University Theater's "La Discreta Enamorada" opens Feb. 28. See Calendar on Page 4 for details.

Mizzou wins test assignment

State education department taps UMC to design tests to measure student skills.

The state Department of Elementary and Secondary Education has chosen UMC to design and administer a series of tests to measure the basic skills of Missouri students.

The tests—which will cover reading, mathematics, science and social sciences—are part of the 1985 Excellence in Education Act, which seeks to improve public schools.

UMC will administer the tests to students in grades three, six, eight and 10 from a representative sample of school districts. "Most other districts in the state will administer the tests on their own," says Steve Osterlind, director of Missouri Testing and Evaluation Services at UMC.

The tests will help point out the strengths and weaknesses of the state's educational program and also help reveal specific areas in which students are having difficulties.

Principals, testing specialists, curriculum experts and teachers from around the state are helping develop and write the tests. "There are many ways to develop a test, but the method we're using is unique," Osterlind says. Usually, private test publishers develop standardized tests.

"We're getting lots of calls from people who want to get involved," Osterlind says. In addition, he is calling upon the advice and expertise of colleagues from universities across the nation.

Under a cost-recovery agreement, the state will pay UMC up to $556,000 through June 1986 for its services.

"Had we gone to a test publisher, it would have cost us unbelievably large amounts of money—we're talking about millions of dollars," says James Friedebach, director of testing and assessment for the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

"We consider ourselves fortunate to have someone like Steve Osterlind working for us," Friedebach says. "He's a nationally known test development expert, and one of only three researchers in the country who has published a book on cultural bias and fairness in testing."

The final draft of the tests will be administered in spring 1987. In addition to testing competency, they will be used to compare Missouri students with their peers nationwide. Some 38 other states are using or developing basic competency tests, Osterlind says.

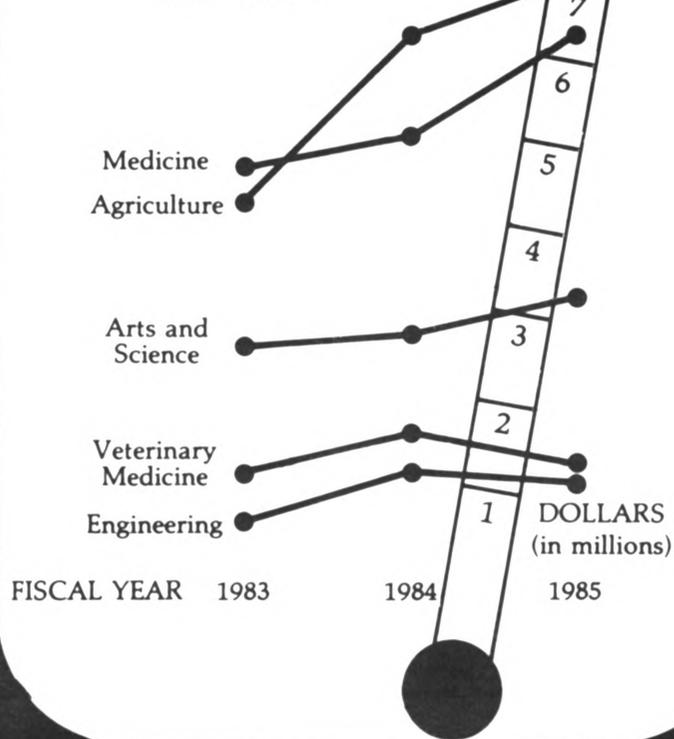

At an education conference last fall, UM President C. Peter Magrath discussed the University's role in improving elementary and secondary education. Magrath noted that while dependency on high technology is growing, making the need for good teachers all the more critical, the pool of teachers is shrinking because fewer students are entering the field. The situation is aggravated by a high burnout rate—half of all teachers leave the profession within five to seven years of starting their first teaching jobs.

Missouri's Excellence in Education Act also seeks to improve teacher education and salaries. Beginning in 1986, the minimum teacher's salary will be $15,000.

The act also provides scholarships to students majoring in education, with the state and UMC each contributing $1,000 for each scholarship. In 1986-87, 210 scholarships will be awarded to students of both private and public colleges and universities. UMC students are expected to receive about 40 of these scholarships.

