OCTOBER 1956

"I looked down into my open grave"

"MR. SENATOR ROSS, HOW SAY YOU?"

In the deathly silence of the Senate chamber, the freshman Senator from Kansas looked down, as he put it, into his own grave.

On deliberately trumped-up charges, the bitterly fanatic leaders of Ross's party were trying to vote President Johnson out of office—because Johnson stood between them and their revenge on the defeated South.

Ross, they knew, also disliked Johnson and wanted to punish the South. But, taking no chances, they had warned him to vote "guilty" or face political suicide.

And now, on that historic May morning in 1868, the verdict had come to hang completely on his vote. First faltering, then loudly, he gave it: "Not guilty!"

That was sheer moral principle speaking. Edmund Ross refused to join a move he thought would wreck the historic powers of the Presidency. For this, he lost his future, lost his good name, and saved for himself only what he had saved for everyone: our democracy.

Into the whole fabric of American democracy is woven the steel-tough moral fiber of men like Edmund Ross. Braver even than battle courage, it has helped America become strong in many ways. So strong, that, today, one of the world's greatest guarantees of security is U.S. Savings Bonds.

For it is not American principal, but American principles, that back these Bonds. So, for yourself and your country, invest in United States Savings Bonds regularly. And hold on to them.

It's actually easy to save—when you buy Series E Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. Once you've signed up at your pay office, your saving is done for you. The Bonds you receive pay good interest—3% a year, compounded half-yearly when held to maturity. And the longer you hold them, the better your return. Even after maturity, they go on earning 10 years more. So hold on to your Bonds! Join Payroll Savings today—or buy Bonds where you bank.

THE MISSOURI ALUMNUS

is published monthly except August and September by the University of Missouri Alumni Association, 101 Read Hall, Columbia, Missouri and mailed to all active members in the Association. Entered as second class matter under the act of March 3, 1879. Active membership $4.00 a year; life membership $80. Member, American Alumni Council to winning awards on such a flattering scale, we immodestly chronicle the honors given the Alumnus and the Alumni Association at the 41st General Conference of the American Alumni Council held in June at French Lick, Ind.

Unaccustomed As We Are . . .

In the Annual Magazine Competition sponsored by the AAC (more than 700 alumni groups are members) your Alumnus won these awards:

- One of Top Ten Alumni Magazines of the Year*
- First in alumni news coverage*
- Second in appearance*
- Honorable mention in student news*
- First in District VI*

The Alumni Association received a special citation for "significant achievement in use of direct mail to promote the State Bond Issue" in the Alumni Direct Mail Competition.

In addition, Missouri was one of four universities given Special Service Awards for "outstanding service rendered to an institution and to the cause of education in general by organized alumni efforts." California was first in this category, with Missouri, Ohio State, and Kentucky as runners-up. The award to M. U. was for "all-out efforts which were such a significant factor in getting out a statewide vote resulting in a 4 to 1 approval of a bond issue for improvements of state institutions."

To elaborate on the magazine awards: The Top Ten are selected for "significant editorial achievement in the field of alumni publishing." They are considered the ten outstanding alumni magazines in the nation. The Magazine of the Year Award went to the Johns Hopkins Magazine; others in the Top Ten included Arkansas Alumnus, Brown Alumni Monthly, California Monthly, University of Chicago Magazine, Harvard Alumni Bulletin, Harvard Business School Bulletin, Smith Alumnae Quarterly, and Wellesley Alumnae Magazine. The Top Ten magazines are chosen on a national basis, regardless of the size of the alumni bodies, and do not necessarily include district winners, of which there are ten. (The Sooner Magazine, as 1955's top winner, was not eligible).

In the awards on alumni news, appearance, and student news, the Alumnus competed nationally with magazines of Group 3 (more than 30,000 alumni), those representing the largest alumni bodies. Placing second in appearance to the Johns Hopkins Magazine, winner of the coveted Sibley Award, is quite a feat, and we bow in the direction of Dr. Paul Fisher, the Journalism School's typographical expert whose influence was reflected in many of our pages.

In being voted "the outstanding magazine of District VI" your Alumnus competed with publications of all three classifications of alumni groups in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, and North Dakota.

AROUND THE UNIVERSITY

A Day for Parents

PARENTS' DAY is Saturday, October 6. This is the fourth annual gathering for parents of new students, who may begin registering at the Student Union at 8. a.m. An informal reception at 10 a.m. will afford an opportunity for the parents to meet President Ellis, the deans and other members of the faculty. The S.M.U.-Missouri football game begins at 1:30 p.m. Parents who register may purchase tickets at special rates until 12:30 p.m. The tickets will permit them to sit with their sons and daughters in a special section.

Problems the Same

PRESIDENT ELMER ELLIS and Mrs. Ellis spent a month during the summer in Europe. Dr. Ellis was a delegate of the Association of American Universities to a conference with the Association of Universities of the British Commonwealth held at the University of London. He also visited a number of universities in England and Scotland. He believes the most troublesome problems facing universities throughout the English speaking world are strikingly similar. They are basically problems brought about by increasing populations and the need for expanding educational facilities.

There'll Be Music

KANSAS CITY ALUMNI who like fine music: Pianist Robert Sheldon of the M. U. music faculty and his wife, Soprano Margaret Sheldon of the Stephens faculty, will give a concert at the University of Kansas City Saturday evening, Oct. 6, in Haag Auditorium, 52nd Street and Rockhill Road. He will play works of Schumann, Prokofieff, and Medtner. Mrs. Sheldon will sing several of her husband's compositions and selections from Handel, Verdi, and Dvorak.

Man at Work Again

LESLIE COWAN is now appraiser of University lands. He has been on terminal leave for a year and on August 31 gave up his old title as vice-president in charge of business operations. In his new position Mr. Cowan will make new appraisals of some 18,000 acres of University land, determine present and future uses and consolidate new data with records now on file. President Ellis said the University seeks to ascertain rental possibilities and all other possible sources of revenue. The University received much of the land under the Morrill Act and other acreages were acquired by gifts and some by purchase. Mr. Cowan has been working for the University since 1908, four years before earning his degree in engineering. He recently observed his sixty-eighth birthday.

Bonds for Dorms

THE CURATORS have accepted a bid from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for the purchase of revenue bonds totaling $3,105,000. These bonds are to be issued by the University for financing the new 512-man dormitory unit here and the 316-man unit at the School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla.

Start on Big Job

THE FIRST PROJECT to utilize the 468-acre tract acquired by the University last fall from James S. Rollins will be the grading and leveling of fourteen football practice fields at a cost of nearly $115,000. The development will include about forty acres in the tract adjacent to Providence Road. The football fields will be for both intercollegiate and intramural practice, and there will be two smaller practice fields, and a full baseball diamond. It includes the present proposed site for a new field house which is in future plans. No state-appropriated monies will be used in the project, which is now under way, but will come from the athletic funds of the University.

Rooms Available?

BEST GUESSES on the fall enrollment are that there'll be little change from a year ago, when the figure was around 9,000, although permits to enroll increased by 500. A disturbing sign is that fewer freshmen are entering technical agriculture at a time when the need for trained personnel in that field remains heavy. On the other hand, engineering enrollment shows substantial gains. The housing situation in Columbia is expected to be more favorable due to the combined efforts of the University, the organized houses, and the local residents to provide additional rooms. Unfortunately, in recent years, scarcity of housing cost us many prospective students.

