YOU CAN ALWAYS DO THIS . . .

If your home has been plunged into gloom by bulbsnatching, you can always take your chair out in the driveway and read by the headlights of your car. But it's a lot simpler to go to the store and buy enough lamp bulbs to fill all the empty sockets and keep a supply of spares on hand for emergencies. Remember, dust and dirt can rob you as much as 50 percent of the light you buy. So keep bulbs and reflectors clean; keep those empty sockets filled; and use light colored shades which gives you more light for your money!

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of THE UNIVERSITY of MISSOURI, Columbia, Missouri

DEAR ALUMNI FRIENDS:

At the annual St. Louis alumni meeting three St. Louis business men were honored for outstanding service to the University. The meeting, a stag banquet, was held Dec. 19 at the Candlelight House in St. Louis.

James R. Kearney, chairman of the board of the James R. Kearney Corporation in St. Louis, was presented an honorary membership in the alumni association. D. H. Doane, agriculturist, and Judge Barry Henwood, trustee for the St. Louis Southwestern Line, received Citation of Service Awards.

The awards were presented by Oak Hunter, president of the general Missouri Alumni Association and by George C. Willson, a former member of the Board of Curators of the University. Gus Vahlkamp, president of the Missouri Automobile Club, was toastmaster, and Ben Weinback, president of the St. Louis alumni, presided.

Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University for the past 11 years, was principal guest speaker. Dr. Middlebush said that when he took office he hoped to see the University prosper "along a solid front, which included athletic improvement." In his administration, during which the University celebrated its centennial in 1939, 15 new buildings have been built—and so have the Tigers first (and more) Big Six Conference championships in football, baseball, basketball, and track.

Mr. Kearney, who was made an honorary member of the alumni association, was born in Spring Grove, Ky., and began working at the age of seven. He was a jockey, was associated with Billie Sell's circus and was connected with an electric company in Topeka where he began the interest he has for the electrical business today. When the company was sold Mr. Kearney stepped into the position as general superintendent and electrical engineer. Later he became interested in the theater and managed the Accommodation House and the Baldwin House through which many famous vaudeville stars got their start.

In 1926 he established his own business, the James R. Kearney Corporation, manufacturers of utility equipment, with factories in St. Louis and Toronto, Canada. His son, James R. Kearney, a graduate of the University in 1926, became president of the corporation in 1940.

Duane Howard Doane, to whom was presented one of the two citation awards, was graduated in 1908 from the University with a B.S. in Agriculture and received his M. S. degree in 1909.

While a student, he worked every summer for the United States Department of Agriculture. After graduation he taught at the University and was made professor of the first department of farm management in the country. Leaving the College of Agriculture, he became a member of the farm loan department of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company in St. Louis and three years later began the Doane Agriculture Service, Inc., of which he is chairman.

Mr. Doane was a member of the American Farm Economic Association and first president of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers. By appointment of former Gov. Forrest C. Donnell, Mr. Doane served as chairman of the Missouri Commission of Resources.

The second citation award was given to Judge Berryman Henwood, of Hannibal, who received a Bachelor of Laws degree cum laude from the University in 1904.

Judge Henwood entered law practice in Hannibal where he became active in civic affairs and politics. For four years he was city attorney and in 1916 was delegate to the Republican National Convention. From 1927 to 1930 he was a commissioner of the State Supreme Court, and for the following three years he was judge of the Supreme Court.

Dr. Thomas A. Brady Named University Vice-President

Dr. Thomas A. Brady, professor of history and director of the Veterans Service Committee, was appointed Vice-President of the University in charge of extra-divisional educational activities at a meeting of the University Board of Curators in St. Louis. The appointment is effective February 1, 1946.

Dr. Brady will succeed Dr. Elmer Ellis, who becomes dean of the faculty of the College of Arts and Science filling a vacancy caused by the resignation of Dean W. C. Curtis. Dr. Brady will continue as professor of history and director of the Veterans Service Committee.

