Vol. 8, No. 1 Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Sept. 8, 1978

FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING SCHEDULED--The Faculty Council will meet at 3:40 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 7 in Memorial Union room S110. Major agenda items include action on minutes of the August 31 meeting, action on committee appointments, and discussion on faculty quality improvement funds.

FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING HIGHLIGHTS--August 31, 1978. Elections were held for chairpersons of the standing committees of the Faculty Council. Results were as follows: Academic and Faculty Affairs, Robert Bevins; Academic Freedom and Grievance, William Fisch; Faculty Bulletin, Robert Rowland; Fiscal Affairs, James Baldwin; Special Projects, Truman Storvick; and Student Affairs, Marilyn Maddux.

Marie Vorbeck was elected as recorder of the council; William Fisch was elected to serve as parliamentarian of the council. Gordon Kimber was elected as one of the three representatives of the Columbia campus to the Intercampus Faculty Council. William Bondeson will continue as representative and David West, council chairperson, will also serve on the Intercampus Faculty Council.

Roy Utz was elected for a two-year term, and Sam C. Brown, for a one-year term, to the Resource Management Council. Aimee Moore was elected as the council's observer to the Board of Curators meetings.

There was discussion of the Faculty Quality Improvement Salary Funds; it was agreed to continue the discussion at the next meeting. Vice Chairman Kimber made a series of announcements regarding the Task Force on Educational Priorities, committee appointments and future council activities and problems.

NATIONAL TEACHING AWARD--Robert Daniel, a member of the UMC psychology faculty for 33 years, has received the American Psychological Foundation's Unique Contribution in the Teaching of Psychology Award. Daniel was cited for his transformation of a division newsletter into Teaching of Psychology, a widely read and respected academic journal. The UMC professor was selected from national competition and was the first to receive the award.

BUSINESS JOURNALISTS IN LECTURE SERIES--Lewis H. Young, editor-in-chief of Business Week, will be the first speaker in the 1978-79 ITT Key Issues Series at the UMC School of Journalism. Young is the first of six scheduled lecturers who will examine relations between business and the news media and the media's coverage of business and economics news. The lecture will be 3:30 p.m. Sept. 21, Memorial Union Auditorium.

EMERGENCY AIRCRAFT COCKPIT FAMILIARIZATION SHORT COURSE--Have you ever flown in a light plane and wondered what you would do in an emergency if something happened to the pilot? The Extension Division is sponsoring a four-session course for $40 on the basic principles of flight, airspace control, communication and emergency procedures. In addition to the six hours of classroom instruction and a session at Columbia Regional Airport, those enrolled in the course will have the option of participating in a one-hour flight practicum for a minimal fee through the Columbia Flight Service at Cotton Woods Airport, or at Central Missouri Aviation at Columbia Regional Airport. This practicum will be hands-on flight experience at the aircraft controls in order to experience in-flight maneuvers and landing procedures.

The course will be offered in the evenings on Sept. 12, 19, 26 and Oct. 10. For additional information on the course, contact Walt Wilkening at 882-8253.

ACADEMIC FAIR--UMC's Learning Center is sponsoring an Academic Fair from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 6 in the Memorial Union Large Ballroom. Students will be able to talk with faculty and advisers from all UMC schools and colleges plus representatives from other campus education groups. Operators at the computer-assisted UMC Information Station will give answers to questions about courses, achievements and financial aid.

FOUR WIN NIH TRAINING GRANT--Four UMC doctoral students in cellular and molecular genetics have been awarded training grants by the National Institutes of Health because of their "outstanding promise for a research career." Awarded grants were: Mayre Carlo of Puerto Rico, James Golden II of Wheaton, Md., F. Kenneth Nelson of Wichita, Kan., and Susan K. Stephens of Pine Bluff, Ark. Eventually 12 UMC students will be awarded grants through a $287,000 blanket grant under the direction of Abraham Eisenstark, director of UMC's Division of Biological Sciences.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB has scheduled its fall reception for 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 13 at the Alumni Center on Stadium Boulevard. Information will be presented at the reception on interest groups and programs planned throughout the year. For further information, contact Mrs. Anthony Lampe, 449-3057.

FACULTY GRANTS FOR RESEARCH IN AGING--October 10 is the deadline for submission of small grants for research in aging to the Joint Centers for Aging Studies. All full-time, regular faculty are eligible to make application. Awards (up to $3,000) are limited to research programs. For application forms and additional information, contact Rosemary Orgren at 633 Clark Hall, UMC (882-6011).

MSA BROADWAY PLAY TICKETS ON SALE--Season tickets for the 1978-79 MSA Broadway Play Series are on sale now through Sept. 21 at the Memorial Union ticket window. Mail orders are also being accepted. Plays being offered this year are "California Suite" on Sept. 21, "Sound of Music" Nov. 1 and "Romeo and Juliet" April 14. All plays are at 8 p.m. in Jesse Auditorium.

Season tickets are $8, $10 and $12 for MSA members and $11, $13 and $15 for the general public. Mail orders should be directed to MSA Broadway Plays, Memorial Union ticket window, University of Missouri-Columbia 65211. Checks should be payable to the University of Missouri. Season tickets will be held at the ticket window unless mail orders are accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Individual performance tickets go on sale at the ticket window two weeks in advance of the play and are also on sale at the door.

PAT AND DEBBY BOONE will open the fall entertainment season at UMC's Hearnest Building with a concert at 8 p.m. Sept. 15. Tickets are $7, $6, and $5. Mail orders should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope and be sent to Pat and Debby, Box F, Columbia, Missouri 65205. Checks should be made payable to the University of Missouri. Tickets are already available at the Hearnest ticket window.

UMC LEADERS NAMED TO NATIONAL COMMITTEES--Two members of the UMC Extension staff have been named to key committees of the National University Extension Association. Leonard Douglas, a dean of the UMC Extension Division, has been named chairman of the Federal Agency and Congressional Relations Subcommittee and member of the membership committee. Doil F. Felts, director of the Office of Independent Study through Correspondence, has been named to the awards and honors committee and the annual conference program committee.