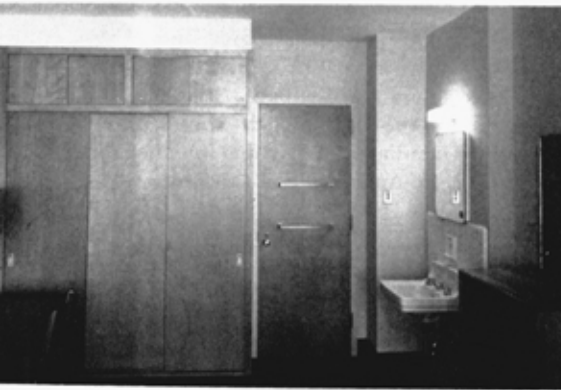

A New Home for Nurses

Below: Our three cover girls inspect a bedroom with Miss Ruby Potter, R.N., new Director of the School of Nursing.

Twelve of the sixteen young women who received Bachelor of Science in Nursing degrees at the Summer Commencement.

Ample closet space is provided for residents. There are thirteen double rooms on each of four floors.

ON THESE PAGES we take a sneak preview of the Nurses Residence Hall, one unit of the University's new Medical Center. Student nurses and staff personnel moved into the recently completed five-story building in September.

It should be pointed out that the ladies shown in the two views on the opposite page were merely inspecting the new quarters for benefit of the photographer. At the time, the building was unoccupied and unfurnished. The furniture in the bedroom was borrowed. That situation has been corrected by now and we are assured that the dormitory is rapidly taking on that "lived-in" look. This is especially true of the bedrooms with the advent of toy animals, pennants, flowers, pictures, and whatever other paraphernalia girl students are accustomed to stocking in their rooms.

Administration of the new home for student nurses is handled through the University's residence halls system. The building includes accommodations for 104 student nurses and two head residents.

The top four floors have rooms for students. The main lobby and lounge are on the first floor, which has quarters for the head residents. A recreation room and laundry are among the facilities on the floor below ground level.

Occupants of the Nurses Residence Hall will eat at the cafeteria in the new hospital. It's about a one-block walk between the two structures, which are connected by a tunnel.

New quarters for the School of Nursing faculty are in the Medical Sciences Building at the Center. These modern surroundings are in contrast to the venerable and homey residence at 902 University Avenue which has housed the staff for several years.

The Alumnus expects to present a fuller look at the Nurses Residence Hall and the School of Medicine's nursing program in the December issue, which will feature the University's thirteen-million-dollar Medical Center.

By JERRY ROBINSON, '56

NOW it's time for RFD, with Gail Bank," the announcer intones.

A pleasant-voiced, dark-haired young man appears on your television screen. "Good evening ladies and gentlemen. Tonight we have with us Jim Reynolds, Extension Livestock Specialist at the University of Missouri. He's going to show us some ways to select a good cut of meat."

Look like an easy way to make a living? It looks easy, but you should have seen Bank pulling his black hair a few minutes before the show went on the air.

Rough thing is, he starts with a few minor tugs at least two weeks before the show goes on the air, and with four fifteen-minute shows a week, that's a lot of hair-pulling.

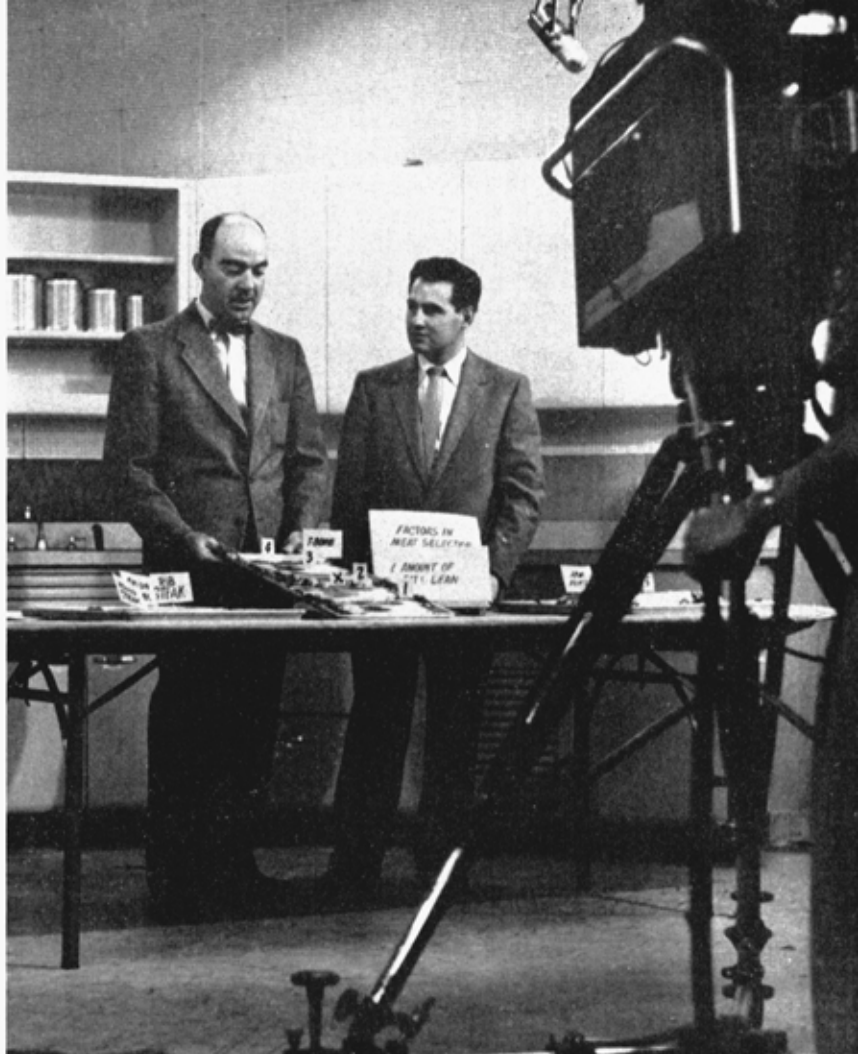

"My job is not to be the star of this show," insists Bank. "I'm here for two reasons. First and least important, I'm the continuing face on the show to give the folks something they can be familiar with. My real job, though, is to help these fellows from the College of Agriculture tell their story."

Bank introduces Reynolds for program on how to select a cut of meat. Reynolds brought the 900 pound steer along just to show where each cut comes from.

James W. Reynolds and Gail Bank during telecast of RFD, usually four 15-minute segments a week. An assistant agricultural editor, Bank has been in charge of University farm programs for television since November, 1954. He formerly was radio farm director of KLIK at Jefferson City, Mo. and a Garden City, Kan. station. He is a member of the National Association of TV and Radio Farm Directors.

the author

His business is to secure props, arrange the set, work out the rough spots in the story, and adapt that story to television. And that adapting includes timing, continuity, and attention to the many minor details of making the story one that can be seen as well as told.

