Sections of Lowry Mall will be closed starting May 15

Lowry Mall will be under construction to repair the steam tunnels beneath it starting May 15. Mark Yount, a media producer for MU Operations, said the current steam tunnels beneath the mall date back to 1923. The Hitt Street side will be dug up first and completed by October 2017. The section closer to Ninth Street will be completed in March 2018. Construction will cause a change in routes for students because the tunnels run underneath both Ninth and Hitt streets.

J'den Cox won his third national championship this weekend

The team itself did not do as well, finishing fifth place overall at this year's championships. Cox's win makes him the first wrestler in program history to win three national championships. Cox finished his senior season 24-0 and 73-3 in his career at Missouri. This has led some people, like Dave Matter, to say he might be the best athlete in Mizzou history.

"It's nice to be recommended," Cox said. "I didn't do this for the accolades. ... I did it for the love of the sport. But for people to say that, I'm honored to be put in that category."

Column: 'Get Out' is a film that every person should watch

Columnist Kennedy Horton explains why "Get Out" is the best film of 2017 so far:

"The movie is a commentary and demonstration of the black experience. It shows the frightening reality of being a person of color, specifically a black person, in America. It also demonstrates the frustration and silencing effect institutional racism has on its victims. Peele does this through a seemingly innocent visit by Chris, the black boyfriend, and Rose, the white girlfriend, to Rose's parents' home for the weekend. It is a genius movie that all people, no matter what color you are or what your favorite genre is, should see."

After winning, the collegiate a capella quarterfinals, The Naturelles are prepping for the semis this week

Reaching high notes and greater heights of accomplishments, one of MU's a cappella groups, The Naturelles, has caught a new lead toward an 11-year dream.

The Naturelles are a group of 15 female singers who recently competed in the International Championship of Collegiate A Cappella Midwest Quarterfinal hosted at Washington University in St. Louis. For the quarterfinals, the group had to compete against 10 other college groups of the 300 total at the competition. The Naturelles made history by being MU's first a cappella group to win the quarterfinal and make it to semifinals.
