XPLOR moves to the Web

Access to the World Wide Web is growing rapidly, and we're rushing to have Extension publications there when you connect. If you have Web access, check out our XPLOR site at the URL listed at the top of this page. We have hundreds of publications on-line now, and we're adding more at a rapid pace.

If you don't have Web access, or just don't want to wait on a slow connection, try our XPLOR CD-ROM. Take a look at the "◀" and the "•" following our publication listings on pages 5 through 25. The full text of all these publications will be on our 1997 XPLOR CD, our full-text searchable electronic library of information.

Balancing work and family

Most working parents feel conflict between family and work responsibilities. Our Balancing Work & Family packet can help employers and employees work together to create family-friendly programs where everyone benefits.

Award winning video —

IPM helps gardeners safeguard the environment

Our Cooperative Video Group won a 1996 Telly Award for the video, Integrated Pest Management: A Basic Concept for Better Gardening. This video will help any gardener, landscaper or homeowner apply IPM concepts and methods to everyday pest problems. IPM is a strategy for disease, insect and weed management that safeguards the environment by using least-toxic control methods.

Six prominent experts from the Missouri Botanical Garden, the Chicago Botanic Garden and the University of Missouri share their knowledge of IPM with you. This video makes it all practical, easy-to-understand and user-friendly.

About Our Publications

Each University Extension Publication in this catalog has a number with an alphabetical prefix. This prefix tells you a little about the publications. Guides are one to sixteen pages long and contain information about a single subject. Folders are generally small brochures. Picture sheets are color photographs that can help you identify such things as common fruit insects and wheat diseases. Manuals, extension circulars and miscellaneous publications are longer and cover topics in depth. Research bulletins are reports of University research written for an audience of peers. Special reports are reports of research written for a more general audience.