Born in Richmond, Mo., September 24, 1902, Dr. Brady received his A.B. degree from the University in 1924. He took graduate work at Harvard, receiving his A.M. in 1926 and a Ph.D. in 1931.

Dr. Brady was appointed instructor in history at the University Sept. 1, 1926, and received successive appointments as assistant professor in 1930, associate professor in 1938 and professor on Sept. 1, 1944.

In 1944 he was assigned to make a study of educational rehabilitation of men and women in the armed forces, and recommend solutions to the problem. He was asked to set up an organization to gather information on veteran rehabilitation which would serve both veteran and University. Subsequently he was appointed director of the University Veterans Service Committee.

In 1936, Dr. Brady was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for outstanding work in history, and during a year's leave of absence traveled and studied in Europe and North Africa.

The University recently published an extensive study made by Dr. Brady under the sponsorship of the Rockefeller Foundation, covering the new teaching methods of the army specialized training program for teaching foreign languages and like subjects.

Dr. Brady is a member of the American Historical Association, the American Philological Association, and the American Classical Association of the Middle West and South.

W. C. Bicknell Appointed Mechanic Arts Director

William C. Bicknell has been appointed director of mechanic arts courses at the University, it has been announced by Dr. Harry A. Curtis, dean of the faculty of engineering.

Mr. Bicknell will head next semester the vocational course in household appliance maintenance and repair for veterans and will also institute a new course in drafting and elementary design.

Both are planned as one-year courses with about eight months' resident training at the University and four months in-service training with approved employers.

Neither course will carry academic credit which can be counted toward a degree. Dr. Curtis said the courses are not connected with the College of Engineering but are set up under the special vocational program of the University of which he is a member and Dr. Thomas Brady is chairman. When the Curators authorized this committee, they asked each member to take charge of the vocational courses in his field.

Mr. Bicknell said these courses are designed to give students sufficient instruction and training to manage their own businesses. A complete laboratory and supplies and equipment has been set up for the courses.

Mr. Bicknell, who received his A.M. from the University in 1933 and a Doctor of Education degree in 1942, has been processing engineer for Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Co., in Kansas City, since Sept. 30, 1943.

Amos J. Snider Is Chosen Community Veterans' Adviser

Amos J. Snider, former superintendent of schools at Weston, Mo., and a veteran of the Army Air Forces, has been appointed community veterans adviser of the University by the Board of Curators.

With the appointment of Mr. Snider, the University puts into effect a plan, sponsored by the Veterans' Service Committee, of helping to set up community service centers for veterans.

Outlines and recommendations for such centers are covered in a booklet, "The Community Veterans Center," prepared by Dr. Thomas A. Brady, director of the Veterans' Service Committee and published last summer by the committee.

In discussing his new position, Mr. Snider said:

"Dr. Brady points out that the veteran does not want just repeated referrals to various governmental agencies. He needs, instead, a centralized information and service center and the personal counsel and advice of persons whom he recognizes as successful business and professional citizens of his own community.

"The veteran feels," added Mr. Snider, "that the successful local man knows the needs and problems of the community and that he will consider the successful rehabilitation of the veteran as an asset to the community."

As community adviser, Mr. Snider will go into the community requesting service, explain the need for coordinating and centralizing the various agencies into a single service center, explain details of the plan for counsel and guidance, and help train members of the citizen counsel group in an accepted method of procedure.

Mr. Snider is a graduate of the Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, and received a master's degree from the University in 1940, specializing in secondary and industrial education. He is now working on his doctor's degree at the University.

Most of his two years in the Army Air Forces he served as a technical sergeant in charge of enlisted men's classification center in an overseas replacement depot at Tampa, Fla.

Five Promotions Announced At Meeting of Curators

Appointments of two assistant professors, one associate professor, and five promotions were announced by the University Board of Curators at its meeting Dec. 4 in St. Louis.

