

The Maneater Daily

View this email in your browser

Monday, December 5, 2016

Today is going to warm up, after the tiniest bit of snowfall yesterday. The high will be 52 degrees, and the low will be 31. A nice start to the last week of classes!

Daily Roundup

The former Mizzou tutor who claimed she helped athletes took her story to the media, according to her Twitter

Yolanda Kumar made headlines over Thanksgiving break after saying that she completed classes, answered assessment questions and took tests for Mizzou athletes. Her story prompted a NCAA investigation into academic fraud at MU. She tweeted Sunday that she promised the exclusive story to "a VERY BIG sports program." Dave Matter of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch tweeted that Kumar confirmed this to the Post-Dispatch.

Ellis Library brings back 24-hour service for finals week

For two more weeks this semester, Ellis will bring back its 24-hour schedule for finals season. The library hours have been a sore spot for many, since Ellis reduced its hours because of budget cuts this year. Now you can relive last year's late nights as you try to catch up for this year's finals.

Mizzou women's basketball falls 73-45 to IUPUI

The Tigers (6-3) were unable to keep their winning streak from earlier in the week going. Even though they led in the first quarter, the team was unable to keep it against Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis. Sophie Cunningham scored the most, with 13 points. Mizzou is back at Mizzou Arena on Wednesday against Southern Illinois-Edwardsville.

MOVE magazine

What MOVE recommends...

The best study music is hard to find, especially when it's time to really hit the books. MOVE has the perfect quiz from the archives to make your finals week a little bit better. Are you a fan of classical music or more of a coffeehouse and acoustic kind of person? Take the quiz and find out! Your studying will be better for it.

Sports

Recap: The Steelers won 24-14 against the Giants. The Jets beat the Blackhawks 2-1.

What to Watch: The Colts play the Jets at 7:30 p.m. on ESPN. The Panthers take on the Bruins at 6 p.m. on FSFL.

What to Do Today

- MU Student Health Center's Noon Meditation, 12:15-12:45 p.m. @ Contemplative Practice Center

WANT YOUR AD HERE?

CONTACT US
ADVERTISING@THEMANEATER.COM

$10 per day, or $50 for 7 days

Compiled by Regina Anderson

This daily newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine in coordination with Mizzou Student Media.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

The Maneater Daily

View this email in your browser

Tuesday, December 6, 2016

It's about to be a windy day, so remember your scarves and gloves. The high today will be 42 degrees, and the low will be 28.

Daily Roundup

Schurz and McDavid Halls are closing for the 2016-17 school year

The RHA president Matt Bourke announced Monday that both Schurz and McDavid Halls are closing. The school previously closed Respect and Excellence Halls last year in addition to Laws and Lathrop due to a drop in enrollment at the university.

The search for an MU chancellor has begun

Interim UM System President Mike Middleton announced a nationwide search for MU's next chancellor in an email on Monday. Middleton said the first step is to create a search committee and a timeline for the search process after speaking with university officials. Hank Foley has served as interim chancellor since November 2015 after former Chancellor R. Bowen Loftin resigned.

MOVE magazine

What MOVE recommends...

Ben Folds is coming back to CoMo. After his performance at Roots N Blues earlier this fall, Folds will be back in February as part of his tour, "Ben Folds and a Piano." If you missed his show at Roots N Blues, you can check out MOVE's review here. Tickets go on sale Friday at 10 a.m.

Sports

Recap: The Indianapolis Colts won 41-10 against the New York Jets. The Boston Bruins took on the Florida Panthers and they won 4-3.

What to Watch: The St. Louis Blues play the Montreal Canadiens at 7 p.m. on FSMW. The Chicago Bulls take on the Detroit Pistons at 6:30 p.m. on CSNC.

What to Do Today

- Mizzou Men's Basketball vs. Miami \(Ohio\), 7-9 p.m. @ Mizzou Arena
- Swing Dance Lesson, 7-9:30 p.m. @ Mark Twain Ballroom, N201 Memorial Union

WANT YOUR AD HERE?

CONTACT US
ADVERTISING@THEMANEATER.COM
$10 per day, or $50 for 7 days

Compiled by Regina Anderson

This daily newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine in coordination with Mizzou Student Media.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

The Maneater Daily

View this email in your browser

Wednesday, December 7, 2016

It's colder than usual today, with a high of 35. Not only that, but the low is 18. That's right, you read correctly — 18 measly degrees. Winter is on its way, and it's not letting up. The dress for the day: layers.