THE CENTER FOR AGING STUDIES recently updated its brochure which describes the Center's program and outlines the requirements and application process for traineeships and fellowships in gerontology. Copies in quantity are available at the office, 628 Clark Hall, for distribution to classes and other groups.

HITCH APPOINTED--Robert Hitch was named UMC assistant athletic director effective Sept. 1., after serving in the position on an interim basis since June 15. He was the unanimous choice of a three-person screening committee, consisting of Dave Hart, intercollegiate athletic director; Jackie McClain, affirmative action coordinator; and Frederick C. Spiegel, chairman of the intercollegiate athletic committee. Hitch, 38, previously served as assistant athletic director under Hart at the University of Louisville.

ORIENTATION FOR NEW FACULTY was resurrected on Aug. 22 after a 10-year hiatus. Designed to give new academic staff an overview of the campus, the structure of UM and the functions of the offices, the program was organized by Provost Owen Koepp's office and supported by Chancellor Barbara Uehling. New faculty heard explanations of the budget, faculty council, the Graduate School and the Office of Research, UMC cultural events and personnel services.

RETIREMENT RECEPTION--Charles F. Mitchell and Virginia W. Southwood from the School of Social Work were honored Sept. 5 at a retirement reception. Mitchell has been coordinator of the Social Work Extension Program since 1967 when it began operations. Southwood has been on the school's faculty since 1965 and has made significant contributions to the Extension program, particularly in innovative services for the aging.

PUBLICATIONS from the classical studies department are being exhibited this month in the first floor display case of Ellis Library. Displays rotate each month. Anyone who would like to contribute material should contact June DeWeese, Social Science Library, 882-6661.

FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING HIGHLIGHTS--Sept. 7, 1978. Nominations or appointments were made to the following: Intercollegiate Athletics Committee, University Assembly, Calendar Committee, Faculty Benefits Task Force, Academic Regulations Monitoring Committee, Committee for Committees, Councils and Boards, Campus Committee on Faculty Responsibility, and Task Force on Student Health Services. Nominations to the Campus Promotion and Tenure Committee were tabled.

A request for a faculty council committee on promotion and tenure criteria was sent to the council's Special Projects Committee for report and recommendations on Sept. 21.

There was considerable and vigorous discussion about the distribution of Faculty Quality Improvement Funds. The subject was finally referred to the council's Fiscal Affairs Committee (James Baldwin, chairman) to report to the council on Sept. 21.

SIGMA XI RESEARCH AWARD -- Constantine Anast, a member of the UMC School of Medicine faculty since 1956, is the recipient of the Research Award of the UMC chapter of Sigma Xi, national scientific research honorary society.

Presentation of the $500 cash award, certificate and plaque will be made at the Sigma Xi Research Award Dinner at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 25 in the Small Ballroom of Memorial Union on campus. Following the dinner Anast will give a lecture on hormonal control of calcium metabolism.

The award banquet is open to the public. Tickets for $6.50 each may be purchased from Edwin Kaiser, 305 Chemistry Building, 882-7856.

UNIVERSITY ASSEMBLY LECTURE funds are again available this year to assist departments wishing to invite off-campus speakers. Information and application forms are available from Theodore A. Tarkow, classical studies department, 410 GCB, 882-2038.

Changes in Existing Academic Regulations

The Faculty Council has approved the following changes in the existing Academic Regulations, effective immediately. The Academic Regulations are printed in the Columbia Campus Section of the Faculty Handbook.

1. Article II Section 2 Admission of Transfer Students Paragraph (B). (Page 3 of 15). Delete final sentence: (Claims for advanced standing must be made within one semester after the student has been admitted to the university.)
2. Article II Section 4 Credit by Examination Paragraph (A). (Page 3 of 15). Change the paragraph to read: The Missouri College English Test (MCET) serves as a basis for placement in English and the Missouri Mathematics Placement Test (MMPT) serves as a basis for credit in College Algebra.
3. Article VII Section 2 The Grading System - In General Opening paragraph. (Page 8 of 15). Add, end of line 4: and U (Unsatisfactory). This sentence should read: This subsection of this article is not applicable to the Schools of Law and Medicine which award grades of S (Satisfactory) and U (Unsatisfactory).
4. Article VII Section 2 The Grading System - In General Paragraph (E). (Page 11 of 15). Final sentence. Change may to must. This sentence should read: (Note: Grade corrections must be processed within one semester of the original reporting date.)

Robert S. Daniel, Chairman
Committee on Academic Regulations

THE STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF MISSOURI will have its annual meeting Sept. 30 with Duane Meyer, president of Southwest Missouri State University, Springfield, as speaker at the 12:30 p.m. luncheon for members at Memorial Union. Award presentations will be made at that time. The society will elect new trustees at its 11 a.m. business meeting in the Memorial Union Auditorium.

LABORATORY DIRECTOR RECOGNIZED -- Lawrence Morehouse, director of UMC's Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, has been recognized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for his contributions toward eradicating hog cholera. A certificate, signed by Secretary of Agriculture Robert Bergland, was presented at a recent meeting for the Missouri Livestock and Poultry Health Council.

THE INTER-AMERICAN FOUNDATION is making available pre-and post doctoral research fellowships to provide opportunities for scholars to learn about processes related to social change in Latin America and the Caribbean. The fellowships are open to scholars in the social sciences and professions with knowledge of Latin America or the Caribbean. Application forms may be obtained by writing to: Learning Fellowship on Social Change, Inter-American Foundation, 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Rosslyn, Virginia 22209. Applications must be post-marked on or before December 5. Awards will be announced by May 15.

FINANCIAL AIDS CHANGES--The appointment of an acting associate director and a physical facelift for the UMC financial aids office were announced Sept. 13 by James A. Irvin, interim vice chancellor for student affairs.