"We have to make these stories visible," says Gail. "The story must not only sound good, it must look good."

The stories start with a meeting of the Television Committee of the College of Agriculture. This committee meets once a year. Each department suggests stories that concern its work, and the committee selects the most interesting ones for presentation.

A schedule is then made out and the planning begins.

The RFD program is kinescoped and sent, on film, to stations throughout Missouri as a part of the University's television service. The filming process, with major differences, is nothing but making a movie of the television screen. But don't try it at home, Bank warns. Those major differences will foul you up.

If the equipment that it takes to make a kine were set up in your kitchen, chances are, you'd have to eat out, because the frau probably couldn't even get close enough to the stove to make a pot of coffee.

Gail usually has three or four meetings with each person who puts on a show. At the first meeting, Gail told Jim Reynolds, the star of this show, to "forget TV time limits, and everything else except telling me your story." This session helps the story to "jell" in the minds of the teller and the "helper," as Gail thinks of himself.

By the next meeting, Jim had his story organized, and the work began in earnest. They went through the story several times, just as though they were on the air. Going through a story several times gives a person confidence in the story and his ability to tell it, without making memory work out of it, Gail feels.

The third meeting took place at the KOMU-TV studio for a dress rehearsal under the lights with live cameras. After one "run-through" the show was kinescoped.

One farm youth organization has in its creed the words, "better days through better ways." The University of Missouri RFD show is one way that the news of the better ways is being passed on to the farmer and the homemaker.

ANDY TAU'S SEASONS

Scenic Missouri is depicted at four distinct times of year by the University's official photographer.

Spring, summer, autumn, winter . . . the seasons in Missouri offer fine subjects for the photography of Andy Tau. He chose Hinkson Creek for the spring and winter scenes, the Lake of the Ozarks for summertime, and a Boone County farm at harvest time for fall. Photos are from Tau's personal collection.

Big tests early

By now you'll have a line on the young Tiger team in its home and away openers with tough intersectional foes, Oregon State and Purdue. The Beavers, who wound up second in the tough, pre-scandal Pacific Coast Conference, lost only a few from that powerful single-wing squad for the opener in Columbia, September 22. After that it was on to Lafayette, Indiana, and the tough Big Ten entry from Purdue.

The coaching staff's tough job of welding twenty-one lettermen from last year's disappointing varsity squad and thirty sophomores from last year's undefeated freshman team should be in the final stages for the last non-conference games here in Columbia against the perennially-tough Southern Methodist Mustangs and North Dakota State, which looms as the first "breather" in years.

With Oklahoma's Big Red ineligible for the Orange Bowl, the door to the New Year's festivities in Miami appears wide open for the opportunist among the other six conference teams. The first encounter of like minds will be with the Kansas State Wildcats at Manhattan; then it's the Iowa State Cyclones in Columbia. From there on it really gets tough with successive outings against Coach Pete Elliot's new Cornhuskers at Lincoln, the vengeful Colorado Buffaloes in Columbia with Dal Ward's new multiple offense, and All Americans Jerry Tubbs and Tommy McDonald among others in the Snake Pit at Norman, Okla.

Winding up what we hope will be a successful season will be the greatly improved Kansas Jayhawks in the big one, the Homecoming Game on Dec. 1 in Columbia.

As we go to press optimism and spirit are running high in the early workouts among the seventy fine-looking young men going hard twice a day getting ready for that long trip to Miami.

The Tiger adds to his stripes. . . . Gene Roll of Harrisonville, senior fullback, displays the 1956 football uniform. The principal changes are the addition of a white stripe flanked by two black ones around the shoulder, and a similar arrangement down the side of the pants; the original gold stripe on the black helmet is now between two white stripes. The pants and jersey still are of old gold and the numerals are black.

Hamilton honored

In special ceremonies on August 23, Brutus Hamilton AB '22 was enshrined in the Missouri Hall of Fame.

This came as no surprise to those who have followed his illustrious career as athlete, coach, and administrator. Hamilton, who hails from the little farm community of Peculiar, Missouri, has been to six Olympiads as a representative of the United States. In 1920 at Antwerp and in 1924 at Paris, Brutus competed in the decathlon and the pentathlon; in 1932 and 1936, he was an assistant coach at Los Angeles and Berlin; in the London games in 1948, he served as an official observer for the University of California, and in 1952 as the head coach at Helsinki.

Between these trips to the Olympics, Hamilton has coached at Westminster 1923-1929, at Kansas University 1929-1932, and at California from 1932 till the present with interim service as Athletic Director and Assistant Dean of Men.

Union Pacific coaches for M.U. alumni out of Kansas City to the Kansas State game at Manhattan October 20 will be handled by train No. 17, "The Portland Rose." It leaves Kansas City at 8:30 a.m. and arrives in Manhattan at 10:30 a.m. Return trip begins right after the game, and train is scheduled to arrive in Kansas City at 7 p.m. Roundtrip coach rate, including bus to and from stadium, $7.22. Bill Toler is hoping for a good representation of Tiger fans on this safari.

The Alumnus welcomes the return to its staff of Mrs. Newcomb C. Smith, better known hereabouts as Lottie Smith. As our new associate editor she will handle the "last half" of the magazine, principally the class notes section, in which she takes considerable pride. Mrs. Smith was managing editor of the Alumnus several years ago. She is instituting again the practice of indicating degrees held by alumni mentioned in our class notes; this is a departure from recent custom and it involves much extra detail, but we wish her well in it. Mrs. Mary Paxton Keeley has retired from the staff as associate editor, but we may be hearing from her now and then since she is continuing her free-lance photography and writing. The first woman graduate of the School of Journalism is enrolled there again—this time, believe it or not—in a photography course.

Of the national honors accorded this publication, modestly noted elsewhere in this issue, the top place for coverage of alumni news and activities is one highly regarded in this office. This recognition lends credence to the theory that an alumni magazine should be published for alumni. In their informal comments the judges said nice things about our class note pages and certain articles featuring the accomplishments of alumni. It should be noted here that Mary Paxton Keeley handled the class notes, advanced ideas that led to some of the articles, and took pictures that dressed them up.

A couple of J School grads of a few years ago have moved up the editorial ladder of the Pure Oil News, published at 35 East Wacker Dr., Chicago. They are Henry H. Cox, Jr., '51, who became editor of the magazine in July, and Clay M. Anderson, '54, who was made assistant editor at the same time. Cox, a native Chicagoan, joined the staff in 1951 and the following year became assistant editor. He is married and has one son and one daughter. Anderson, from Jackson, Mo., joined the staff last February. He was a news announcer and editor with KFRU here. Their magazine is published for Pure Oil Co. employes.

MISSOURI EMO

Inez Potter Christman, '41, won a top award, a $100 check, from the Chicago Tribune for her letter on the subject "How I Met My Husband," which was published in the newspaper. She recalled that she was introduced to her football player husband on her first day in college, only because a magazine cameraman shooting pictures on potential All-Americans, needed a fourth girl to grace a photograph. She had an out-of-town boy friend and wasn't too much impressed with Paul, mistaking his extreme shyness for conceit. Later Paul Christman, '41, named to one All-American team after another, asked if he could submit her picture for a syndicated feature on sweethearts of the football players (he had no special girl at the time). Still later he was asked to bring her along for several radio interviews and banquets. By now the out-of-town boy friend was fading from the scene. Inez and Paul were married Sept. 8, 1941. "Fifteen years and three children later, I'm still saying thank you for that original photograph," her letter concludes. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Christman live at 1024 S. Lincoln, Park Ridge, Ill., with their daughter, Victoria, 9; and sons Paul II, 13, and David, 10.

