off campus, will be required for the program since arrangements will be made for the use of local buildings.

Board of Curators Accepts Powell, Bour Resignations

The resignation of B. E. Powell, librarian of the University since August, 1937, was accepted by the Board of Curators at a meeting in St. Louis April 12. His resignation is effective Aug. 31. Mr. Powell will become director of libraries at Duke University.

The resignation of J. Coy Bour, professor of law, on leave the past semester, also was accepted, effective March 28. He has been on the faculty since 1926.

Promotions included that of Ellis R. Graham, instructor in soils, to assistant professor of soils, as of April 1, and Norman Clizer, county extension agent at large to assistant extension professor of poultry husbandry, as of April 1.

Eugene A. McLean, research assistant in soils, was promoted to instructor in soils, effective April 1. Richard L. Crouch, associate professor of anatomy, was promoted to professor of anatomy, and Pinkney C. Walker, assistant professor of finance to associate professor of economics.

Five appointments with rank of instructor or above were made to the faculty. Curtis W. Wingo, recently returned from overseas service, was appointed instructor in entomology; John Clark Crighton, who served with the armed forces, was named instructor in history; and Robert James Cordell was named an instructor in geology.

Two assistant professors appointed were lieutenant colonels in the army before discharge: Robert C. Patterson named as assistant professor of anatomy and William D. Dickinson, Jr., civil engineering. Mr. Patterson served with the army and Mr. Dickinson was officer in charge of air cadets at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Title changes follow: Elmer J. Turner is now assistant county extension agent and farm labor assistant of Lewis County; Karl D. Dietrich, associate professor of surgery, assistant surgeon in the University hospitals and assistant surgeon in the student health service. James D. Meyers, associate county extension agent of Boone County; George Larock, county extension agent of Bates County; and George Zumwalt, auditor of University Book Store.

Graduate assistants were appointed, resignations effective last semester through May 31 were accepted, and other appointments to the University staff were made.

Leave of absence was granted Cecil Elder, professor of Veterinary Science, effective March 6. Leaves of absence of Richard L. Crouch, Ellsworth Springer, and William Pugh were terminated.

Twenty University faculty appointments for the 1946 summer session were announced.

Professors named were Loren D. Reid, speech, Delyte W. Morris, speech; and Bertha Bisbey, home economics.

B. A. Westfall was appointed associate professor of physiology and pharmacology.

Assistant professors named were: Jackson A. Wright, law; Verna Wulfekammer, applied arts; Sarah Neblett, Adella Eppel Ginter, Margaret Mangel, and Fern E. Staggs, home economics.

Caroline D. Woods, George D. Smith, Kate Stamper, and Woodrow W. Wyatt were appointed instructors in education. Others made instructors were: Martha Louise White, music education; Arnel Dyer, speech; Russell V. Giffin, French and Italian.

Miscellaneous appointments were: Aleene M. Westover, student assistant in art; Mildred Schultze, assistant instructor in applied arts; and Clifton Cornwell, Jr., assistant instructor in speech.

Vets Comprise 71 Per Cent Of M. U.'s Male Enrollment

Seventy-one per cent of the men enrolled in the University are veterans under GI educational benefits, statistics released by the Veterans' Service Committee show.

Of the 2752 veterans at the University, 1954 are single and 798 are married. Each of 110 married veterans has one child, 35 have two children, and ten have three or more.

Forty-eight women are enrolled under the GI educational program, bringing the total of veteran students receiving government aid to 2800, or 48 per cent of the 5774 students in attendance at the University.

About 1100, or 40 per cent of the ex-GI's were in college at the time of their induction. Twenty per cent of veterans enrolled under GI educational benefits, or 552, were in attendance at the University at the time of their entrance into the service.

The ages of Missouri's ex-servicemen range from 18 to over 30 years, with 1050 between 21 and 23, 952 between 24 and 26 and 347 between 27 and 29 years. The youngest age group, the 18-20 year-olds, is comprised of 291 GI's. The smallest age group attendance is that of the 160 veterans who are 30 years and over.

The ratio of former officers to enlisted men is slightly more than 1 to 3, according to the committee. About 27 per cent of 770 of the veterans, were officers of World War II, and 2030 were enlisted men. Records show that 2240 of these men are residents of Missouri.

The College of Arts and Science has the largest number of GI's enrolled in any one school with 1285. The College of Agriculture has 440, and the School of Engineering has 434 ex-servicemen.

Of Missouri's veterans, 179 are Business and Public Administration majors, 171 are in the Graduate School, and 143 are in the School of Journalism.

Law School veterans number 76, and 45 are education majors. Twenty-two of the 2800 veterans attending the University under GI benefits are enrolled in medicine and five in nursing. Seventy-two are registered for non-collegiate vocational training.

Since the release of these statistics, which are based on the March 31 enrollment, more than 60 veterans, as yet unclassified, have enrolled for special session study.

Journalism Show Features 'Barely Nice' Ad Agency Life

The presentation of "Barely Nice," April 24-25 in the University Auditorium, was the 26th production of the Journalism Show, which was begun in 1911 and twice discontinued because of war.

What happens to a bright, young artist who forsakes "the Village" for the commercialism of advertising and his encounter with the agency's largest account—and the client's daughter, is the theme of this year's musical comedy.

