GENERAL FACULTY MEETING THURSDAY

Chancellor Uehling will speak on "The University as a Community" at the General Faculty Meeting at 3:40 p.m. in Jesse Auditorium Oct. 4. Institutional goals for the coming year, and what faculty as individuals and as a group can do to develop and foster a sense of community at UMC will be discussed.

Faculty will also vote on whether to consider recommended revisions to a section of the Faculty Bylaws at the meeting.

All faculty are encouraged to attend.

DOCTORAL FACULTY MEETING OCT. 3

UMC members of the Doctoral Faculty will meet at 3:40 p.m. Oct. 3 in the A & S Auditorium to elect a two-year faculty representative to the University Doctoral Council.

Each campus is represented on the Council by its Graduate Dean and two elected faculty members. The new representative will replace Professor Ernest Kung, who has completed his term. Professor Homer Thomas will continue as a member of the Council through the 1979-80 academic year.

ROMEO AND JULIET PREMIERES WEDNESDAY

The University Theatre will stage the "too rash, too sudden, too unadvised" love of the world's most famous lovers when Romeo and Juliet opens Oct. 3-6 at 7:30 p.m. and Oct. 7 at 2:30 p.m.

Romeo and Juliet is the first play in the University's "Stage of Development" series, intended to encourage experimental work on the theatre's main stage through the use of innovative staging and interpretive techniques.

Seats are not reserved, but are available in advance or at the door on a first come first served basis. Tickets are $3 general public and $1.50 students. The box office is open Monday through Friday from 3 to 5 p.m. beginning Oct. 1. For information, call 882-2021.

PIANO TRIO PERFORMS TONIGHT

The Cadek Piano Trio opens the UMC Music Department's 1979-80 Guest Artist Series at 8:15 p.m., Friday, Sept. 28, in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Members of the trio are artists-in-residence at the University of Alabama and have performed as chamber players and soloists throughout the United States and Europe.

The trio will perform works by Haydn, Piston and Brahms.

WINTER AND 65 ° OFFICES ARE COMING

Fall brings beautiful weather--and with it, temperature fluctuations. Campus energy coordinator Rex Dillow says that air conditioning will be turned off around Oct. 1, and heating will be turned on around mid-October. So dress with the temperature in mind.

Again this winter, thermostats will be set at 65 ° F. Dillow requests that once the heat is turned on, windows be left closed. Persons should notify physical plant at 882-8211 if offices are too hot, or too cold. Heat will be turned off overnight and on weekends.

Dillow also requests that lights and power equipment be turned off whenever possible to reduce energy costs.

Last year, the campus saved $360,000 in energy costs through the cooperation of faculty and staff.

DR. SPOCK TO SPEAK

There are still plenty of tickets left for the Dr. Benjamin Spock lecture Oct. 3. The pediatrician and author will be one of the speakers at a three-day International Year of the Child conference sponsored by the family-child health department of the UMC School of Nursing. Spock's lecture on "Reflections on Two Generations of Children" is scheduled for Wednesday evening Oct. 3 at a banquet at the Flaming Pit restaurant.

Tickets for the banquet and Spock's lecture are available to the general public at $9.50 each. They may be purchased from Delores Husted, S-406 School of Nursing; the Quilt Cottage, 1004 W. Worley St.; Chapter 1 Bookstore, 800 E. Broadway; or Sunday's Child, 11 N. Tenth St., Columbia.

The workshop on October 4-5 will be limited to 200 participants who must pre-register.

BOOK EXHIBIT HERE TODAY

Faculty are invited to stop by the College Traveler Mobile Book Exhibit at the University Bookstore Friday, Sept. 28 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Books from over 200 publishers are on display, with most available for complimentary examination. A new feature this year is a selection of professional, trade and reference books.

The bookmobile exhibit is parked at the East side of the Commons Building parking lot, WC-17.

INDIAN FELLOWSHIPS AVAILABLE

Paul Wallace, director of the Center for International Programs and Studies, has information on research fellowships in India for faculty and dissertation-level students. Grants are through the American Institute for Indian Studies; deadline for applications is Oct. 12. Interested persons can call Wallace at 882-8007.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES OPEN

George Gustke, coordinator of publications for the Center for Independent Study, reminds staff that they can enroll in University correspondence courses under the Educational Assistance Program.

The University counts up to 30 hours of correspondence courses toward an undergraduate degree and up to eight hours toward a master's degree.

Correspondence courses can be taken completely on the employee's own time after work hours, with final tests arranged after work, if necessary. Also, employees can enroll in correspondence courses without being formally accepted into a UMC school or division. Later, if an individual decides to enroll at UMC, the courses can be counted toward a degree.

Over 125 college-level courses are offered by correspondence, ranging from languages, classical studies, creative and technical writing, to history, agriculture and psychology. High school level courses are also available, but do not qualify under educational assistance.

Catalogs of course offerings and further information are available from the Center for Independent Study through Correspondence, 514 South Fifth Street, 882-2491.

RUSSIAN FOR READING KNOWLEDGE

Over 30 percent of the world's technical materials are published in Russian, with most of that material never translated, or translated after it is no longer useful.

In the spring of 1980, the Department of Germanic and Slavic Studies will offer Russian 207, a course designed to enable students, faculty and staff to acquire reading knowledge of Russian as rapidly as possible. The course will concentrate on the grammar and vocabulary necessary for reading, and will not deal with conversation or composition. The course will be offered in GCB at 11:40 MWF.

For further information, contact Professor Gary Cox, 433 GCB, 882-4871.

VISITING FULBRIGHT PROFESSOR PROGRAM

The Council for International Exchange of Scholars, under the Visiting Fulbright Professor Program, will award grants to approximately 20 scholars from the American Republics to lecture at U.S. universities in 1980-81.

Departments interested in offering a teaching appointment to a scholar from the Caribbean, Central or South America for a semester or year are invited to submit a proposal to the Council by Oct. 31.

Proposals will be accepted in any field except language teaching. Scholars, who receive a grant for travel and $40 per day, may teach regular courses, participate in seminars, and serve as consultants for curriculum development or research. Arrangements for sharing a scholar between departments, schools or institutions are encouraged.

For further information, call Paul Wallace, director, Center for International Programs, 101 Gentry Hall, 882-3033.
