Explanatory

This study, made in the spring and summer of 1941, is a continuation of the surveys made in 1938-39, and published in the University of Missouri Bulletin, Journalism Series, No. 84. The technique used is essentially the same: 100 readers of each of four papers were interviewed personally. (170 readers of the Cass County Democrat, Harrisonville, were interviewed because of this paper's larger circulation.) These persons were selected on the weighted sample basis, and interviews took place from two to five days after distribution of the newspapers. Each person interviewed was asked to indicate on an unmarked copy of the paper what he had read and these items were marked. Answers of "I usually read that" or "I expect to read that" were discarded.

Headline readers of news stories were not tabulated, but readers of headlines on certain advertisements are indicated.

The symbols at the top of each page show the number of persons reading any news story or advertisement on that page, but do not include news story headline readers.

The symbols superimposed on each news story and advertisement indicate the percentage of men (m) and women (w) readers of that item. Half of those interviewed were men and half were women and only adults were included.

These interviews, like those in the previous study, were made during the spring and summer during busy farming seasons. The measured percentages, therefore, probably are the year-around minimum.

Because of different conditions under which newspapers are published and because of differences between editions of the same newspaper, general conclusions based on this study should be avoided. However, these findings, if studied with those published in the earlier bulletin, may be helpful in informing the weekly newspaper editor of reader likes and dislikes.

All pages of the newspapers measured are reproduced herein.

The newspapers are:

Marceline News, Circulation 1487

Pierce City Leader-Journal, Circulation 625

Savannah Reporter and Andrew County Democrat, Circulation 2315

Cass County Democrat, Harrisonville, Mo., Circulation 3300

Fredericktown Democrat-News, Circulation 1877

THE ANDREWS SISTERS, ABBOTT & COSTELLO IN "BUCK PRIVATES" BRING MUSIC & COMEDY TO UPTOWN

If army camp life is just a fraction as enjoyable as "Buck Privates," Uncle Sam's quota will be crowded.
"Buck Privates" will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Uptown Theatre.

Radio-stage's Abbott and Costello, who were roasting funny in their first picture, "One Night in the Tropics," completely outdo themselves in this new hilarious comedy. The audience will have a difficult time keeping their feet still when the Andrews Sisters of hoogie-woogie get "in the groove" with their "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy."
Abbott and Costello are a misfit kids in khaki in the army of "Buck Privates" and everything happens to them from K. P. duty to "solitary" in the guard-house, with Nat Pendleton their nemesis in the role of a hardboiled sergeant.

M 8
W 22

There is a nice thread of romance, too, in the picture, framed by a young "Sergeant Quirk," "Captain Flagg" rivalry, played by Lee Bowman and Alan Curtis, over the affections of a pert and pretty hostess, enacted by Jane Bryan. Incidentally, Miss Frazee, who has made only one picture before this one exhibits the most pleasing sort of personality and a whale of a lot of ability.

Every one of the new songs registers a hit rating. Included are "You're a Lucky Fellow, Mr. Smith," "Bounce Me Brother With a Solid Four," "Boogie-woogie Bugle Boy," "When Private Brown Becomes a Captain" and "I Wish You Were Here". In addition, the sisters charmingly revive an oldie, "I'll Be With You in Apple Blossom Time."

Arthur Lubin has given "Buck Privates" top-notch direction, and Arthur T. Horman is certainly entitled to a bow for his ingeniously funny screenplay. Alex Gottlieb was the associate producer.

Tuesday
O. Henry's colorful caballer, the Cisco Kid, is at his peak in "Romance of the Rio Grande," the 20th Century-Fox picture which will be shown Tuesday at the Uptown theatre, with Cesar Romero again in the title role.

him at the Plumfield school, where Aunt Jo and Professor Bhaer have a difficult time of it in administering a formal education to the worldly-wise youngster.

Life at the school, the financial difficulties into which it runs, the dramatic method by which the Major endeavors to save it for Dan's sake and the unexpected outcome of his efforts which form the stirring climax of the story, all combine to invent the picture with exceptional interest and appeal.

