

The Maneater Daily

The MANEATER Daily

Monday, April 17, 2017

This week's weather is going to start warm, but then end cooler. The high today will be 72 degrees, and the low will be 54.

Daily Roundup

Cathy Scroggs, vice chancellor for student affairs, speaks at the MSA presidential inauguration April 13, 2017. | Sophie Nedelco/Photographer

Vice Chancellor for Students Affairs Cathy Scroggs will retire in July

Scroggs, MU's top student affairs official, announced her upcoming retirement in a news release Friday. Scroggs has been at MU since 1985 and has served as vice chancellor since 2003. She also completed her doctorate in higher education administration here. Currently, there are no decisions on her replacement, MU spokesman Christian Basi said in an email.

“Mizzou has been my home for 32 years, and I’m very proud of the work we have done to support and serve students,” Scroggs said in the news release. “Students come first in Student Affairs, and that will never change.”

90th annual Tap Day welcomes over 60 new students into six honor societies

Tap Day is an MU tradition dating back to 1927. The original Tap Day took place in front of the columns on Francis Quadrangle, but this past Friday, it was held in Jesse Auditorium. There are six recognized secret societies at MU: QEBH, Mystical Seven, LSV, Mortar Board, Omicron Delta Kappa and the Rollins Society. Take a look at the list of people who got tapped here.

Sports

Courtesy of Michael Tipton via Flickr

NBA Recap:

- The Cleveland Cavaliers survived a scare against the Indiana Pacers in Game One of their series. The Cavs defeated the Pacers 109-108 when CJ Miles’ game-winning shot clanked off the rim.
-

The Milwaukee Bucks and the Utah Jazz both played the role of spoiler Saturday — the Bucks rolled over the Toronto Raptors 97-83, and the Jazz hit a buzzer-beater to win 97-95 over the Los Angeles Clippers.

- The Chicago Bulls pulled off an upset Sunday when they defeated the Boston Celtics 106-102. There have only been five eight-seeds to defeat the one-seed in NBA history, with the last coming in 2012 when the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Bulls in six games.
- Game One of the James Harden-Russell Westbrook showdown went to Harden and the Houston Rockets, as they defeated Westbrook and the Oklahoma City Thunder 118-87. Harden finished with 37 points, nine assists and seven rebounds, while Westbrook had 22 points, 11 rebounds and seven assists.

NHL Recap:

- The St. Louis Blues defeated the Minnesota Wild on Sunday night 3-1 and have jumped out to a 3-0 series lead. Only four teams have blown a 3-0 lead in NHL history, so unless the unexpected happens, the Blues will be moving on soon.
- The Pittsburgh Penguins have also dominated their opening round series, as they have jumped out to a 3-0 lead on the Columbus Blue Jackets. The Penguins won 4-3 in overtime Sunday in Columbus.
- While the Blues and Penguins have thrived this postseason, the Chicago Blackhawks have struggled mightily. The Blackhawks lost 5-0 to the Nashville Predators on Saturday night, which puts them in a two-game hole going back to Nashville for games four and five. The Blackhawks failed to score a goal in either of the first two games.
- The Toronto Maple Leafs outlasted the Washington Capitals in two overtimes on Saturday to win 4-3 to even the series at one.

Courtesy of CollegeDegrees360 on Flickr

College students are nothing if not sleep-deprived. However, sleep is an important piece of the puzzle when it comes to success, and there are certain tools and tricks you can use to help you get a restful eight hours (or even five hours — anything is better than nothing!). MOVE columnist Brooke Collier has your back — you can check out all her tips for sleeping better here.

What to Do Today

- Building Trust & Talking Science in Food & Ag, 2-3:30 p.m. @ Smith Forum, 200 Reynolds Journalism Institute
- RecSports Registration: Kickball Tournament, Ultimate Frisbee Tournament, 6-10 p.m. @ RecSports Office, Near Court No. 4

Compiled by Regina Anderson
Sports by Cole Bollinger

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

The Maneater Daily

The MANEATER Daily

Tuesday, April 18, 2017

The week continues to warm up! The high today will be 79 degrees, and the low will be 60. It will be partly sunny all day.

Daily Roundup

Parents of a student who died after he fell off a balcony have reached a $5 million settlement

MU freshman Jack Lipp fell off a two-story balcony in 2014 at a Pi Kappa Phi rush party. His parents reached a $5 million settlement with the company Ginger C, LLC, the owners of the property where Lipp was injured. Lipp fell Dec. 13, 2014, and died from his injuries on Dec. 25. The company had inspected and was aware of the defective balcony, but declined to fix it because the house was set to be demolished soon anyway.