Kratch and Krump, a Marx-like team, are the executives of the agency, whose most important client is Sitzfleisch Soap. The fireworks begin when Rosalie, Sitzfleisch's daughter, is found to be the source of her father's decisions. The plot is interspersed with musical numbers by the chorus, solos, and a ballet number.

Evelyn Mapel played the part of Rosalie Sitzfleisch, and Jim Lowe was cast as Jim Kugar. Jean Harrington was Maisie, the boss's secretary, kept around the office mainly as interior decoration.

Wilbur Skourup played Mr. Sitzfleisch, Rosalie's father. The parts of the other partners in the agency were played by Don Rathbun and Bob Harris. A girls' chorus, male chorus, and girls' trio rounded out the show.

"Barely Nice" is an original play by Carl Bertsch and Johnny Moelling, advertising majors in the School of Journalism. Dave McIntyre, junior at the University, was general director.

Original music for the show was written by Carl Stepp, graduate student in the music department. Former musical director of KFRU from 1937 through 1941 while an undergraduate at the University, Mr. Stepp also planned and directed musical programs in the army.

Mrs. Georgia Wood-Smith Yoakum, a former member of the Rockettes at New York's Rockefeller Center, directed dances and ballets.

Back in 1911, when they were just getting around to putting sidewalks around three sides of the campus, the School of Journalism in Switzer Hall had 112 students, only 12 of them girls, Vaughn Bryant, now an assistant professor of journalism at the University, was doing reporting for the University Missourian, grand-daddy of the Columbia Missourian. Girard Blair and Edwin W. Patterson had collaborated on a hymn to Missouri in a contest for a state song. Although their song didn't win the prize, it did give them the inspiration to write a musical comedy. That spring the trio wrote and produced "Hundred Dollar Bill." Its huge success paved the way for a show each year.

Many who have appeared in Journalism shows in the past distinguished themselves later. Betty Lee Ambler, a member of the cast of the 1940 show, is a former "Miss Iowa." Frances Wayne Allen, director of the show in 1940, has since directed more than 300 productions in the United States, Mexico, and Canada. Jane Froman, a star in the 1926 show, "Bagdaddies," is a radio and screen personality. Miss Froman started her radio career with a tune from "Bagdaddies" as her theme song.

Many of the songs from the shows have been copyrighted, and several were printed in the Missouri Song Book published in 1929 by the Alumni Association. Fred Waring played songs from the 1940 production, "The Ghost Walks," over NBC hookup.

Curators Appoint Bradshaw New Dean of Business School

Dr. William L. Bradshaw, professor of political science at the University, was appointed dean of the School of Business and Public Administration by the Board of Curators. The appointment is effective June 10.

Dr. Harry Gunnison Brown, professor of economics, has been acting dean since Dr. Roy E. Curtis resigned.

Dr. Bradshaw is known for his studies on local government and on political parties and as a leader in the movement for the new state constitution.

He was a member of the committee which set up the organization for calling the convention, and he prepared booklets used in setting up the convention organization.

In the convention, Dr. Bradshaw was chairman of the committee having jurisdiction of rural counties.

Dr. Bradshaw received his B.S. in Education at the University in 1917, and his A.M. in 1924. He received a Ph.D. degree from the University of Iowa in 1930.

Coming back to the University in 1927 as instructor in political science and public law, Dr. Bradshaw attained full professorship by 1941.

The newly appointed dean served as Missouri field agent for the American Municipal Association in 1933-34, and was executive secretary of the Missouri Municipal Association in 1934-35, serving as director of the Missouri Association in 1936-37.

Elected to the City Council in 1934, Dr. Bradshaw served two active terms.

In 1945 Dr. Bradshaw was given the Merit Award of the Missouri State Teachers' Association for public service.

Author of a University of Missouri Study, "The Missouri County Court," and co-author of "Township Organization in Missouri," Dr. Bradshaw is also the author of numerous articles on subjects in political science and public law. He was the government editor of the Southwestern Social Science Quarterly in 1936-37 and Missouri correspondent on county and township government for the National Municipal Review in 1933.

He has served on the legislative committee of the Missouri Association of Social Welfare; the Missouri Children's Code Committee; the Missouri Research Committee for Constitutional Revision; district Committee on Selection of Roosevelt Scholars; American Political Science Association Advisory Committee; the Missouri Merit System Council Oral Interview Board; and the Boone County Red Cross Board. Dr. Bradshaw is also an active member of University and civic clubs.

M. U. Swimmers Place Ninth In Nat'l Intercollegiate Meet

The University women's swimming team placed ninth in the major group of the Central Region of the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming Meet with five points, it has been announced.

Points resulted from two fourth places and one fifth place. Marian Bruner took fourth place in the 100-yard breast stroke with a time of 1:45.1.

The 80-yard free style relay team, composed of Lillian Sandy, Jacqueline Schoening, Theresa Watters, and Sabra Tull, placed fourth with a time of 50.2.

Theresa Watters, Sabra Tull and Marian Bruner swam the 60-yard relay medley race in 43.1 to place fifth.

Other places among the first ten but not scoring points, were a tenth place in the 100-yard crawl by Mary Summers, and seventh and eighth places in the individual medley by Lillian Sandy and Theresa Watters. Miss Summers' time was 1:37.7 in the crawl; Miss Sandy's was 59.6 and Miss Watter' 1:42 in the medley.

Michigan State College and Purdue University tied for first place in the major group with 28 points each.