Norman Z. McLeod's sensitive direction, the unusually authentic settings, the noteworthy screen play and the successful recapturing of the spirit of Miss Alcott's book, are interwoven to make "Little Men" a veritable screen gem.
2nd Feature, For Wednesday-Thursday
The Uptown's second feature to play with "Little Men" on Wednesday and Thursday will be the Hal Roach production of "Road Show", featuring Adolphe Menjou, Carole Landis and John Hubbard with Charles Butterworth and Patsy Kelly in supporting comedy parts.

Properly made satisfactory struout. Making good concrete shown, is largely a matter of following a few rules, some of the most important being briefly stated as follows:

1. The strength of concrete is determined largely by the amount of mixing water used. Wet, sloppy mixtures should be avoided as they usually result in weak, porous concrete.
2. When making watertight concrete it is necessary to use not more than 6 gallons of mixing water to each sack of cement.
3. Use clean sand and gravel.
4. Use correct proportions of sand to gravel.
5. Use clean water.
6. Mix thoroughly and place carefully.
7. Use reinforcing when necessary.
8. Keep the fresh concrete wet for several days after it is made. This is very important.

Each student was also furnished with a copy of the booklet, "Permanent Farm Construction," which explains the use and the making of concrete on farms.

At the conclusion of the course an examination was given over the work covered. A prize of a steel trowel was offered by the Portland Cement Association's representative to the boy making the highest grade. This trowel was won by Warren Wilson. Other boys who made excellent grades were Harold Taylor, Algene Burwell and Dale E. Wright.

Understanding and Cooperation Needed in All Phases Of Life.
One of the outstanding problems in our elementary schools is the problem of fighting on the playground. This problem is not new. It has existed from the early years of the school

Fights among pils often arise fers. Recently a fight developed between two boys because one made a better grade than the other. Fights may arise from a dispute as to whose father makes the most money. The above examples are typical as to the causes for fights.

High schools resort to fighting as a means of settling their difficulties.
Occasionally we read of fist fights between grown-ups; such as those in the state legislature or in Congress.

Throughout the entire twelve grades of the Marceline Public Schools, we endeavor to get the pupils to use peaceful means in settling their difficulties. They need to know how to get along with their fellow men. They need to be able to give and take. Sometimes it is necessary for them to know how to make compromises.
They also have a responsibility in connection with fights among pupils.
Practically every parent is at some time confronted with the problem of having his son or daughter involved in a difficulty with other children and finds it necessary to offer suggestions and advice as to how to handle the situation. The attitude of father and mother has a deep and lasting impression upon the growing child. At this stage in life attitudes are taking on more permanent form. On the other hand, teachers should not dodge their responsibility by passing it all back to the parents, and parents should not pass it all back to the teachers as their entire responsibility. It is another case where teachers and parents need to cooperate for the benefit of the child.
Attitudes and human relationships are exceedingly important. Parents and teachers will want to see that proper attitudes and wholesome relationships are formed during this formative period of life.

CHARITON COUNTY TO RECEIVE MATRESSES

After the cotton representatives of the county court met at a meeting in Chariton County which is to receive cotton for making mattresses.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Isaacson and Sandra Lee of Bucklin spent Sunday at the E. E. Eyer home.

Eugene Lake of San Pedro, Calif., visited Tuesday and Mrs. A. C. Bailey.

Mrs. B. left Sunday for Worth, Tex., with Mrs. Binda Vreeland.

Miss Virginia Santos of Fayette spent the week end with her father, Don Santos; Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Cupp and Mrs. Hurley Raw.

The Rev. G. W. Saunders left Thursday for an extended visit in Salina with his daughter, Mrs. Nathan DeYoung, and family. He will also visit in Chino, Calif., with his son, the Rev. G. R. Saunders, who is pastor at that place, before returning to Marcelline.

Public awards included federal work 760 per cent over like awards in the 1940 period. Munitions plants and other construction connected with national defense activities played an important part in the gains in both private and public construction.

The figures have increased mainly owing to large numbers of moderately priced awards, in contrast with the situation in 1929. In a comparable week of that year, construction included $45,000,000 of telephone extension work, and $28,000,000 for a Boston theatre.