Robert H. Cole was appointed associate professor of physics beginning Feb. 1. Dr. Cole is at present with the Oceanographic Institution, Woods Hole, Mass.

Dr. George Hoagland Vineyard was appointed assistant professor of physics, and Dr. Ellen E. Guillot, assistant professor of sociology, beginning Feb. 1.

Five promotions announced are: Kenneth B. Huff, extension associate professor of agricultural engineering; James E. Crosby, Jr., extension professor of agricultural economics; F. E. Rogers, extension professor; Opal Roberson, extension home economist with rank of assistant professor; and George D. Jones, extension associate professor of entomology.

Extension Service Elects Officers at Conference

Officers of the county extension agents association and home demonstration agent associations were elected at a recent five-day conference of the Missouri Extension Service on the University of Missouri campus.

Clarence Klinger, B.S. in Agr. '33, of Union was elected president of the county extension agents association; Paul Bebermeyer, B.S. in Agr. '23, A.M. '24, of Edina, vice-president; and B. W. Harrison, B.S. in Agri. '36, of Kennett, secretary.

Audra Robertson, B.S. in Ed. '35, B.S. in Home Ec. '35, was elected president of the home demonstration agents association.

Faculty Notes

Tom Botts, B.S. in Ed. '26, coach of the University track team, has been appointed chairman of the long distance running committee of the Missouri Valley Association of the Amateur Athletic Union for 1946.

Loryn McQuenter, B.S. in Agr. '39, A. M. '41, former instructor in agriculture economics at the University, has been employed by the Missouri Farmers' Association farm supply department in Columbia. Mr. McQuenter received his discharge in October as a first lieutenant in the Army Air Forces.

Loren Reid, University professor of speech, has been re-elected executive secretary of the National Association of Teachers of Speech.

Lt. Lynn O'Brien, who served as enlisted instructor of the ROTC Corps at the University from 1938 to 1942, has been transferred to the staff and faculty of the Field Artillery School at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Capt. Frank D. Gorham, Jr., A.B. '43, has returned to the University as assistant professor of military tactics and science in the army ROTC unit. He was an artillery captain with the Tenth Mountain Division in Italy and was awarded the Silver Star. Capt. Gorham will teach the advanced ROTC course for veterans which will begin next semester.

Barbara M. Donohoe and Capt. Frederick Augustus Jostes, USNR, former professor of orthopedic surgery at the University, were married Dec. 4 in San Francisco. In January, Capt. and Mrs. Jostes will return to St. Louis where he will resume his private practice.

Dr. W. F. English, A.M. '31, associate professor of history at the University, was one of two new national directors, elected by the National Council for Social Studies at its meeting in Milwaukee Nov. 22-24.

An outstanding contribution to the war effort made by Robert C. Manhart, associate professor of business management of the University on leave, now with the Sylvania Electric Products Inc., of New York, has been cited by Dr. Harry Gunnison Brown, acting dean of the school of business and public administration of the University. Prof. Manhart's work was connected with the production of the radio proximity fuse.

Ruby Cline, B.S. in Ed. '18, former instructor in physical education at the University, has recently returned from the South Pacific after 21 months of service as a Red Cross worker.

Capt. Donald H. Jones, B.J. '25, A.M. '26, assistant professor of advertising at the University School of Journalism since 1937, and now on military leave of absence, returned to Columbia on convalescent leave to visit his wife, Mrs. Vivian Jones, B.J. '39.

H. A. Herman, professor of dairy husbandry at the University, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Missouri Guernsey Breeder's Association at its annual meeting Dec. 4.

Edith Marken, B.J. '24, A.M. '32, former assistant professor of journalism at the University is now president and treasurer of the Ipswich Chronicle Publishing Company, Ipswich, Mass.

Dr. Cecil Elder to Spend Year in Agricultural Work in China

On a year's leave of absence from the University, Dr. Cecil Elder, professor of veterinary science, will spend 1946 in agricultural rehabilitation work in China.