The events were run off at each school during the weeks of March 4 and 11. Best time in each event was telegraphed to headquarters of the Central Region at Purdue University.

The Central Region contest was divided into two divisions, a major and a minor. The minor division included schools with less than 1000 women students enrolled.

University Promised Enough Housing for 2000 More

Leslie Cowan, vice-president of the University and secretary to the Board of Curators, said in a radio interview April 23 that the University has been promised temporary housing to provide for almost 2000 more students by fall.

These facilities, Mr. Cowan said, have been assured by the Federal Public Housing Administration and include three one-story barracks-type wooden buildings to be shipped here from defense areas in time for occupation in June.

Mr. Cowan also outlined the long-range dormitory building plan which will provide permanent fire-proof living quarters for at least 2000 men and 700 women students, and 200 apartments for married students. He said that during the emergency 4000 men would be housed in these dormitories by putting four men to a room.

Temporary housing includes the immediate delivery of 100 additional trailer houses for married veterans.

"In addition," said Mr. Cowan, "we have received word from the FPHA that it has allotted the University 527 additional housing units to take care of two persons each."

Mr. Cowan said that the start of building on permanent dormitories depends upon the state appropriation and availability of building materials.

The first step is to be the addition of wings to the former fraternity house purchased recently by the University, which would be expanded to a capacity of 400 during the shortage. The building will include dining facilities, lounging, and recreation space, as will all the permanent dormitories in the University plan.

Plans for permanent housing include wings to Defoe Hall, dormitory for men, and a new dormitory for women.

Former Students Return After Service in W. W. II

After serving in the armed forces, 898 former students of the University of Missouri have returned to finish their education, about 60 per cent of which are enrolled under GI educational benefits.

Of that number 319 are enrolled in the College of Arts and Science. The Graduate School claims 145 of these returning veterans and the College of Agriculture, 140. There are 127 enrolled in the College of Engineering; Business and Public Administration, Journalism, Law, and Education have 83, 38, 27, and 19 respectively.

The following list, which gives the names of returning veterans, the school or college in which they are enrolled, and the year each student last attended the University, is as accurate and complete as available records show at this time.

MISSOURI TRACKSTERS WIN DUAL MEET

The Missouri Tigers' decisive 125½-5½ dual track meet victory over the Washington University squad April 23 on the Rollins track hardly gave Coach Tom Botts' aspirants a good warmup for the Drake Relays scheduled in Des Moines for the following week-end.

Sweeping all but three events, Missouri amassed the tremendous total which is unofficially the largest margin of victory ever calculated in a dual meet on the Tiger track.

Until the results of the pole vault event were posted, Washington University with its limited squad had been whitewashed in the first seven events. The Bears finally placed a second and a third place tie in the vault for three and one half points and picked up thirds in the discus and broad jump events for the remainder of the slim total.

Duncan, Washington distance runner, challenged Bill Chronister in the mile run for three laps before the Tiger miler sprinted several yards ahead on the final turn with another Missouri performer, Gene Friel, close behind. Chronister and Friel finished in a dead heat.

Floyd Gaultney, hurdler and broad jumper, paced the Missouri point aggregate with all markers on the strength of his first in the 120-yard high hurdles and second in the 220-yard low hurdles and broad jump. Gaultney's timing on the high hurdles was 15.5 seconds.

Close behind Gaultney in total points were Mel Sheehan, who reported to Coach Botts from football practice two weeks before, with 10 on twin victories in the shot put and discus throw, Bob Crowson and Ault, who picked up a first and second for eight points each.

There were only three events showing sparkling performances. After coasting along in the 100-yard dash to finish behind Harry Guth who finished in 10.5 seconds, Bob Crowson opened up in the 220-yard dash to gain a victory over teammate Jim Whitacre in 21.4 seconds, two tenths of a second slower than the Missouri outdoor record.

L. D. Howe, making his bid for an outdoor record in the high jump, raised the bar to 6 feet, 4 inches, but failed to clear. He won with a 6 feet 2½ inch leap to better his recent Kansas Relay jump by a quarter inch.

The best race of the afternoon feature Missouri's quarter-miler, Schmidt, who hit his stride on the torn, overcame a slim lead and speeded to a five-yard victory over Bill Best in a good 51.1 seconds timing.

Bob Chase, still recovering from a leg injury, entered the 120-yard high hurdles for his first appearance in two months. The Missouri ace cleared the first three barriers but dropped from the race at the fourth when he hit the relay, causing his to break stride.

Another Tiger threat, Dick Higgins, did not enter the pole vault because of a leg muscle injury but placed second in the javelin throw behind teammate Roy Tatum.

Coach Botts ran two Tiger mile relay teams unopposed in the final event, the winning team being composed of Friel, Moore, Whiteacre, and Schmidt who raced through in 3:30.1 against Killough, Dixon, Kampschmidt, and Gwinn.

Bob McHenry took over the pole vault and copped the event at 11 feet 6 inches. Marcus Paden tied with Washington's Snyder for third in the vault. Dick Killough edged Wayne Foland in the 880-yard run while Blakely Bush finished third.

Tigers Win Half-Mile Run At Kansas Track Meet

The Missouri track team won in the half-mile relay against strong competition at the Kansas Relays April 20. Coach Tom Botts indicated he was satisfied with the performance given by his Tigers.

