What makes Johnny run?

So he won't be late for school! When class starts, he knows he has to be there—on hand—on time.

That's the way it is with electricity too. It runs—as fast as the speed of light—to be on hand, on time, every time you flip a switch.

Your electric service is so ready, so dependable, that you can take it for granted. Yet it's the biggest bargain in anybody's budget. Never before has electricity done so much to make life happy and easy and healthy—at so little cost!

THE MISSOURI ALUMNUS is published monthly except July and August by the University of Missouri Alumni Association, 110 Jesse Hall, Columbia, Mo. Entered as second class matter under the Acts of March 3, 1879. Regular subscription price $3.00 a year; life subscription, $50.

Members of the Publications Committee—Robert E. Lee (Bob) Hill, chairman; James A. Taylor, Kansas City; Ben F. Seward, Kansas City; Frank Birch, New York City; Harry D. Guy, Dallas, Tex.; Harry Frech, St. Louis.

We hope that all who were back for Homecoming had a fine time. It is, of course, impossible to give any kind of estimate on how many alums returned to Mizzou on Thanksgiving day. But to the eye it was a sizable crowd, and a happy one. Here's hoping those who had to stay home this year will make a date for next year's celebration.

Miss Jane Froman, the lovely Cominghome Queen selected by your votes, expressed her gratitude to the ALUMNUS for originating the idea of Cominghome Queen, and to the alumni for selecting her as the first alum to receive this honor. We pass along the thanks to you—the ones who really made her coming possible.

The editors and staff of the ALUMNUS wish to thank Jane again for her fine spirit in adding something special to Homecoming.

Perhaps a Cominghome Queen will become an M. U. tradition. Time will tell.

We have published a list of visitors to the Alumni office, as usual, this month. These names, however, cannot include every alum who came back for Homecoming. That would be impossible.

We do hope, though, that even the small list published may enable some readers to recognize a familiar name, an old friend, perhaps, who hasn't been in touch.

And remember, we are always ready to help you find old friends. We don't promise success in every case, as our records are incomplete.

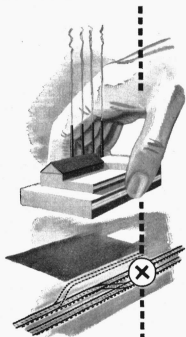

But our files are growing, in length and accuracy, day by day. It is not a remote possibility that we may be able, in the near future, to locate anyone who has ever attended the university for you.

Much of the credit for this belongs to our office staff. Believe us, we are not prejudiced when we say they have been earnest and most diligent in checking and compiling records. A tip of the hat (if we wore one) to them. All fine deeds.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

Sincerely,
THE EDITORS

LETTERS

Dear Sir:

... The recent article in the MISSOURI ALUMNUS under "Sports" in the Nov. issue is surely unworthy of the standards of the publication. I make reference to the writer's discussion of the Missouri U.-Oklahoma U. football game. The intent and purpose would seem analogous to that of Mark Antony's oration at Caesar's funeral (per Mr. Shakespeare) . . .

Does losing football games to stronger foes constitute disaster or suggest team dissension or poor coaching? It is hard to dignify such threatening comments with consideration, and it is this writer's considered opinion that the writer of the above mentioned article had better come out of the "fifth hole down" and cease giving utterance to such self-authored rumors. Such threats and comments are usually made by the amateur gambler who has bet and lost, and often he is one who can scarcely tell the difference between a punt and a pass.

It has been my observation that the members of our coaching staff are regarded highly by experts all over the country. We have constant examples and reminders of their mutual admiration and respect for each other's ability. In talking with the boys on the football squad, you will find as I have, that they have a great team spirit and a respect for the men who are directing their efforts and molding them into a fine . . . team. . . .

Virginia Henwood,
B.S. in Ed. '36, M.Ed.'38,
1116 Moreau Drive
Jefferson City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

... It certainly should be the purpose of a free press to point out matters that are hard to swallow as well as those that are all sweetness and honey.

If Miss Henwood had been around Columbia after the game, and was fairly observant, she could not have escaped hearing accusations and rumors to the effect that something was wrong with the coaching staff. I took these rumors to task, because there is absolutely no foundation for them. Disgruntled townspeople and students threw all restraint to the winds and spread these untrue rumors. Thus I pleaded for fair-minded people to disregard idle talk. I hasten to assure Miss Henwood that the rumors were not self-authored. I was, and am, on the other side of the fence.

... I was merely reporting the facts as I saw them, and honestly trying to squelch the malicious rumors.

Winning Smile

On the eve of Homecoming, alumni journeyed to Rockwell gym to see Don McVay crown Jane Froman as Coming Home Queen, at the dance.

The Homecoming Queen, Miss Katherine Lois Gray, was crowned by Pres-Middlebush.

Pres. Middlebush was greeted by the celebrating throng of students with a good natured cry of, "We're ready for Freddie."

In the Homecoming Queen's court were Miss Josephine Kennedy, Kansas City, and Miss Barbara Goode, Normandy, Mo. Both of the girls wore bordeaux-colored evening gowns.

Miss Gray wore a royal black gown and Miss Froman a pale blue, bouffant evening dress with decorations of gold. Miss Froman also wore "the smile that won the town."

Open Door

Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, University president, and Allen McReynolds, Carthage, president of the Curators, appeared before the Missouri House Committee on Equal Rights on Dec. 2 and recommended limited Negro enrollment at the University.

They recommended that state law be amended to permit certain Negroes to attend tax-supported institutions of higher learning which offer courses not now available at the state school for Negroes, Lincoln University in Jefferson City.

Representative Howard Elliott, Republican, St. Louis County, chairman of the Equal Rights committee, asked McReynolds how wide the state should open the educational door.

Both Dr. Middlebush and McReynolds made it plain that they considered revision of the education laws the business of the state Legislature.

Dr. Middlebush said that a mass exodus from Lincoln University would create further complications in the University's congested classroom and housing problems.

Elliott persisted with the question, "Can we with propriety and safety go the whole way?"

McReynolds insisted that administrative setups of other state schools should be considered and that any law changes were up to the legislature.