Efforts applied toward research

TOP-DOLLAR RESEARCH DIVISIONS IN 1985

Federal budget-balancing act could affect Mizzou's progress toward long-range goal to double sponsored research funding.

The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings budget-balancing act will have a "significant influence" on Mizzou's ability to meet the long-range plan goal of doubling sponsored research funding by 1990, says Bob Killoren, director of Grants and Contracts.

Killoren anticipates that most of Mizzou's federally funded research projects could be cut by 4 percent this year, resulting in a dollar loss of roughly $500,000. UMC researchers could lose as much as $2 million next year. Mizzou's sponsored research funding must grow to about $41 million by 1990 to meet the long-range goal.

Federal sources accounted for 74.4 percent of the campus' research funding in fiscal 1985, with the National Institutes of Health being the single largest contributor at almost $8 million. Other major granting agencies were the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which provided about $3 million, and the National Science Foundation, which awarded about $1.5 million.

Though the Board of Curators approved the long-range plan in 1984, UM President C. Peter Magrath is using 1985 as the base for doubling research awards. The campus pulled in a record $20.6 million in sponsored research funding in fiscal 1985, a 16 percent increase over the previous year. Boosting that amount to $41.2 million by 1990 would require a 15 percent annual increase over each previous year's funding, Killoren says.

"Developing programs that will give us long-term, large support is one of our most pressing needs," he says, "and competition for those grants is especially rough. But that's the kind of funding we'll need if we're going to double research funding over the next five years."

Strategies to reach the goal, Killoren says, include vying for grants to support multidisciplinary teams to investigate one particular area of research. Funding agencies refer to these projects as "centers of excellence."

"That would provide us a strong base to build on, but those are very, very competitive grants," Killoren says. "There are 100 applications for every one award."

Another avenue is securing major research funding from industry. Data from the Graduate School and Office of Research is promising. The number of proposals submitted to private sources increased about 22 percent in fiscal 1985, from 254 the previous year to 309. Correspondingly, research funding from private sources grew by about $1 million in fiscal 1985.

Other encouraging news from the fiscal 1985 annual report:

- Faculty proposals for research support were at an all-time high in fiscal 1985, jumping from 669 to 808 compared with the previous year. This represents an increase of about 21 percent.

- Four departments—biological sciences, medicine, agronomy and microbiology—received more than $1 million each in sponsored research funding. Biological sciences led all departments with grants totaling $1.4 million. Rounding out the top 10 units in research funding were atmospheric science, biochemistry, agricultural economics, physiology, Dalton Research Center and child health.

- Another 10 departments more than doubled their sponsored research funding compared with fiscal 1984. Mathematics and the Missouri Cultural Heritage Center more than doubled their grants for the second consecutive year. Among the eight units that gained 50 percent or more in sponsored research funding, agricultural economics and nuclear engineering made the list for the second straight year.

COOPER AWARD NOMINATIONS DUE

Nominations will be accepted until April 7 for the 1986 Elizabeth F. Cooper Faculty of Excellence Award. Nominations should consist of a letter, resume, list of teaching responsibilities and summary statistics from student evaluations. Departments may resubmit nominations from last year. Preference will be given to women faculty who are outstanding teachers. Faculty Council will select the winner, who will receive a plaque and check at the Faculty Award Recognition ceremony May 6. Send nominations to chemistry Professor John Bauman, 123 Chemistry Bldg. With questions, call him at 882-7720.

GET READY, GET SET, GO

Get out your jogging suit! It's time to prepare for the Staff Recognition Week "April Fools' Day Run/Walk/Wheelchair Race." A three-mile competitive run and a one-mile noncompetitive run, walk and wheelchair race are open to faculty and staff with no entry fee. The event will begin at 12:20 p.m. April 1 in front of Brewer Field House. Prizes will be awarded in the competitive race, with souvenirs for all participants. Entry blanks are available at MA212 Medical Science Building and S102 Memorial Union, or by calling 882-8716. Registration deadline is March 12. Participants are encouraged to participate in health stations that will be set up for staff from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. April 1 in Brewer Field House.

International panel planned

Faculty Council endorsed a proposal by Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling calling for establishment of an International Affairs Council at the Feb. 20 meeting.