Missouri placed in four major events, highlighted by a spectacular finish in the 880-yard relay by speedy Bob Crowson. When Crowson took the baton, the Tigers were several yards behind. He gradually gained and steamed up the stretch to capture the event ahead of Texas, pre-meet favorites on the strength of its conquest at the Texas relays.

Missouri's time on the half-mile relay battered Texas' previous time by one second. Crowson's fast finish gave the Tigers a 1:27.3 event.

The Tigers had bitter luck in other events, however. With the lead well in hand in the two-mile relay, Bill Chronister developed a leg cramp within 15 yards of the finish line and fell out of the race.

A bad baton exchange in the 440-yard relay cost the Tigers a chance to finish among the leaders.

Coach Botts was pleased with the high jump. L. D. Howe, promising veteran, captured third place with a six foot, two and one-fourth inch lead while Jim Howard and Rod McGuire tied for fourth place with six-foot leap.

Dick Higgins tied for second in the pole vault with a 12-foot, six-inch jump. Higgins hurt a leg muscle before the event began but hit the second place figure before retiring to the sidelines.

Floyd Gaultney and Day fell in the hurdling events eliminating their prospects to place while Crowson stumbled at the start of the 100-yard dash, hampering his chances to place.

M. U. Makes Good Showing At Annual Drake Relays

The Missouri track squad made a fairly good showing at the 37th annual Drake Relays in Des Moines April 26 and 27, placing second in the half-mile relay, third in the quarter-mile relay, tying for third in the pole vault, fourth in the 100-yard dash, and fifths in the two-mile relay and distance medley.

Again highlighting Missouri's performances was the half-mile relay in which the Texas Longhorns, victims of Tiger power the week before at the Kansas Relays, churned to a 1:28.1 victory.

Harry Guth, running the third lap on the half-mile jaunt, was handicapped by a sore leg sustained in the preliminaries but had to compete since he had entered the opening day's running. Bob Crowson, acclaimed by many track authorities as having run one of the best 440's in track history at the Kansas Relays with a 1:27.3 timing, ran another anchor leg but could not overcome Texas' Allen Lawler.

Coach Tom Botts said he was impressed with the Missouri showing and was satisfied with the manner in which his squad competed.

Although somewhat weaker in the 440-yard relay, Missouri finished third behind Baylor, which specializes in relay events entirely, and Texas. Baylor's winning combination ran a comparatively slow quarter-mile in 41.9 seconds in a slight drizzle that broke after the third event was completed.

Speedy Bob Crowson, who qualified in the 100-yard dash in the preliminaries, garnered fourth honors behind Baylor's Bill Martineson, Wisconsin's Lloyd Labreach, and Texas' Allen Lawler. Martineson sprinted to victory in 9.9 seconds, one-tenth of a second slower than Labreach's winning time in the preliminary trials.

Crowson's fourth improved his last year's showing at Drake by one position when fewer highly-regarded runners participated.

With a star-studded field of high jumpers competing, Fred Sheffield of Utah captured top honors with a 6 foot, 4 inch leap with Iowa, Marquette, and Iowa State tying for second.

Coach Botts said the grass take off at the Drake Field hampered jumpers like L. D. Howe, Tiger star, and Bob Scofield of Kansas. Both Big Six performers reached the bar at 6 feet which is far below their normal capacities.

Dick Higgins, Missouri pole vaulter who reached 13 feet, 8 inches at the Drake Relays several years ago, hit a 12 feet, 6 inch height which gave him a tie for third. Billy Moore, defending titleholder from Northwestern, jumped 13 feet, 3 inches to win.

Floyd Gaultney ran against a formidable array of talent in the 200-yard high hurdles and placed sixth. August Erfurth, repeating his 14.5 seconds timing which gained him the qualifying honors in the preliminaries, outpointed Indiana's Tom Mitchell.

Illinois, always a definite threat on the cinder paths, retained its mile relay championship of 1945 by winning in 3.23. Missouri, running in the first heat, was among the leaders until the final lap when Texas, Minnesota and Michigan surged ahead.

Bill Bangert, dethroned as defending champion in the preliminary discus event retaliated to win the shot put for the third straight year at Drake with a 50 foot, 3 1/2 inch heave. Bangert, now at Purdue, won his previous two titles while representing the Missouri Tigers.

Postwar Tiger Gridders Trounce Alumni, 34-6

Coach Don Faurot presented his first postwar Missouri football team April 13 on Rollins Field, trouncing an outnumbered and outclassed Alumni Squad, 34-6.

Although the outcome was inevitable from the first, the Tigers did not look too impressive while compiling five touchdowns, three by ground and two by air, and four conversions.

The ball handling from the quarterback to the ball carrier seemed comparatively smooth but the Tigers showed lack of finesse on laterals, largely because three of the starting varsity backs have not played collegiate football since 1942.

The Alumni score came early in the third period on a pass play from Paul Collins, former All Big Six quarterback and member of the Chicago Cardinal professional team last year, to Pete Radison from the five-yard stripe.

An off tackle smash with either the halfback or fullback carrying and a quarterback cut-back run to the left dominated the Tiger ground gaining most of the afternoon as effective passing was lacking. Thornton Jenkins and Gerald Thomasson nabbed a couple of passes, one good for a Jenkins touchdown late in the fourth quarter, but other than that "Bus" Entsminger and "Dutch" Wyatt, leading the team from the new man-in-motion T formation, relied on running plays throughout.