"It would be presumptuous for us to give you a warning as to how wide the door should be opened," McReynolds said, "We feel our job is to lay the facts before you."

The University Curators statement recommended that the Equal Rights committee should seek law changes to permit Negro enrollment at the University and teachers colleges "in divisions and curricula where instruction of equivalent character" is not offered at Lincoln University.

It was not clear, however, just what changes were recommended by the statement.

"The Excellence of Lincoln University in recent years is the chief reason why Missouri has had so few charges made that the state was not providing equal higher education for Negroes," the Curators' statement said.

The statement went on to point out that the state constitution placed deviation from the segregation law in the hands of the General Assembly.

Royal Appreciation

Dr. Hardin Craig, internationally celebrated Shakespearean scholar and visiting professor of English here, is the third living American to be elected as fellow in the Royal Society of Literature of the United Kingdom. In commenting on his selection by the Royal Society, Dr. Craig said, "My election to the Royal Society, although unexpected, was probably a gesture of appreciation in view of my recent visits and lectures."

The Royal Society, founded by Royal Charter in 1823, seeks out eminence in literature, having honored most of the great men of letters.

Professor Craig is the author of numerous articles, studies, and critical works on Shakespeare, and is a frequent contributor to magazines and periodicals.

One of his studies, The Enchanted Glass, a profound analysis of the Elizabethan literary mind, has been acknowledged by scholars and critics alike as one of the most influential works dealing with the Elizabethan era. His most recent work, An Interpretation of Shakespeare, is widely used as a text.

Nickle Exams

Who wrote the Merry Widow Waltz, Schubert, Wagner, or Lehar?

What is the maximum weight of a bowling ball under A.B.C. regulations, 15, 16 or 18 pounds?

How long did federal prohibition last in the United States, 14, 24, or 29 years?

Crowded around a device that hurls brain-wracking questions that must be answered in a few seconds, students eagerly pump nickels into a new coin-operated machine that has recently appeared in the cafes around the campus.

A green light flashes for the correct answers and a red one for incorrect. A prominent sign says, "Don't hesitate. Push the buttons quickly for a high score. It's fun."

Highest scores bring a rating of either Genius or Expert with free replays for the former.

After making a score that was so poor that the machine would have given a Bronx Cheer if it could, one student was heard to moan, "Where is the manufacturer. I want a regrade. I was gyped."

Inspiration

If the next time you visit Columbia you hear someone calling loudly for Pamela Sniffabone and Nicholas Fussenpuffer, the person will be Dr. Russell S. Bauder, professor of economics and labor relations.

The odd names belong to his two dogs, Sealyham and Bedlington terriers. How Pamela Sniffabone got her name is obvious, Dr. Bauder says, but Nicholas Fussenpuffer was just an inspiration.

Poor Third

The feminine mind is a deep well of thought the depths of which man will never penetrate, except as a third rater.

In an attempt to determine what college girls think about and talk about most, a recent poll proved very revealing.

School was first as a topic of conversation. Such questions as "How am I ever going to pass the next test in Econ?" were the most eminent. One young lady was overheard to say that she could learn nothing in class because the teacher's clothes were so distracting.

This statement heralds the next important topic of conversation, clothes. The girls say that they chew the fat about what to wear to the next big school event, or, in criticism, about who wore what at the last one.

Deflating to the masculine ego, men ranked a poor third as a target for talk. The boys came in for conduct, clothes, mannerisms, money, and age.

The fellows most talked about were the football heroes, the geniuses, and the rich ones.

For Kiddies and Scientists

Speaking of cartoons, the University's Adult Education and Extension Service furnishes motion picture films to schools, civic clubs, organizations, and professional groups over the state for only the cost of handling.

It is one of the extra-divisional educational facilities provided by the University.

From its film library of more than 1550 prints of some 1160 different titles, the University's Visual Education Department can furnish screen information and entertainment on hundreds of subjects.

Color films have, of course, entered the educational field and many of the films are in color. Many of them make use of the animated cartoon idea to put across the story.

The wide variety of subjects covered by the films appeal to groups from the kindergarten through graduate school, and from the farmer to the atomic scientist.

Back Seat

Although extroverts with a flair for the dramatic seem to thrive under existing conditions, many of the girls who receive their mail at Women's Residence Hall are complaining about the bright lights spot-lighting the building's entrance.

At closing time the front steps would be as bare as a professor's bald spot without a few couples locked in sizzling clinches.

Girls who occupy the strategically-placed rooms in the hall are making lots of friends by furnishing gallery seats for the nightly performance. Spectators say that Saturday night is best for thriller-diller performances.

For those co-eds who lack the usual rugged individualism and who pine for the comparative seclusion of a girl's front porch, a few benches placed back a little in the semi-gloom are just what are needed.

Better: Mousetrap

Student Ralph Trower thinks we need more sturdy household appliances.

Recently Ralph discovered a mouse raiding his pantry. Repeated whackings with a fly swatter finished the mouse—and the swatter.

"I'll be ready the next time," warned Ralph. "I'm getting a bigger fly swatter."

Jane Froman and Student Queen receive traditional bouquet at half time.

Brainy Brothers

Two sets of brothers dropped their law books long enough this month to be elected to the Order of the Coif, honorary scholastic law fraternity. The brothers are: Murry Lee and Alvin C. Randall, Greenville, Mo., and George H. and Laurence H. Flanigan, Carthage, Mo.

They were the only four students to be selected for the fraternity this semester.

To be selected for the Order of the Coif, students must rank in the highest 10 per cent of the graduating class, and are therefore selected during the last semester of their senior year.

Contacts

The American Newspaper Guild's associate unit here has received official recognition by the Committee on Student Affairs, Darwin A. Hindman, director of student affairs for men, announced recently.

The newly organized group is composed of students in journalism. Its purpose: to link students and the profession through contacts with working newspaper men.

Rube Goldberg Stuff

DeFoe Hall has a strange headgear, composed of 16 folded dipoles containing 200 feet of stranded wire supported by two 34-foot two-by-four poles, all of which sound like something out of Popular Mechanics.

