Today's Weather

It's going to be partly cloudy today with a high of 68 degrees. Luckily, that nasty wind from the weekend is gone!

Have You Heard?

Oversupply of student housing may create a steady trend of decreasing rent in Columbia

Columbia currently ranks No. 8 out of the top 10 U.S. cities that have experienced decreases in rent between the months of January and February.

Columbia Missourian: American Association of University Professors to UM Curators: Bring back Melissa Click

In a letter from AAUP's associate secretary, Hans-Joerg Tiede urged interim MU Chancellor Hank Foley and the UM Board of Curators to reverse their decision to fire assistant communications professor Melissa Click.

Interim Chancellor Hank Foley hosted his weekly, informal chat with students last Friday. Many of the conversations were about MU's decision to fire Click.

Let's dig a little deeper.

Despite the decrease in rent and the fact that applications to MU declined this upcoming year by 941 freshmen, the city is still building up. The replotting for a 10-story apartment complex was recently approved by the Columbia City Council for downtown. ABODO spokesman Sam Radbil said the city's decrease in rent over the past few months can be attributed to an oversupply of housing.

Today's Weather

You know what they say: in like a lion and (hopefully) out like a lamb! Today is going to be rainy with a high of 43. Not quite a lion, but still not as nice as a lamb.

Have You Heard?

**Gateway Hall vandalized for second time this school year**

A flyer in Gateway Hall had an anti-Semitic message written on it, according to a Residential Life statement. MU Police Department and Title IX are investigating and suspect it happened Sunday night.

**Get to know the MSA candidates as students**

The Missouri Students Association special election is underway. Each candidate has a unique story that brought them to run. Get to know them and cast your vote before 5 p.m. Wednesday.

**Melissa Click's classes will continue being taught by guest faculty**

After Melissa Click's dismissal, students wondered what would happen to her classes, since it's already well into the semester. Volunteer faculty members from across campus have continued to teach her classes, but the question of her replacement is still up in the air.

**Let's dig a little deeper.**

For the fourth time in the last year, MU's residence halls have been vandalized with anti-Semitic images. Last April, Mark Twain was twice vandalized with images of swastikas. Then, a swastika drawn in feces appeared in a bathroom in Gateway in October. The freshman suspected of drawing the swastikas in Mark Twain was arrested. The feces-swastika culprit hasn't been caught. Come on people. It's 2016.

Today's Weather

It should be a little warmer than yesterday, but you'll still need a jacket. The high is 55 degrees, and it'll be partly cloudy.

Have You Heard?

Student organizations, administrators condemn Gateway Hall vandalism

After Gateway Hall was vandalized with an anti-Semitic message for the second time this year, the Jewish Student Organization and Residence Halls Association both released statements speaking out against the incident. "Even though we learn our University's four core values the moment we step on campus, it is disheartening there are still members in our community who do not understand them," the RHA statement read. "When we choose to act against others in harmful and destructive ways, we choose to disobey moral obligations and hurt the community and its members."

Concerned Student 1950 clarifies letter from Chuck Henson

Last Thursday, interim Vice Chancellor for Diversity, Inclusion and Equity Chuck Henson sent a letter to student activist group Concerned Student 1950 telling them "the time for demands, threats and arbitrary deadlines is over" and asking the group to meet with him. The group had re-released their demands to administrators the day before with specific deadlines. However, founding Concerned Student 1950 member Maxwell Little said Henson's letter had been misinterpreted in a Columbia Missourian article and that individuals in the group had already met with Henson.

Columbia makes way for 10-story student housing complex

Students will be evicted from their apartments in James Condominiums and Quinton's Bar & Deli and Britches Clothing will be closing, thanks to a new 10-story student housing complex in the works. The real estate will officially change hands in April.

Let's dig a little deeper.

Interim Chancellor Hank Foley and Henson also sent an email to students about the vandalism. "This type of vandalism attacks everyone," the email reads. "Our core values — including that of Respect — must become more than words on paper or a banner. They are the foundation of who we desire to be as a campus community and the way we all need to conduct ourselves." The MU Police Department and the Office for Civil Rights and Title IX are still investigating the incident.

Law student starts petition to preserve historic downtown

Law student Grace Shemwell created a petition that would create a zoning requirement that will take into account what the citizens want. The petition was inspired by the recent passing of replatting land for the construction of a 10-story student housing complex.

Let's dig a little deeper.

The MSA special election was the result of a flawed election season last semester, resulting in the resignations of Haden Gomez and Chris Hanner, who were elected last November. Only 3,683 students voted in this election, a decrease of 34 percent compared to last fall. A referendum to move elections to the spring was also on the ballot and passed with 82 percent of the vote. The winning slate's platform emphasized social justice issues and MSA transparency.

Today's Weather

Tomorrow's the start of another beautiful weekend! There will be a high of 56 with slight winds throughout the day.

Have You Heard?

50 new cigarette recycling boxes arrive in Columbia

After dealing with years of environmental pollution, particularly concerning the toxins released into the streams and creeks of Columbia, the city has installed 50 boxes for the purpose of cigarette disposal. The plastic cigarette filters, scattered throughout the downtown area, are designed to capture all of the remaining carcinogens leftover from cigarette butts.

Two honeybee hives to join MU's campus

As part of their latest project, Sustain Mizzou is introducing two beehives to the MU campus, in hopes of increasing environmental awareness and educating students. The bees will be housed in either Eckles Butterfly Garden or Sanborn Field.

Mark McDaniel replaces Kevin Carr as MSA senate speaker

In a Feb. 24 Missouri Students Association Senate meeting, Senate Speaker Kevin Carr stepped down, leaving his position in the hands of fifth-year senior Mark McDaniel. McDaniel wants to reestablish trust in MSA by opening up communications between students and the organization.

Let's dig a little deeper.

The recycling company TerraCycle has continued its cigarette filter collection in the city of Columbia with the installation of 50 new cigarette recycling boxes. Columbia Stormwater Educator Mike Heimos and Downtown Community Improvement District executive director Katie Essing hope this addition to the downtown area will decrease the amount of waste flowing into the rivers and creeks of Columbia.

Heimos is often frustrated by the environmentally harmful actions of MU students, saying that they disregard the importance of environmental protection because Columbia is not their permanent home.

"One little butt doesn't seem like a big deal, but we need to have pride in our Columbia environment," he said. "We need to stop treating Columbia like it's a toilet."