Irvin designated Don Eggeman, a UMC counseling psychologist, to serve as acting associate director until a nationwide search is completed and a permanent appointee named to the post, a process expected to take four to six months.

Irvin also announced plans to enlarge and renovate the financial aids reception area, to remodel the office areas and to relocate file storage facilities.

TWO EVENTS IN THE GUEST ARTIST SERIES sponsored by the UMC music department are scheduled for this week. Sandra Dene Ellis, lyric soprano, will present a recital at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Recital Hall of the UMC Fine Arts Building, Assisting Ellis will be pianist Janice Wenger and Eva Szekely, first violinist of the Easterhazy Quartet. BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Vol. 8, No. 3 Published by the Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Oct. 10, 1978

FACULTY COUNCIL HIGHLIGHTS--Oct. 5, 1978. The council considered and tabled a draft letter to Provost Koeppel regarding criteria for promotion and tenure.

Chancellor Uehling presented to the council her plans regarding the Futures Committee and her reorganization of the UMC administration. A varied and vigorous discussion followed.

CAUSE Proposals

NSF Closing Date: December 4, 1978

The deadline for submission of CAUSE (Comprehensive Assistance to Undergraduate Science Education) proposals to the office of the Provost for Academic Affairs for campus screening is Wednesday, October 25, 1978. A faculty committee acting in an advisory capacity to the Provost's office will screen the proposals. The campus submission deadline of October 25 is necessary to allow time for the committee to screen and the project directors of the selected proposal to meet the NSF closing date of December 4, 1978. Questions regarding proposals or screening should be directed to Laverne Walton, Associate Provost, 114 Jesse, 882-6598.

GRANTS FOR STUDY AND RESEARCH in the Federal Republic of Germany for 1979 are available through the German Academic Exchange Service. Research programs, traineeships and information visits are among the offerings.

The International Research and Exchanges Board has 10 fellowships open for a one-month summer language school at the University of Sofia in Bulgaria for 1979. More information on both fellowship programs is available from Mel Blase, director of international programs study, 882-3033

AN ENVIRONMENT SEMINAR will feature John Farmer, professor of biological sciences, speaking on "Protozoa, Parasites and Water Quality" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room S-203 of the Memorial Union. Farmer will be discussing whether it is possible to use protozoa, the simplest organisms known to man, and parasites to determine the quality of water. The seminar is free and open to the public.

AN ASSERTION TRAINING GROUP for women is being formed by the UMC Counseling Service. The group will meet 3 to 5 p.m. Wednesdays for eight weeks beginning Oct. 11. Nancy Downing and Dave Klein, UMC counseling-interns, will be group leaders. A pre-group interview is required for the free program. For more information, contact Phil Ladwig, 882-7078.

GIAN PAOLO BIASIN will lecture on "The Red and/or the Black: Borgese and the Rise of Fascism" at 4 p.m. Thursday, Room 210, General Classroom Building. The lecture will be in English and is sponsored by the University lecture fund, free and open to the public.

SECOND IN THE SERIES of Lectures in English, Donald K. Anderson, professor of English, will present "The King's Two Rouses: Providential Revenge in Hamlet." In his lecture, Anderson says he will explain how Shakespeare twice uses the sound effect of firing cannon to support the play's theme. The lecture, free and open to the public, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 16 in Room 222-223-N, Memorial Union. The audience is welcome for coffee and to meet Anderson at 7:30 p.m.

NOVELIST WILLIAM H. GASS, professor of philosophy at Washington University, will speak on "Philosophy and the Development of the Novel" at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 18 in Allen Auditorium. A controversial novelist, philosopher and literary theorist, Gass is noted for his experimental work in American literature. The presentation is sponsored by the University Lecture Series and is open to the public without charge.

THE CHICAGO ABSTRACTIONIST EXHIBIT, "Romanticized Structures," will be on display through Oct. 27 at the Fine Arts Gallery. The exhibit focuses on aesthetic concerns flourishing in Chicago in the seventies as seen by top artists who practice abstract art in the city. The Fine Arts Gallery is open 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Monday through Friday and 2:30-4:30 p.m. Sundays.

WEST GERMAN PROFESSOR AT UMC OCT. 19--Professor Detlev Mueller, a leading authority on the social history of German education, will discuss "The Problem of Educational Reform in West Germany" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 19 in S206 of the Memorial Union. Mueller, a member of the faculty at the University of the Ruhr, Bochum, West Germany, will look at the educational reforms of the 1960's and 1970's and discuss "the difficulties in establishing a socially open and politically liberal educational system in a somewhat elitist and authoritarian society." His lecture is sponsored by the University of Missouri-Columbia departments of education, history, and Germanic and Slavic languages.

RAKU POTTERY--A special workshop in raku pottery, sponsored by the MSA Craft Studio and the Missouri Arts Council, is scheduled Oct. 16 through Nov. 4. Shel Neymark, a visiting artist from Santa Fe, N.M., will conduct the sessions. Events are to include slide-lectures, throwing, handbuilding and glazing demonstrations, construction of a kiln and several outdoor firings.

Registration forms and brochures are available at the MSA ticket window in Memorial Union and at the MSA Craft Studio, 203 Brady Commons. All events are free and open to the public. For further information, persons may call 882-2889.

ALUMATHON PLANS ON FAMILY DAY--UMC will "run" its own version of the jogging Olympics Oct. 14 with the UMC Alumni Association's first annual Alumathon, an event for alumni, students and faculty. The early morning event precedes a number of programs planned as part of the University's annual Family Day.

Association student board members have laid out a 3.5 mile course at the University's Gustin Golf Course. Competition numbering will begin at 7:30 a.m. The race starts at 8 a.m. Entry deadline is Oct. 12.