The Alumni aggregation, composed of Missouri players of the past four seasons, substituted freely as Varsity third and fourth stringers were inserted frequently to give the "old timers" a much needed rest.

Coach Faurot's first stringers marched to an early score in the first quarter. After the Alumni received the opener kickoff, the Varsity intercepted a Paul Collins pass and Fred Kling immediately advanced the pigskin to the 15 on a 35-yard sprint around end. Entsminger gained at center and off guard to the 1, and scored on a quarterback sneak. Big Jim Kekeris booted the extra point.

The Tigers broke loose with a running attack in the second quarter led by halfback Bob Hopkins who plunged through center from the Alumni 3 for a second tally. Automatic Jim Kekeris again converted.

Faurot's second team added another touchdown before halftime when Louis Fett, substitute center, blocked an attempted Collins pass, the ball bounding into the air and into Dick Schofield's arms. The big tackle crossed the goal unmolested from the Alumni 5-yard line. Hopkins' attempted placement went wide.

Behind 20-0 in the third quarter, the alumni hit pay dirt on a lateral play from Bill Richardson to Eddie Green, Varsity reserves, which advanced the ball to the 5. The regular Alumni team returned to the lineup and after two attempted passes failed, Collins arched one to Radison in the end zone. Jack Eckdahl, 1941 Tiger griddier, failed to convert the point.

Two passes from Hopkins to Gerald Thomasson, former Hickman star athlete, gained 30 yards to the Alumni 20 midway in the third quarter and three plays later Entsminger shot through center from the 12 for the fourth Tiger tally.

In the final period Dick Keller and Loyd Brinkman alternated carrying from midfield to the Alumni 10. Wyatt faded and tossed an end zone pass to Jenkins. Brinkman, attempting the conversion by placement, received a bad pass from center, dropped back to the 20 and flipped a wobbly pass which Lee Bowman caught to give the Varsity a 34-6 victory.

Tiger Golfers Undefeated, Win Fourth Straight, 15-3

To date the Missouri golf team is undefeated, winning the fourth straight match over the University of Kansas at the Columbia Country Club May 3.

Opening the season on April 22, M. U. golfers defeated Quincy College of Quincy, Ill., 18-0. Westminster College was defeated 17-1 April 27 as Don Provow turned in a 75 for medal honors.

The Tigers' third straight victory was over the St. Louis University Billikens; the score, 18-0. Lowrey Henley, Missouri's No. 1 player, and Don Provow, who has pressed Henley for medal scored recently, remained undefeated with their decisive wins over Billiken shotters. Henley came in with a 78 for honors, while Provow and Fred Mayer shot 79 each. Bob Burger, who joined the regular Tiger foursome in the Westminster match, picked up his three points while shooting an 83.

Playing under cloudy skies and with intermittent rainy periods, the Tigers lost only one match of the six played against the University of Kansas, winning 15-3. Fred Mayer of Missouri and Jack Hines of Kansas shared medal honors when each posted a 79.

Tennis Team Beats Concordia

The University of Missouri tennis team made a clean sweep of its match with Concordia Seminary April 27, winning five singles and two doubles contests on the University courts.

Rip Manning, playing in the number one position, defeated Walter Lutz of Concordia in straight sets 6-3, 6-1. Eight games were played at deuce.

Geisler won Concordia's only set, taking the second set of his match with

On Campus

The old gray mare ain't what she used to be all right. Staid souls visitinf Read Hall May 15, 17, or 18, will find Read Hall transformed into a night club. Being tired of the usual variety show program which Read Hall has put on, the Music Committee conferred upon this novel presentation and plan to make it the biggest event in the history of the annex.

The three lounges in the hall will be used to seat the 172-person capacity, while dancing will be carried out in the center of the lounges and in the lobby. The floor shows will feature exhibition dancers, ballad and novelty singers, and the chorus line. The general motif behind the night club will be a French Carousel.

Delores "Bunny" Buescher, was crowned "Daisy Mae," queen of Eagles and Anchors, at the University veterans group's dance in the Armory April 5 by Ed Ryan, who became "Li'l Abner."

Posters and murals depicting the characters of the familiar comic strip adorned all walls of the Armory gymnasium and the "kickapoo joy juice," grape ade, flowed like wine in keeping with the selected theme of "Dogpatch." Veterans and their dates entered the spirit of the evening by coming in various modifications of traditional "Dogpatch" dress. All Moon's Missourians, who provided the music, were garbed in blue jeans and checkered shirts.

President Frederick A. Middlebush of the University was named chairman of the United States Naval Academy's 1946 board of visitors. The board met April 8-11 at Annapolis, Md. Dr. Middlebush was also named to the navy's newly created civilian advisory committee, being designated a vice-chairman. The committee held its first meeting aboard the new aircraft carrier Tarawa in New York Harbor April 26 and 27.

Professional writers should write what they like to write, rather than aim for the type of job that looks glamorous to them but for which they are not well suited, Clarissa Start, of the staff of Everyday Magazine of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, told members of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary professional fraternity, and their guests at the Matrix Table April 26. The banquet was held in the Colonial Room of the Tiger Hotel.

Miss Start, who spoke on "If I Knew Then," outlined her own career as an example. A graduate of the School of Journalism of the University in 1936 with a major in advertising, she told of her experiences at the University and in St. Louis after graduation.