Daily Roundup

Delta Upsilon suspended by the fraternity's international Board of Directors

The Delta Upsilon International Fraternity Board of Directors announced Tuesday that the MU chapter of Delta Upsilon will be suspended. The hearing that led to this suspension occurred on Nov. 19 and was announced in a news release yesterday. The chapter will not be reinstated until at least fall of 2018. Until then, all members will have a suspended status and all fraternity activities must cease. The overall decision to ultimately reinstate the chapter will be the responsibility of the Delta Upsilon national fraternity.

"Delta Upsilon is committed to being an integral, productive part of any campus community," said Justin Kirk, Delta Upsilon national executive director. "Therefore, we hold all of our members and chapters accountable to a set of standards. Unfortunately, repeated failure to meet those standards led to this tough decision."

Yesterday's newsletter misstated the school year in which Schurz and McDavid halls would be unavailable. The halls will be "offline" for the 2017-18 school year. The Maneater Daily regrets this error.

Feature of the Day

Get Ready for a Killers Christmas

Since 2006, The Killers have been adding their own flair to Christmas by releasing a Christmas-themed single every year. They've released 11 songs so far, and this year they released an album compiling all of them. Even during years when the band hasn't been together, they've given us a great alternative song to rock to on Christmas.

Not only do they add rocking flair to the holiday, but they also support a worthy cause. The band partners with Product Red, a campaign that benefits AIDS funding and research. All proceeds from their Christmas singles go toward the cause.

Now, go forth and rock, Killers style. Your Christmas will be better for it.

Read full story here.

Advertisement

MOVE magazine

What MOVE recommends...

Don't let a general lack of space lessen your spirit this holiday season. Whether you're in a dorm or an apartment, any space can feel like home with the right decorations. If you like keeping it simple, string some lights that will twinkle all night long or decorate a little tree. If you want to take it up a notch, hop over to Pinterest and crank out the holiday crafts. Another great idea: seasonal plants. Plants like poinsettias and Christmas cacti are perfect this time of year. And don't forget to crank the holiday tunes while you're hanging the holly!

Sports

Recap: The Magic beat the Wizards 124-116, the Knicks beat the Heat 114-103, and the Pistons beat the Bulls 102-91.

What to Watch: The Celtics play the Magic at 6 p.m., the Heat play the Hawks at 6:30 p.m., and the Warriors play the Clippers at 9:30 p.m. But, most importantly, Mizzou women's basketball plays SIUE in Mizzou Arena at 7 p.m.

What to Do Today

- Stitch 'N Bitch, 4-6 p.m. @ the Women's Center
- An Evening with Deanne Bell, 7:30-9:30 p.m. @ Jesse Auditorium
- FREE: Miss Peregrino's Home for Peculiar Children, 8-10 p.m. @ Wrench Auditorium

Compiled by Rebekah Komer

This daily newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine in coordination with Mizzou Student Media.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

The Maneater Daily

View this email in your browser

Thursday, December 8, 2016

Today's going to be the coldest day of the season so far. The high is 28 degrees, and the low will be 15. Water freezes in these temperatures, so make sure you don't!

Daily Roundup

Mizzou football receives an anonymous million-dollar donation

The money is going toward the previously announced plan to build a new south end zone facility at Memorial Stadium. This isn't the only anonymous donation the athletics department has received in recent months. The most recent donation to the department was $1.4 million, given Nov. 30.

Mizzou women's basketball wins in home game against SIUE

After being beaten by IUPUI Sunday, the Tigers were able to win 72-60 against Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville on Wednesday. The team had an early 9-0 lead, but SIUE kept the game close, trailing by only 5 points at the end of the first half. This win shows that the Tigers can still win without their lead scorer, sophomore Sophie Cunningham.

Feature of the Day

Cullen the coach: VanLeer utilizes education roots to mentor teammates

When many children his age were still learning their ABCs and 123s, Cullen VanLeer learned the game of basketball next to his dad.

John VanLeer, who is in his 24th season as head coach at Pacific High School, often brought his toddler son with him to scout opponents. Throughout the games, Cullen watched his dad write down notes about specific players and plays that might work against the opponent in the future.

Despite Cullen's age, John didn't have to worry about watching him and the game at the same time, though.

"It wasn't like I had to give him a video game," John said. "He would actually watch the game."

Cullen's early exposure to basketball has turned him into Cullen the coach, who has become an extension of the Missouri coaching staff on the floor. Cullen's basketball IQ has proved even more valuable this season as the education major helps freshmen transition to Southeastern Conference basketball.