When Isaac N. Skelton, Jr. was awarded his LL.B. degree from the University in June, he had followed in the footsteps of his father, Isaac N. Skelton, Sr. with remarkable closeness. The father had picked up his law degree just thirty years earlier. Both also received A.B. degrees. They both won membership in these honor societies: QEBH (the only father-son combination in that recognition society for senior men at the University); Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Pi Zeta, and Phi Delta Pi. Both are members of Sigma Chi. Ike, Sr. also made Order of the Coif and was president of the senior class in 1926. Evening up matters, however, Ike, Jr., was president of the Board of Governors, student association of the School of Law, won the coveted Guy A. Thompson Award, and in 1953 went to Scotland on an International Institute of Education scholarship, where he studied history at Edinburgh University. Ike, Jr. has two younger brothers at home, 1615 Franklin St., Lexington, Mo. Mrs. Isaac N. Skelton, Jr., is the former Carolyn M. Boone of Jacksonville, Fla., who received the degree of B.S. in Education in '25.

You'll notice this Alumnus is dated October. It's the first of the fall. You haven't missed an issue. The September date has been dropped, but a July number has been added. Still ten issues a year.

Those spirited St. Louisans

Several of our alumni are among leaders of the highly successful Civic Progress, Inc.

THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS of Civic Progress, Inc., a small but influential civic organization made up of leading St. Louis businessmen, has received much national publicity recently. The Alumnus is glad to note that several members of Civic Progress are prominent M. U. alumni. Since its formation three years ago when Mayor Raymond Tucker called in the city's leading bankers and industrialists, Civic Progress has succeeded with every project it has undertaken.

Its latest and perhaps most impressive campaign was the smashing election victory last May over the opposition of the city's professional politicians of both parties. Tom K. Smith, '04, was given the job of heading the campaign. He was named chairman of the St. Louis Citizens Charter Committee, formed to select and support independent candidates for a Board of Freeholders which will rewrite the city's out-dated city charter. Smith's committee elected all of its thirteen candidates to the thirteen places on the Board of Freeholders. There were 45 candidates, but the vote given the winning thirteen more than doubled the total of the losing candidates. Smith, appointed chairman of the Citizens Charter Committee last February formed a 450-member Citizens Committee which authorized him to appoint a smaller Executive Committee to screen the various candidates. Once the thirteen were selected, the Citizens Committee began a campaign for their election. Last June he received the St. Louis Small Business Council's "Spirit of St. Louis" award.

Formerly Headed Curators

Smith, chairman of the board of the Boatmen's National Bank of St. Louis, was a member of the Board of Curators of the University from 1939 to 1945 and president of the board in 1944-45. He received an honorary LL.D. degree in 1935. While an undergraduate he was president of his class, editor of the Savitar, publisher of the weekly Missourian, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma. Smith has been president of the Board of trustees of the Chi Mu Alumni Association (Phi Gamma Delta) since 1910, and for twelve years was also president of the board of trustees of Phi Gamma Delta.

Tom Smith served Boatmen's National as president from 1929 to 1947 and has been chairman of the board since. In 1936-37 he was president of the American Bankers Association; in 1926 he was vice-president of the Investment Bankers Association of America.

He was the first winner of the St. Louis Award, the city's highest honor, presented in 1932 for his leadership of a Citizens Committee on Relief and Unemployment.

Tom K. Smith

An article in the July Fortune magazine, "St. Louis Snaps Out of It," pictures sixteen members of the Civic Progress organization. We were pleased to spot four of them as alumni. In addition to Smith they are:

Powell McHancey, president of the General American Life Insurance Company, who ran the campaign to win support for a city earnings tax, which was endorsed by a majority of six to one; he is a member of the M. U. Board of Curators and a former president of the Board.

Sidney Maestre, chairman of the Mercantile Trust and who, like Smith, was a Phi Beta Kappa at the University; he headed a 300-man committee that screened bond-issue proposals later approved by the voters.

J. W. McAfee, president of Union Electric Co., who regularly gives assistance on projects endorsed by Civic Progress.

Another article telling the St. Louis story appeared in the August 8 Saturday Evening Post. It was written by Joe Alex Morris, A.B. '29.

Honored by dairy industry

CHARLES ELMER WYLIE, A.M. '16, professor of dairying and head of the dairy department at the University of Tennessee, has been cited "for distinguished service to the dairy industry of the South." He was honored last spring at the Atlanta meeting of the Southern division, American Dairy Science Association. Many of his former students attended the dinner in his honor. Prof. Wylie has been at Tennessee since 1916, the year he earned a master's degree at M.U. following graduation at Ohio State. He is also chairman of the board of the U. T. School of Religion.

Mainland revisited

Umematsu Watada makes fourth trip from Hawaii, this time to attend son's graduation.

UMEMATSU WATADA of Honolulu has never forgotten the friendships he formed in his student days here more than three decades ago. His memories of the campus, of classmates and professors are pleasant ones, and they have remained fresh and alive with him. Four times he has returned to these shores to renew old acquaintances and to revisit old scenes once familiar. Here and on his home island his loyalty to the University has continued genuine and active.

His most recent visit to the states had a special appeal. It was to see the graduation of his son, Gordon Watada, at the summer Commencement. With Mr. Watada (B.S. Agr. '21) were his wife and their daughter, Katherine, who was making her second visit; it was the fourth for her parents.

The visitors flew from Honolulu to San Francisco on June 10 and returned on August 24; in the meantime friends in many parts of the country were visited, and at Omaha Mr. Watada was a delegate to the general council meeting of Congregational Churches. In Ithaca, N. Y. the Watadas visited Dr. and Mrs. M. Slade Kendrick, both University graduates; Dr. Kendrick is professor of economics at Cornell. At Gary, Ind. they visited two more alumni, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gordon; Mr. Gordon headed the "Y" when Mr. Watada was in school. In Kingman, Ind. they were guests of another former classmate, Newton Gotschall, and his family; Mr. Gotschall is a Methodist minister, and for six years he and Mrs. Gotschall lived in Hawaii. In Columbia the Watadas had reunions with Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Albrecht and numerous other friends.

Mrs. Watada teaches the third grade at Kalihakai school in Honolulu. Mr. Watada was YMCA secretary there for 27 years, and now works with the U. S. Life Insurance Company. Gordon has a job in Los Angeles.

For the past six years Mr. Watada has air expressed a shipment of orchids to the Alumni Office for Homecoming. He told us he would be glad for alumni to make their presence known to him when they come to Honolulu.