Dr. Elder will be a member of a group of 12 specialists on livestock diseases serving in the agricultural division of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. His group will make headquarters at Shanghai.

The group has been called to study the veterinary problems of China and to help the Chinese organize their system of veterinary education, their research program in animal diseases, and their livestock disease control units.

This group will also advise the Chinese in the production and use of preventive serum, vaccines, and similar biologics.

Dr. Elder has been a member of the University staff since the summer of 1931. For more than 11 years he has been in charge of the Missouri Bang's disease testing laboratory. This laboratory is operated by the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the federal Bureau of Animal Industry and is the official laboratory for Bang's disease control work in Missouri.

Since coming to the University, Dr. Elder has been in charge of research in animal diseases in the Missouri Experiment Station and has taught veterinary courses in the College of Agriculture. He is the author of many bulletins and scientific papers.

As a member of the American Veterinary Medical Association, Dr. Elder served for the last three years as chairman of the section on research and as a member of the program committee.

Before coming to the University, Dr. Elder was head of the veterinary science staff at the University of Wyoming.

TIGERS LOSE COTTON BOWL GAME, 40-27

The annual Cotton Bowl classic played Jan. 1 under ideal weather conditions before a crowd of 46,000 persons at Dallas, was climaxed as the Texas Longhorns passed their way to a 40-27 victory over the Missouri Tigers, champions of the Big Six conference.

It was the greatest scoring jamboree the Cotton Bowl has produced in its ten years. For a while it looked as though all a team had to do to reach pay dirt was to come into possession of the ball.

There were ten touchdowns tallied on the big board, Texas tabbing six of them. The Longhorns scored in every period; the Tigers missed only the third. Texas led at the quarter, 14-7, and at the half, 21-14, at the three-quarter post, 27-14. Each team scored 13 points in the final quarter.

Missouri's running game was superb as witness the 408 yards credited to Tiger backs while the Texans ran the ball from scrimmage only 202 yards.

Forward passing was the keynote of the Texas victory as Bobby Layne and Bechtol completed 13 out of 14 forwards. Nine straight pass completions came before one went wrong.

The game was clean as evidenced by the lack of penalties. Dellastatious, Oakes and Clodfelter all went to the sidelines with injuries. Texans, too, went out of the game limping, but undoubtedly Missouri suffered the greater damage.

Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University, thanked the Texans for their hospitality and expressed his appreciation for the manner in which all Missourians had been received in a between-halves address.

The first quarter had less than two minutes to go when Texas broke a tie to make it 14-7. In ten plays after taking a punt Texas planted the ball on pay soil. The Longhorns mixed running plays and passes for this score. Baumgardner scooted 23 yards on the ancient Statue of Liberty play, a Layne-to-Bechtoll forward netted 13, and Ellsworth used his rare speed for yardage through line holes.

Kekeris missed a 25-yard placekick early in the second quarter but a few minutes later Clodfelter aroused Missouri hopes by recovering a Texas fumble on the Missouri 38 and straightway the Tiger running attack made the necessary 62 yards in eight plays. One was highly spectacular coming when Layne of Texas batted a Dellastatious pass into Brown's hands for a 17-yard gain. Another came when the shifty Brown skirted right end for 17.

On the Texas 13, Brinkman slipped outside left tackle, found himself hemmed in and lateralled to a teammate who touched the ball as it rolled out of bounds. That gave the Tigers the ball on the Texas 3 and Dellastatious found a line hole to dash through untouched. Kekeris place kicked and the score was 14-all.

A forward pass, Jackson to Bechtol, was good for 56 yards and Dellastatious had to nip the runner from behind. The Tigers fought hard but Texas made the last 13 yards in six plays, Layne going over from the 2. Layne's place kick made the score 21-14 favoring Texas. The score had come within three minutes of the end of the second period.