Men's and women's divisions will classify entrants by category (faculty, alumni and students) and age (17-26, 26-30, 30-40, 40-50, and 50 and older.) Entry fees are $5 for students, $10 for alumni and faculty. Fees support the association scholarship fund. Each entrant will receive a T-shirt. Trophies will be awarded to category and age group winners.

TWO PREPARATION SESSIONS for anyone taking the Oct. 21 Graduate Record Examination are being conducted by the UMC Learning Center. Review for the test's verbal sections is scheduled for 7-9 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 12 in 132 Middlebush. Learning Center staff members will review GRE math skills from 7-9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 9 in 132 Middlebush and 3:30-5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 10 in 308 Middlebush.

Each session will include a practice test, followed by discussion of question categories and general test-taking tactics. All sessions are free and open to all, but students must register by calling the Learning Center, 882-2494.

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD of the State Historical Society of Missouri was presented to Elmer Ellis, a former president of the Society and president emeritus of the University. The award was presented at the annual meeting of the Society Sept. 30. More than 350 persons attended.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Vol. 8, No. 4 Published by the Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Oct. 24, 1978

FACULTY COUNCIL HIGHLIGHTS--Oct. 19, 1978. The council approved its response to Provost Koeppe's letter regarding promotion and tenure by establishing a six-member committee to review issues regarding promotion and tenure and to report its findings to the Faculty Council.

Executive Committee members reported on their meetings with Chancellor Uehling and Curator Johnston.

The council unanimously adopted the following resolution regarding monies from the sale of Weldon Springs: RESOLVED, that an endowment be established, with the income used for encouraging and improving creative endeavor in teaching and research across the diverse disciplines of the University, from science and technology to the humanities to the fine and the performing arts.

CAMPUS COMMITTEE ON HONORARY DEGREES will soon meet to select candidates for honorary degrees to be conferred in May, 1979. Members of the UMC faculty and administration are urged to submit names of candidates. Decisions should be made by Nov. 10, 1978.

Persons nominated may be either (1) graduates or former students of UMC who have achieved distinction; or (2) persons not necessarily associated with the University or the state, from this country or abroad, who have achieved distinction. Honorary degrees may not be awarded active or retired members of the University's faculty or staff.

Recommendations should include a vita or summary of the individual's accomplishments. Send names and supporting information to any member of the committee: Veralee Hardin, Education, 217 Laboratory School Building; E. Frederick List, Regional and Community Affairs, 716 Clark Hall; William Peden, English, 224 Arts and Science Building; Donald Waidelich, 226 Electrical Engineering; Robert Karsch, Institute of Public Administration, Middlebush Hall; and A. Eisenstark, chairman, Tucker Hall.

HORN NAMED ACTING DIRECTOR OF UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL--J. Jack Horn, associate director of the University Hospital since 1974, was named acting director effective Nov. 1 by Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling. Horn replaces Joe S. Greathouse who announced his resignation earlier last week to become executive director of Iowa's Health Systems Agency. Chancellor Uehling said she would form a committee in the near future to begin a search for a permanent director.

ELLIS LIBRARY DISPLAY for the month of November features publications by the agricultural engineering and plant pathology departments. Displays rotate each month. Faculty interested in featuring their departments should contact Gina Mares at 882-6324.

TRUMAN SCHOLARSHIPS--Luverne Walton, associate provost for academic affairs, says there is some confusion about the criteria for nominees for Harry S Truman Scholarships.

Causing the most confusion is the requirement that candidates hold junior standing PRIOR TO THE BEGINNING OF THE ACADEMIC YEAR FOR WHICH NOMINATED. That means that this year's candidates must have completed half the second year of college but not more than half the third year prior to the beginning of the fall semester 1979.

Other requirements are that the eligible student be pursuing a bachelor's degree fulltime; have a "B" grade point average; rank in the upper fourth of his or her class; be a U.S. citizen or national; and have an undergraduate major which will permit admission to a graduate program leading to a career in government.

Walton indicated the latter requirement should not be considered a limiting factor in faculty members' choice of potential candidates. A highly prestigious award given to only 53 students nationally, the Truman Scholarships cover tuition, fees, books, room and board to a maximum of $5,000 a year for up to four years.

Only faculty members can nominate candidates. The deadline for nominations is 5 p.m. Nov. 6. Nomination forms are available in 114 Jesse Hall. A faculty screening committee will select the campus nominee.

MARCHING MIZZOU will be shown on KMOX-TV (Channel 4) on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25, 26 and 27 during the 5 p.m. news shows. Segments of the program were taped prior to the Alabama and Iowa State games.

NLRB CHAIRMAN TO SPEAK--John H. Fanning, senior member and chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, will speak at noon Oct. 27 at the Collective Bargaining Seminar in the Memorial Union. Fanning is the only person to be named to the NLRB by presidents of both parties and to serve five years. His most recent reappointment was last year by President Carter.

The seminar is scheduled by the UMC School of Law Office of Continuing Education, the College of Business and Public Administration Labor Education Program, and the UMC Extension Division.

CARING FOR THE TERMINALLY ILL is the subject of a conference Oct. 24-25 in Memorial Union auditorium. The "hospice concept," a program emphasizing family participation for the terminally ill, will be explained and discussed. A registration fee of $12 pays for conference materials and coffee breaks. Continuing education credit is available from the American Medical Association, American Osteopathic Association, American Academy of Family Practice and the Missouri Nurses' Association. For more information, call 882-2256.

WILDLIFE LECTURE ON ALASKAN COASTAL PLAIN--"Waterbirds and Wetlands of the Alaskan Coastal Plain" will be the topic of Milton W. Weller at 8 p.m. Oct. 30 in 18 Tucker Hall. Weller's talk, illustrated with color slides, will be the first Robert S. Campbell Lecture in Natural Resources. Campbell is recently retired professor emeritus of the School of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, College of Agriculture.