In the past week the largest award was $10,778,728 for a federal dam at Norfolk, Ark., $9,801,211 for the Reynolds Metals aluminum plant in Louisville, Ky., $8,150,000 for naval aviation facilities at Bermuda; $8,500,000 for a Stahler Hotel at Washington, D. C., and $8,491,572 for an army ammunition depot at Anniston, Ala.

While current figures on new capital for construction purposes are not comparable earlier than in 1923, it is obvious that the amount of federal provided for heavy engineering dominates at present, whereas private capital made up a great major of the financing in 1929 and other depression years.

ANNIVERSARY OF GIRL SCOUTING

The girls who have been Marcelline troops have a large number of the girls expect to be in the summer, and by which the girls have gone into the treasury for supplies and general expenses. At Christmas time, each troop sent a basket of provisions to a needy family. The girls gave Christmas programs for their mothers. There have been hikes and mothers. Last Saturday, the Girl Scouts assisted the Mothers' Psychology club in the annual tag day for funds with which to buy shoes for needy school children.

Many of the girls have taken tests for their second-class work. The leaders and members all are working to make it possible for all Girl Scouts here to have a few days in camp this summer.

The Marcelline Girl Scout organization would like some assistance from men and women who have particular hobbies, such as photography, stamp collecting, bird study or others. The girls believe they could obtain some valuable assistance from those persons. Men and women who could help in this work are asked to get in touch with Dr. Louisa Aiken or Mrs. J. W. Cullen.

PRIVATE BUILDING UP TO 100 PER CENT Heavy construction in the United States last week crossed the billion-dollar mark, eclipsing by a substantial sum the best previous records in the history of the United States. From the beginning of 1941 to February 27, engineers reported awards amounting to $781,810,000 over the 1940 period and on an average of $781,810,000 per week of 1929, this year, according to the record.

While one billion dollars of heavy construction contracts was attained in the ninth week of 1941, it took 20 weeks in 1940 to reach the same goal. In the comparable period of 1940, the total was only $482,905,000, making a gain of 62 per cent.

Both private and public awards are an increase over a year ago, with increases 100 per cent and 130 per cent respectively.

Public awards included federal work 760 per cent over like awards in the 1940 period. Munitions plants and other construction connected with national defense activities played an important part in the gains in both private and public construction.

The figures have increased mainly owing to large numbers of moderately priced awards, in contrast with the situation in 1929. In a comparable week of that year, construction included $45,000,000 of telephone extension work, and $28,000,000 for a Boston theatre.

MISSOURI CONSERVATION NEWS. SEND ALL COMMUNICATIONS TO THE MISSOURI CONSERVATION COMMISSION, JEFFERSON CITY, MISSOURI

A further step in the fish restoration program on the Lake of the Ozarks is the construction by resort owners and sportsmen, of brush shelters for fish. The owners of one resort on the Nangua arm of the lake...

The shelters are simple in construction, but effective in providing needed cover for game fish. They're built of brush, held together by wire, and weighted with large rocks. Sunk near the water's edge, they provide the cover which is now lacking to a large extent in many sections of the lake.

In addition to the brush shelters and the aquatic plantings which have been and are being carried on by resort owners in cooperation with the Commission, resort owners along the "Gravels" arm of the lake are planting some 3,400 pounds of sweet clover and timothy seed along the shore line.

The Commission's aquatic biologists, working on the Lake of the Ozarks, report that the lessened fluctuations in the water levels of the lake have allowed nearly all the 1 1/2 tons of aquatic plants previously planted to survive. Plans are now being made for the planting of several more tons of aquatic plants during the spring months in cooperation with resort owners interested in the cooperative fish management project.

That a considerable number of Missouri hunters are interested in the federal government's waterfowl restoration program is indicated by the sale of duck stamps in Missouri. Missouri hunters purchased 26,901 Federal migratory bird stamps (more commonly known as duck stamps) during the 1939 season, which the latest year for which figures are available. Since there were 100,000 more duck stamps sold nationally in 1939 than there were in 1938, it may be presumed that there was an increase in the number of duck stamps to Missouri hunters during the 1940 season. A total of 1,111,561 stamps were sold to sportsmen during the 1939 season. The stamps cost $1, and are required of every duck hunter in addition to his state hunting permit.