A fumble by Hopkins set up the first Texas touchdown in the second half after six minutes of play. Green recovered for Texas on the Tiger 20 and on the second play Layne threw a pass to Baumgardner in the end zone. It was the eighth straight pass completion for Dana Bible's passing machine. The conversion was low, Texas leading 27-14.

That was all the scoring in the third quarter, but 26 points, evenly divided, were yet to come.

Missouri struck on the second play of the fourth period although the drive of 93 yards in 11 plays began back in the third chapter.

Missouri started from its own 7, after taking a Texas punt, only the second kick from scrimmage by the Longhorns. On the second play Dellastatious, reeling off eight around end, was injured and carried off.

Whitacre took a lateral from Brown and raced right end for nine; Hopkins went for five, Brown for four and then Hopkins ran wide around Bechtoll for 30 yards, almost away. Hopkins, driving, found a right tackle hole for ten and Howard Bonnett located another and plunged through to race the last 21 yards across the Longhorn goal. Kekeris converted and the score was 27 to 21 Texas.

Missourians were hopeful at this stage, the Texas passing was unstoppable, but so was the Tiger running attack from the T with an occasional shift to the single wing.

Downing the Tiger kickoff on their own 20 the Longhorns filmed a touchdown in six plays.

Layne threw a pass to Ellsworth over right end for 17 yards and then Ellsworth flipped a 30-yard forward to Layne who ran the last 20 to score. The conversion was wide but Texas led 33 to 21.

The Tigers took the kickoff on their own 20. The 80 yards came to 13 plays, featuring Brinkman and Brown and Hopkins. Forty-two yards came in a spectacular move by Hopkins around left end, behind splendid interference. Hopkins cut for the center and was almost away. With a fourth Hopkins brought a first down on a 3-yard plunge and then traveled the last three yards against a sturdy Texas defense in three cracks at the right side of the Longhorn line. The Kekeris kick was blocked and Missouri had pulled up 27-33.

Downing the Tiger kickoff on their own 40 Texas began to unravel the Missouri line. Baumgardner crashed center for nine. Layne threw to Bechtol for ten and Ellsworth slipped off left tackle for ten more. Layne winged a pass to Bechtol for 21 and the Texans were pounding on the 2-yard line. Ellsworth crashed at left tackle, slipped and spun a lateral to Layne who ran across. Layne kicked the point for the final count 40-27.

Tiger Cagers Open Season With Westminster Victory

The University basketball season opened with the Tiger five delivering a 44-30 defeat to Westminster College at Fulton Dec. 7.

Coach George Edwards substituted freely during the game with 12 players entering the game. All except four of the 12 scored.

Coach Edwards said his team looked good, and credited the playing of Wendell Moulder, freshman forward from Kansas City, and acting captain Earl Stiegemeier, guard, with a good part of the victory.

The Tigers trailed for two minutes after the game began, but took command and never lost their gain.

Edwards said Westminster suffered from a lack of height under the goal. He said Missouri's average height was slightly above six feet.

"Westminster was faster on the floor than the Tigers, however," Edwards said.

The Missouri squad boasts only four lettermen, and the rest of the Tiger team is made up of freshmen.

Coach Edwards said that the Westminster team was small, short, and very fast, which gave the Tigers a different series of situations than they had had in practice. Both teams had difficulty in the first half handling the ball, which seemed to be slippery.

The first 15 minutes of the game was close, but the Tigers then pulled away. Earlier in the second half Missouri's lead extended as high as 14 points, and Coach Edwards substituted freely. Nash of Westminster dropped in three successive long shots which put them within nine points of the Tigers, but that was as close as they got from then on.

It was a fairly good early season game, but the Tigers have a long way to go to be a strong ball team, Coach Edwards said.

Bengals Trounce Huskers, Gwinn Is High Point Man

The University Tiger cagers staged a second half comeback against Nebraska Dec. 14 in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium to defeat the Huskers 64-54 before 5000 basketball fans.

