The Republican View:

The Republicans are confident that President Nixon, with his huge lead over Senator McGovern in the polls, will be reelected. At the present the Democrat's only hope of chipping away the Nixon's lead seems to be the Watergate bugging and burglary controversy; but so far this has had little impact on public opinion, perhaps because the public is not yet convinced of the Democrats' superior piety in political affairs. However, despite their commanding lead, some Republicans are apprehensive about a McGovern upsurge just before the election. Their fear may be partially attributed to a concern about Republican apathy and the zeal of McGovern workers. It may also arise from McGovern's formidable reputation as a political wizard, the man who miraculously clobbered Edmond Muskie and Hubert Humphrey in the primaries. At any rate, the Republicans are determined to avoid a surprise defeat such as the one suffered by Tom Dewey in 1948.

Since Nixon is so far ahead in the presidential race now, the Republicans have channeled much of their extra resources into the effort to elect a Republican Congress in 1972. This promises to be a greater challenge than merely re-electing the President. There appears to be only a deadlock in many states (or at least the Southern ones) between Republican candidates who accuse their Democratic counterparts of infection by the McGovern political leprosy and Democratic candidates who swear McGovern off with equal speed.

Merry-go-round

"Mr. Nixon! Mr. Nixon!"

"I am Mr. Nixon."

"I need your help..."

"Everyone needs my help."

"I am your old friend Henry Kissinger..."

"You don't look like Henry Kissinger."

"You know, a wicked witch popped me into a frog."

"We're stretching the credibility gap. a

WISHING ALL WAS QUIET ON THE POLITICAL FRONT!! Jim Phander

Nearly every local, regional, and national round-up of news carries something about the Republican President, the Republican Party or the Republican Democrats for Nixon. In fact this week has been a particularly newsworthy one for the GOP, what with a stepped-up campaign for the student vote, pandemonium in Vietnam and a Watergate that won't go away.

Normally the conservative party would welcome any publicity, but this year the incumbent President is Republican. Some observers have said all Nixon has to do is avoid scandal and he can slide to re-election. Richard Nixon is apparently following this advice along with the rest of the GOP; undue publicity is shunned.

An example is the 3 month old Watergate Case. When the news first broke, it did not cause much worry to the higher-ups. But Watergate is like a bad cold, it won't go away. Disturbing facts are the $114,000 diverted to one of the break-in men a $25,000 transfer on a Miami golf course and the funneling of funds through a wealthy lawyer in Mexico.

It is also reported that Nixon has fallen even further behind in the Campus Competition.

The press is keeping the heat on much the GOP's chagrin. Come to think of it, that's probably why they're doing it.

little thin, Henry. I can't accept this.

"I have to say, have you ever met a talking frog before/?"

"I have talked to Mao, I have talked to Bresnev... I have never talked to a frog. Least of all a frog with a German accent. I have talked to Hoffa. I hate...."

"Mr. Nixon, unless you kiss me I'll remain a frog for a hundred years."

"That could cut down your effectiveness."

A developing nation would be insulted

U-High Changes Tense

Times are changing everywhere so they have at U-High over the years. Since coming to U-High back in the eleventh grades this change has been a point to me, as it's tradition.

At U-Highly there's seen very people come in and go young, it's run 's. Remember Richards' signs detention hall in the '60's Morris Fox and Luther Kiser were the head men. Also there once was a short-haired Mike Lester and a Long-haired Carl Surley. Those students who had a 2:10 resource center in 1970 will never forget little known Gordon Coosey. There have also been the minstrels, people like Charles Sneathen, Ray Dor, John Holt, George Rathe, Joe Crowson, and others.

Activities the school seemed to have been altered little through the years with only a fairly recent formation of a photo club and what might be called a T... class/club. In 1963 or so the Senior Organization of Boys was founded. There have always been sports to participate in, some years being better than others and I need to go to. Then, hopefully, after six years there was a graduation to go to. Of course there have been changes among the organizations also. There used to be such a thing as a boy in chorus and a big turn-out for band. The Key Club was also believed to have done work at one time.

A steady loosening of discipline has also taken place. For example, as so ent' graders we were "advised" that we should eat in the lunch room. Most of us did although this was the first year we were allowed to leave school to eat without a note from home. Now it's common to see many sophomore graders in the chock lighting up during the noon break and study hall. These study halls are also fairly now, conducted from the shift to greater student responsibility. This greater responsibility has been a good idea. It may not be well for the students to be self-reliant quite as much as it might seem. It has made U-High into what a high school should be and so students get a good education and are prepared for college.

DOPES!!!!!!

Is there a drug problem at U-High? No, they're this nation I find there's lot of soul-searching. By my standards there is no such thing as a drug problem. High school students have been getting drunk since there have been high schools. But after new drugs show up in everybody serious bloody murder.

I suppose by somebody else's standards there is a drug problem. Grass, there's enough around. Acid, if you know the right people its easy to get ahold of. hasn't least three months since I've seen good weed. Hash, none to be had. See mud, plenty but poor quality. Heroin, yeah!! There are some people who don't really care, but I'll try my best to keep some idiots from selling crap to Jr. High students. There's been little of this in the past and I hope less in the future!!

Diary of a Black

I hate U-High. I don't just hate the school itself or the people, but some of the people. Why? Let me tell you why. Because half of the people in this school think that they're so half-ass cute and better than me or another Black. But you know something folks? It ain't so!!

"Yes, deep inside I hate "T-shirts", which probably most Blacks do..... except some "Toms." -- which I could care but won't to prevent embarrassment."

The main problem with U-High altogether is the fact that they hate to see each other with something better than the other, and so that leads us right straight to the point that they don't want a "nigger" to be a down thug.

Commenting on Student Teachers has long been a pass time of students at U-High. Given the chance to truly express their feelings about these "invaders" from the college of education it was found that most of the attitudes were positive.

More than half of the people asked said students teachers were good for U-High. It was felt that student teachers bring in new ideas and experiences for the students.

Those not expressing positive feelings toward the student teachers did not give direct answers or reasons for their attitudes. One student who had a fairly positive attitude said that she felt that "student teacher's identifying with students could not be planned. It is more of an individual thing, if the person can't relate or teach, the planning can't do anything about it."

This seems to be the general consensus of opinion-- "Well liked students teachers are the ones that still think young and express their subjects with youthful vigor." So a toast to the "good" student teachers who can relate and to the others----- GOOD LUCK!!!!

WESTON BECOMES SADIST!!!!

U-High's Key Club has elected Brent Weston to come up with a new initiation. The current form of induction as been termed by Weston as too soft. Weston said the new form of torture for the new members will, besides being obscene "will literally, be a pain in the ---!"

Last Saturday G.A.A. had their bike hike. To everyone's disappointment only 7 people were there at 10:30 a.m.. Although few people were there, everyone had a good time. After cycling on route 224 and part of I-70 Drive South, the cyclers had a sack lunch on Litton's bridge.

If we could... to negotiate with a frog.
pet, we could live like the king."
"All we ever think about is the country,
when we're home for once.... what'll
it do to my sex life?"
"I could send Tricia down to the pet store." "I miss you too I'm going over to your place!"
"Oh, I'm sorry mom!"

Speech

The tape ended. A voice spoke from the mainline.

"Hello Mr. Patterson. Do you think you can come in?"
