

TELL YOUR FRIENDS

FOOD STAMPS are a kind of money.

FOOD STAMPS let you buy more food.

You trade regular money for food stamps.

You get about $4.00 of food stamps
in exchange for $3.00 of regular money.

You may get more.

You can use food stamps to buy food.
The man at your store knows how.

You can't use food stamps to buy things
you don't eat.

You can't use food stamps to buy certain imported foods.

The man at your store knows.

Issued in furtherance of cooperative extension work, acts of May 8 and June 30, 1914, in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. C. B. Ratchford, Vice-President for Extension, Cooperative Extension Service, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo. 65201.

MP 101 6/69/50M

University of Missouri - Columbia University Extension Division