The new council, which would replace the international studies and programs committee, would be led by the provost and would advise the administration on policies affecting international programs. The group "would promote and facilitate the strengthening of UMC's role in international education," Uehling said in letter to the council.

In other business, the council heard a proposal to revise UMC's admissions policy regarding computation of transfer student grade-point averages.

"UMC has a long-standing bookkeeping practice of treating incomplete grades as F's when calculating grade records of transfer applicants," reported Peter Gardner, anthropology professor. The practice raises admission standards for transfer students who have incomplete grades, he said.

A survey of all other Big Eight schools and the other three UM campuses shows that all the schools except UMSL disregard incompletes when computing transfer student GPA's. The survey was conducted by Gary Smith, registrar and director of Admissions. The council referred the matter to the student affairs committee for further study.

Faculty Council Chair Truman Storvick, professor of chemical engineering, asked faculty members to read the article on tax retirement fund contributions on Page 1 of the Feb. 12 Chronicle of Higher Education. The article discusses pending federal legislation that would revoke the tax-exempt status of higher education's principal pension system.

If the legislation passes, the lifetime pension benefits of some college workers could decline by as much as 12 percent, the Chronicle reported. Storvick urged faculty members to write their senators to express opposition to the measure.

President C. Peter Magrath will visit with the council at its next meeting, March 6.

Vol. 7 No. 21

A publication of the University of Missouri-Columbia faculty and staff, published every Friday during the academic year and twice a month during the summer by Publications and Alumni Communication, a department of Development, University and Alumni Relations Division, 1100 University Place, 882-7357. News deadline is noon Friday the week before publication. Annual subscriptions are available to retirees for $10. Advisory board: Gerald Brouder, Brooke Cameron, Mike Chippendale, Sandy Clark, Bob Derryberry, Toni Gordon, Barbara Olson Smith, Bob Stewart, Harry Stoeckle and Donna Turner.

QUESTIONS PLEASE: Questions about the campus environment are sought as part of Staff Recognition Week. Answers will appear in the March 28 issue of Mizzou Weekly.

Questions should be sent by March 3 to "Our Campus Environment," c/o Sharon Isaacson and Tony Ciston, MA212 Budget, Medical Science Building. Your name and phone number must be included so they may reach you if necessary.

OFFICE MOVES: Extension Publications Office plans to move from 222 S. Fifth St. to 115 S. Fifth Street effective March 1. The telephone number remains 882-7216.

EMPLOYEE ORIENTATION: New Employee Orientation programs will be held the first and third Wednesday of each month in the Education and Development Center, Elm Street Building, 201 S. Seventh St., beginning March 5.

DEALING WITH TROUBLED STUDENTS

Legal issues in higher education, with special emphasis on the troubled student, will be explored in a March 3 workshop for faculty and staff at the Alumni Center.

Don Gehring of the University of Louisville, co-editor of "College Students and the Courts," will discuss topics such as dismissal of disruptive students and liabilities related to alcohol on campus.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., with the program scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The workshop is free. Lunch will be available for $5. The workshop is sponsored by the Mid Missouri Association of Colleges and Universities. Advance registration would be helpful. Call Bob McGrath, associate director of Counseling Services, at 882-6601.

SCIENTISTS WRITE MILESTONE PAPER

Research paper No. 10,000 was published in January by scientists at the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station. The station's scientists began publishing in 1914.

The 10,000th paper was written by postdoctoral fellow Krishnappa Venkatesh and Mike Chippendale, professor of entomology. It reports on the study of a lipoprotein that transports the lipid (fat) reserve of southwestern corn borers during hibernation.

"Like the 9,999 papers that preceded it, it has contributed to the scientific base that has helped us improve food production efficiency and solve the myriad of problems related to man and his environment," says William Pfander, associate dean of agricultural research.

The project on insect hibernation is one of 175 ongoing research projects in the experiment station.

MAGRATH MAY HOST TV SHOW

A proposed public affairs television program would feature President C. Peter Magrath talking with eminent leaders in a variety of areas. A title under consideration is "Leaders of Distinction: A Conversation with the President of the University of Missouri."

Koplar Communications Center, a St. Louis telecommunications firm, has agreed to produce the half-hour pilot, which is targeted for completion early this summer.