A UMC graduate, Weller is chairman of the department of wildlife at the University of Minnesota, St. Paul. The lecture is supported by the University Lecture Series.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM is a confidential referral service for all faculty, staff and their families who are seeking solutions to persistent personal or work-related problems or who are interested in professional enhancement. Call the EAP at 882-6701, or stop by 215 Columbia Professional Building.

A UMC CONFERENCE ON COMPARATIVE SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT Oct. 29 to Nov. 1 will bring together more than 50 participants, including internationals, from universities, foundations, research institutes and government agencies. The conference will be held at the Columbia Sheraton Hotel.

Keynoter at 8 p.m. Oct. 29 will be David Gil of Brandeis University's Florence Heller Graduate School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare. The author of books and articles on poverty, child abuse and social policy will speak on "Human Development: A Criterion for Social Development." His talk is open to the public.

Sponsors of the conference are the Inter-University Consortium for International Social Development, the College of Public and Community Services and University Assembly Lecture Fund. Further information is available by calling 882-4764.

SPEAK-OUT ON LIBRARIES--Several faculty will take part in the Mid-Missouri Library Speak-Out Oct. 24. The session is at 7 p.m. in the Daniel Boone Regional Library, and is one of a number of sessions throughout the state to give citizens a chance to express their views on libraries. Speakers will take pro and con positions on issues such as access to information, control, service charges, technology, and purpose of libraries.

UMC participants include Dale Spencer, professor of journalism, speaking for freedom in access to information and Thomas R. Kochtanek, speaking on future applications of technology in the library and information center.

HEALTH CARE CENTERS FUNDED--Two major health care centers have been funded by federal grants to the University Medical Center. A spinal cord injury treatment center has been authorized at Rusk Rehabilitation Center through a $250,000 grant from HEW. The center will treat patients from a wide area of the Midwest through emergency transportation and assistance in rehabilitation and re-socialization of patients with spinal cord injuries.

Also, a multi-purpose arthritis center, one of 24 in the nation, has received a grant of $565,538 for a three year period from the National Institutes of Health. The arthritis program will allow extension of educational programs to professionals throughout the state by conducting special conferences and clinics.

NEW MISSOURI REVIEW--The second issue of "Missouri Review," a collection of poetry, short essays and criticisms by national distinguished poets and writers, will be available at the University Bookstore in mid-November. Articles by more than a dozen contemporary writers are included in the volume, among them Paul Bowles from Tangiers and Joyce Carol Oates, 1962 winner of the National Book Award for fiction. "Missouri Review" is published three times yearly and sells for $2.25 per volume. Annual and two-year subscriptions are available at $6 and $10, payable to the "Missouri Review." Subscriptions may be ordered by writing Editors, "Missouri Review," department of English, 231 Arts and Science Building.

NEW ADMINISTRATIVE STRUCTURE ANNOUNCED BY CHANCELLOR UEHLING

A change in the central administrative structure of UMC, effective Sept. 1, 1979, was announced today by Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling. Included in the new administrative structure are: provost; vice chancellors for student affairs, administrative services, and alumni affairs and development; directors of institutional research and planning, equal opportunity, office of public information, intercollegiate athletics, and the University hospital; and a special assistant.

Key to the new plan is the designation of the provost as chief academic officer. All academic deans will report to the provost. Under the current administrative structure, the deans report directly to the chancellor. The graduate dean position will carry the additional title of vice provost for research. The dean of extension title will be changed to vice provost for extension.

Candidates for the following positions will be sought through a national search process: provost, vice chancellor for administrative services, vice chancellor for student affairs, graduate dean and vice provost for research, director of institutional research and planning, director of equal opportunity, and hospital director. Persons now performing the same or similar functions are eligible to declare their candidacy for positions in the new structure.

Search procedures will begin immediately for the hospital director and institutional research and planning position. Searches for other positions will begin in the near future as soon as details can be worked out.

The number of top administrators will remain the same in the new plan. However, exclusive of deans the number of persons reporting to the chancellor will increase from nine to 10 because of the change in the reporting procedure for the director of the hospital.