The money received by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service from the sale of duck stamps is used to purchase and improve refuges to increase the duck population. These duck refuges have been established in Missouri. They are the Squaw Creek refuge in Holt county, the Ashland refuge in Boone county and the Swan Lake refuge in Charlton county.

Ducks will soon begin their spring migration to northern breeding grounds—but there is no open season on ducks in the spring.

Thirty essays, each a winner in a county contest, are now in the hands of the judges in the second annual A. B. Wallace state-wide essay contest. The subject of the contest this year is "Farm Ponds—Their Value in Water Conservation and Wildlife Management". The fund provides for a prize of $10 for the best essay from each of the state's four conservation districts, and an additional $10 to go to the writer of the best essay chosen from the district winners.

The essays which have been received for the final competition were selected by the county superintendent of schools in each county represented. The prize winners will be announced about the middle of March. Even those who do not win one of the money awards will not go unrewarded for their efforts, as each boy and girl submitting an essay will earn 300 points for special activity in the Nature Knights program.

A total of 956 forest fires were suppressed by the Forestry Section of the Missouri Conservation Commission during 1940, the annual report of the section shows.

As it was, these fires burned a total of 110,565 acres before they were brought under control, but the damage they might have done had they not been discovered and suppressed can not be estimated. The monetary damage is estimated at $110,690. Debris burning proved to be the number one cause of forest fires during the year, 423 fires having been traced to that source. Next came incendiary fires, of which there were 277, and fires caused by careless smokers which numbered 120. Careless campers caused 87 fire, lumbering caused 30, railroads caused 15 and lightning started one. The rest are listed as miscellaneous or of unknown origin.

THIS WEEK IN MISSOURI HISTORY
Compiled by the STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF MISSOURI

ARNOLD KREKEL
Arnold Krekel, one of Missouri's most colorful historical figures, was born 126 years ago this week on March 12, 1815, near Langenfeld in Prussia. He immigrated to the United States with his parents in 1832 and settled near Augusta in St. Charles county, Missouri. Krekel's career in this country was from the beginning. According to his own statement, he started out by selling produce to a neighbor at 50 cents or of his first job was as a clerk in St. Charles. He became a mathematician and a surveyor. He was a surveyor both for St. Charles county and the Federal government. After serving as justice of the peace in his local township for two years, he began the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1844. For a number of years he held an appointment as attorney for both the county and city of St. Charles. In 1852, Krekel became the editor of the St. Charles Democrat, a strong German newspaper, and in the same year, was elected a representative from St. Charles county. As a legislator, he favored giving State aid especially to railroads and to public schools. When the Civil war broke out, Krekel enlisted in the St. Charles Home Guards and later served as a major officer of an active force organized from home guards of various counties. An outspoken Unionist, he used his influence to hold the German element in Missouri to the Union side. In 1864, Krekel was elected a delegate to the Missouri Constitutional Convention of 1865. He was chosen president of the body and as such on January 11, 1865, signed the ordinance of emancipation by which slavery was abolished in Missouri. Many of the more conservative members of the convention considered Krekel a "pure radical" who wished to make the new constitution of German liberal doctrine in politics and religion. In 1866, while Krekel was still presiding over the convention, President Lincoln appointed him judge of the United States district court for the western district of Missouri. Krekel was the second judge to preside over this court, serving after Robert William Wells, who became first judge of the court in 1867, when Congress divided the United States district court for the district of Missouri into eastern and western divisions. A contemporary once characterized Krekel's career as being a "terror to evildoers." He did not believe in compromising. With him, right was right, and wrong was not to be tolerated.