Mrs. Walter Williams of the School of Journalism on her visit to the islands during the summer found many alumni. Some of the J School graduates and former students in Hawaii, most of whom she saw, are:

Mrs. Harriet Mun Gee, John Ramsay, Roy Cummings, and George West, all with the Honolulu Star-Bulletin; Mrs. May Day Lo Walden, public relations, board of public works and recreation, and Star-Bulletin columnist; Mrs. Ah-Jook Leong Ku, public relations, Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Elroy Chun, public relations, Mental Health Association; Miss Jean Serikawa, advertising agency; Mrs. Betsy Battle Hobbs, assistant society editor, Honolulu Advertiser; William Lee, real estate agency; Shigeo Soga, editor and president, Honolulu Times; Scotty Guletz, president, South Sea Sales Company; Roy Leffingwell, public relations manager, Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association; Lorin Thurston, publisher, Honolulu Advertiser; Harry Blickhahn, editor, and Robert Ibrahim, reporter, Hilo Tribune-Herald.

Workable prescription

Dr. Metz heads medical group which succeeds with innovations for symposium in St. Louis.

A MEDICAL SYMPOSIUM, on Sunday afternoon, with a social program for the wives of the physicians, proved a highly successful combination that may set the pattern for other meetings in the future. The novel arrangement was tried out last spring by the St. Louis Academy of General Practice, of which Charles O. Metz, M. D., Class of '27, is president.

The affair, held at the Chase Hotel, established a precedent since it was the first time that any medical organization in the area had undertaken to devote a Sunday afternoon and evening to a combined scientific and social program. A total attendance of about 50 persons responded; many are M. U. alumni.

Four outstanding speakers made up the scientific program, which was exceptionally well received. The speakers were Dr. W. A. Sodeman, University of Missouri; Dr. Ralph A. Reis, Northwestern University; Dr. R. B. Turnbull, Crile Clinic, Cleveland; and Dr. Willard Bartlett, St. Louis. A question and answer period followed each 45-minute paper. While the session was under way on the Starlight Roof, the women enjoyed a social period in the Zodiac Lounge with Mrs. Metz heading the committee of hostesses. The doctors joined their wives in the Zodiac room for a sociable hour, followed by dinner in the Regency room.

Members of the Academy earned four hours of formal credit to be applied toward the required fifty hours which must be compiled every three years to maintain their membership. Because of the large attendance and the enthusiasm of the group, many persons predicted that future meetings would adopt a similar pattern of arrangements.

Dr. Metz (whose picture was incorrectly identified in the June Alumnus) said the Academy is "grateful for the continued spirit of cooperation of the University of Missouri School of Medicine, headed by Dr. Roscoe Pullen."

He added that the Academy "looks forward to the benefits which are bound to accrue from the emphasis being placed upon preparation of medical students of that institution for general practice. The need for 'family physicians' is great, and will always be of paramount benefit to the general welfare."

Dr. Metz, a regular at Homecoming and many other campus affairs, has been in general practice in St. Louis since 1931. A daughter, Susan E. Metz, is a junior in the College of Education. The family address is 6459 Devonshire Ave., St. Louis 9, Mo.

Retires after 36 years on job

IRAM OBIL ROYSE B.S. Eng. '16, retired in August after thirty-six years with the Ralston Purina Company in St. Louis. In recent years he had been general office manager. On the eve of his graduation in 1916, he married Ruth Estes Tandy, a classmate. They have two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Bailey, and Mrs. Frances Blackwell, and one son, Glenn Obil Royse. They have six grandchildren. For eighteen years the I. O. Royses have lived in Davis Place in Clayton, Mo., at 624 South Meramec. Mrs. Royse was president of the University of Missouri Alumnae Association of St. Louis in 1937-38 and helped enlarge the scholarship fund maintained by that group; she has also been active in the scholarship loan fund of the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri. She recalls that when she was in school that even though the library and incidental fees amounted to only $5 a semester, help from a loan fund came in handy and she remembers the help she got from the Anthony W. Rollins Aid Fund. She also worked part-time or full time in the University Library before receiving her A.B. and B.S. in Education in '16.

Roams far, remembers Mizzou

ROY GLENN SMITH, '33, is general secretary of Asso-ciacion Christiana de Jovenes in Lima, Peru where he has been located since 1952 as he continues his career in YMCA World Service. Earlier he spent five years in the Philippines, visited "Y" friends in Hong Kong, Japan, and Hawaii, then spent a year in the States, telling the World Service story. Roy's family includes his wife, IloGene, and three daughters: Pat, 17; Carol 13; and Sally, 3. Pat has graduated from high school and is entering William Woods College, Fulton, this fall and plans to enroll at M.U. in 1957 in the School of Nursing. Roy was president of the Student YMCA here in '32-'33. His address is Apartado 2411, Lima, Peru.

Harlow Shapley retires

Famous Harvard astronomer was born in Missouri and holds two degrees from M. U.

DR. HARLOW SHAPLEY, A.B. '10 and A.M. '11, famed astronomer, has retired at Harvard University where for thirty years (1921-1951) he led a distinguished group of astronomers as director of the Harvard College Observatory. He is known in astronomy for his proof that our solar system is at the outer fringe of the Milky Way, not near its center. In recent years, in addition to astronomy, he has taught "Cosmography" in Harvard College—a survey of cosmic physics and chemistry and a consideration of the origins and probably destinies of stars, planets, atoms, and organic life. Dr. Shapley joined the Harvard faculty in 1921 as Paine Professor of Practical Astronomy and director of the observatory. Before that, as an astronomer at Mount Wilson Observatory, he studied globular star clusters and the changing luminosity of variable stars. These provided an astronomical measuring-rod which led to his revision of the heliocentric view of our position in the universe. His honors include the Pope Pius XI Prize (1942) and several honorary degrees (including the LL.D. from M. U. in '27) and honorary membership in a dozen foreign academies. He has been president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology, and is a trustee of M. I. T. and the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute. He is a native of Nashville, Mo. Mrs. Shapley is the former Martha Betz, B.S. Ed. '10, A.B. '11, A.M. '13.

Conference reunites alumni

at well-attended sessions.

MANY ALUMNI RETURNED to the campus for the first Annual Conference on Special Education, held at the Student Union on June 21-22. The graduates had bachelor's or master's degrees in education, with a major in the special fields, such as the mentally retarded or the orthopedically handicapped. Many of the alums present are now in special teaching, and others in the field who could not attend sent messages.

It was announced that about 600 persons attended the two-day conference, and there was representation from ten states, Alaska and the Philippine Islands.

Dr. Geraldine Fergen, who is in charge of the Special Education program in the College of Education, presided at the first general session. On the program were Dean L. G. Townsend of the College of Education; Hubert Wheeler, Commissioner of Education in Missouri; Richard Dabney, State Director of Special Education; and Dr. Robert Gates, Director of Special Education from the State of Florida. Speakers at various sessions included Dr. Roy Graham, director of special education in Illinois, and Dr. Samuel A. Kirk, director of the Institute of Research on Exceptional Children at the University of Illinois.

Seventy-four alumni, present staff members, and guests attended the Hospital School Alumni Luncheon. Alumni present included:

Veva Baugh, Lebanon; Marcella Clark, Lee's Summit; Yvonne Krueger, Columbia; Clara Crabtree, Kansas City; Bill Essmann, St. Louis; Ethal Franklin, Montreal; Faye Johnson, Springfield; Ermalynn Kirk, Brentwood; Olivia McFaddin, Joplin; Wayne McWaid, Kansas City; Jane Riutcel, United Cerebral Palsy, St. Louis; Bernard Shanker, St. Louis, all special teachers.