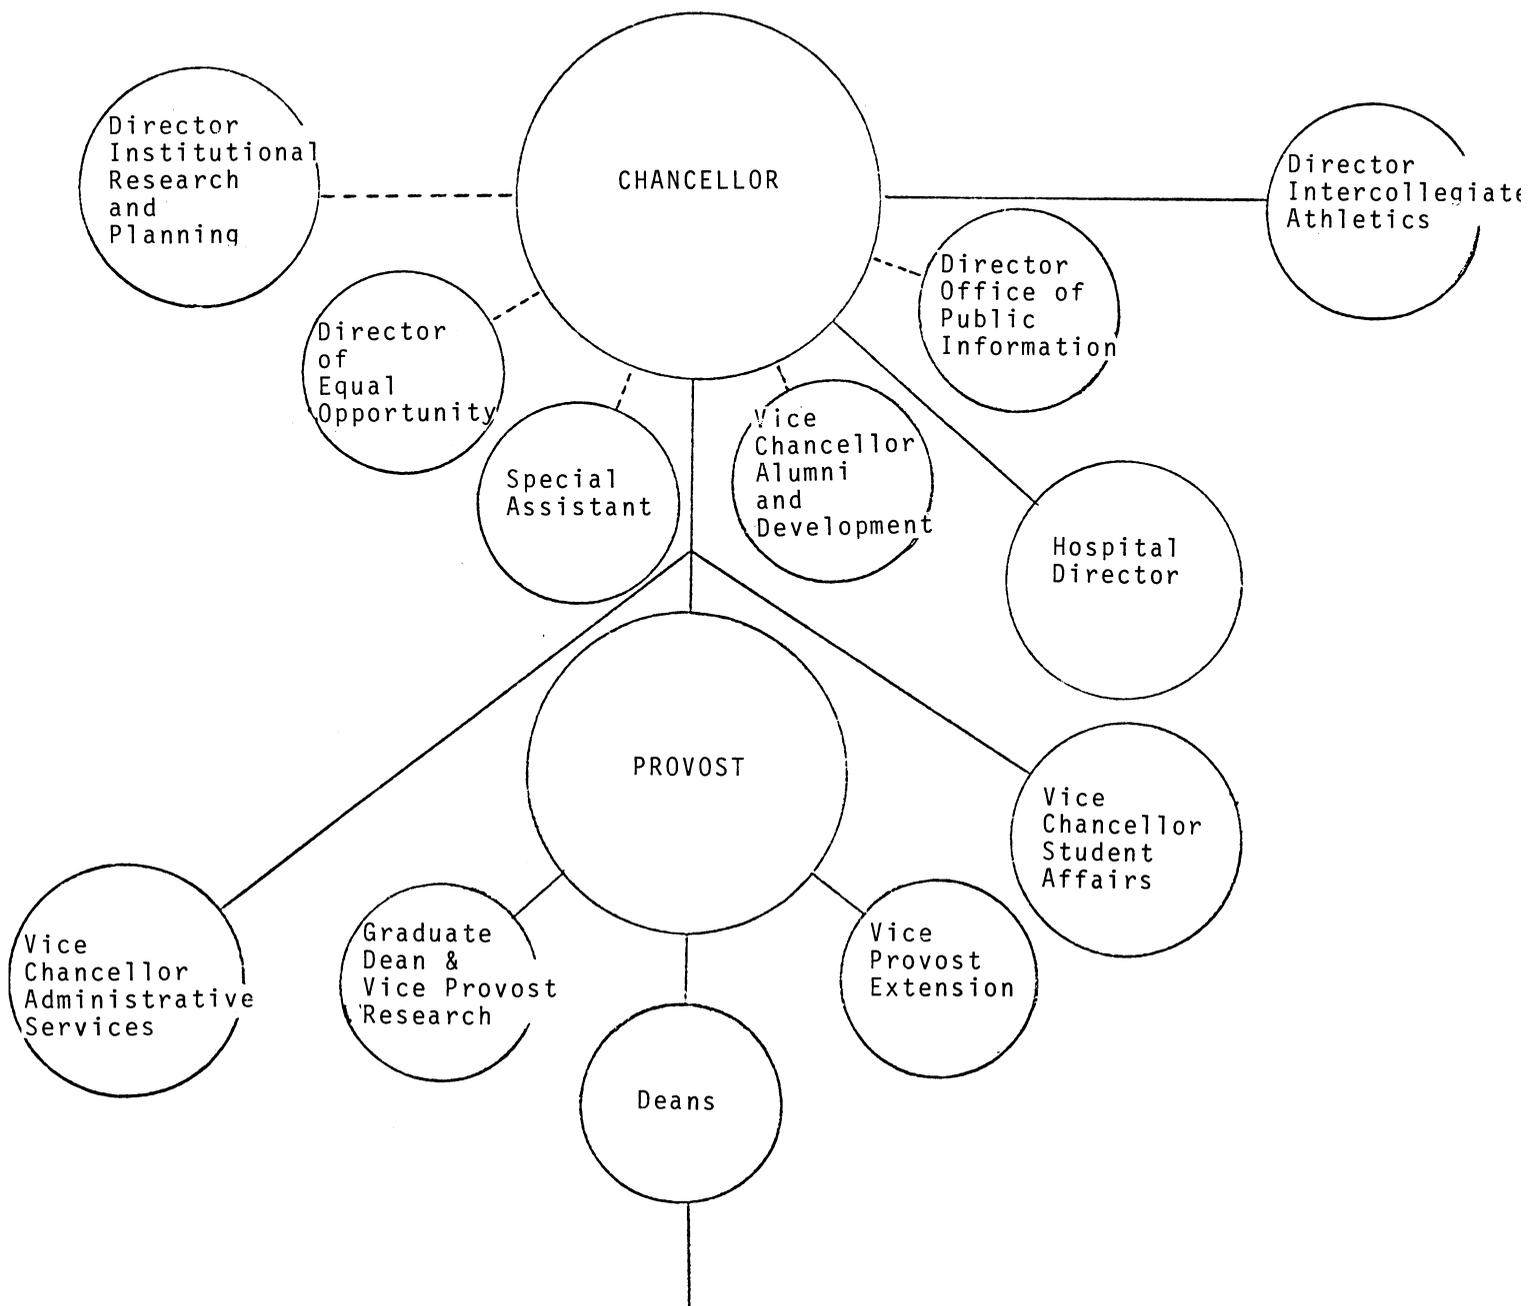

Job descriptions have not been completed for all the positions, but some realignment of responsibilities was announced by Chancellor Uehling. The housing office and the Memorial Union/Brady Commons operations will report to the student affairs vice chancellor. These functions now report through the business officer to the current provost for administration.

The chancellor also announced that budget planning will be handled by the new office of institutional research and planning.

Dr. Uehling stressed that the new structure was decided after discussion with all facets of the UMC community, and that it is designed to "provide an academic focus" to the campus. Other considerations, the chancellor said, were simplification of reporting and the placing of the hospital directly under the chancellor's control.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Vol. 8, No. 6 Published by the Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Nov. 21, 1978

FACULTY COUNCIL HIGHLIGHTS--Nov. 16, 1978

Discussion centered on the following: 1. The chancellor's letter requesting recommendations for 29 faculty members to serve on the five screening and search committees; 2. The proposed 1980-81 academic calendar; and 3. Professor Robert Daniel's report on the Task Force on Educational Priorities.

Nominations for the search committees will be decided at the council meeting on Nov. 30.

NEW OFFICIAL PORTRAIT OF THE CHANCELLOR --Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling has had an official portrait made for use in University publications, official documents, and news releases. Copies are available from the office of public information, 329 Jesse Hall, phone 882-6211.