This strange structure is a video antenna, erected by Paul Keller, an engineering student, for his "home made" television set. Keller improvised the set from Army Signal Corps surplus parts which he purchased last summer for $75.

While one other person in Columbia can claim television reception, students at DeFoe say that Keller's set is much better than commercial sets because it gives superior picture rendition.

The only fault with Keller's set is that sound cannot be received with the pictures because he has no FM radio unit which comes built-in with commercial sets.

Music Meet

The spotlight will be turned on the University Band, Orchestra, Men's Glee Club and University Singers at the yearly meeting and clinic of the Missouri Music Educators Association Jan. 6-8 at the University.

During the three-day meeting a clinic band, orchestra and chorus composed of Missouri high school students will play numbers under the direction of four guest conductors.

Another feature of the clinic will be a recital given by the Woodwinds Quintette of the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra on Jan. 8.

Beans

A soy may be just another bean to some people, but Miss Merna Irene Fletcher, assistant professor of geography at the University, worked for nine weeks this summer to outline areas of major soy bean production in the United States.

Miss Fletcher hopes that one more summer of field work will complete the picture of soy beans in American agriculture.

Burned Up

The Phi Sigma social sorority must be a bunch of hot gals. First their sorority house burned down and last week TD-6, the housing which the University furnished them after the first disaster, almost caught fire.

Fire Chief Walden gave the group of girls who live in the temporary dormitory a severe lecture on fire prevention.

Next fall's fashions will probably include an asbestos cape dyed a burning red with a built-in pulmotor.

"Broad Bowl"

The sports page of the Columbia Missourian announced last month that two female athletic teams had been organized to compete in a game of football.

The game was to be played at Hickman High School's field and students were quick to term the coeds future game "The Broad Bowl."

No one will know what the outcome of this amazonian grid classic would have been because, according to official University release, it was called off account of rain.

Driving and Commies

When a recent graduate of the School of Journalism wrote back to some of his old friends asking if the Missourian was still writing blistering editorials against sin and communism, some of the students were justly irate.

In gallant defense of the paper's policy, students were inclined to write back that now the Missourian had come out strongly against reckless driving, that momentous news which manages to make the front page daily.

Distant Campus

University President Frederick A. Middlebush announced on Nov. 27 that the University had acquired 7900 acres from the war-time T.N.T. plant at Weldon Springs. The land will be used for the Agriculture School and Experimental Station.

Future students who utilize this area aren't going to like the location. It's not close enough to the Shack.

Election Excuse

People have been making a lot of excuses over the recent national election but the best yet comes from Student Edward T. Peterson.

Arrested for speeding, Ed pleaded guilty, saying in excuse that he was hurrying home from Read Hall so he could keep up with the election returns.

The judge, probably a Republican, fined Peterson $20.

WEATHERLY

Foreign Literature

Tomester Edward H. Weatherly, B. J. and A.B. '26, A.M. 29, head of the University of Missouri English department, is the senior author of one of the latest textbooks on foreign writings, The Heritage of European Literature.

Dr. Weatherly said that the book was written to meet the increasing interest in a study of foreign literatures.

He was assisted in editing the tome by three European literature authorities: Prof. Avraham Yarmolinsky, director of Slavonic research in the New York University Library; Prof. Edwin H. Zeydel, in charge of the Germanic language department of the University of Cincinnati; and Prof. A. Pelzer Wagener, head of the department of classical languages at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.

Among Dr. Weatherly's authored collection are: Speculum Sacerdotale, a fifteenth century religious work, and The English Heritage, edited in collaboration with three other M. U. English professors.

Weatherly's future plans include editing a collection of world drama, and writing a biography and critical study of Charles Churchill, an eighteenth century English satirist.

Penalties and Players

For the first time in "about 20 years" Anton "Stan" Stankowski, B. S. in Ag. '24, director of intramural sports at the University of Missouri, got to sit with his wife at one of the Tigers' home games.

Stan has, for the past 12 years, handled the public address system, calling plays, penalties, and players as they move onto or off the field.

Finally, when Missouri met Iowa State in Columbia this season, Stan handed the mike over to Dr. Jack Matthews, chairman of the physical education department of the university.

"After 12 years, announcing gets old," Stan said. "It will be a real treat to get to enjoy a game with my wife."

In 1918 Stan was a 138-pound full-back on the 101st Infantry Division team at Camp Shelby in Mississippi.

After 1926, Stan taught physical education, directed intramural sports, and coached freshmen in all sports at the University.

He spent the year 1935 as assistant coach on Don Faurot's staff, and then began spending all his time directing intramurals and physical education.

All this time, spectators at the home games of the University of Missouri football games heard his voice as he related, "Smith carried the ball; Jones made the tackle," or "Off side, Kansas, five yards penalty."

Every once in a while, Stan says he had to hold himself back to keep from explaining decisions on penalties or telling about an injury.

The game with Iowa Pre-Flight team in Blues' stadium in Kansas City in 1942 still stands out in Stan's memory.

"It started snowing that morning and by game time about 15 inches of snow covered the ground. No men or equipment were available to clear the field.

"Using the public address system, we called on the spectators to come out of the stands and walk on the playing field. After about half an hour's stamping, the field was ready and the game began."

Hobby Pays Off

The winner of the second annual St. Joseph, Mo., Sunday News-Press snapshot contest held in October was Carolyn Dickson, B.S. in B.A. '48.

Miss Dickson's photo was entered in the general division of a four-division contest.

Although photography has been her hobby for the past ten years, Miss Dickson had never before entered such a contest.

"Trails"

A full-color sound movie, "On America's Angus Trails," was released recently. It was produced by the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association of Chicago and supervised by Frank Richards, B.S. in Ag. '19, secretary of the national association.

Lloyd D. Miller, B.S. in Ag. Journalism, '41, was the photographer and script writer. Miller joined the Angus association as publicity director in 1946.

Richards stated that scenes in the movie were photographed during visits into 33 states.

"Minimize the Risk"

Tiger grid great Paul Christman, now with the Chicago Cardinals, has turned author.

His newly-finished book—Tricks in Passing—is part of the Little Sports Library series published by Ziff-Davis Publishing Co.