Sports

Courtesy of arianapup via Flickr

Recap:

The Chicago Blackhawks lost 3-2 against the Nashville Predators. The Cleveland Cavaliers won 117-111 against the Indiana Pacers. The St. Louis Cardinals won 2-1 against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

What to Watch:

The Chicago Bulls play the Boston Celtics at 7 p.m. on TNT. The Kansas City Royals take on San Francisco Giants at 7:15 p.m. on FSKC.

MOVE
magazine

Some pop culture moments that people are still talking about...

- Bill Nye and Tyler, The Creator teamed up to make a new theme song for Nye's new show on Netflix, "Bill Nye Saves the World." You can listen to a clip of the new theme here.
- SNL was live from coast to coast for the first time in its history. Jimmy Fallon hosted and performed an extravagant opening number, but the real standout was Melissa McCarthy's return to her role as Sean Spicer. The sketch can be viewed here.
- Journalist and movie fan Brian J. White has started a new trend on Twitter where you recast classic movies, but no one can be a straight, white man. It's made for some good-looking casts.

 Brian J. White
@talkwordy Follow

Young Batman, played by Oscar Issac. Lupita Nyong'o is Robin. Daniel Wu is Lieutenant James Gordan. John Boyega is Assistant DA Harvey Dent.

RETWEETS 519 LIKES 2,040

9:27 AM - 15 Apr 2017

Pablo Defendini
@pablod

 Follow

Replying to @talkwordy

.@talkwordy Back to The Future: Jaden Smith as Marty McFly, Kate McKinnon as 'Doc' Brown.

RETWEETS
1,303

LIKES
4,937

8:06 PM - 15 Apr 2017

SmallRabbit
@smallrabbit

 Follow

Ferris Bueller's Day Off. Ferris = Rosario Dawson, Cameron = Winona Ryder, Rooney = Samuel L Jackson

Brian J. White @talkwordy

Replying to @talkwordy

This is fun. Guys, recast your favorite movies/shows with the following rules: no straight white men. Genderflipping is encouraged.

RETWEETS
222

LIKES
952

10:51 PM - 15 Apr 2017

What to Do Today

- OUTReach Panel, 3-4 p.m. @ The Bridge in the College of Education
- Spanish Language and Costa Rican Culture, 3-4 p.m. @ 2206A Student Center

Compiled by Regina Anderson

This daily newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine.

Want to change how you receive these emails?

You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

The Maneater Daily

Wednesday, April 19, 2017

Things are heating up today before thunderstorms during the rest of the week. The high today will be 85 degrees, and the low will be 63.

Daily Roundup

 lilyachty ...

Lil Yachty Live
Hosted by DJ Still III
Wednesday 04 19
Show starts at 9PM
$30 Tickets
$60 VIP

Liked by champaypapi and 21,951 others lilyachty Sorry Missouri this is very much fake. Won't be there tomorrow.

Courtesy of Lil Yachty Instagram. The post has since been deleted.

Lil Yachty's concert in Columbia today turned out to be fake

The show was supposed to take place tonight at Club Impulse & Rehab Room, a venue on Paris Road, but Lil Yachty announced on his Instagram that the show wasn't ever going to happen. The MU chapter of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity had been selling tickets for the event in Speakers Circle, where they will now set up a refund booth until Friday.

Feature of the Day

For women seeking abortions, state restrictions make access a challenge

Alison Dreith never imagined that she would receive an abortion. But last May, at the age of 35, she went with her husband to Illinois for the procedure.

One in three women in America will have an abortion during her lifetime, but in Missouri, restrictions on access to abortion services have made getting abortions very difficult.

Missouri law requires a 72-hour waiting period for women before they have their initial consultation with an abortion provider. Dreith, who lives in St. Louis and is the executive director of NARAL Pro-Choice Missouri, decided to get her abortion in Illinois because she didn't want to be forced to wait. Through NARAL, she knew the provider in Illinois personally, which she said made the choice to go out of state easier.

"[Having to get an abortion] was really shocking," Dreith said. "I decided to have my abortion procedure in Illinois because I had waited long enough ... I didn't want to be shamed by Missouri law and wait 72 hours again."

Read the rest of the feature here.

Sports

Recap:

The Chicago Bulls won 111-97 against the Boston Celtics. The Kansas City Royals lost 2-1 against the San Francisco Giants.

What to Watch:

The St. Louis Blues take on the Minnesota Wild at 8:30 p.m. on NBCS.
The St. Louis Cardinals play the Pittsburgh Pirates at 12:45 p.m. on FSMW.

MOVE
magazine

Courtesy of Wikimedia Commons

After the new “Star Wars” trailer dropped, people were left with more questions than answers. If it left you scratching your head, never fear! MOVE’s own Katherine White created a guide to answer your questions. From Luke’s dramatic new look to the Rey’s parents, it’s all laid out for you here.