In addition to his civil and judicial record, Krekel has a place in the educational history of the State. He was closely associated with R. E. Foster in the founding of Lincoln institute, now Lincoln university, at Jefferson City. He was president of the board of trustees at least as early as 1883, and apparently was a member of the board from the beginning. For a portion of ten years, he delivered free an average of 100 lectures a year on government and political economy to students of the Lincoln institute. In 1875, the board authorized Krekel to publish a paper and to travel in the interest of the school. He was especially anxious to have a dormitory and boarding hall erected on the campus and to get the interest rate cut down on the school debt. The Barnes-Krekel hall, a girls' dormitory built in the early 1890s, was named for him. Judge Krekel took an active interest also in railroad building. He was a member of the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific railroad. Although Judge Krekel began his life in Missouri as a poor immigrant boy, he made and lost a fortune of approximately $100,000. As a lawyer and judge, he excelled. Many of his decisions have been handed down as noteworthy, particularly those given in cases of bankruptcy. At the time of his death in Kansas City, Missouri, on July 14, 1888, he was one of the oldest Federal judges of the country, both in age and in length of time he served on the bench. Judge Krekel was outspoken and often quite radical in his beliefs. For this reason, he had many enemies in Missouri. It seems that his work as a legislator, as a member of the constitutional convention, and later as a Federal judge has never been objectively analyzed.

MISSOURI MELANGE.
Tom, a sixteen-year-old, thirteen pound, cat has come to a much-mourned end in Caruthersville, says the Democrat-Argus. Tom was born near Braggadocio in 1924 but had been a citizen of Caruthersville since 1934. He was buried in the cemetery with his owner, Mrs. ...

Work on the new 60,000 bushel capacity elevator at Carrollton has gotten under way, announces the Democrat. The new building is being erected by the Ray-Carroll County Grain Growers, Inc., and will replace a smaller structure destroyed by fire last year. The new elevator will be a modern, fireproof structure, four times the capacity of the old one, and ready for use at the opening of the grain harvesting season.

The Lexington board of education, says the Advertiser-News, is seriously considering entering the quarrying business, as plans begin to unfold for the new $45,000 negro school building in that city. Actual construction will not commence until the old grade school building is torn down and removed from the proposed building site.

ARREST THREE MEN IN ROBBERY AT WASHBURN

CASSVILLE—During the past few days Sheriff Jack Gibbons has made three arrests of young men charged with breaking into the Washburn canning factory last September and stealing and hauling away and disposing of 240 cases of canned tomatoes and canned beans.

The three men under arrest for the crime are Raymond Johnson, formerly of Cassville, and Russell LeCompte and Eual Huskaby of Washburn. Sheriff Gibbons went to Wichita Kan., and brought Johnson to Cassville. After his arrest in Wichita Johnson was questioned by officers and signed a written confession, telling all about the crime, how the building was broken into and giving the names of the men who were with him.

Johnson is here in jail, LeCompte is out under bond, Huskaby waived his preliminary examination Monday before Justice of the Peace William Nickell and was bound over to the circuit court, his bond being placed at $3,500, which he was unable to give and was committed to jail.—Monett Times.

FIRESTONE TIRES WIN AGAIN

IN 500-MILE INDIANAPOLIS RACE

MAURI ROSE, Co-Winner With Floyd Davis in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race May 30th, Averaged 115.117 Miles per Hour on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires Without a Tire Change or Tire Trouble of Any Kind.

FLASHING down the straightways at speeds as high as 160 miles an hour, Mauri Rose streaked to victory in the 1941 Indianapolis Sweepstakes without a tire change, 500 miles of grinding, pounding, torturing speed — and not one tire failed! Here's proof of safety — proof of blowout protection — proof of endurance — proof of tire superiority backed not merely by claims, but by PERFORMANCE! For 22 consecutive years all the winning drivers in this great classic of speed and endurance have driven to victory on Firestone Tires. Why? Because race drivers know that their very lives depend upon the safety of their tires. They have made it their business to know how tires are built. And they know from experience that the patented and exclusive construction features found only in Firestone Tires provide the extra strength and durability necessary to safety and victory!

The building is to be located on the corner of the city. Smith is offering the lot to the citizens of Fredericktown.

The purchase of the lot, and the immediate construction of a plant, was precipitated by a disagreement between Smith on the one hand and John Christoph, owner of the station on the north side of the public square, on the other. For two and a half years Texaco has operated from the Christoph station, managed by Aubrey Jones.