Read more here.

WANT YOUR AD HERE?

CONTACT US
ADVERTISING@THEMANEATER.COM

$10 per day, or $50 for 7 days

What MOVE recommends...

The holiday season is the perfect time for the cheesiest movies around. It's like comfort food for the soul. Thankfully, the Hallmark Channel has low-budget Christmas movies on 24/7 for the entire holiday season. If you only have time for one, MOVE suggests you watch "A Dog Named Christmas." The movie revolves around a boy with a learning disability who convinces his dad to adopt a dog for the holidays, but with a catch. They have to return the dog after Christmas. Watch to get in the yuletide mood!

Sports

Recap: The Washington Capitals won against the Boston Bruins 4-3 in overtime. The Cleveland Cavaliers beat the New York Knicks 126-94.

What to Watch: The San Antonio Spurs play the Chicago Bulls at 8:30 p.m. on TNT. The Kansas City Chiefs take on the Oakland Raiders at 7:25 p.m. on NFL Network.

What to Do Today

- Enjoy your last day of classes before finals hell!

Compiled by Regina Anderson

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

the MOVE groove

As the semester comes to an end, it's time for more than just worrying about finals. It's also time to look back on 2016 and look forward to the holidays. This MOVE Groove has everything from study tips to a Christmas playlist to a timeline of the best memes of 2016.

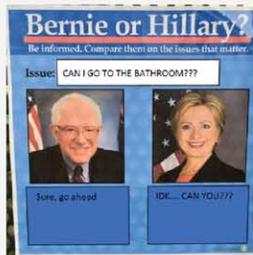

2016, thanks for the meme-ories

Are you ready to re-live the dumpster fire that was 2016? Forget about the political turmoil and disease outbreaks, and remember it the best way possible: memes. We've compiled the defining memes for each month, along with their origins and examples for each. Check out a sample of what this year had to offer below, or read the full timeline here.

2016, THANKS FOR THE MEME-ORIES

From Here Comes Dat Boi to Arthur to Harambe, 2016's memes may just be the best thing to come out of this ridiculous year. Well, maybe not Harambe. Take a look back at some of our favorites:

JANUARY

BERNIE VS HILLARY

On Jan. 28, Jeff Wysaski posted the first series of comparison photos between the then-competitors for the Democratic nomination: Hillary Clinton and Bernie Sanders. The meme is simple: The header asks a nonpolitical question, and Bernie answers in a hip way while Hillary answers in a less-hip way. The meme has been criticized for being sexist.

APRIL

CONFUSED MR. KRABS

The confused Mr. Krabs meme appears to be a warped shot from the SpongeBob SquarePants season 2 episode "Patty Hype," according to knowyourmeme.com. The meme is used to express confusion and general angst about practically any situation.

MAY

here come dat boi!!!!!!
o shit waddup!

DAT BOI

Featuring a frog on a unicycle, the Dat Boi meme appears to have originated on the Facebook page, "Fresh Memes About the Mojave Desert and Other Delectable Cuisines," according to New York Magazine. One member of Animation Factory, the group responsible for the original GIF of the unicycling frog, called their work "bizarre off-the-wall garbage."

JUNE

Cincinnati Zoo on Harambe: "We are not amused by the memes" nym.ag/2b9xJGZ

HARAMBE

In late May, Harambe, a 17-year-old silverback gorilla, was shot and killed at the Cincinnati Zoo after a toddler fell into his enclosure. What started as genuine outrage over the incident morphed into a Twitter meme that put Harambe's death on the same level as others we lost in 2016, such as Prince, David Bowie and Muhammad Ali.

AUGUST

ARTHUR FIST

The screencap of Arthur's fist originates all the way back in 1999, in "Arthur's Big Hit," the first episode of season 4 for the children's TV show. Arthur's fist has spawned a slew of other Arthur memes, which often take innocent scenes from the PBS show and caption them with sexually questionable or explicit material. The network responded to the trend, saying they were "disappointed by the few that are outside of good taste."

NOVEMBER

DARK KERMIT

In the 2014 "Muppets Most Wanted" Kermit must confront his evil lookalike, Constantine. Little does Kermit know that one day his rival will represent the inner selves of memers around the globe. The meme began Nov. 6 when the Twitter account @aaannnyyyyaaaa posted the now iconic meme with the text: "me: sees a fluffy dog me to me: steal him."