Leota Baker, Mexico; Rosemary Bourbon, Richwoods; Marjorie Edwards, Mexico; Helen Lehenbauer, Denver, Colo.; Roberta Mason, Sullivan; Jane Turner, Imperial Valley, Calif.; Freda Sherman, Boonville; Barbara Turner, North Kansas City, all teachers.

Edith Wells, University of Missouri, and Ellen English, Springfield State Teachers College, instructors. Paul Fleeman, Columbia, and Irwin Mann, Berger, principals. Eleanor Pratt, Merlin Wittrock, and John Hartwig, graduate students. Irene Gwinnup, R.N., Columbia; June Holt, Heart Association, Columbia; Betty Reed, Columbia; and Pauline Hopkins, Courtois.

Wins highest award in his field

JAMES E. POWELL, '21, vice president of the Provident Life and Accident Insurance Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., was named "Man of the Year" in the accident and health insurance field at the meeting of the International Association of Accident and Health Underwriters at Miami in June. He entered the field in 1922 at Des Moines and went to Chattanooga in 1931. He has been vice president of the Provident company since 1948, and was elected to the board of directors in 1951. At the Miami convention Powell received the Harold R. Gordon 1956 Memorial Award, which was initiated in 1949 to honor members of the industry who have made the most distinguished contributions to the growth and development of the accident and health insurance business. Powell's home town was Elsberry, Mo., when he attended the University.

Clayton's new assignment

CHARLES C. CLAYTON, national president of Sigma Delta Chi in 1951-52, is the new editor of the Quill, a magazine for journalists published by the professional journalistic fraternity. Clayton, for thirty years with the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is visiting professor of journalism at Southern Illinois U.

Settles down at last

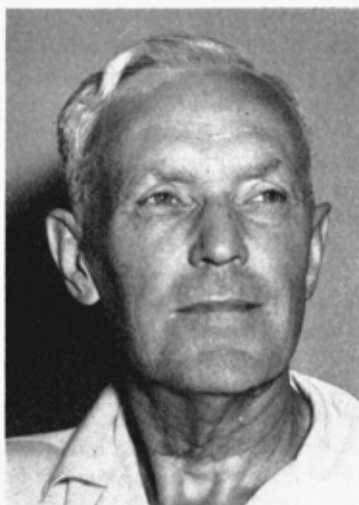

Gene Hall, '12, after years on road, reaches retirement and returns to campus scene.

EUGENE C. HALL always liked the University and Columbia. Although he has not been a resident of the town since 1912, when he was graduated in Agriculture, he returned frequently and has kept close tab on athletic events. Now he has reached retirement, and he has elected to settle down in Columbia after a career that kept him on the road a great deal in the midwest and southern states. After 23 years with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Gene retired July 1, 1955. At the time he lived in Richmond, Ind. He had served the company earlier in Indianapolis, Peoria, and Sioux Falls, S. D., in the farm mortgage investment division. Before joining Metropolitan in 1932 he had spent 12 years with a Chicago farm mortgage firm, and worked mostly in the south; earlier he was in the air service in World War I, with brief USDA stints before and after. Mr. and Mrs. Hall now live at 110 Russell Lane, Columbia. His father, L. J. Hall, was postmaster here in the early 20s.

Gene Hall is a member of that elite group of alumni who have never missed a copy of the Missouri Alumnus.

But what more of the "old timers" will recall about him is his fine career in athletics at M. U. He played baseball three years, '10, '11, '12 at center field and third base, and was captain in his senior year. He was left halfback during three years of football, playing in '09, '10, and '11. He played under three coaches—Roper, Hollenbeck, and Brewer. That's going back pretty far, but Gene Hall still looks to be in great shape.

The Alumnus welcomes constant reader Hall and Mrs. Hall to its environs.

Eugene C. Hall

Dr. Irvin F. Coyle

Coyle fills new position

THE ASSISTANT to the President of the University, a new position, was assumed September 1 by Dr. Irvin F. Coyle, who had been director of teacher education and certification in the State Department of Education at Jefferson City since 1947. Dr. Coyle received a Master of Arts degree in '32 and a Ph.D. degree in '36, both from the University, after graduation from Southwest Missouri State College in 1928. A native of Bates County, he attended high school in Houston, Mo. From 1936 to 1947 he was dean of the Junior College at Flat River, Mo. For three summer sessions he was an instructor at the University's School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla. In 1948 Dr. Coyle served as president of the Missouri State Teachers Association. He is married and the father of a son, 12.

Swartzlow is twice honored

CARL R. SWARTZLOW, who retired from the National Park Service last fall after twenty years of service, has received two high honors. In June he was selected for the first distinguished service award given by the Lawrence (California) College Alumni Association; he was chosen from among 9,500 for the honor. Earlier he was awarded the highest honor of the U. S. Department of the Interior for his work as a regional naturalist. Dr. Swartzlow received a Ph.D. degree in geology from M. U. in 1932. He was a graduate assistant in 1928, and was instructor in geology from 1929 to 1936. The Secretary of the Interior, in awarding his department's Distinguished Service Award to Dr. Swartzlow, cited the naturalist's "unique contributions to public service." He is the co-author of the "Badlands Natural History Handbook," and is known for his work in developing exhibits and demonstrations in volcanics, lava beds, and dinosaur quarries. Dr. and Mrs. Swartzlow have moved from Omaha, Neb. to 6356 Diamond Ave., Paradise, Calif.

He had a good year

As president of St. Louis
Bar Association, Hartley
Pollock made new ideas work.

T. Hartley Pollock

AFTER T. HARTLEY POLLOCK, A.B. '28, completed a year as president of the Bar Association of St. Louis, he was presented a special recognition award by the St. Louis Small Business Council.

During his tenure as president, the Bar Association initiated several actions and programs that won considerable interest. Best known of these activities, perhaps, was the "Law In Your Life Week" in April which was originated by Pollock. His thought was that while lawyers understand law, the great majority of the public is simply confused about it. It was the first project of its kind in the nation. The legal profession arranged guided tours of explanation through St. Louis courtrooms, conducted mock trials, and set up panels to discuss everyday legal subjects before interested organizations. Pamphlets answering legal questions were distributed. The American Bar Association planned to circulate the "Law In Your Life Week" idea in other cities.

On another front, the Bar Association attracted much attention by filing a suit in the public interest to prevent the drafting of wills by unqualified persons. "If the bar did not take a vigilant stand against illegal practices of this kind it would be derelict in its public responsibility," Pollock said. In another instance, the Post-Dispatch commented: "The Bar Association of St. Louis has performed a signal public service in issuing a report condemning the practice of confining material witnesses in jail or requiring them to give bond." A check of the 1928 Savitar produces more references to Pollock than to any other student—sixteen. Some of the reasons: He was Student President, a member of Mystical Seven, Scabbard and Blade, Debate Squad, Panhellenic Council, Athenaeum Society (vice-president), Missouri Student advisory board, and several honorary and social fraternities.