Helen Staeuble, president of Gamma chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, extended the welcome to the banquet guests and introduced the speaker. Dean Frank L. Mott, of the School of Journalism, and his wife were guests.

Lovera Langenbacher, St. Charles, was elected president at the Theta Sigma Phi election, May 1. Other officers elected were: Vice-President, Mary Bourgeois, Baton Rouge, La.; secretary, Judy Gogel, Pine Bluff, Ark.; and treasurer, Christine Long, St. Joseph, Mo.

For the first time since 1941, Derby Day was brought back to the University campus, sponsored by Delta Sigma Pi, international professional fraternity for men in business, and Phi Chi Theta, national professional sorority for women in business.

Derby Day was held April 26, climaxed in the evening with a box supper, followed by a dance in the Armory. Jeanette Kroner was chosen the ideal secretary and George Giesow the ideal boss at the dance.

University students produced, directed and acted Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" in a one-night stand May 1 which proved to be one of Workshop's most successful productions of the year. The sparkling dialogue and polished acting of several of the night's stars proved a delightful surprise to the rather small but enthusiastic audience. William Truscheit, who produced "Hay Fever," Joanna Aly, the director, and Adeline Bain, assistant director, deserved the very healthy round of applause they received for quite a professional piece of work.

Airplanes and interior designs of large buildings, drawn by Glen Flanders, B.F.A. '36, made up a recent exhibit in Jesse Hall. Mr. Flanders, formerly associated with Curtiss-Wright Corporation in the production illustration and design department of engineering, is now employed at Design, Inc., St. Louis, where he has specialized in drawing buildings.

Awards were given to students in forensics activities of the University at the 23rd annual banquet at the Daniel Boone Hotel, May 1.

Prof. Aly presented awards for work done during the past year to student members of forensics. Awards of excellence or merit were given in debate, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and debate management.

New members to Delta Sigma Rho national honorary debating fraternity, were announced and fraternity keys were distributed by Harry Gunnison Brown, member of the faculty committee on forensics activities.

Lyle "Duke" Sullivan was elected president of the Student Government Association April 16. Other officers elected were: Charlie Ridgeway, vice-president, Francis Breidenthal, secretary; and Bill Bruce, treasurer.

"Duke" gained much experience in student government this year as a member of the Student Council. He is also helping whip this year's Tiger Baseball squad into shape. In the fall of 1938 Duke came to the University and earned two freshman numerals.

The new S.G.A. head left school in the spring of 1941 to play pro baseball, but his career was short-lived—he entered the navy that fall and saw action in the battles of Tarawa and Saipan as a hospital corpsman attached to the marines.

Charlie Ridgeway, the new vice-president is also a veteran. In the School of Journalism, he is editor of "Campus Columns" radio program, Associate Editor of the Missouri Student, member of the Workshop Board, and Eagles and Anchors. On leaving the University to enter the armed services, he was sent to Pomona College, Calif., in the ASTP. Charlie spent three years in the army and saw overseas duty.

The new secretary of S.G.A. is Francis Breidenthal. She entered the University after three years of secretarial work and will be a junior in Arts and Science next year.

Bill Bruce, the new treasurer, is a junior in the School of Business and Public Administration. He came to the University in October, 1938, and was here until October, 1941 when he enlisted in the Naval Air Corps. After overseas duty in the Solomons, he returned to the USA and instructed.

The following council members were elected: Nana Berry, Lindsay Morrow, Dick Killough, Harold Kincaid, Bill Berry, Ray Judd, Charles B. McQuoid, Betty Gallup, Robert Pierce, Pat Brown, Marilyn Kemp, and William Shaffer.

Marilyn Kemp was presented the Mortar Board scholarship award as outstanding sophomore girl, at the University Mortar Board annual scholarship dinner April 26 at the Tea-Berry. The prize of $25 was given Miss Kemp for achievement in scholarship, leadership, and service. Mortar Board also honored nine other candidates for the award, at the dinner.

Emma Lee Reed, president of the association, acted as toastmistress at the banquet. Thelma Mills, director of student affairs for women, Dr. E. H. Weatherly, Mrs. Rogers Whitmore, Florence Harrison, and members of the advisory board were guests at the scholarship dinner.

New members of the three senior honorary societies at the University,

Mortar Board, senior honorary society for women; Q.E.B.H., and The Mystical Seven, senior men's honorary societies; were introduced at the annual Tap Day ceremony in the University Auditorium May 1.

Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University, congratulated the students honored on their scholastic achievement.

New officers of the Student Government Association were introduced by President Middlebush.

University Resumes State Interscholastic Meet Here

After a lapse of four years, the Missouri Interscholastic Meet was resumed at the University. The state high school debating championship tournament held April 13 began the series of contests.

Formerly crowded into a week of events known as High School Week, this group of contests was all but suspended in 1942 because of transportation difficulties. Its revival covers a period of several weeks because of the acute housing shortage.

The debating tournament and the American citizenship scholarship examination was held April 19-20, with the Mahan high school essay contest on April 20.

The 28th Annual Vocational Agriculture Students Conference and Contest opened April 25 with more than 600 vocational agriculture students, representing 130 Missouri high schools attending the three-day conference.

The music festival, which formerly brought as many as 14,000 participants to the campus, was held Friday and Saturday May 3-4. Students from Missouri high schools in class B and C, including schools with 251 to 750 pupils, competed May 3; class A schools entered the Saturday contests.