Christman, who does most of the passing and signal-calling for the Cards, says, "A passer must have good eyes in order to spot downfield receivers. Then he must use good judgment in determining to whom to pass and minimize the risk of interceptions."

Persuasive Burruss

William B. Burruss, A.B., LL.B., '02, who attended the Thanksgiving day game here, sells an unusual commodity—persuasion.

While a student here, he copped practically every dramatic and speaking prize offered, then went on to share his know-how with others.

He is consultant for some 30 leading corporations and organizations, in the last 15 years has given over 4,000 talks on the art of persuasion.

Mr. Burrus is the author of Unusual Stories—When and How to Tell Them, and Shakespeare, the Salesman. He makes his headquarters in New York, and has given his persuasion course in practically every large city in the country.

Loyal St. Joe

St. Joseph alumni really deserve some kind of prize for loyalty, according to Harold Niedarp, B.S. in B.A. '25.

Special football trains left St. Joe, he reports, for the M.U.-Nebraska and the M. U.-K. U. games.

A total of 275 fans, and a St. Joseph News-Press photographer made the Thanksgiving day trip. Result: a full page of Homecoming pics in that paper's Sunday (Nov. 28) edition.

Sports Boss

Tony Rizzo, B.J. '47, was appointed sports editor of radio station KCMO, Kansas City, recently.

Rizzo, who uses the radio name Tony Williams, was Stars and Stripes correspondent until V-E day, and then was transferred to the Armed Forces Radio Service in Vienna.

He was sports reporter for the Columbia Missourian and sports announcer for station KFRU, Columbia, while attending the University.

"Distinguished Service"

Edward S. North, LL.B. '05, was cited for "devoted and distinguished service to crippled children in Missouri" by the Missouri Society for Crippled Children & Adults, Inc., at the annual meeting of the society in St. Louis recently.

North received the citation for his work in the Jackson County, Missouri, Society for Crippled Children, and his service in an advisory capacity to the Missouri Society.

Co. I Reunion

Seventeen alums, members of Co. I, and the Fifth Regimental Band, of the Spanish-American War, gathered at the Daniel Boone Hotel, Nov. 12, for their Golden Anniversary reunion.

Judge Claude O. Percy, St. Louis, made arrangements, and was to have acted as chairman, but last minute illness caused him to turn the job over to active Edwin Smith, executive for National Cash Register Co., Dayton, O. Mr. Smith introduced other members.

Co. I was once a Cadet Corps (similar to today's ROTC) at the University. When the Maine blew up and war was declared, the whole company volunteered for service. The men remained under the leadership of Capt. George H. English, their cadet leader. Before they could finish their combat training, Teddy rode wild and Spain quit. Since then, members have kept in touch with one another.

At the reunion, the members were in favor of a resolution which each was called on to support.

At the evening, Ed English, a gracious George English, and the men who are those (who served with you) in the service of their country."

The company rose in tribute to their one-time leader.

Letters from veterans of Co. I who were unable to attend were read by Mr. Smith. Then followed reminiscing and telling of old rehabilitation gags (they are the same as today's.)

A motion dispensing with the usual array of officers, and setting up Ed Smith as "the whole permanent organization" was passed. And another reunion date was set for 1950

Cornhusker Tigers

Fifty M.U. alums from Mo. and Nebraska ploughed through snow-drifted highways to be on hand for the Lincoln, Neb., alumni luncheon, Nov. 20, in the Neb. Student Union parlors, before the M.U. game there.

H. F. Rhoades, B.S. '29, A.M. '31, head of Nebraska M.U. alumni, presided. Alumni Pres. Don C. McVay, chief speaker, and Director Herbert Bunker also spoke.

Among visitors from Mo. were M. A. Riddle, B.S. in C.E. '37, St. Joseph; C. C. Keeler, Springfield; M. H. Hunt, Harrisonville; Mr. and Mrs. E. L.

Proctor, and Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Simon, Jr., Columbia.

Mrs. Frank L. Duley, secretary of the Nebraska M.U. group, made arrangements for the luncheon. She is the wife of Dr. Duley (B.S. '14, A.M. '15) former member of Ag. faculty here, and now with U. S. Dept. of Ag. in Lincoln.

Law Elections

Lue C. Lozier, LL.B. '18, was elected president of University School of Law Alumni Association at a Thanksgiving day meeting in Tate Hall.

Mr. Lozier, general counsel for the State Highway Dept., lives in Jefferson City.

Poor Old Dad

Alums from Oklahoma, Texas, Mo., and points S.W., met Nov. 5, at the Oklahoma Club, Oklahoma City, for a pre-Oklahoma-game dinner.

Don C. McVay, Alumni pres., was principal speaker. Coach Don Faurot and Capt. Chester Fritz, also were present. V. P. "Vip" Crowe, Oklahoma City attorney, presided.

Four Oklahoma City alums posed behind a 4x7 foot postcard sent by Henry B. Bass, to his daughter, before the game. (See pic.) Said the card: "Beware the Tiger . . . Girls—Think how hard your old dad worked to send you to college. Don't waste his hard earned money by betting on Oklahoma against Missouri! Remember what they said about Truman! He's from Missouri, too!"

"It went over big until the third quarter of the game," writes Mr. Bass.

Truman and Deans

MISSOURI alumni in the Washington area, in the first association gathering since the successful Eastern invasion by the Tigers for the gridiron victory over Navy, honored visiting Deans from the Columbia campus. The deans were in town to attend sessions of the Association of Land Colleges and Universities.

Dr. James Steele Williams, Washington association president, conducted the November 10 meeting and called on Dean John H. Longwell, new Dean of Agriculture; Dean H. A. Curtis, Engineering; Dean H. E. Bent, Graduate School; Dean Elmer Ellis, Arts and Science; J. W. Burch, Director, Agriculture Extension; Miss Starley Hunter, Director, Home Economics, and Assistant Dean Rex Z. Williams, School of Mines, Rolla, for brief talks on University growth and expansion.