Q. What is meant by "environmental" photos for the Staff Recognition Week photo contest? Are photographers on the UMC staff eligible?

A. "We're looking for photographs of external or outdoor environments—pictures of buildings, trees, animals, streams, litter or whatever," says Linda Easley of the Staff Recognition Week program committee. "We're not really looking for a picture of a kid eating an ice cream cone." The contest is open to all staff members, including photographers, she says. March 28 is the entry deadline. For more information, call Easley at 882-4662.

Q. Where are people who normally park in WC7 going to park while the garage is being constructed?

A. "The solution to that problem has not yet been determined," says Carol McAllister, assistant manager of Parking and Transportation Services. "Jim Joy (Parking and Transportation Services manager) is meeting with various groups who will be affected by the construction." Most people probably will be relocated to a lot near the Livestock Center with shuttle service being provided to work locations, she says. "We will try to work with the departments affected to locate those employees who must park near their job sites." Construction, scheduled to begin at the end of the semester, will take up to a year to complete.

Clarification: The Feb. 21 Q&A incorrectly stated that no staff offices have moved into the Brady Commons addition. The following offices with UMC staff members are located there: Associated Students of the University of Missouri, Access Office, Student Governments and Activities, the Maneater, Savitar, Greek Life, Minority and Special Student Programs, International Student Services, University Bookstore, Candy Etc. and Computer Spectrum.

The question originally was intended to ask whether any staff services-related offices were located in the addition.

Send your questions about campus matters to Mizzou Weekly, 1100 University Place. You must include your name and phone number so we can reach you, if necessary.

Provost finalists have interviews

Two provost candidates visited campus recently.

Francille M. Firebaugh is acting vice president for academic affairs and provost of The Ohio State University. She is an expert in family resource management and the role of women in third-world economic development.

Michael J. Harrison, professor of physics at Michigan State University, was dean of Michigan State's Lyman Briggs College for eight years. He is an American Council on Education Academic Administration Fellow.

Job list recorded

Recorded listings of new campus and UM job openings are available 24 hours a day. For professional vacancies call 882-2345; for secretarial/clerical positions call 882-2041; and for technical/service/maintenance openings call 882-2916.

Anyone with CMS computer access may view campus and UM vacancies by logging on to CMS and typing help jobs. If your terminal is not linked to the campus disk, type link UMCCMS 191 192 RR, enter, access 192 D, enter, help jobs.

For more information or to apply for a job, contact Personnel Services, 201 S. Seventh St., west entrance, at 882-7976.

For information on job openings at the UMC Hospital and Clinics, contact the hospital Personnel Department, 1W42 UMCHC, telephone 882-8186.

Free Health Screenings ...from The Staff for Life

The Staff for Life will give you an all-important health-check... free of charge, to all UMC faculty, staff and spouses. Just drop by the Union's Benton-Bingham rooms (N214-N215) between 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. on Monday, March 10. Take advantage of free screenings at any or all of these stations:

- Blood Pressure
- Nutrition: Eating Right or Risky?
- Back Flexibility & Posture Assessment
- Pulmonary Function Test
- Blood Glucose*

*For the most accurate reading, have an early break-fast; then refrain from eating and drinking anything except water for two hours before your test.

Come to Memorial Union on Monday, March 10, for your free health screening. It's just what you've been needing.

WORKING PARENTS SEMINAR: Lunch-bag seminar on communication will be held from noon-1:30 p.m. March 5 in S16 Memorial Union. Call UMC Training and Development at 882-2552 for registration.

28 Friday

NUTRITION UPDATE 1986: Event sponsored by Office of Continuing Education and School of Health Related Professions will be held at the Hilton Inn, 2200 I-70 Drive S.W. Call 882-4105.

ARTS AND SCIENCE WEEK: Tom L. Duncan, special assistant to Gov. John Ashcroft, will deliver a Professor for a Day lecture at 11:40 a.m. in 136 Middlebush Hall. Duncan will meet with any interested students from 2-3:30 p.m. in 104 Professional Bldg.

ORGANIC CHEMISTRY: "Chemical Studies on Two West African Medicinal Plants" will be the topic of Rattanaporn Promsattha at 12:40 p.m. in 221 Chemistry Bldg.