Three Hulens, five degrees

ANOTHER of our all-alumni families are the Amos B. Hulens of New Haven, Conn. Dr. Hulen (remembered here as "Berry" Hulén) has two degrees from M.U., A.B. '15 and B.S.Ed. '20 (followed by B.D. and Ph.D. at Yale); Mrs. Hulén (Ola Norris) is B.S. Ed. '26 and A.M. '27; and their son, Robert Norris Hulén, received a B.J. in '51 after graduating from Yale. We may have more alumni from the family since Bob and his wife (Pauline Metzertott, Stephens '51) have two children: Hillary Jo, 4, and Robert Kirk, 6 months. Dr. Hulén is on the administrative staff of the Railroad YMCA, New Haven; since leaving M. U. he has done some creative writing for religious periodicals and some secular writing. Bob Hulén is a sports writer on the Portland Oregonian after working as reporter on the Dixon (Ill.) Telegraph. Mrs. Ola Norris Hulén retired in July from her teaching position at the New Haven State Teachers College. An employee of the Connecticut State Board of Education, she served twenty-seven years as a training and demonstration teacher at the college. Mrs. Hulén retired on length of service and with the rank of assistant professor, and while she is now referred to as Professor Emeritus she insists she's not as old as the title sounds—and we're sure she isn't. She has a record of 35 years in the teaching profession, beginning with eight years in the rural schools of Missouri, seven of them in Boone County. Dr. and Mrs. Hulén live at 750 Elm St., New Haven, Conn.

She cleans up the courthouse

MRS. DORIS G. WHITE (Doris Goodin, A.B. '24) worked hard for four years as chairman of the Old Court House Memorial Chapel Committee in Dayton, Ohio in its campaign to restore the courthouse as an architectural masterpiece that should be converted to other use. The group sold memorial trays and solicited funds until they raised more than $5,000 for sand-cleaning, silicone weather-proofing, and pigeon-proofing. The cleanup was such a success the committee was asked to proceed with another project, that of stone restoration. Mrs. White said the old courthouse was the last remaining historical building of beauty left downtown—that Dayton is sacrificing its landmarks for parking lots. She was featured in a story in the Dayton Journal Herald, which carried a three-column picture of her standing before the newly-cleaned courthouse. Her address is 262 S. Torrence St., Dayton 3, Ohio.

Still blows that horn

Lester Milgram, prominent Kansas Citian, is seldom without his trusty trumpet.

Lester Milgram

IN ITS SUNDAY SERIES, "The City's Rising Leaders," the Kansas City Star last summer featured Lester Milgram, '39, executive vice-president of the Milgram Food Stores, Inc., and one of the city's active young civic leaders. The article traces his career with the firm founded by his father, from the time Lester started as a stock boy and worked himself up through the ranks to his present position. The chain has 17 stores and 1200 employees. Lester calls himself the company's No. 1 gadgeteer since he is always working on methods to make service quicker and easier. The thing he likes best is working with people, the company's employes and customers, rather than sticking to his office.

Band President, Drum Major

Classmates will remember Les Milgram as the tall (6 feet 6 inches) drum major with the University band, of which he was president in '39. The band represented M. U. and the State of Missouri at the San Francisco Exposition in 1939. He also played so'o trumpet. The Star story brings out the fact that Lester is seldom without this musical instrument, and he can easily be persuaded to blow a few cool notes at most any occasion. His intense interest in the University band since his graduation is well known. He is a member of the board of the M. U. Alumni Association of Kansas City and chairman of its band committee.

Lester Milgram's civic activities claim much of his time and interest. He is serving his fourth term as president of the Ban Johnson league, in which the grocery chain has sponsored a team for twenty years. He is a member of the production committee, Starlight Theater; the board of governors of the American Royal; the board of directors of the Kansas City Philharmonic Association; the board of regents of Rockhurst College; the boards of Catholic Youth Organization and the Boy Scout Council. He is a member of six civic and business groups, and the Chambers of Commerce of both Kansas City. Mrs. Milgram is the former Miss Ann Louise Kaplan of Tulsa. They have a daughter, Nancy Sue, three years old. Lester's business address is 401 East 22nd Street.

In dual role at Omaha U.

Elizabeth Hill associate dean of women, speech teacher.

Elizabeth Hill

ELIZABETH HILL, since 1953 Stephens College alumnae field secretary and assistant to the director of development, has become associate dean of women at the University of Omaha. She will also be assistant professor of speech. Miss Hill has taught at Kansas City Conservatory, St. Teresa Junior College in Kansas City, and at Hillside Township High School in Illinois. She has been director of residence at Chapin Hall, Northwestern University, and dean of students at William Woods College, Fulton, Mo. Miss Hill received her B. S. Ed. in '27 and M. Ed. in 1955 from the University, and is also a graduate of Stephens and the Kansas City Conservatory.

CLASS NOTES

98 F. K. MCGINNIS, of 5215 Monticello St., Dallas, Texas, celebrated his eightieth birthday last April. His many and varied interests keep him quite active, and he continues to read the Alumnus—is always interested in items of other "old timers."

00 AVA STEELE Williams, AM, is taking her retirement out in the great North West where she can gaze out across the Columbia River at the snow-covered top of Mt. Rainier. Her address is Rt. 1, Box 211, Rainier, Ore.

MARY GRAY McQuitty, AB, is teaching history and English in the Dodson private school, 4456 Lindell, St. Louis, Mo.

01 J. M. HAW, LLB, is Probate Judge and Ex-officio Judge of Magistrate Court of Mississippi County, Missouri. His son, James Moore Haw, Jr., is also practicing law in Charleston, Mo. Mr. Haw lives at 316 E. Cypress St., Charleston.

R. B. OLIVER, Jr., AB, LLB, '04, and his wife Etta Estill Oliver, who were on M.S. Kingsholm—January to April—on a "Cruise of a Lifetime" around the world, were entertained by Ambassador John Allison and Mrs. Allison at the American Embassy in Tokyo during the three days the ship was in port at Yokohama. They were also entertained by friends in Cairo and Kowloon (Hong Kong).

02 Mrs. Hugo Muench, formerly ELIDA C. KIRCHNER, AM, lives at 3546 Grim Ave., San Diego 4, Calif.

03 JEPHtha RIGGS, AB, AM '01, and Mrs. Riggs celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary in May, 1956. Their home is at 903 Bellevue, St., Cape Girardeau, Mo.

HOWARD WELCH, AB, BS Agr. '06, is now retired from the faculty of the University of Montana and lives at 259 Jones Road in Los Gatos, Calif. His son, Howard, Jr., is a colonel in the U. S. Army, and John is an M.D. in Medford, Oregon.

DON C. CARTER of Sturgeon, Mo., began law practice in 1905 and last year celebrated his 50th year as a member of the Missouri Bar. He has served as prosecuting attorney, as state representative for Boone County, and continues to be active and influential in his profession.

04 GEORGE F. NARDIN, AB, retired last September from editorial work with Houghton Mifflin Company after a term of service that began in June, 1911. During that service Mr. Nardin was a salesman, assistant manager in the Chicago office, and for twenty-one years an editor of elementary school books in Boston. Mrs. Nardin, formerly ELIZABETH GATSON, is an alumna of Missouri, BS Ed. '17. Address: 1722 Fairacres Drive, Greeley, Colo.