Failing to agree, a lease on the building is said to have been cancelled.

Mr. King has been in charge of the water and sewer systems for several years. He is a member of the city council.

Mayor Graham said this week a number of people had been violating the ordinances that relate both to the water and the sewer plants. Some are said to have even made sewer connections without consulting any city official.

8000 Fish In Rearing Pond

State Conservation Commission Places Channel Catfish In Jaycee-Built Rearing Pond.

Eight thousand channel catfish were placed in the recently completed rearing pond Thursday of last week. The pond, built by the Junior Chamber of Commerce under the supervision of Conservation Agent Simpson, is located on the Ben Whitener farm near the 12-mile gas station.

The large quantity of fish were brought to the rearing pond by a tank truck designed for transporting channel catfish. The length of the tank is about 100 feet. It is the opinion of Agent Simpson that the major part of the fish will be placed in the St. Francois River.

The pond covers about three-quarters of an acre and is the result of several days work at the site on the Ben Whitener farm. The little body of water is about six feet deep and is bounded by a rather high bank. At the lower end of the pond a concrete spillway has been erected to retain the water and to allow drainage.

The fish were placed in the rearing pond in an interesting fashion. The temperature of the water in the tank was taken and checked with the temperature of the water in the pond. The tank water was then heated or cooled to the same temperature before the fish were transferred. Very few fish were found dead in the shipment to the local pond. The fish were secured from a State hatchery.

The Jaycees are contemplating the erection of another rearing pond in another section of the county. Game Agent Simpson has assured the club of the Commission's cooperation.

Auto Collision Fatal To Two

Mother And Child Killed When Peach Truck And Auto Crash North Of Fredericktown.

Mrs. Lorene Oakley, 22 and infant baby, Martha Jane Oakley of Ellsboro, Mo. were killed and three others very seriously injured in a headon collision Friday night three miles north of Fredericktown on Highway 61. The accident occurred about 9 o'clock. The injured are Marion Oakley, husband and father of the deceased; Bud Oakley and Ernest Turner.

Contrary to rumors floating around town and contrary to a news story carried in the Cape Girardeau Southeast Missourian, Marion Oakley is not dead. A telephone conversation with the Poplar Bluff Daily American Republic and the Poplar Bluff hospital Wednesday revealed that Oakley is rapidly recovering from his injuries as are the other injured men.

The bodies were taken to the Greer-Croy Undertaking Co. parlors in Poplar Bluff and the injured were taken to the Poplar Bluff hospital after receiving temporary treatment in Fredericktown.

The party, all former residents of Ellsboro, were on their way to Carter county from St. Louis where the Oakley brothers and Turner have been employed at the American Car and Foundry Company for the past several weeks. Two car loads of former Ellsboro folk were enroute to their homes for the weekend.

The truck owner, A. J. Sparks and a driver were on their way to St. Louis from Arkansas with a load of peaches. The driver could throw no light on the accident other than the fact that he hit the rear of the Seals car and the accident resulted. He said that he lost control of his car.

Occupants of the Seals machine and other witnesses said the driver of the car, believed to have been responsible for the accident, continued down the highway without stopping. The identity of the car and driver is still unknown.

The coroner's jury composed of Maurice Parkin, Oliver Ferguson, F. E. Gruver, Ed. Perringer, Frank DeGuire and Wm. Thompson, returned an open verdict. Responsibility was placed on the driver of the unidentified car which left the scene of the accident. Coroner Crowder and Prosecuting Attorney Robert I. Meagher conducted the inquiry.

Physicians at the Poplar Bluff hospital said Marion Oakley suffered a fractured right arm, broken leg and severe lacerations. Wesley (Bud) Oakley suffered a skull injury, deep facial and head injuries, a broken right leg and other body lacerations. Ernest Turner received a fractured jaw and other face and body injuries.

Mrs. Oakley's and her baby's funeral was held Monday at Ellsboro.

The Land That Ponce de Leon Found

By O. J. Ferguson

This is the fifth of a series of articles inspired by a recent trip through the state of Florida by the writer, in company with about 500 other members of the National Editorial Association.

