INTRODUCTION

The primary purpose of aids and awards at the University of Missouri is to encourage worthy students to obtain a higher education and to assist those for whom college financing is a problem. This goal is accomplished through two different means: first, the various scholarships, fellowships, awards, and prizes are to give recognition for excellence in the various academic fields of study and related activities both in high school and at the University; second, where the best efforts of the student and his family fall short of being able to meet the necessary University costs, the aids program is to help make up that difference.

The costs of attending the University are kept as low as possible so that the educational opportunities offered in its many divisions may be within the financial reach of all the citizens of Missouri who earnestly desire an education. This portion of the University General Catalog is prepared to help acquaint the student with the three types of financial aid available: part-time student employment; scholarships, fellowships, awards, and prizes; and student loans.

COSTS OF ATTENDING THE UNIVERSITY

FOR ONE SEMESTER OF APPROXIMATELY EIGHTEEN WEEKS

*Incidental fee	$100.00
Student Union fee	7.50
Dormitory (room and board)	335.00
Books & Supplies (estimated)	42.50
	485.00

*The $100 incidental fee above includes laboratory, hospital, and library fees for all students. Students in the School of Medicine pay an additional fee of $125.00 per semester, and those in Veterinary Medicine pay an additional fee of $32.50 per semester. Also, students enrolled in applied music pay an extra fee of $30.00 per course.

Students who are not legal residents of Missouri pay an out-of-state tuition of $125.00 per semester in addition to the above costs. This is not required of graduate students.

Personal expenses (laundry, haircuts, and other necessary incidentals) will need to be added to the above. A conservative student will limit his spending to $15-$20 per month for these items.

SOURCES OF GIFTS

This listing of scholarships, fellowships, awards, prizes, and loan funds gives the general information concerning each one so that the student may locate those for which he is eligible for consideration. These gifts are available through the generosity and thoughtfulness of hundreds of people who desire to help worthy students obtain a higher education. These funds have been donated by business firms, foundations, public organizations, clubs, and societies, as well as by individuals who are friends and alumni of the University. In addition, the Board of Curators of the University has established 500 freshman scholarships and awards; numerous scholarships for science fairs and interscholastic events; 100 sophomore scholarships; 32 scholarships for graduates of accredited junior colleges in Missouri; 25 fellowships at the graduate level; summer session scholarships for members of college faculties in Missouri; and grants-in-aid for refugee and foreign students.

PART-TIME STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

There are 1500 to 2000 part-time jobs on the University Campus which are regularly filled by students who need to work in order to help with their college expenses. These jobs range from 75¢ per hour for a beginning freshman up to $1.25 or $1.50 for skilled upperclassmen. Jobs are available in the cafeterias, libraries, laboratories, offices, and on the research farm. Advanced students frequently may find work on various research projects in the division of their major study.

Naturally, the best jobs are usually held by those students who have already been on campus and have worked up to these positions. Therefore, students have an incentive to do good work so that they may move into the better jobs as the older students graduate. Wherever possible, students are assigned to work in the area of their major study and thus they gain additional valuable training and experience.

Hundreds of part-time jobs are also available downtown and throughout the community. There are jobs in restaurants, hotels, stores, warehouses, theatres, and other business firms. Many householders use students to do odd jobs and baby sit, usually during the afternoons, evenings, and on weekends.

Students are cautioned that college courses require much more time for study than do high school courses. If outside work is not really needed, they would be wise to devote full time to their school work. But if a student needs to work, he should not hesitate to write for an application blank. Students can earn $35 to $50 per month by working 12 to 15 hours per week while carrying the normal number of academic studies. With proper planning, this much work will not interfere with study—it will cut down on leisure time. Working more than 15 hours per week may result in lower grades. New students may write for part-time work applications to Director of Aids and Awards, 16 Jesse Hall, Columbia, Mo.

UNDERGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIPS, PRIZES AND AWARDS

Recipients of undergraduate scholarships are approved by the Committee on Aids and Awards and may be recommended by a divisional faculty, or by some special committee appointed for that purpose. Application forms and further information about these scholarships may be obtained from the Office of Aids and Awards, 16 Jesse Hall.

Scholarship in American Citizenship: The annual stipend, $250, is awarded for four years to a graduate of a Missouri high school, preferably a woman, who ranks in the upper one-fourth on the statewide test and in high school average and who needs financial assistance. Satisfactory academic progress at the University must be maintained by the recipient in order to continue holding the scholarship. The scholarship was established in 1908 by the National Society of Colonial Dames of America in the state of Missouri.

Alumni Achievement Fund Freshman Scholarships: Stipends of $200 are offered to ten students who are graduates of accredited out-of-state high schools. These recipients must be worthy students who are top-ranking scholars and whose test scores indicate high ability. This program was established in 1960 by the University of Missouri Alumni.