Information compiled by Kyra Haas

TORI AERNI // GRAPHICS MANAGER

We are all in for this Gilmore Girls gift guide

Oy, with the poodles already. If you're not obsessed with Gilmore Girls even after the recent release of its revival on Netflix, chances are you know someone who is. This gift guide has something for every kind of fan of the show. Highlights include an unofficial cookbook of recipes from the show, a #TeamLogan candle, and a coffee mug that reads, "I drink like a Gilmore."

THE YEAR THAT WAS

TORIA ERNI // GRAPHICS MANAGER

Rest in pieces, 2016

By Hannah Simon

2016 is the middle child that could not live up to the expectations set by 2015. The world still holds out hope that 2017 will be its retribution, but that hope is hanging by the thinnest of threads.

Of course, not everything was bad about 2016. For instance, Rob and Chyna had a baby, and the women's gymnastic team dominated at the Olympics. Yet even these happy bursts of life could not make up for the year that made you feel like you were drowning in an ocean of lard.

Read the full column about 2016's worst here.

How to work a little so you can ball a lot

The wise (well, maybe not-so-wise) Tom Haverford once said, “Sometimes you gotta work a little so you can ball a lot.” But the Parks and Recreation character to truly channel this upcoming finals week is Leslie Knope. And if she were here, this is the studying advice she’d give you:

- Keep your motivations within sight. Leslie adorned her office with her Wall of Inspirational Women — including herself, because, as she puts it, “I am big enough to admit that I am often inspired by myself.” Keep photos of the people who inspire you to work for your degree in your study space or on your binder. Or, have pictures of your friends, family and beloved pets you want to work hard for.
- To quote Leslie: “It’s so hard to read when you’re drunk.” Get your partying out of the way on Reading Day so you can focus up when it really counts. You definitely don’t want to try to read those five Poli Sci chapters you’ve been putting off while under the influence, and you definitely don’t want to be hungover during the exam.
- It might only be one week, but stay organized! If you only have two or three exams, it can be easy to fool yourself into thinking you have so much time to study to the point where you forget to actually study. Set aside some time today to write yourself a little schedule. With your to-dos of packing, note-card making, doing that last load of laundry and writing your final paper assigned to specific days and times, it’ll be less likely that you’ll forget something important (like a blue book) and you’ll be more aware of when your free time actually is. Future-president Knope calls this “jamming on your planner.”
- Stay positive. Being nervous about an exam is normal, but if you drill into your head that you’re going to do badly on a test before you even take it, you'll end up impacting your performance. Leslie might be a little too positive ("No matter what I do, literally nothing bad can happen to me. I'm like a white male U.S. senator," or "There's nothing we can't do if we work hard, never sleep and shirk all other responsibilities in our lives!") but there's nothing wrong with a little optimism.

Food & drink of the week

If you like cooking: This Brie en Croute recipe is delicious and makes for a great holiday soiree appetizer. Add dried cranberries (with the walnuts already called for) for a sweet addition to a savory dish.

If you like wine: Pair a champagne with the recipe above. The acidity and richness will blend well with the brie and puff pastry. And after all, you are celebrating.

The best music of the year

If you'd rather look back on the highs rather than the lows, check out MOVE's lists of top 10 albums of the year.

Music columnist Grant Sharples' No. 1: Bon Iver, 22, A Million

Sharples admired it's "glitchy, unconventional sounds and textures" and believes it's a "masterpiece of a record" that received much-deserved hype. Read the full column for more of his favorites here.

Columnist Gracie Sands' No. 1: Chance the Rapper, Coloring Book

Sands believes this album is his "best release yet, seamlessly combining elements of soul, jazz and rap all into one masterpiece mixtape." Read the full column for more of Sands's top albums here.

Columnist Kaelyn Sturgell's top alternative album: The 1975, I like it when you sleep, for you are so beautiful yet so unaware of it

This album is a major shift in sound and style for The 1975, but maintains the "socially progressive" and "anti-culture" roots of the British boy band that fans love so much. Read the full column for more top alternative releases here.

If Christmas music is more your thing, check out our holiday Spotify playlist.

(And while you're at it, we've got a swanky Pinterest board for holiday crafts.)

Copyright © 2016 MOVE Magazine, All rights reserved.

This weekly newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine in coordination with Mizzou Student Media. Compiled by Katherine White, Bailey Sampson and Victoria Cheyne.

MOVE

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

MOVE: Music. Outings. Venues. Events.