The Tigers were slow to get started in the first half. During the first seven minutes the Huskers gained a 7-1 lead, but failed to hold it when the Tigers rolled up points to tie them 9-9. Both teams began finding their eye and the score locked at 11-11 and 13-13 until the Huskers moved out in front 22-16 only to slip before another Missouri rally that left it at 22-22.

With only one minute left in the first half, Brown and Livingston looped in a four-point advantage for the Huskers.

Missouri quickly took over in the second half by methodical ball handling. Heimbürger, Moulder, and Stiegemeier tallied to put the Tigers ahead for the first time in the game, 28-26.

The scoring went goal for goal, tying the count at 28, 33, and 35. The Tigers were ahead at 40-37 when Dick Gwinn, freshman forward, started on a scoring spree and tossed in five field goals and five free throws in the second half and ended the game with 18 points.

The Tigers ran the score to 55-45, and then coasted in.

Black Nets 26 Points As Jayhawks Rout Tigers

The Missouri Tigers dropped a 59-35 game to Kansas Dec. 15 when they failed to hold back all-American Charley Black. Black accounted for 26 Kansas points.

Held to a 19-12 lead at half-time the Kansas Jayhawks broke Black loose to allow him to score 18 points in the second half. The Jayhawks hit the basket for 14 field goals in 29 shots in the 15 minutes the varsity was in the game in the second half.

Scoring was scarce in the first half as Kansas' fast breaks sputtered and the Missouri plays were balked by a rigid defense. Kansas moved out in the first half with a 4-0 lead on Stramel's two goals. With eight minutes played the Tigers trailed 4-3. Missouri went ahead by two points after the count was tied 5-5 and Kansas was pushed to lock score at 9 and again at 10 with six minutes remaining.

Peck scored and then Frisby and Black counted two-pointers to throw the Jayhawks out in front 19-12 at half.

Big Jim Kekeris Is Named On Various Second Elevens

As the various All-American teams start piling up, it is Missouri's gargantuan tackle, 295-pound Jim Kekeris, who seems to be winning second team nominations most consistently.

Kekeris has been elected to second team berths by the Associated Press, Central Press, and by Look Magazine in its latest issue. United Press gave Kekeris honorable mention.

Unanimously voted outstanding player in the Big Six Conference in every poll conducted, Kekeris made every honorary team in that league except the "All Opponent" teams picked by Missouri's competitors of the past season.

Bob Hopkins Elected M Men's President

Robert Hopkins was elected president of the M Club Dec. 4 at the re-opening meeting. Other officers are: Vice-president, Ralph Stewart; secretary, Elden Ihm; treasurer, James Kekeris; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Eigelberger. Bill Dellastatious is social chairman and Bill Whitaker is publicity chairman.

The annual dance of the club, which has not been held since the war, will be in February.

Five Trackmen Given Awards

Five University two-milers were given Minor Awards in cross country by the Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics on the recommendation of Track Coach Tom Botts.

These men competed in three matches with conference schools losing to Nebraska 0-25, Iowa State 32-23, and winning from Kansas 26-29.

Bill Slagel, Sedalia, placed second in the Nebraska race, sixth in the Iowa State race, and second in the Kansas competition. Richard Killough, St. Louis, placed fourth against Nebraska, third against Iowa State, and third against Kansas.

Roy Brodhage, Maplewood, ran eighth in the Nebraska contest, fourth against Iowa State, and sixth against Kansas. James Wade, Platte City, placed ninth against Nebraska, fifth against Iowa State, and seventh at Kansas. Eugene Friel, University City, came in ninth at Nebraska, ninth at Iowa State and eighth at Kansas.

St. Louis U. Billikens Defeat Missouri Cagers, 50-35

Defeating the Missouri Tigers, 50-35, Dec. 21, the St. Louis University Billikens presented themselves as possible Missouri College basketball champs.