In the first article of this series I attempted only to roughly sketch the territory covered by my trip. In the next I sought to broadly evaluate and describe Florida and indicate its importance in the Union of American States. The third article was devoted to a description of Jacksonville, and the fourth one sought to deal with the history and romance of St. Augustine.

The notes for those articles were made at Jacksonville during the four days we spent there, and before we set out upon a tour of the state.

The tour proper started on Thursday morning, April 17th, from Jacksonville; and I think this and each succeeding article had best be devoted to the activities of a single day's activities.

On this Thursday morning our first stop was made at Gainesville, county seat of Alachua county, and location of the University of Florida. This university is, I believe, the only one in America from which women are barred.

In another architectural construction's spacious campus, appropriate attention to the use of the palms and other semi-tropical trees and flowers. We inspected the buildings and grounds, met many of the students and teachers, and generally had a pleasant stop.

Gainesville is a historic old town, and in the Civil War suffered greatly.

In the vicinity of Gainesville there has been a substantial development of tung orchards, from the nuts of which tung oil is made. Formerly this country imported all its "wood oil" from China, using it in the manufacture of fine paints and varnishes. Florida is probably the leader, but several southern states are now growing tung trees profitably.

The county, Alachua, derives its name from an Indian word meaning "water jug", and had its origin in a huge sinkhole south of Gainesville, where Newman's Lake and Prairie Creek disappear underground. "Devil's Mill-hopper" is a great bowl, more than 100 feet deep, into which more than twenty streams pour without raising the water level at the bottom, and no outlet has ever been discovered. Everywhere there are natural wells, caverns, sinkholes and passageways in the limestone.

Somewhat after noon our party reached Ocala, county seat of Marion county, and located in the narrowest part of the Florida peninsula. Marion county is one of the state's most productive regions, and Ocala is a beautiful and prosperous little city. Diversified farm crops, citrus fruits, livestock and poultry contribute to the prosperity of the community.

Ocala National Forest, comprising about 43,000 acres is being developed in the eastern part of the county.

After seeing Ocala but briefly, we went on east about five miles and stopped at Silver Springs, its natural exotic and semi-tropical background and the beauty of its homes, gardens and public parks.

There are 33 fresh water lakes within the city's limits, and you are never more than a ten-minute walk from one of them. There are said to be more than a thousand lakes within the limits of an hour's drive. Few cities have a more equable climate than Orlando, the average yearly temperature variation being only 16 degrees. It lies in the same isothermal zone with Sicily, Palestine and the Madeira Islands.

The city has 154 acres devoted to public parks, with 155 miles of paved streets. As county seat of Orange county, the city is virtually in the center of the Florida peninsula. It is 40 miles from the Atlantic Ocean and 60 miles from the Gulf of Mexico, and is 111 feet above sea level.

Orlando's population is 50,464, augmented annually by 35,000 winter visitors. It is Florida's largest inland city, and ranks sixth among the cities of the state. It is the metropolis of an area wherein is grown one-fourth of Florida's citrus fruits and truck crops. There are 175 industrial enterprises in the city and the number is steadily increasing. Two railroads, six highways and an airport take care of its transportation needs.

With more than 5000 of the state's 30,000 lakes within easy driving distance, Orlando is headquarters for inland fishing. It is also headquarters for hunters, large and small game abounding in the vicinity.

Put Orlando on your list when you go to Florida.

"Nice Pickin'" For NEA Chief

undoubtedly one of the world's greatest natural wonders.

"There, in a setting of tropic splendor, is a giant punch bowl, 300 feet in diameter, and as much as 80 feet in depth, from the bottom of which gushes 22,000,000 gallons of crystal-clear water every sixty minutes—enough to supply the needs of New York City!

It seems quite futile to even try to give the casual reader an adequate picture of this fascinating spot. I spent almost all the time available in going about the springs in glass bottom boats and taking the available photographs under water cruises. I would never tire looking through the magically clear water at the geological formations, the boiling paintpots, the botanical gardens and the myriad schools of Florida fish.

It is probably the largest spring in the world, sending down to the Atlantic such a stream that ocean-going yachts may come up its course and anchor at the very portals of the subterranean door from which it emerges.