Sam B. Shirkey, Chairman, University Interscholastic Athletics Committee, and longtime secretary of the Big Seven Conference, discussed the football season. Sam said Missouri is anxious to book another game in the East, to fill an open date on the 1950 schedule, on September 30, to supplant Ohio State, as the agreement with the Big Nine school expires with the 1949 game.

Noted alumni acknowledging introductions included E. L. Anthony '12, Dean of Agriculture, and C. R. McGee '14, Assistant Dean, both of Michigan State, and E. V. Ellington '10, Director of Extension, Washington State. The attendance totaled 65.

Prexy Jimmy Williams reviewed the enthusiastic Washington participation in the recent Navy game weekend, and notably at the game itself, where alumni occupied a block of 324 seats in the middle of the Missouri delegation, for the 35-14 win in Babe Ruth Stadium, Baltimore. A pregame luncheon at the Lord Baltimore Hotel there, under the energetic chairmanship of James Wild '28, of the Baltimore Sunpapers, attracted a turnaway attendance of 210.

On Sunday, Jimmy recounted, an alumni delegation rounded out the busy weekend by conveying Coach Don Faurot, Alumni Director Herb Bunker, the Tiger team and accompanying fans, on a whirlwind Washington tour that included a visit to the White House and a meeting with President and Mrs. Truman, and daughter Margaret, followed by luncheon at the Mayflower for which President Middlebush joined the team, and attendance at the Washington-Philadelphia Eagles pro football game. The Trumans congratulated Coach Faurot, and expressed regret that the exacting commitments of the campaign prevented their attending the game, to which they had been looking forward. —C. H. Schooley, B.J. '25.

'23 Reunion

"The Student Union Building situation has been no end of embarrassment to us, said President Frederick

The principal speakers were President Middlebush, Dr. Herbert Bunker, Alumni director, and Don C. McVay, president of the Alumni Association.

Dr. Middlebush told the guests that he was particularly pleased to address their group because they were the first group from the University that he had helped to graduate.

Recalling the first Homecoming in which he participated (fall of '22), he said, "I helped to lay the cornerstone for the Tower and then I went to the game. For the 25 years since, the University administration has been harassed about the completion of the project.

"I was hoping that two million dollars which was given to us would be Middlebush when he addressed the Homecoming dinner for the Class of '23 on the eve of Homecoming day.

More than 100 guests from 13 states were present to enjoy the delicious dinner (steaks covered with mushrooms and garnished with stringbeans, french-fried potatoes, and vegetable salad), and to renew old acquaintances and memories.

Everyone enjoyed the dinner except perhaps the master of ceremonies, John E. Miller, who performed his duties with an eye cocked hungrily in the direction of his plate. Sparking the friendly atmosphere of the meeting, Miller kept up a running conversation with the group at large during the dinner.

enough to complete it. But now even with three it still would be difficult.

"I will continue to work for its completion and hope that it will be finished soon."

The group laughed when McVay said, "I really came here to see if Freddie came back to have his other cheek kissed by Jane Froman, the gal who went places and came back." He was referring to the welcoming ceremony that morning in front of Jesse Hall when Miss Froman kissed Middlebush on the left cheek. McVay continued, saying, "Work, such as the completion of the Student Union Building, a real need of this school, is a job that will be stressed in the future."

McVay also stated that the work of the Alumni Association was well under way and that contacts with the group to send the addresses of alumni whose addresses had been lost were coming in every day. He asked the group to send the addresses of those who they knew were not in communication with the association or its publication.

The dinner guests were scheduled to attend a pep rally on Rollins Field, but the dinner had been delayed because more guests than had been anticipated arrived. Consequently the guests missed the rally but went to the dance which followed it.

Honor Suggested

California's Supreme Court Chief Justice Phil Gibson, of the class of '16, was eulogized at the Thanksgiving dinner meeting of the Missouri Alumni Association of Southern California.

The meeting, Thurs., Nov. 18, was arranged by Pres. Christy G. Turner, '34. The dinner was in Alfonso's restaurant, Toluca Lake, in San Fernando Valley.

Jack Williams, former head of M. U.'s department of public relations, gave the eulogy of Chief Justice Gibson. He pointed out that S. California alums are in favor of an honorary degree's being bestowed on the justice, and added, "He deserves some recognition by the university from which he went to one of the highest places in California's public life."

L. O. Turner, '16, Los Angeles city engineer, told of his experiences from the day he first visited Columbia to last September, when he flew over it enroute from Chicago to Southern California.

Roy Bennett, whose war-time experiences include being held captive by the Japanese in the Philippines, made a short talk. He called upon alumni to visit the sick-bed of Louis Gray, alumnus, and M. U. benefactor.

President Turner appointed a committee to nominate a president and other officers for the coming year.

Miss Alma Kinkade., with the assistance of Miss Leona White, secretary, will arrange the December meeting, to be held in Chinatown.

Newest member attending the November meeting was Dr. Bob Simpson, who moved to California in September, and is living in La Canada.—C. G. Turner.

Gator Bowl

Favorably swayed by an impressive Missouri 21-7 triumph over Kansas, and by Clemson College's nine win and none lost record, just kept intact with Poly Tech, the wide mawed promoters of Jacksonville, Florida's Alligator Bowl invited Mizou and Clemson to start the New Year right by clashing at each other on Jan. 1, 1949 before approximately 40,000 fans.

This will be one game the Tigers can't lose. Over optimism? No. Clemson, like Missouri, also calls its team the Tigers.

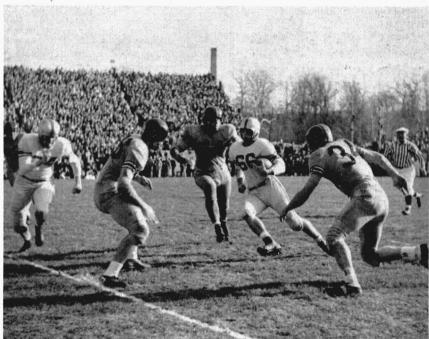

The first Gator Bowl game was played in 1946, a year which saw a rash of other bowls, ranging from nut to salad, promoted wherever the sun was supposed to shine on New Year's Day. The Gator contest has been an annual affair since its inauguration. In the initial contest South Carolina and the Wake Forest Deacons tangled. The Deacons played and prayed hard enough and emerged on top 26-14.