ANALYTICAL/ENVIRONMENTAL CHEMISTRY SEMINAR: "Fluoroimmunoassay: Present Status and Key Problems" will be the topic of John Kuo, assistant professor of chemistry, at 1:40 p.m. in 32 Chemistry Bldg.

ARTS AND SCIENCE WEEK: "Perspectives on the Legislative Process" will be the topic of David Steelman's Professor for a Day lecture at 2:40 p.m. in 212 Middlebush Hall.

ARTS AND SCIENCE WEEK: See Highlights.
INORGANIC/PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY SEMINAR: "The Use of Stable Isotopes in Water/Rock Interactions in Geological Processes" will be the topic of Kevin Shelton, assistant professor of geology, at 3:40 p.m. in 221 Chemistry Bldg.

ARTS AND SCIENCE WEEK: A panel discussion on "Finnegan's Wake" will be held at 3:40 p.m. in 200 A&S Bldg.

ARTS AND SCIENCE WEEK: "Birthright Papers" will be the topic of Lawrence O. Christensen's Professor for a Day lecture at 3:40 p.m. in 114 A&S Bldg.

ARTS AND SCIENCE WEEK: A reception for A&S Distinguished Alumnus Ronald N. Barbie will be held at 3:40 p.m. in the Memorial Union Faculty/Alumni Lounge.

STUDENT RECITAL: Joni Lane, soprano, will perform at 7 p.m. in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

UNIVERSITY THEATER: "La Discreta Enamorada" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Rhynsburger Theater. Cost: $4.50 faculty/staff, $2.50 students, $5 general public.

1 Saturday

STUDENT RECITAL: Sandra Troutt, soprano, will perform at 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

GYMNASTICS: Team will host Ohio State and Wisconsin at 7:30 p.m. in the Hearnest Arena. Cost: $3 faculty/staff, $2 students.

UNIVERSITY THEATER: "La Discreta Enamorada" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Rhynsburger Theater. Cost: $4.50 faculty/staff, $2.50 students, $5 general public.

2 Sunday

STUDENT RECITAL: Kriste Knollmeyer, percussionist, will perform at 1:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

UMC CONCERT SERIES: See Highlights.

3 Monday

ENVIRONMENT: Questions about the campus environment are due today as part of this year's Staff Recognition Week. Send your questions, with name and phone number, to "Our Campus Environment," c/o Sharon Isaacson and Tony Ciston, MA212 Budget, Medical Science Building.

ENGINEER'S WEEK: Beard Contest, Fun & Frolics and Campus Stunt will be held today. Call 882-4375.

SPECIAL EDUCATION: Event sponsored by the UMC Special Education Dissemination Center and the Section of Special Education, Missouri Department of Elementary Education, will be held today from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. and tomorrow from 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. at the Hearnest Center. Cost: $25. Call 882-3594.

SEMINAR: "Legal Issues in Counseling and Higher Education" will be presented by Donald D. Gehring, co-editor of "The College Student and the Courts," from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. in the Alumni Center. Event, sponsored by the Mid-Missouri Associated Colleges and Universities, is open to faculty and staff of MMACU schools.

WOMEN'S CENTER: "Personal Power," an informal, open discussion to enhance awareness of individual personal power issues, will be led by Marya Kyril of Counseling Services at noon at the Women's Center.

BIOCHEMISTRY: Information on Nutrition Week will be presented at 3:40 p.m. in 322 Chemistry Bldg.

NUTRITION EMPHASIS WEEK: "The Indolizidine Alkaloids, Slaframine and Swainsonine: Contaminants in Animal Forages" will be the topic of Harry P. Broquist of Vanderbilt University at 3:40 p.m. in Memorial Union Aud.

MSA FILM: "Diva" will be shown at 8 p.m. in Ellis Aud. Cost: 50 cents.
FACULTY RECITAL SERIES: The Esterhazy Quartet will perform at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

4 Tuesday

TEST: General Education Development test will be offered in S16 Memorial Union. Call 882-4801.

ENGINEER'S WEEK: Luncheon will be held at 11:45 a.m. in N208 Memorial Union. Professor for a Day and Egg Catapult also will be held today. Call 882-4375.