The outstanding playing of Wendell Moulder, former Kansas City star, netted Missouri 13 points in the first half. By the end of the game, he had scored 22 points on seven field goals and eight free throws. His scoring enabled Missouri to overcome a 12-5 lead and end the first half 18-18.

The opening half was nip and tuck after the Tigers overcame the 12-5 deficit, with Moulder and Heimburger showing the way. They even held the lead for a while, 15-12, but Weisner, Macauley, and Dan Miller sank one-handers to put the Bills ahead until Missouri knotted the score at intermission.

However, while St. Louis clearly outplayed Missouri, Coach Edwards intimated after the game that the Bills would have a tougher game on their hands when they come to Columbia for their Feb. 5 engagement. The Tiger mentor expects to unveil Jimmy Austin and Thornton Jenkins, two promising sophomores on the 1942 team, before entering service.

Baseball Will Again Be Major Sport at M. U.

Baseball will return to the University next spring as a major sport Coach Don Faurot said recently. Last year the University had only a make-shift team because of the war and manpower shortage.

Catch Faurot said that the University would have tennis and golf teams if talent was available. The University golf course has grown up in weeds during the war, but most matches are played at the Columbia Country Club, since the University course has been shortened by the construction of the observatory.

Missouri will also have a full track program, both indoors and outdoors, Coach Chauncey Simpson said.

Football Letters for 28 M. U. Tigers Given Approval

Varsity football awards were approved for 28 Tigers by the athletic committee of the University, and minor letters were approved for 30 "B" team players.

The varsity lettermen are: Vernon Baum, Howard Bonnett, Lloyd Brinkman, Leonard Brown, Fred Burk, Robert Chase, Sam Clevenger, Raymond Cliffe, Robert Clodfelter, Hardin Cox, Richard Croak, Bill Dellastatious, Bob Eigelberger, Louis Glauser, Joerwin Henderson, Robert Hopkins, Elden Ihm, James Kekeris, Sid Lindley, Ronald Nickell, Roland Oakes, Jack O'Connell, Norval Piepmeier, Fred Riddle, Ralph Stewart, and William Whitaker.

Washington U. Bears Top Mizzou Hoopsters, 45-42

Retiring coach Bob Kinnan saw his Washington University Bears down the Missouri basketball team Dec. 22, 45-42.

Though the Bears kept "Red" Moulder, who scored only five points, bottled up, they neglected other Tiger players and in doing so nearly lost the game. Dick Gwinn sparked the Tiger attack, netting ten points.

At the half, the Bears had a 22-16 lead, which they stretched to 42-25 early in the third quarter. Confident in their lead, the Bears' reserves carried on, while the Tigers' original starting five came back into the game to score 13 points in eight minutes. From then on the Tigers dominated the game, falling three points short of winning at the end.

Rare Books of Late Spanish Professor Given to Library

Mrs. Jacob Warshaw, widow of Prof. Jacob Warshaw, professor of Spanish at the University for 30 years before his death in 1944, has given to the University Library four valuable old books from his library. B. E. Powell, University Librarian, announced.

"Memorial de la Vida Christiana," by Fray Luis de Granada is a religious and mystical work. It instructs all that a Christian ought to do from the beginning of his conversion to the end of perfection. Granada's language is a model of the finest ever written in Castilian.

"La Perfecta Casada," by Fray de Leon is one of the four books given to the library. In this book Fray Luis de Leon is a moralist, and in it shows himself to be one of the finest prose writers of the 16th century.

Also given to the library is "Marco Aurelio," probably written by Antonio de Guevara, which gives the life of one of the most virtuous of the Roman emperors.

"Autos Sacramentales," by Don Calderon de la Barca, is another of the books. The true lyric poetry of the period is to be found in it, and the creative imagination of the author is shown at its best.