Oklahoma won a 34-14 decision over North Carolina State in the 1947 affair, and last New Year's day Maryland and Georgia fought to a thrilling 20-20 tie. Since its inauguration all the host Southern Conference teams have met their Appomatox at Jacksonville, and Mizou certainly will be out to keep the record intact.

Clemson is the state agricultural college of South Carolina and is located at Clemson, near Greenville. Its student body numbers about 3500, all males, and the college includes general science, agriculture, engineering, chemistry, vocational education and textiles as major subjects. The first school majoring in textiles was founded here. This fall it also opened a College of Arts and Sciences.

The Southern Conference contains 17 schools and this year Clemson emerged on the top of the heap with a 4-0 league win slate. The Tigers are closely followed by the Tarheels of North Carolina who tied once and thus present a 4-0-1 record.

The Tigers show nine wins for the season as a whole with the following victories: 53-0 over Presbyterian, 6-0 North Carolina State, a 21-7 decision against Mississippi State, 13-7 over the South Carolina Gamecocks, a 26-19 intersectional victory over the Boston College Eagles, a 41-0 rout of Furman, a 21-14 conquest of the Wake Forest Deacons, a 42-0 intersectional massacre of Duquense, and a narrow 7-6 nod over Auburn. Their final was against the Citadel.

Three Tigers get ready to pulverize Jayhawker. They did.

In comparing Clemson's 9-0-0 record against Mizou's 8-2-0 report card, statistics give the nod to Don Faurot's men on the offensive, while leaning the other way on defense. Missouri has chalked up 308 points, while Clemson has clicked for 223. Opponents of Missouri have garnered 127 units, while Clemson has held its foes to a minute 47.

Tall, tanned John "Hi" Simmons, Missouri's O.S.S. agent for gathering information on pigskin opponents, took a long trip to Mobile, Alabama to watch Clemson trip Auburn. "Hi" hustled back and reported that Clemson will be a toughie to tackle.

Coached by Frank Howard, the Clemson Tigers operate from a single wing much like that employed by Matty Bell at Southern Methodist. The backfield is a coach's dream. Each back has averaged at least four yards per attempt. A triple threat halfback in the person of Bobby Gage will be the sabre tooth of the Dixieland Tiger's attack. The 175-pound offensive artist is a candidate for All-American honors, and along with teammate Frank Gillespie at the guard slot made the varsity all-Southern Conference team. The Pittsburg Steelers have already approached Gage in an attempt to sign him up with the boys who shoot their marbles for keeps.

Ducats to the fray are selling at five semolians each and 3000 of the pasteboles were sent to Missouri.

Coach Don Faurot has named 44 squad members who will make the trip. In addition, players' wives will also make the junket. The team will leave Columbia Christmas Day for St. Louis where the party will form for the journey to Jacksonville.

Faurot is holding practice twice a week in preparation for the fracas. The "B" squad and the freshmen, after receiving their letters and numerals at an annual banquet, will be the cannon fodder fed into the varsity maw until the departure.

Heartening news is that halfback Mike Ghnouly, sophomore speed merchant de luxe, will be ready to gladiate. Mike has been out of uniform since the Norman game in which he suffered three broken ribs. Right halfback Loyd Brinkman who suffered a knee injury at Oklahoma, which sidelined him for the Colorado and Nebraska games, and who made a brief, but flashy appearance in the K. U. fray, will be ready for whatever assignments may be handed him by Faurot.

We are wary of New Year's resolutions unless they include the art of correct predictions. With this exception in mind we will start the new year right by predicting a Missouri Tiger win. This will be the fourth bowl game that the Black and Gold has participated in. The 1940 Orange Bowl saw Mizou bowing to Georgia Tech 21-7. In the 1942 Sugar Bowl fray Fordham, then a great in the football world edged out the Tigers 2-0. Chauncey Simpson, handling the coaching reins while Faurot was in the Navy, took the 1945 squad to the Cotton Bowl, and on Jan. 1, 1946, the Tigers were defeated by the Texas Longhorns, 40-27. We predict Jan. 1, 1949 will see Missouri winning its first post-season bowl game by about two touchdowns.

Thanksgiving Menu

Thanksgiving Day saw the continuation of one of the oldest rivalries on the nation's football menu. It was the 57th meeting of Missouri and Kansas. Missouri had a lot to be thankful for, the Tigers purred after digesting the Jayhawks 21-7 before the largest crowd ever to shoulder its way into Memorial Stadium. The majority of the more than 32,000 fans present exalted in the Tiger win. The game was played under ideal conditions with Old Sol shining.

It had been a long fast! The last time the Tigers ate Jayhawk pie was back in 1945 when they humbled K.U. 33-12. This rivalry now shows Mizou with 23 wins, 27 losses, and 7 tie decisions.

The Bengals reversed their usual procedure, showing their greatest power in the first half. A rampaging, fighting Tiger claved a game but inferior K.U. elven unmercifully for three touchdowns, two of them coming in the first quarter. A severe attack of "fumbilitis" had K.U. mentor Sikes screaming mortally in anguished pain.

A 52 yard sustained drive netted the Bengals their first score early in the initial quarter. Sparkplugs of the attack were brilliant quarterback Bus Entsminger who passed and ran his way to glory in this, his final appearance in a regularly scheduled game, Dick Brazzell, Nick Carras, and big burly 210-pound sophomore fullback Bill Houston. Faurot first unwrapped Houston to a home crowd in the Colorado game, and the little brother of "Butch" Houston who captained the Tiger squad in 1935, was as hard to stop as a chisel-jawed female in a $1.98 bargain basement sale.

Nine plays brought the Tigers from their own 48 to the K.U. 2-yard line. Two plays later Bus Entsminger wheeled around left end for the initial tally. Uranium toe Bob Dawson who hasn't played a minute this season (time is out while the placement is tried) had a perfect day, booting three out of three. Incidentally, the Kansas City Star named Bob as the twelfth man on their all-Big Seven squad.