One function the Alumnus provides, we like to believe, is the reuniting of old friends. It is good news to us when we hear of a reader striking up a correspondence with a long lost classmate whose name he has seen in our pages. J. P. (John Patrick) Peters, '04, attorney, Linn, Mo. began such a correspondence a few years ago with Hamp Rothwell, '02, who died last April. Then, early this summer, Mr. Peters saw a classmate about another old friend, Albert P. Hamilton, to whom he wrote a three-page letter. We regret to say that the intended recipient passed away before the letter arrived. We have a carbon of the letter, however, and it is full of reminiscences and names of alumni; we think some references to it will interest older grads.

Mr. Peters refers to several items in the May issue of the Alumnus, including the article on Judge George H. Moore, '02, who received his diploma from the hands of Mark Twain. He recalls that after graduation, "A bunch of us from south of the river came down that evening on the Old Missouri Midland, to Jefferson City, and enrolled in the Supreme Court."

In his letter Mr. Peters says, "You will recall, perhaps, our annual mock trial, about April, 1902, in which I took the role of chief prosecutor of the members of the discipline committee. They were charged with 'murder in the first degree for the heinous offense of murdering college spirit.' They were Richard Henry Jesse, high priest of the three; Millard Lewis Lipscomb, instructor in physics; and Benjamin Franklin Hoffman, teacher of Germanic languages. There was a separate charge against Jesse for the alleged swiping of Carrie Nation's hatchet on the occasion when she came to Columbia for a lecture at Stone's Hall. . . . I have that old indictment yet."

Judge Peters, 80 years old last Dec. 11, is in good health and "as active in practice as I ever was." He can look back on an impressive record of service in his county—18 years as prosecutor, 12 years as probate judge, 15 years as mayor of Linn and many years as president of the school board.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters observed their golden wedding anniversary in June, 1955. They have a son and two daughters, all married: Wade Peters, '30, with Phillips Petroleum Co., Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. Jack Murphy, Columbia; and Mrs. L. E. Parsons, Mexico, Mo. There are several grandchildren.

05 Mrs. Earl F. Nelson, formerly EDNA BASCOM JONES, lives at 6610 Waterman Ave., St. Louis 5, Mo.

STANLEY SISSON, BS Ed, AB, '06, and Mrs. Sisson are now living with their son Jack and wife at 11314 Applewood Drive, Hickman Mills, Mo. Mr. Sisson is now retired.

EDWARD S. NORTH, LLB, retired to Santa Barbara, Calif in 1953 after practicing law in Kansas City, Mo., since graduation. Mrs. North was formerly EDNA THOMAS, '05. Her sister, ETHEL THOMAS, now Mrs. Orville A. Smith, '05, also lives in Santa Barbara. Their two daughters are graduates of the University and both live in California near Mr. and Mrs. North—3015 Samarkand Drive, Santa Barbara.

FRANCIS EMMETT WILLIAMS, I. LB, retired under non-partisan Court plan on April 20, 1956 after being Circuit Judge since Jan. 1, 1941. His home is 4233 Shenandoah Ave., St. Louis 10, Mo.

06 BOYLE G. CLARK, LLB, was honored for 50 years membership in the bar at a dinner meeting last spring of the Boone County Bar Association. A plaque commemorating his career was presented to him and resolutions commending his life as an attorney were read. Among his outstanding influences in the legal profession was during his term as a disciplinary commissioner for the Missouri Supreme Court. The Clark home is at 245 S. Greenwood in Columbia, Mo.

07 MARY ELLEN CAMPBELL, AB, BS Ed, is a retired teacher and is now living on her Arizona homestead of 640 acres near Marana, Ariz.

08 HARRY A. PHILLIPS, AB, BS Ed, has recently retired after 40 years as a member of Central Missouri State College faculty in Warrensburg, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, the former Emma Gifford of New York, have one daughter, Mrs. ELEANOR DEARDORFF, '38, Palos Heights, Ill.

NEVORA FULLER Smith lives at 207 West Gold Ave., Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Frederic P. Lang, LLB, retired last year from a position with the Missouri State Compensation Commission. Mr. and Mrs. Lang, formerly FERN BELLE ALLISON, AB, '11, have recently established residence in Long Beach, Miss.

CLASS NOTES

B. Lippincott in 1956. Probably his most interesting book, this story of the Johnson County (Wyoming) cattle war tells of an old timer, a retired railroad conductor, who brought in a train carrying 25 killers from Indian Territory who were hired by the cattle barons of Wyoming to wipe out the small cattle raisers. Elston went to Wyoming to gather material for this book, and found the story still a heated subject among descendants of the Marked Men.

Suppose YOU decide on a career with New England Life

You've met the Company's qualifications, what next?

You'll join one of the many New England Life offices from Maine to Hawaii. There, while on a generous training allowance, you'll receive personal instruction in the fundamentals from your General Agent and your Supervisor.

You'll get supervised selling experience. Your Supervisor will help you apply your technical knowledge in diagnosing the client's needs. And you'll learn the selling skills so essential in recommending a life insurance program.

Then you'll qualify for the Career Underwriters' Training Course at the home office. After each step you'll see your earnings increase as your confidence and abilities develop. You'll have various and continuing opportunities for advanced training.

You'll go on to build your clientele on a professional basis. Your income will come from servicing your clients, as well as from new sources of business. And the expanding operations of New England Life also provide opportunity for those wishing to get into management.

Write directly to Vice President L. M. Huppeler, 501 Boylston Street, Boston 17, for more information about making a career with New England Life.

BY now more than twenty companies and foundations have established programs by which their employees' contributions to their colleges are matched dollar for dollar.

Each program is predicated on three assumptions:

- that the employee benefits continuously by a college experience paid for only in part, recognizes the fact, and wants to help make this same experience available to others;
- that the company also benefits continuously by the quality of experience of its college-graduate employees and wants, therefore, to share in making this experience available to others;
- that the college must continue—in the face of new and increasing demands—to offer the college experience, and must have the support of both types of beneficiaries to do so.

If these assumptions are correct, matching programs can be powerful factors in the support of American colleges and universities. Yet such programs can only be successful if college alumni recognize their growing obligations and act upon them.

There are many things alumni can do to help their colleges. But the first and easiest thing is to give regularly and substantially to the college gift fund.

"IT'S FUN TO PHONE"

"SO GLAD YOU CALLED"

"IT'S GOOD TO HEAR
YOUR VOICE"

"THE DANCE WAS SWELL"

Just calling up can brighten your day

The telephone can be priceless in emergencies. It's the world's best helper when it comes to saving time, trips and trouble.

But one of its greatest uses has nothing to do with sudden need or calls to the grocer, dentist, hairdresser, electrician, department store, etc.

It's to bring friends and families together.

Just to be able to lift the receiver and talk to others is one of the joys of the telephone.

Isn't there some news you'd like to share with someone right now? And hasn't that someone some news you'd like to hear?

A telephone call that costs so little can do so much to brighten the day at both ends of the line.