Over 5000 students attended the festival which included bands, orchestras, boys' and girls' glee clubs, mixed choruses and ensembles, instrumental soloists and ensembles, and voice soloists.

The annual track and field meet for class B and class C high schools was held May 4, with preliminaries taking place in the morning and finals in the afternoon. The track and field meet for class A schools will close the events May 18. These meets continued during the war.

The speech conference will meet May 10-11. The University committee in charge has made an attempt to arrange all schedules and contests so that housing and eating accommodations might be adequate.

Faculty Notes

George C. Wilson, Jr., director of the University of Missouri band, and associate professor of music, will again be a member of the faculty of the National Music camp at Interlochen, Mich., from June 30 to August 24. This will be Mr. Wilson's fourth season with the camp.

Donald H. Jones, B.J. '25, A.M. '26, who has been on military leave from the University since 1943, has been discharged. During service overseas, he was an instructor in journalism at the Biarritz American University, Biarritz, France. He is now assistant professor of advertising at the University School of Journalism.

Dr. William F. Swindler, A.M. '36, Ph.D. '42, has been appointed director of the School of Journalism of the University of Nebraska. A member of the Missouri School of Journalism from 1938-1940, Dr. Swindler is on the board of editors for the Journalism Quarterly and is national vice-president of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism.

Lt. H. D. Elijah, A.M. '40, former instructor in the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture, has received his army discharge after serving two years. He will do extension work with the Wilson Packing Company at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dan Chittenden, former instructor of animal husbandry at the Missouri College of Agriculture, is now secretary of the American Polled Hereford Association. Mr. Chittenden, who was once coach of the animal husbandry judging team at the University, was field representative for the Corn Best Farm Dailies before accepting his present position.

Two members of the faculty of the Missouri College of Agriculture who have been on leave returned to their positions recently. E. R. Graham, who had been serving with the navy, and M. E. Springer, who had been serving in the army, resumed their work as instructors in soils.

David W. Reid, instructor in English at the University since February, 1945, has been awarded a fellowship for graduate study in the English language by the University of Michigan. The fellowship which becomes effective in September, 1946, is subject to reappointment.

Dr. Howard de Forest, former member of the faculty of the University, died at his home in Los Angeles, Calif., in April. He had been professor of botany at the University of Southern California for 24 years.

Dr. T. J. Talbert, head of the horticulture department at the University, has completed his textbook, "General Horticulture," to be used in the beginning horticulture course next semester.

Dr. Newell S. Gingrich, professor of physics, represented the University at a conference at Manhattan (atomic bomb) Laboratory in Chicago recently. Missouri was one of 24 colleges and universities which participated. The meeting was called by the director of the Manhattan District to inspect the facilities and determine how they could best be used as a national laboratory for research in atomic energy.

Dr. Charles A. Elwood's book, "The World's Need of Christ," has been issued by the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church for free distribution. Dr. Elwood was professor of sociology at the University from 1900 to 1930 and was chairman of that department for several years.

Dr. W. W. Carpenter, professor of education at the University, was re-elected secretary of Phi Delta Kappa, professional educational fraternity, at the 20th National Council meeting at the La Salle Hotel in Chicago, Ill.

"Golden Multitudes: The Story of American Best Sellers," a book by Dean F. L. Mott of the School of Journalism, should be a welcome volume to booklovers interested in journalism. This latest book by Dean Mott will be published by the MacMillan Company next year.

Dr. Mott said that although the book will be of special interest to journalists, it is directed to the general reader. It covers all of the American best sellers since the 17th century, there being more than 300 books on the best seller list.

William S. Minor, former professor of religion in the Missouri Bible College, was recently appointed to a professorship in philosophy at West Virginia University in Morgantown. Mr. Minor served in Columbia as Westminster Foundation professor of religion in the Bible College from 1935 until 1943.

Seven faculty members represented the history department of the University at a three-day conference of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association at the University of Indiana, April 18-20.

Elmer Ellis, dean of the College of Arts and Science, and Lewis E. Atherton, associate professor of history presented papers entitled "Historical Writing on the Middle West Since World War I," by Dr. Ellis and "American Economic History," by Dr. Atherton.

Mr. J. O. Keller, an instructor in physical education at the University, and Mrs. Keller are the parents of a son, John Edward, born recently in Columbia.

McNally. McNally outlasted Geisler in the third set to win, 6-2, 3-6, 9-7.

Sebree, Missouri, defeated Jacobi, Concordia, 6-2, 6-3. Playing number four, Johnson, Missouri, defeated Korby, Concordia, 7-5, 6-2.

In the final singles match, Nutter, Missouri, won over Streufert, Concordia, 6-3, 6-3.

The feature doubles contest was highlighted by sharp volleying as Manning and McNally defeated Lutz and Geisler 7-5, 7-5.

Missouri's final victory was in doubles when Johnson and Nackman won from Jacobi and Korby, 6-4, 6-1.

Tennis Players Tie Kansas

Missouri's No. 3 and 4 tennis players won both their singles and doubles matches to tie the University of Kansas May 3, 3-3. The match, which left the schools deadlocked in first place, was begun on the Stephens College courts, but was forced into Brewer Field house by rain.

Rip Manning and Ray McNally, Missouri's 1 and 2 players dropped their opening matches in straight sets to the Kansas, Manning losing to Roy Shoaf 6-4, 6-4, McNally to Robert Groom 6-4, 6-1. Manning's net game floundered before the lobs and drives of the tall No. 1 Kansas player.

