Mizzou is known as the birthplace of Homecoming. It began in 1911 when former athletic director Chester Brewer called for alumni to "come home" for the annual football game versus kU. Today, Mizzou Homecoming has grown into one of the largest student-run celebrations of its kind and voted by MU students and alumni as one of their favorite traditions at Mizzou.

New Tradition

The new Mizzou Homecoming Hall of Fame honors high-achieving alumni who have exhibited excellence in their chosen field or profession. A class of Hall of Fame inductees will be recognized during Mizzou Homecoming weekend and will serve as Grand Marshals of the annual homecoming parade.

2016 marks the inaugural year for the award. Recipients this year include Linda Godwin, David Novak and Kellen Winslow. More

Taming Hunger

Organizations across campus helped contribute to our massive 2016 HC food drive for the Northeast & Central Missouri Food Bank. Thank you all for your generous contributions! We are excited to share that we collected 32,000 lbs. of food plus $5,470 dollars raised for the Food Bank of Central Missouri and completed 1,200 hours of service in the Columbia community!

Mums the Word

Lady of Mizzou Football, Tia Odom, is helping to restore the Mizzou Homecoming Mums tradition. More

Saving Lives

Did you know MU has the largest student-run blood drive in the country? This year we are excited to share that we collected 4,374 units of blood during the Columbia blood drive for the hospitals of mid-Missouri.