These books, written by famous authors of the 16th and 17th centuries, are fine examples of the spelling, language, printing and bookbinding of that time, Mr. Powell said. They will be placed in the rare book collection of the University Library.

Devonshire Won Maj. Betty's Heart During Overseas Duty

Maj. Huston Betty, B.S. in Ed. '39, back to his alma mater, the University of Missouri, as an assistant football coach and instructor in physical education, won an impressive row of decorations and a string of five battle stars for his stay on European soil—a stay that began an hour and a half after H-Hour on D-Day and ended only after the Nazis were licked—but as far as he is concerned England was the best part of his overseas service.

Betty, recounting the Fourth's battle from the Cherbourg peninsula to beyond the Rhine, still had a soft spot in his heart for Devonshire, where his outfit spent five months. Prior to that, after entering the army in February of 1941, Betty had seen duty in Ft. Benning, Ga., Camp Gordon, Ga., Ft. Dix, N. J., Camp Carrabelle, Fla., for amphibious training, and Ft. Jackson, S. C. On New Year's Day of 1944, the division embarked at New York for England.

"England was the best part," said Maj. Betty. "We stayed in Devonshire for five months. Twice during that time we were alerted and taken in landing boats toward the French coast. As soon as we would get out in the middle of the channel, we'd turn around and make a landing in England." He added with a smile, "Nobody at headquarters kn-w when D-Day would come—nobody but General Barton, that is."

"The Fourth hit the Normandy beach only one hour and a half after H-Hour, D-Day, and proceeded up the Cherbourg peninsula to lead the breakthrough. "We were the gang that caught those Allied Air Force bombs that were dropped short of the German line," the Major said.

The next job for Major Betty, who was serving as liaison officer between headquarters and the combat teams, was the liberation of Paris. The Fourth was the first division to enter the French capital, but it didn't stay long.

"We went right on to hit the Siegfried line," Betty continued, "and took part in the battle of the Hurtgen forest. During the battle of the Belgian bulge, we protected the city of Luxembourg, a sort of left flank maneuver. Then we went to Nancy for a rest.

"After Nancy, we cut directly across Europe until we came to the Rhine, and we went over it at Mainz. About that time, the war in Germany ended, I guess," he concluded.

When the Fourth reached this country again, it was sent in a body to Durham, N. C. Maj. Betty was given a terminal leave which he spent in St. Louis.

MAINTAINING TRANSPORTATION Leadership in

PROUD of its wartime record, the Missouri Pacific wants its patrons to know it faces the future with confidence and that the dawn of 1946 finds it busy with extensive improvements, all planned to provide even more satisfactory and dependable service than it has in the past.

Making a good railroad a better railroad is a never ending task. Thus, in line with its long maintained policy, the Missouri Pacific has placed orders for six more Eagle trains which, like its present Eagles, will be streamlined for speed, styled for beauty and designed to afford travelers the utmost in luxurious comforts and conveniences. Also planned for delivery during the year are more freight cars and more diesel electric switch engines.

But modern equipment alone does not make a railroad modern. So, in 1946 the Missouri Pacific plans to lay more than the usual amount of new rail, to extend its installations of automatic block signals, to put more miles of track under Centralized Traffic Control, to keep on reducing grades and curvatures, to keep on raising its tracks beyond the possible threat of flood waters, to further improve and enlarge freight yards and to further modernize its freight and passenger stations.

All these and countless other improvements which make for better and more satisfactory service, attest the Missouri Pacific's confidence in the continued growth and development of the territory it serves, its faith in the future of America, and its determination to ably and adequately meet the post-war transportation needs of the West, South and Southwest.

The Missouri Pacific is grateful it was privileged to serve the Nation so well in war and thankful for the helpful cooperation of shippers and travelers. It is proud of its fame as "A Service Institution," and that its employees have set a record for efficiency and courtesy. On the basis of its past performance and its future plans, it seeks your continued patronage and good will and, as ever, will welcome constructive criticism or suggestions.