Frank P. Blair Scholarship: The annual income from $7,400 is awarded for four years to a high school senior who ranks in the upper one-fourth on the statewide test and in high school average, and who needs financial assistance. Division of Continuing Education Scholarships: Two scholarships, equivalent to the incidental fee for two semesters at the University, are offered to high school graduates who are residents of Missouri. Applicants must have taken one or more of their high school units by correspondence from the University of Missouri Division of Continuing Education. Selection is based on high school grades, scores on the statewide test, and grades in correspondence subjects. Recipients are recommended by the Division of Continuing Education.

Curators Freshman Scholarships and Awards: Each year the University issues a certificate of recognition to each senior graduating from accredited Missouri high schools with rank in the upper one-fifth in class average and on the statewide test. The graduate of highest scholastic promise in each school is offered a Curators Scholarship equivalent to the incidental fee for two semesters. All others who receive the certificate of recognition, if they are in need of financial assistance in order to attend the University, may make application for a Curators Award of the same value as the Curators Scholarship.

The Curators Scholarships and Awards, established in 1950 by the Board of Curators, may be used for enrollment in the University at Columbia or at Rolla under the following conditions:

1. Only one Curators Scholarship is offered in each high school for use at Columbia or at Rolla and, if not accepted, it cannot be reassigned in that school. Curators Awards are granted only upon application, but there may be more than one to a school;
2. The recipients must be residents of Missouri and must be graduates of accredited public or nonpublic high schools in Missouri;

The scholarship, which may be held for not more than four years, was established in 1955 by the will of Pearl Herrod of Joplin, Mo.

The scholarships may be held only by men, who are selected on the basis of academic achievement, financial need, and good moral character. A statement of need, recommendations from teachers and others who know the applicant, and, in most cases, a personal interview, will be required. STUDENT LOAN FUNDS

The University of Missouri student loan funds have come as gifts from Alumni, business firms, foundations, trusts, and friends of the University. These monies have been entrusted to the University for the purpose of aiding worthy students to obtain a higher education. They are handled without charge to the donor in such a manner as to be the greatest benefit to the largest number of students.

Some of the funds may be loaned free of interest, but most of them are loaned at a low rate of 2% to 4% annual interest on the unpaid balance. All interest earned is returned to the respective fund from which the loan was made and thereby helps the fund to grow to be of greater benefit to others. Hence, when a loan has been repaid in full along with the interest, the student borrower has the satisfaction of knowing that he has made a contribution that will in turn help other students.

Short-term loans are available to students who need funds for a current expense and who will be able to repay it by the end of the semester or summer term in which it was borrowed. Usually the amount is not large and no security is required.

Long term loans are made to those who wish to repay some time following the end of the semester. Some loans are arranged for repayment during the following summer, but most are set up for repayment at the rate of $25 to $40 per month beginning four to six months after graduation. The borrower who drops out of school before graduation is expected to start repayment four to six months after dropping out.

Interest should be paid each year when due. However, borrowers in school who continue to be short of funds may request that the interest payment be delayed until after graduation. Interest will not be compounded.

Security is required on long term loans. Usually the note is co-signed by one of the student's parents or perhaps by a guardian or other responsible adult. The University does not take collateral or handle mortgages of any kind. The loan is made on the student's character and reputation.

Title II of the National Defense Education Act of 1958 (Public Law 85-864) provides funds for student loans on very favorable terms. The loan fund is composed of money provided, 90% by the federal government and 10% by the University. The University pays the full cost of administering the program.

Some of the provisions and regulations provided in the law are as follows:

Student Qualifications for Receiving a Loan

1. A borrower must provide a financial statement for himself and his family showing that he needs a loan in order to attend the University. Financial need is the most important single factor in determining eligibility for a loan.
2. The student must have satisfactory scholarship.
3. The borrower must be a full-time student, either graduate or undergraduate.

Special Consideration Provisions

1. Special consideration shall be given applicants with a superior academic background who express a desire to teach in elementary or secondary schools.
2. Special consideration is also given to those with superior academic capacity or preparation in Biological or Physical Science, Mathematics, Engineering or Modern Foreign Languages.
3. No student is disqualified because of his field of study, if loan money is available.

Terms of the Loan

1. No security is required for those over 21 years of age. A parent's signature is required for those under 21.
2. No interest is charged while the student is in school.
3. Interest at 3% annually begins the year after the termination of school work.
4. Ten per cent of the loan is cancelled each year the recipient teaches in a public elementary or secondary school, for five years giving 50% cancellation.
5. The borrower may take as much as eleven years to repay, if that much time is necessary; but most students will repay in a much shorter time than this since others will be waiting to receive loans.
6. The entire debt is cancelled in case of death or permanent disability.

All of the student loan funds at the University, including those available under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act, are administered in the office of Aids and Awards under the direction of the Student Loan Committee appointed by the President of the University.

Students and parents realize that the time and money spent for a college education are good investments, even though funds may be short and a portion must be financed by borrowing. The demand for student loans has doubled in each of the last two years and the supply of loan funds is now insufficient to meet all requests, Hence, the loan committee endeavors to allocate the funds to those with the greatest financial need who are conservative in their expenditures. Others are urged to use outside sources of credit to the fullest extent possible.