PEACE STUDIES: "UMC, the U.S. and the U.N." will be discussed from noon-1:30 p.m. in 305 General Classroom Bldg.

NUTRITION EMPHASIS WEEK: A poster session on nutrition research will be held from 1:15-3:15 p.m. outside S8 Memorial Union.

NUTRITION EMPHASIS WEEK: "Selenium as an Anticarcinogenic and Antitumorogenic Agent" will be the topic of John A. Milner of the University of Illinois at 3:40 p.m. in S8 Memorial Union.

UNIVERSITY CLUB THEATER PARTY: The University Theater's production of "La Discreta Enamorada" and a reception will be held at 8 p.m. March 7 in the Fine Arts Gallery. Cost: $7 for play and reception. Reservation deadline is today. Call 882-7857.

COUNCIL OF DEANS: Group will meet at 3:40 p.m. in the Fine Arts Gallery.

PHARMACOLOGY RESEARCH SEMINAR: "Physiological Flow Modeling of Adriamycin and Warfarin Elimination" will be the topic of Walter D. Wosilait, pharmacology professor, at 4 p.m. in M538 Medical Sciences Bldg.

MSA FILMS: "Singin' in the Rain" will be shown at 7 p.m. and "An American in Paris" will at 9:30 p.m. in Ellis Aud. Cost: 50 cents.

5 Wednesday

NEW EMPLOYEE ORIENTATION: Program will be held from 9-11:30 a.m. in the Education and Development Center, Elm Street Bldg.

BUSINESS SERVICES SEMINAR: Postal Services Manager Jim Southern will explain the Centralized Mail Facility from 10 a.m.-noon in S4 Memorial Union. Call 882-2552 to register.

ENGINEER'S WEEK: Luncheon will be at 11:45 a.m. in N208 Memorial Union. Professor for a Day and Queen Skits also will be held today. Call 882-4375.

WOMEN'S CENTER: "Lesbian Health Issues" will be topic of Diana Wright and Nan Sloan at noon in 1 Gentry Hall.

WORKING PARENTS SEMINAR: See Highlights.

LUNCHTIME GALLERY: Jane Biers, curator of ancient art, will present "Early Cultures in Anatolia" at 12:25 p.m. in the Museum of Art and Archaeology.

BUSINESS SERVICES SEMINAR: Jim Robinson, manager of Cashiers, Payroll and Student Accounts, will explain the Personnel Action Form and related documents from 1-2:30 p.m. in S4 Memorial Union. Call 882-2552 to register.

PSYCHIATRY: "Depression in the Elderly" will be presented by George Grossberg, assistant professor and director of Gero-Psychiatry at St. Louis University, at 1 p.m. in Truman Veterans Hospital Aud.

BUSINESS SERVICES SEMINAR: Moderators will explain how to place General Stores orders from 2:45-4:30 p.m. Call 882-2552 to register.

MSA FILM: "The Producers" will be shown at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Ellis Aud. Cost: 50 cents.

UNIVERSITY THEATER: "La Discreta Enamorada" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Rhynsburger Theater. Cost: $4.50 faculty/staff, $2.50 students, $5 general public.

6 Thursday

BUSINESS SERVICES SEMINAR: Telecommunications Manager Beverly Blackwell will discuss present and future telecommunications services from 8:15-9:45 a.m. in S204 Memorial Union. Call 882-2552 to register.

BUSINESS SERVICES SEMINAR: Accounting Services Manager Libby Miederhoff will discuss the use of accounting forms from 10 a.m.-noon in S204 Memorial Union. Call 882-2552 to register.

BUSINESS SERVICES SEMINAR: Accounting Services Manager Libby Miederhoff will discuss the reading and interpretation of monthly accounting reports (AMO90/91); the use of memo encumbrances in managing accounts; and accounting information available through computer inquiry from 1:30-3:30 p.m. in S204 Memorial Union. Call 882-2552 to register.

BUSINESS SERVICES SEMINAR: Environmental Health and Safety Administrative Assistant Arlis Hanks will discuss Workers' Compensation, safety glasses requirements and filing injury reports from 3:45-4:45 p.m. in S204 Memorial Union. Call 882-2552 to register.
ENGINEER'S WEEK: Engineering barbecue will be held today. Call 882-4375.