What to Do Today

- Candid Chat: Slut Shaming, 12-1 p.m. @ LGBTQ Resource Center
- Exhibit Talk: Picturing Trans-Positive Apparel, 12:30-1:30 p.m. @ The Bridge in the College of Education
- FREE Wednesday Film: The Founder, 8-10 p.m. @ Wrench

Auditorium, Memorial Union South

Compiled by Regina Anderson

This daily newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

The Maneater Daily

The MANEATER Daily

Thursday, April 20, 2017

Pack your umbrella if you have early classes; there's going to be some rain. It should clear up by about 10 a.m. The high today will be 71 degrees, and the low will be 48.

Daily Roundup

Planned Parenthood in Columbia | Maneater File Photo

Columbia's Planned Parenthood might be allowed to perform abortions again

A federal judge granted a preliminary injunction, or order, against abortion restrictions in Missouri. The injunction prevents two abortion-provider requirements from being carried out, clearing the way for providers like Planned Parenthood to provide abortions. Previously, a clinic could not perform an abortion if it wasn't licensed as an ambulatory surgical center, and doctors who performed abortions were required to have admitting privileges at a nearby hospital. Columbia's Planned Parenthood clinic has been unable to provide abortions since 2015.

Feature of the Day

AEPI was only one of the several Greek houses on campus to hang banners for visiting basketball recruits. Lane Burdette/Staff Photographer

Blake Harris talks about his visit and commitment to Mizzou

When Blake Harris got to the University of Missouri, he felt like a superstar.

There were cheering fans, banners hanging from fraternity houses and tons of social media buzz.

Harris, a four-star point guard, took his official campus visit the weekend of April 8-9 alongside No. 1 recruit Michael Porter Jr., who is already committed to Missouri, and No. 2-ranked small forward recruit Kevin Knox, who has yet to make up his mind.

Harris, the No. 20 point guard in the nation according to ESPN, had previously signed with Washington, along with Porter Jr., back in November before decommitting after the firing of coach Lorenzo Romar.

"Missouri was always ranked in the top three for me," Harris said. "I knew that it was always going to be an option."

Read more here.

Sports

Recap:

The St. Louis Blues lost 2-0 against the Minnesota Wild. The St. Louis Cardinals won 2-1 against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

What to Watch:

In college basketball, No. 22 Creighton takes on No. 16 Butler at 6 p.m. on Fox Sports 1. In SEC action, Georgia travels to No. 8 Kentucky at 8 p.m. on ESPN.

MOVE
magazine

Courtesy of Wikimedia Commons

The first trailer for the third season of “Unbreakable Kimmy Schmidt” has finally dropped. Except the fun, little videos that have been shared by character Titus Andromedon since the last season came out, there has been little information about the new season of one of Netflix’s most popular original comedies. In the new trailer, Kimmy is considering going to college, someone gets divorce papers, and Daveed Diggs from Hamilton guest stars. You can watch the trailer here.

What to Do Today

- Mizzou Bubble Milk Tea Party 2017, 4-6 p.m. @ Memorial Union
- Venture Out Happy Hour at the Tower, 4-7 p.m. @ Venture Out Complex
- Pool Tournament, 6:30-10:30 p.m. @ The Shack
- Choral Union: The Abyssinian Mass, 7-10 p.m. @ Jesse Auditorium

Compiled by Regina Anderson

This daily newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

the
MOVE
groove

Chance the Rapper performing. | Courtesy of Wikimedia Commons.

In celebrity lives: Time released its list of this year's most influential people. Names include Julian Assange, Donald Trump, Chance the Rapper and Ashley Graham. The public figures are nominated based on their influence and contributions and are divided into categories, such as Pioneers, Artists, Leaders, Titans and Icons. Time's announcement said "the list includes active opponents" and several people "whose influence is the subject of heated debate." Additionally, "each has champions and critics" and "all are shaping the course of this turbulent year."

In odd news: Richard Simmons, of "Sweatin' to the Oldies" notoriety, has supposedly not been publicly photographed for three years. In the past few years, there has even been a popular podcast started, called Missing Richard Simmons. On April 19, though, a photo was posted to his official Facebook account with a message assuring fans he was in fact still alive — not missing — but rather "a little under the weather." There is no evidence that the photo is recent, or that the post was written by Simmons himself, which further perpetuates the mystery.

In tech: Apple has set itself a lofty goal to make all its products out of recycled materials. The company announced in its 2017 Environmental Responsibility Report that its goal is to create a “closed-loop” supply chain, effectively minimizing waste and maximizing renewable energy and resources. This is one of the first times where the company has announced a goal without a plan of action.

An MU student browses records at Hitt Records. | Casey Scott/Photographer

If you like records: Tomorrow is Record Store Day 2017, and the three record stores downtown, Vinyl Renaissance, Hitt Records and Slackers, are all participating. The event means lots of exclusive and newly released records will be available to purchase, and great sales can be expected. Just make sure you get out there early if there's a particular exclusive you want to buy, as they may sell out quickly. Read the list of all the Record Store Day releases here.