Silver Springs is feeling its importance as a motion picture center and with good reason. While we were there prepara-here, starring Don Ameche and Betty Grable.

"Tarzan Find A Son," "The Seven Swans," "Old Home Week," "Old Army Game," and "Human Fish," are some of the pictures made here, besides innumerable shorts.

There is a very good chance that the next under-water picture you see has been filmed at Silver Springs.

You hear a great deal in this section of Florida about the proposed Florida Ship Canal, projected several years ago and designed to save at least 2 1/2 days in the passage of ocean freight between Atlantic seaboard and Gulf of Mexico points. The Canal is proposed to pass within a few miles of Silver Springs. It is estimated the cost will be $200,000,000.

We reached Orlando late in the evening but in time for a novel shrimp supper at the San Juan hotel where we were quartered.

Orlando people insist theirs is the most beautiful city in the world. I don't know; there are a lot of cities in the world, and I haven't seen all of them. But in any event Orlando is a delightfully beautiful city, and I shall remember for many years its natural exotic and semi-tropical background and the beauty of its homes, gardens and public parks.

Farmers Receive Parity Price

A 1941 wheat loan program based on 85 per cent of the parity price has been announced by the Department of Agriculture, according to W. Roscoe Myers, chairman of the Madison County AAA committee. Congress recently amended the Agricultural Adjustment Act to make wheat loans mandatory at 85 per cent of parity when marketing quotas are approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting. United States wheat farmers voted in favor of marketing quotas by a majority of 80.8 per cent in the referendum held on May 31.

The 1941 wheat loan rate will be based on the July 1 parity price for wheat, and the Department of Agriculture estimates that 85 per cent of parity on that date will represent an average national loan rate to farmers of approximately 98 cents per bushel.

Wheat farmers are going to reach their goal of parity this year for the first time since the farm depression hit American agriculture in the early 1920's. All farmers who planted wheat in their 1941 wheat acreage allotments will be eligible for wheat loans. Farmers who over-planted their acreage allotments will be eligible for loans on the excess production at 60 per cent of the regular loan rate. The loans, which are callable on demand, will be made up until December 31 and will fall due on April 30, 1942. Three per cent interest will be charged from the date the loan is made until it is paid off.

Loan rates are based on terminal rates, taking into account the location, handling charges, grade and quality of the wheat. The loan value for No. 2 red winter wheat is $1.10 at Kansas City; $1.09 1/4 at Omaha; and $1.15 at Chicago. The loan value for No. 2 red winter wheat is $1.15 at St. Louis and at Chicago.

Myers stated that farmers are encouraged to store wheat under loan on their farms because there is a shortage of commercial storage space. Farmers who build new storage or recondition old storage structures for storing 1941 wheat will receive a seven cent per bushel storage allowance at the time they obtain a 1941 wheat loan. Myers said the storage payment will not be advanced on a greater number of bushels than the capacity of the storage structure, nor on more bushels than are placed under loan.

Simultaneous with the wheat loan announcement the Agriculture Department also announced a loan for rye and barley produced in 1941. The rates for rye are 35 cents per bushel less than the rates applicable for No. 2 hard winter wheat, or 50 cents per bushel, whichever is lower. No rye loans will be made except for farm storage and no storage allowance is permitted.

The loan rate for No. 1 barley is 45 cents per bushel, 44 cents for No. 2; 42 cents for No. 3; and 39 cents for No. 4 with a discount of 2 cents for mixed barley. Barley loans may be stored on farms or in elevators but loans on barley stored in approved elevators will be 7 cents per bushel less than farm stored.

WHO IS YOUR FRIEND?

Dear Editor: Who is it that you go to when finance is bad? Who are you times friend, is, or some one? Who gives you credit for the necessities of life, and is the last one to get paid? I am afraid it is our home merchant.

Who is it that heads the list to help all progressive moves for the betterment of our community, pays taxes to support our government, and helps our schools, churches and charities. Our home town merchant. Why slight our old friend? Let us give him his rightful place in our community.—J. A. BRAY.