J.M. POEHLMAN DONATES DEVIL MASK--J.M. Poehlman, professor of agronomy, and his wife have donated a Bolivian devil mask to the Museum of Anthropology. The mask can be viewed in the display case on the second floor of Jesse Hall.

HOLIDAY HOURS--UMC offices will be closed Nov. 23-24 for the Thanksgiving holidays. For students, classes end at 5:30 p.m., Nov. 21. Classes will resume Nov. 27.

Ellis Library, Memorial Union, Brady Commons and the Campus Computing Center will reduce their schedules during the break. Ellis Library will be open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Nov. 22 and closed Nov. 23. The library will operate on an 8 a.m.-5 p.m. schedule Nov. 24-25 and resume the regular Sunday hours of 2-11 p.m. on Nov. 26.

Memorial Union will close at 5 p.m., Nov. 22 and reopen at noon on Nov. 26. Food facilities will be closed as follows: The cafeteria will close after the noon meal on Nov. 22 and resume its regular schedule with breakfast Nov. 27. The Bengal Lair will close at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 21 and reopen at 7 a.m. Nov. 27. The Hawthorn Room will close after the noon meal Nov. 21 and resume its regular schedule with lunch Nov. 27.

Brady Commons will close at 5 p.m. Nov. 22 and reopen at 2 p.m. Nov. 26.

The Campus Computing Center's 24-hour site, LeFevre Hall, will close at 9 p.m. Nov. 22 and reopen at 9 a.m. Nov. 27. Electrical Engineering, Middlebush Hall, General Classroom Building sites and staff offices will close at 5 p.m. Nov. 22 and resume operation at 8 a.m. Nov. 27.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM is a confidential referral service for all faculty, staff and their families who are seeking solutions to persistent personal or work-related problems or who are interested in professional enhancement. Call the EAP at 882-6701, or stop by 215 Columbia Professional Building.

THE FORESTRY CLUB'S ANNUAL CHRISTMAS TREE SALE has been set for Thursday, Dec. 7 through Sunday, Dec. 10. The sale will be open from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. under the stands on the east side of Memorial Stadium. Missouri-grown Scotch pine trees, wreaths, boughs, cones, mistletoe and holly will be on sale. Trees will be priced according to size and quality. For information, call 882-7045.

PRODUCTIVITY--WHAT'S IN IT FOR SMALL BUSINESSES is the topic of a two-day seminar planned by the Business and Industry Productivity Center at UMC. The sessions, scheduled for 7-9:30 p.m. Nov. 29 and 30, are designed to acquaint businesspersons with productivity problems and methods for productivity improvement. The program will be held at the University of Missouri Extension Center of Boone County, 1408 I-70 Drive S.W. in Columbia. The fee is $15 per person.

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES SEMINAR--Kenneth Miller, Harvard University, will present "The structure of the photosynthetic membrane" at 3:40 p.m. Nov. 21, 115 Tucker Hall.

ANOTHER SEASON OF THE GREATEST GAME IN TOWN, the 1978-79 United Way drive, has been kicked off to a great start this year. So far, the campus has raised $21,361 toward its goal of $99,500, or 21.4 percent of goal.

"The University's goal this year is set at only $3,500 more than last year," said Bob Kren, chairman of the United Way drive and director of the office of public information. "With the outstanding support of the faculty and staff last year, the University easily exceeded its goal. This year, with the students participating in the drive, I have no doubt that the response will be overwhelming."

Chancellor Uehling has proclaimed Nov. 27 - Dec. 1 "Campus United Way Fundraising Week." A ceremony at noon on the steps of the Memorial Union is scheduled on Nov. 27, with speeches by Uehling and Dave and Terry Newman, honorary co-chairmen of the city United Way fund and members of the UMC varsity football squad. Mini Mizzou will provide entertainment.

Faculty and staff members should have received pledge cards by now. If you haven't, call the office of public information, 882-6211, to request additional cards. United Way supports 25 community agencies. By giving to United Way, you can contribute to your community--and perhaps to yourself and your family.

University employees may participate by requesting a payroll deduction, making a pledge or contributing cash or a check.

UNITED WAY UPDATE--As of Friday, Nov. 17, divisions had raised a total of $21,361 toward the 1978-79 goal of $99,500. Contributions for the four campus divisions were campus, $1,429, or two percent toward their goal of $62,000; Medical Center, $6,762, or 33.8 percent toward their goal of $20,000; University-wide, $6,600, or 74 percent toward their goal of $8,900; and retired individuals, $6,546 or 76 percent toward their goal of $8,600.

COMPOSITION OF SEARCH AND SCREENING COMMITTEES--Chancellor Barbara Uehling, after reviewing input from the Faculty Council and MSA, has announced the composition of the search and screening committees for six of the seven administrative positions now open for search at UMC.

The charge given to the screening committees is to assist in reviewing all applicants for the position and to arrange a schedule of appointments and provide input on each interviewee. The charge given to the search committees is to conduct a search for candidates for the position, interview the top candidates, and recommend three to five candidates to the chancellor.

Faculty Council and MSA have been asked to submit nominees for all search and screening committees. The Employees' Staff Advisory Council, which is scheduled to meet with the chancellor on Dec. 8, will also have input into the nominations. All committees will have faculty chairs except the hospital director screening committee.

The composition of the committees is as follows:

Search committee for provost--one dean, one department chair, five faculty (extension, graduate, professional, arts and science), two students (one graduate, one undergraduate), one staff/administrator, one member of the library staff.

Search committee for the graduate dean and vice provost for research--four faculty, one dean, one department chair, two students (one graduate, one professional school).

Search committee for vice chancellor for student affairs--one dean, two staff/administrators, three faculty, three students.

Search committee for vice chancellor for administrative services--one dean, two staff/administrators, one department chair, two students, two faculty.

Search committee for director of equal opportunity--one dean, four faculty, three staff/administrators, two students.

Screening committee for director of institutional research and planning--one dean, three faculty, two staff/administrators, two students.