If you like science: The Mid-Missouri March for Science is also tomorrow, and according to the event's Facebook page, "Whether you are a scientist or a science enthusiast, all are welcome to participate." The event will begin with a rally by the courthouse at 2 p.m., then participants will march around downtown at 3 p.m., ending with a Science Festival at Peace Park from 3:30 - 5:30 p.m.

If you like clean bathrooms: If you like clean bathrooms: If you're going to be out and about downtown this weekend, chances are you're going to have to hit up the loo. Check out MOVE's guide to the best restrooms downtown, so you can plan accordingly.

Bill Nye speaking at Politicon in 2016. | Courtesy of Flickr.

If you like Netflix: Elementary school science class gets a revamp in Bill Nye Saves the World. The first season of the show drops on Netflix today, and it focuses on scientific issues that affect our lives, such as climate change and GMOs. The show features a slew of celebrity guests, in addition to the bowtie-wearing science nerd. If watching it makes you feel a little nostalgic, 31 episodes of the OG Science Guy are on Netflix as well.

If you like cooking: Treat yo'self to two classic Italian dishes at the same time with this chicken parm lasagna recipe from Tasty. This is the perfect choice if you're planning to have a lot of people over for dinner — it serves 10, and the hour-long cooking time will let you take a Bill Nye Saves the World binge break after the prep and before the meal.

If you like to drink: It's not a true complete Italian meal without a wine. Pair this with a light Merlot or Pinot Noir to complement your rich pasta dinner.

Copyright © 2016 MOVE Magazine, All rights reserved.

This weekly newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine. Compiled by Katherine White and Bailey Sampson.

MOVE

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

MOVE: Music. Outings. Venues. Events.

The Maneater Daily

The MANEATER Daily

Monday, April 23, 2017

This week is starting hot! The high today will be 77 degrees, and the low will be 54. It will be sunny all day.

Daily Roundup

"Old Missouri" is performed following the conclusion of MU Remembers on April 21, 2017. | Jessi

Dodge/Photo Editor

MU Remembers, an event to honor deceased students, was held Friday

The event takes place every year in Memorial Union to honor deceased students through music, poetry and individual tributes. Missouri Students Association President Nathan Willett and Graduate Professional Council President Rachel Bauer both shared stories about the students. A book commemorating their lives has been placed in Ellis Library.

“No one is more precious to us than our students,” Provost Garnett Stokes told the crowd of around 100 people. “When they are taken from us, it is a tremendous loss.”

New vet facility held a ribbon cutting ceremony last Friday

The MU Veterinary Health Center opened the new Large Ambulatory Facility last Friday. The new facility includes seven individual offices, a shared office, a multipurpose classroom and a garage that can hold six ambulances. Clydesdale Hall, one of the vet school’s buildings, was originally supposed to include plans for a garage, but there wasn’t enough funding to complete it. The new $2.5 million facility was funded over four years by an appropriation for large-animal education from the Missouri Senate and House Agriculture Committee

Sports

NBA Recap

- The Memphis Grizzlies defeated the San Antonio Spurs 110-108 on Saturday in overtime after Marc Gasol hit the game winner in the closing seconds. The series is now tied at two.
- The Toronto Raptors evened the series with the Milwaukee Bucks after a 87-76 win Saturday in game four.
- The Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Indiana Pacers 106-102 on Sunday to sweep the series. The Cavaliers will play the winner of the Celtics-Bulls series.
- The Houston Rockets now lead the Oklahoma City Thunder 3-1 after winning game four 113-109 on Sunday.

NHL Recap

- The St. Louis Blues defeated the Minnesota Wild 4-3 in overtime Saturday to win the series in five games to advance to the conference semifinals. The Blues will play the Nashville Predators who swept the Chicago Blackhawks.
- The New York Rangers and the Edmonton Oilers both advanced on Saturday. The Rangers beat the Montreal Canadiens 3-1 in game six. The Oilers also defeated the San Jose Sharks 3-1 in game six.

- The Ottawa Senators defeated the Boston Bruins 3-2 in overtime on Sunday. The Senators advances to the next round after winning the series in six games.
-

MOVE magazine

Courtesy of Wikimedia Commons

Exercising in college can be hard, so MOVE Magazine's Nat Kaemmerer has a step-by-step guide to get you from couch potato to running extraordinaire. There are four different workouts to choose from to fit your lifestyle. You'll be running for miles in no time. You can check out the entire guide here.

What to Do Today

- Undergraduate Research Workshop, 4-5 p.m. @ 572 Bond Life Sciences Center

Compiled by Regina Anderson
Sports by Cole Bollinger

This daily newsletter is a product of The Maneater and MOVE Magazine.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list