Tiger talons slashed out another score near the end of the first quarter. Beautiful defensive work by tackle Chet Fritz and center Bob Fuchs spilled K. U. quarterback Dick Gilman for a 13 yard subtraction as the Jayhawker tried to spot a receiver for a pass. On the next play, an alert Nick Carras intercepted one of Gilman's tosses on the Kansas 38 and galloped down the east sidelines to the 14. Three plays later Dick Brazzell scored from the 10 on a wide end sweep behind a beautiful bone-jarring block by Bill Houston.

Missouri took advantage of a break in the second quarter to score its final tally. Win Carter dive-bombed and recovered a Kansas fumble on the Jayhawk 23. The old firm of Entsminger & Sheehan functioned perfectly as Bus heaved the spheroid to Mel who made a spectacular one handed catch on the K.U. 14. Brazzell cracked through a nice hole to the 5. Carras carried to the 1-yard line, but failed to go over on his next try. Entsminger kept the ball himself and scored around left end.

The boys came out for the second half and held Kansas to a single touchdown. Although their second half brand of play was not as effervescent as that which unreel before the first half gun sounded, M.U. had enough on the ball to retain command of the situation until the final cartridge.

Three Missouri men were carted off the field in as many successive plays. First casualty was center Bob Fuchs who played an indescribably brilliant game. Then tackle Don Keller and guard Bronko Marusic had to be helped off the field. All three got back into the fray, their injuries were rather painful but short charlie horses. After the game they attributed their hurts mainly to their pants which were too tight, cutting off the circulation.

1949 Captain

By a unanimous vote the squad elected center Bob "Brown Bear" Fuchs as the 1949 captain. The honor couldn't have gone to a more deserving player. The name of this 20-year-old junior has been inscribed upon the keyboards of every sports scribe covering the Tigers. It would not be fair to belittle the work of the rest of the squad by one molecule, the boys were great, but the Thanksgiving game, at least while M.U. was on the defensive, could almost have been called K.U. vs. Bob Fuchs.

SPORTS

The Big "Brown Bear" was in on every play, and if he did not make the tackle himself, he was credited with an assist each time. How come a Brown Bear on the Tiger squad? Bob received this handle from his teammates who kid him about the rather luxuriant growth of hair on his arms and legs.

Big Seven Stars

Quality will tell! The United Press picked Tiger quarterback Bus Entsminger for an all-Big Seven position. Bus had this honor last year, although then it was as an all-Big Six star. The great Tiger star ran and passed his way to a record of 1081 yards. Not since the days of All-American Bob Steuber has a Missouri back achieved such a record. Bus rightly gives much credit for his performance to the rugged blocking and hole opening given by a fine Tiger line.

The current edition of the Tigers hung up a new record in offensive play with this season's 308 points. The 1942 squad scored 288 points spread out over a 12 game schedule. This year's achievement was garnered by playing only 10 games.

United Press recognized other Missouri greats and named four Tigers to the all-Big Seven squad. End Mel Sheehan, tackle Chester Fritz, center Bob Fuchs, and back Bus Entsminger received the coveted honor. This was a repeat performance for Bus, Sheehan and Fritz. Guard Gene Pepper and back Dick Braznell were named for second team slots.

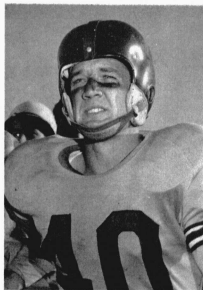

Associated Press picked sticky fingered Sheehan for a post on their second string All-America squad. Sporting News, of St. Louis, placed Capt. Fritz on their second string All-America eleven.

Graduation will reap its toll of the current eleven. Halfback Howard Bonnett, who hasn't been getting the recognition he deserves, the fleet little Loyd Brinkman, sparkling Bus Entsminger, reliable Chester Fritz, end Roland Oakes, the almost irreplaceable Mel Sheehan, Wilbur Volz and Bob Wren all go out into the frigid world by next June. A ray of hope does appear, however, by the presence of an excellent group of juniors and sophomores who will be around next year. The thanks of the entire University are extended to the above mentioned seniors, each of whom is a fine contestant, and better yet, sportsman and gentleman.

Bengal of the Month

Bad luck in the way of injuries received in the line of duty has dogged the college pigskin career of scrappy little 168 pound halfback Loyd Brinkman for the last two years.

A shoulder separation incurred in last year's game with Duke shelved the blond terror for the rest of the 1947 season. This year, the Oklahoma Sooners inflicted a knee injury on Brinkman, and he was forced into idleness for the Colorado and Nebraska tilts, but the skill of trainer Ollie DeVictor, plus the grit and courage of Loyd himself enabled him to wreck any plans the K. U. Jayhawks might have had for a victorious Thanksgiving holiday.

BRINKMAN

Before this season's S.M.U. game, the eyes of the sporting world were focused upon Doak Walker, All-American S.M.U. backfield star. The Doaker did put up a fine performance, but when the final gun went off the well deserved plaudits of the crowd were directed to Loyd Brinkman.

The Little Tiger galloped 41 yards and set up Missouri's winning touchdown. With the last minutes of the game approaching and S.M.U. threatening hard through the air, Loyd iced the decision by intercepting Johnson's attempted pass to Walker, the completion of which might very well have given the Mustangs a 21-20 decision over Mizzou.

The 23-year old senior got his first football experience playing for Perryville High School. Loyd played the tailback post in the single wing formation used by his school and earned his football monogram four years in a row. The Southeast Missouri Conference, of which Perryville is a member, twice named Loyd as an all-conference back, and in his junior year at Perryville he was honored by being voted the most valuable player in the loop. He captained the school's football and basketball squads for two consecutive years.

Being a firm believer in versatility, Loyd also lettered in track for four years. He specialized in the broad jump, dashes, and the relay events. This track experience has done much to provide Brinkman with the frequent bursts of speed he has displayed on pass interceptions and cutting off enemy attackers.