Missouri's fortune changed in the final singles games with Bill Johnson and Frank Sebree, the No. 3 and 4 players on the team, downing their Kansas opponents. In a match interrupted by rain, Johnson won from Bob Barnes 8-6, 6-1, while Frank Sebree turned on the power in the last set to win from Charles Carson 6-3, 7-5.

Les Nackman joined Bill Johnson in the final doubles match to outlast Bob Barnes and Charles Carson of Kansas 6-3, 3-6, 6-4. This victory tied the score following a Kansas victory in the first match with Shoaf and Groom winning over Missouri's Manning and McNally 8-6, 3-6, 8-6. Again it was the power of Shoaf that spelled the difference in the teams.

Tigers Open Baseball Season With 27-5 Win Over Sedalia

The University opened its 1946 baseball season April 24 with a 27-5 win over the Sedalia Army Air Base team at Rollins Field.

The Tigers hit safely 13 times against three Sedalia pitchers, with a large number of walks figuring prominently in the scoring. Missouri got six extra-base hits including a long left-field homer by Moran in the fourth and triples by Waeckerle in the second, Spink and Entsminger in the fourth, Flederman got a double in the second and Feldman one in the seventh.

Four Missouri pitchers yielded only five hits including a double by Green in the ninth.

Missouri scored three runs in the first inning and the game was never in doubt. Tigers scored in every inning but the sixth, tallying six runs in the fourth and seven in the fifth.

Because of a wet playing field, the diamond was shifted to the southeast corner of Rollins Field.

Missouri used 23 men and Sedalia 10. Starting lineups were:

MISSOURI		SEDALIA
Rush	1b	Steward
Moran	2b	Saris
Waeckerle	3b	Harla
Fehr	ss	Goldsberry
Hook	lf	Green
Eigelberger	cf	Perron
Spink	rf	Steen
Dryden	c	Girard
Flederman	p	Doran

Score by innings:
Missouri	3 3 1 6 7 0 1 6—27
Sedalia	1 0 0 2 0 0 0 2—5

Jenkins and Volz Receive Awards for Achievement

Thornton Jenkins and Wilbur Volz were awarded gold wrist watches April 13 at the M Men's dance at Rothwell Gymnasium, for the most improved lineman and backfield man of the 1946 spring football season. The presentation was made by Assistant Coach Harry Smith.

Sabra Tull, freshman in the university, was crowned M Men's queen by Ed Hodges, president of the lettermen's club.

During the halftime at the traditional Varsity Alumni spring game that afternoon in which the Varsity romped to an easy 34-6 victory, gold footballs were given to the 1945 Big Six champion Tiger lettermen.

The watch award winners, selected by members of the Missouri coaching staff, chose Jenkins and Volz on a four-quality basis: (1) personal knowledge of assignments; (2) leadership and contributions to morale; (3) cooperation with the coaching staff and teammates; (4) general characteristics such as eligibility, practice attendance, and knowledge of football rules and tactics.

Among former Tiger athletes seen at the dance the night of April 13 were Bud Robinson and Pleasant Smith, members of the 1942-43 basketball team, and Bob Bosworth, middle-distance runner on the 1943 track team.

Missouri Workshop Presents 'Angel Street,' Ending Season

By GEORGIA TOWNSEND

A large audience loudly applauded the season's last Workshop play "Angel Street," directed by Donovan Rhynsburger, April 16 at the University Auditorium, drawing the cast out for several curtain calls.

From beginning to end the interest of the spectators was kept on the stage, both by the excellent acting of the five members of the cast, and by the beautifully designed, elaborately detailed set, designed by Herbert Philippi, Workshop technical director.

Charlotte Karl, as Mrs. Manningham steadily developed her difficult role of a wife whose husband was systematically trying to drive her mad through doubt and fear, until she gloriously renounced any love for him and begged the officers to take him from her sight.

Mr. Manningham, played by Jules Fielding, was convincingly menacing and nonchalant. William Schaefer was his best as the blustering old detective Rough, in his comedy scenes, although his entire portrayal of the old man was interesting.

The role of Nancy, the saucy and impertinent maid, was tailor-made for Suzanne Carrier, who hardly had to roll her eyes to win the laughs of the audience. Helen Bass as Elizabeth, the old housekeeper who helped her mistress in her distress, was tender and motherly.

Especially notable was the set, done in the style of the times, 1880. Antiquity frames, a marvelous stair case, and a hundred other carefully worked out details make this one of the finest sets seen in a Workshop production this year.

Much admiration was heard after the show for the unusual lighting effects.

Making electric lights act like gas lights, turning from white to orange as gaslight does when it is brightened and dimmed, was amazingly successful, and the gas light has an important part in the show. Frank Becklean was in charge of the lighting, and also doubled for one of the policemen in the third act. William Martin was stage manager and the other policeman.

The costumes were reproductions of the costumes from the original Broadway play.

The play was repeated on April 17 and 18.

HE'S NO JOE LOUIS . . .

. . . But Reddy Kilowatt, your electric servant, is still a champion in any man's language. For he handles dozens of jobs from providing smooth music to using radar to penetrate clouds, fog or smoke to make travel safer. He's a versatile fellow around the house too . . . and goes to work at the flip of a switch. Best of all, his "wages" are the lowest in history, average just 3 cents an hour!
