In Memory of Dr. Matthias J. Hourigan

Dr. Matthias J. Hourigan, 59, Lake Quivira, an associate professor in the University of Missouri-Kansas School of Dentistry, died April 14, 1992, in Merriam.

Dr. Hourigan had taught oral surgery at the dental school for nine years. Earlier he taught oral surgery at the University of Southern Illinois. He lectured nationally on dentistry. He retired from the Army as a colonel in 1981, was a veteran of the Vietnam War, and received the Bronze Star with an oak leaf cluster.

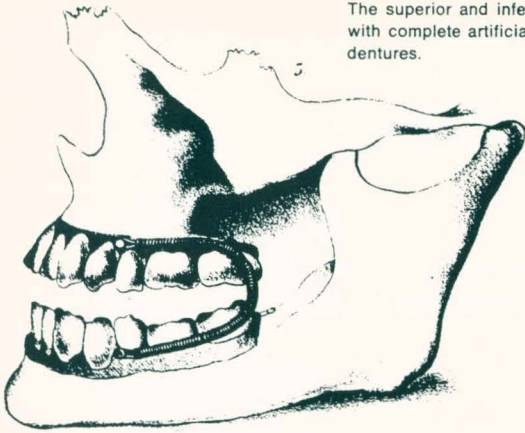

He was a 1958 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Dentistry and received an advanced degree in oral surgery at the University of Pennsylvania.

Those who wish to make a donation to the school in his memory may send a check made out to the Rinehart Foundation, noting that the donation is to be earmarked for the Matthias Hourigan Memorial Scholarship, in care of Ms. Susan Hopkins.

MAURY PLATE 1845

The superior and inferior jaws with complete artificial dentures.

Teeth are made from bones of the Ox, Mother of Pearl, Hippopotamus teeth, or human teeth obtained from prisons or insane asylums. The bases are best carved from seahorse teeth or made from gold plate. The best combination is the new incorruptable porcelain tooth attached to plate gold bases.

Note—Teeth procured from cemeteries are of inferior quality as their enamel is dull and yellow from decomposition—they crack and break easily.

Odds and Ends

16th century BC
Ebers-Papyri, ancient Egyptian medical writings contain prescriptions for toothaches.

1st century AD
Jingles satirizing people who wear false teeth and try to pass them off as their own, by the Roman Poet Martial.

1st century AD
Cascellius of Rome grows rich in serving fine ladies by curing tooth disease. First known dentist.

MORRISON CHAIR

First came on the market in 1870—model illustrated was crankoperated and patented in 1887.

The first hydraulic chair was the Wilkerson chair of 1877 that could be had in green or garnet plush or leather for $180.00 or for $15.00 more in Turkish style which meant puffed silk velvet trimmed with silk cord, and with an extra carpet thrown in.

16th century AD
Eustacius and Fallopius give detailed descriptions of teeth and their development.

1836
Arsenic introduced for the killing of pulp.

1851
Patent for hard rubber (Vulcanite) granted to Nelson Goodyear.

1855
Dr. Tindall opens first dental office
in Kansas City.

IN TECHNIQUE LAB :

FOREWORD

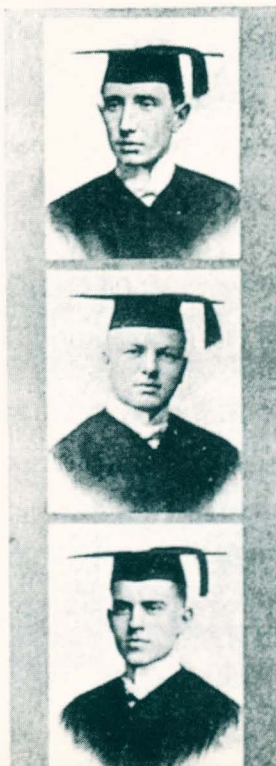

Success has been, and ever will be, the best sign of character. Intentions go for nothing. Deeds and actions, then, speak louder than the enfeebled words of intention. That man or that school which is truly great, needs no recital of events, no list of achievements, to show true worth.

The 1916 issue of "THE MOLAR" is before you. We have not endeavored to show The Kansas City Dental College in a light in which it does not exist. We have said nothing to lead the outside world to believe our school greater than it is. Our school and its students speak for themselves.

Volume 1 of "THE MOLAR" is intended for the students. Whatever our intentions have been, or how well we have succeeded, we care not, so long as "THE MOLAR" remains as a record of happy days, and an inspiration to the love of our

ALMA MATER.

OUR FIRST ONE

C. L. WALKER, Kansas City, Kans.

To point a moral, or adorn a tale."

H. W. WHARTON, Hutchinson, Kans.

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES!

Someday, you'll make your contribution to society.

It's hard to imagine making your mark on the world when you're just starting out. But someday, you'll be ready to make a contribution to society. You can do it best through a gift to the School of Dentistry, to the Dr. Roy J. Rinehart Memorial Foundation.

The Foundation is a private, not-for-profit organization that puts personal contributions to work when tax dollars run out. Through the support of Dental School alumni and friends, the Foundation supports such things as:

- ◆ Student scholarships and financial aid
- ◆ Research for graduate students
- ◆ Research for faculty
- ◆ Professorships in dental education
- ◆ Dental care for underprivileged youth
- ◆ Clinic outreach to third world nations

And a gift to the School of Dentistry brings a reward for you: a sense of pride in being a graduate of this fine institution, and knowing you have the power to make a difference in its future!

"Thanks to your efforts, knowledge, insight, and guidance, I am at least five years ahead of where my personal goals were just one year ago. I can't believe the speed at which things came together - locating, financing, and into my own practice with only a four month deadline.

Aftco's fee has turned out to be the best investment I have ever made. I would encourage any dentist entering into private practice venture, whether it is buying, selling, associating, merging or whatever, to utilize Aftco's services."

*Russell J. Smith, D.M.D.
Stanwood, Washington*

"It's unfortunate that our education gave us knowledge about dentistry, but we were not taught what to do when we graduated... I think that one of our worst mistakes that we make as students is that we are falsely over-confident in our ability to make our own decisions in the business world. Most of us are not prepared to make these decisions. Marcia and I both thank you (Aftco Associates), again for helping guide us through the past year.