Loyd graduated from high school in the middle of the war, and he immediately joined the Army Air Forces. After training in gunnery school in the States, Brinkman was sent overseas to Italy and became a tail gunner on a B-24. As a member of the 485th Bombardment Group of the 15th Air Force, Loyd flew 50 missions. His unit received a Presidential citation, and Loyd was awarded the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters. His closest shave occurred after German fighters had crippled his flying boxcar and it was forced to crash land in Italy.

His army service was terminated in July, 1945, and Loyd came to M. U. in September of that year. Chauncey Simpson, then head coach of the Tigers knew good material when he saw it, and Loyd made the varsity his first year in the right halfback position. In his first year of college ball, Loyd was started in the Cotton Bowl game of Jan. 1, 1946. The Gator Bowl affair in Jacksonville this coming Jan. 1st will be Brinkman's second bowl contest. He shares this honor with Tigers Howie Bennett, Hardin Cox, Roland Oakes, and Ed Stephens.

At the start of the season Loyd was listed as a third string halfback, but he did not remain in this position for long. After the S.M.U. game he became one of the mainstays of Don Faurot's squad, especially in the defensive position.

The Little Tiger says the experience he gained backing up the line while in high school, plus the fact that he has played the safety position has been the cause of his fine record of tackles and pass interceptions.

Brinkman was on the receiving end of another honor when he was named to the first squad of the all-Big Six Conference team. His injury last year was the main factor in knocking him out of a repeat performance in 1947.

Although classified as a defensive halfback, the little scatback has carried the ball 23 times this season. For these attempts, Loyd can show an average of almost 11 yards per try. Maybe the lads in the Pentagon have something when they claim the best defense is a good offense!

Loyd, measuring 5' 9" from the ball of his foot to the top of his kinky blond head has had innumerable thrills while engaged in the manly art of dumping the opposition with a solid slam to terra firma. Two episodes, however, have given him the greatest satisfaction of his pigskin career. In 1946, in an affair at Walsh Stadium, St. Louis U. was giving the home crowd something to huzzah about. The Billikens were leading the Tigers and the game appeared cinched. Brinkman changed the cheers to groans as he intercepted an aerial and ran for the game-winning t.d.

It was another interception that provided the second thrill for Loyd. Southern Methodist, rated a top dog favorite over the Tigers, was behind and had taken to the air shooting the roll for a win. Brinkman, backing up the line, turned bandito and robbed Doak Walker of a pass thrown from team mate Gil Johnson. That little feat ended all hopes of an S.M.U. win.

In 1966 ALUMNUS readers probably will be reading with great satisfaction of the exploits of one Loyd Brinkman, Jr. This summer Mrs. Brinkman presented Loyd a baby boy. Loyd Richard Junior is too much of a handle to be bandying about, so the parents settle for the name "Rick." The Brinkmans are next door neighbors to Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Bus) Entsminger in the Athletes' Village, a group of Quonset huts located just behind the baseball grandstand. The Entsmingers are the parents of a 9-month old girl, and it is too bad that both fathers graduate this June, a beautiful romance might well have developed between the two children.

Much has been said of the admirable team spirit displayed by the Bengals this year. Loyd, who is a veteran of four campaigns, says, "This is the best team spirit we have had during my four years on the squad." When the spirit moves you, you really roll and that is just what the 1948 Tigers have done. The 8-2-0 record is one of the best in the school's history.

Loyd is a senior majoring in physical education. His plans for the future delve around securing a coaching position in some high school, preferably in his native southeastern Missouri. Alumni in this area who may be on school boards will do well to consider the services of Loyd Brinkman. If winning football, basketball and track teams are desired, Loyd is the man who can fill the position. Loyd will be missed next year, but if he is in a position where he can send talent to his alma mater, measuring up to his standards, the loss will be alleviated somewhat.

For his pluck, courage, and skilled versatility, Loyd Brinkman certainly merits the title of Bengal of the month.

Sparky's Boys

Coach "Sparky" Stalcup and his squad face one of the toughest seasons ever on an M.U. calendar. That sounds like old stuff, and the head in hands portrait of the Spark is typical of every coach. However, the "Spark" really has a pile of aspirins to digest before the season closes on March 10. The M.U. hoopsters will face such hoop greats as Wisconsin, Washington U. of St. Louis, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Kansas and Northwestern before opening their regular league stand against Big Seven competition on Jan. 8.

Stalcup has nine lettermen back, led by all-conference forward "Rippin'" Dan Pippin. Dan ran second to Thornton Jenkins in last year's scoring. Also at forward will be Don McMillen, a fire eater first class, and Bob Wachter, St. Louis junior.

At the center post Missouri is three deep in lettermen. Big Bill Haynes, Jerry Fowler, and skyscraper Don Stroot will be available for pivot play. Stroot, measuring 6' 8" may also alternate at forward. Stroot must rid himself of last year's awkwardness to be a real contender, but in practice he looks good.

Co-captains Pleasant Smith, and diminutive fireball Karl Pierpoint are scheduled to lead the Tigers at the guard posts. Danny Witt, a 1945-46 letterman is also present after a two year hitch in the army. Other veterans from last year include forwards Gus Miller, Don Sallee, Ken Shockley, Bob Phillips, and tiny Cyril DeLay.

In addition, Stalcup can avail himself of the services of several sophomores who were indoctrinated into his system as members of the 1947-48 freshman five.

The schedule reads: Dec. 9—Wisconsin, at Madison; Dec. 11—Washington U., at St. Louis; Dec. 16—Baylor; Dec. 17—Baylor; Dec. 20—Southern Methodist; Dec. 21—Southern Methodist; Dec. 27-30—Big Seven Tournament at Kansas City; Jan. 3—Northwestern; Jan. 8—Kansas State.

Jan. 11—Kansas at Lawrence; Jan. 15—Oklahoma at Norman; Jan. 22 Iowa State; Feb. 2—St. Louis U.; Feb. 5—Kansas State at Manhattan; Feb. 15—Kansas; Feb. 19—Colorado at Boulder; Feb. 21—Nebraska at Lincoln; Feb. 26—Oklahoma; March 5—Colorado; March 7—Nebraska; and March 10—St. Louis U. at St. Louis.