The composition of the screening committee for the hospital director is still being considered by Uehling.

MARILYN HORNE, mezzo-soprano, will perform operatic excerpts, lieder and folk songs at 8:15 p.m. Nov. 21 in Jesse Auditorium. The internationally renowned singer will perform arias from "Orlando Furioso" by Vivaldi; the Cantata for Voice and Piano "Giovanna d'Arco" by Rossini and works by Mahler, Marcello and Peri.

Tickets for the Jesse Auditorium Concert Series performance will be on sale from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., Nov. 20-21 and at 7:15 p.m. the evening of the performance at the Jesse Hall box office. Tickets are $3 for students and $5 for the public.

A BAND SPECTACULAR will be presented by three UMC bands in performances at 8:15 p.m. Nov. 28 in Jesse Auditorium. The Symphonic Band, Mini-Mizzou, Marching Mizzou and the Golden Girls and Flag Corps will be featured. Proceeds from the program will go to band scholarships.

Tickets are $1.50 for students and $3 for adults. They may be purchased at the Fine Arts office, 130 Fine Arts Bldg., beginning Nov. 21, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Or they may be ordered by sending a check to that office, made out to UMC Band Spectacular. The Jesse Hall ticket office will also sell tickets from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Nov. 20, 21, 27 and 28 and beginning at 7 p.m. on the night of the concert.

B&PA ADVISORY COUNCIL--Seven business executives have been appointed to the Dean's Advisory Council of the UMC College of Business and Public Administration.

The new members, as announced by B&PA Dean S. Watson Dunn are Sam B. Cook, president of Central Trust Bank, Jefferson City; James H. Denman, president of Citizens State Bank, Nevada; William Harsch, retired executive and a consultant to Hallmark, Inc., Kansas City; Roger A. Hegarty, president of First National Bank, St. Joseph; James Judd, managing partner of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, Kansas City; William Nault, executive vice president and educational director, Field Enterprises Educational Corporation of Chicago; and Gordon Crosby Jr., chairman of the board and chief executive officer, U.S. Life Corporation, New York City.

Advisers serve a two-year term and meet on campus in the spring and fall. The 18-member council, Dunn said, "serves as a very important link between the college and the various business professions."

VETERINARIAN RECEIVES GRANT--The effectiveness of a commonly-used lead exposure test is being investigated by a UMC veterinarian. David Thawley, assistant professor of veterinary microbiology, has received a $64,000 grant from the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences for a two-year study of ways zinc and cadmium affect the toxicity of lead in the body.

Previous research has shown that exposure to zinc or cadmium interferes with the results of a test to measure the amount of lead in the body of a person or animal.

GENERAL FACULTY MEETING

Friday, Dec. 8

4 p.m.

Jesse Auditorium

This is the regular general faculty meeting which must be held every semester according to the by-laws.

FACULTY COUNCIL AGENDA, Dec. 7, 1978--(1) Nominations for search committees; (2) Academic Calendar for 1980-81; (3) Proposed changes in academic regulations; (4) Discussion of honorary degrees.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING Nov. 30, 1978--The main agenda item for the meeting was the nomination of faculty members to serve on the various search committees. The council voted the following faculty members for the Search Committee for Provost for Academic Affairs:

James Baldwin (Engineering), Sandra Gault (education), Joan Krauskopf (law), Norman Rabjohn (Arts and Science), Robert Rowland (Arts and Science), Truman Storvick (Engineering), Christopher Lucas (education), and Dallas Meyer (medicine).

Members for the search committees for the Graduate Dean and Vice Provost for Research will be recommended by balloting next week.

HANDEL'S MESSIAH--The 260-voice University Choral Union and the UMC Philharmonic will perform Handel's Messiah at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 7 in Jesse Auditorium. Soloists will be Dorothy Markwort, soprano; Judith Auer, mezzo-soprano; Donald Pyle, tenor, and Earl Coleman, bass. Robert Behan will conduct the performance. The public is invited to attend the free holiday concert.

CHRISTMAS TREE SALE--The UMC Forestry Club's annual Christmas tree sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Dec. 7-10 under the stands on the east side of Memorial Stadium. Missouri-grown Scotch pine, wreaths, boughs and holly will be available. Proceeds go to sponsor the Forestry Club's activities.

A SURVIVING FINALS WORKSHOP is being sponsored by the UMC Learning Center from 7-9:30 p.m. Dec. 5 in Room 104 of the Arts and Science Building. Learning Center specialists will cover pointers for taking essay exams, tips for taking objective tests, preparing a study schedule for finals week, learning to relax and improving concentration.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Faculty and students are reminded that the scheduling of final examinations for courses numbered below 400 is governed by Article V of the Academic Regulations which have been approved by the UMC faculty and are published in the Faculty Handbook. Article V contains the following statements:

- *No teacher will hold an examination during any time other than the regular meeting time of the class or at the time as approved by the Committee on Schedule of Studies and Examinations for both multi-section and final examinations.
- *No one is authorized to change the schedule of multi-section examinations or final examinations in any way without permission from the Committee and then only upon recommendation of the appropriate Department Chairman and Dean.
- *No group or class examination may be held during Stop Day.

Article V states that it is "designed to protect students." Violations of this Article have been widespread during recent examination periods. All faculty members are expected to comply with the regulations outlined in Article V. Professor Kernan Whitworth is currently Chairman of the Committee on Schedule of Studies and Examinations which is designated as the group authorized to approve exceptions to the final examination schedule.

Students may report violations to Department Chairpersons, Deans or the Provost for Academic Affairs.

Owen J. Koeppel
Provost for Academic Affairs

THREE MATH REVIEW SESSIONS for students enrolled in Math 10, 60 and 80 are also being offered by the UMC Learning Center. The sessions, scheduled for Friday, Dec. 8, will offer major concept summaries and answers to students' questions.

The Math 10 review runs from 9 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. in the Arts and Science auditorium. The Math 60 review is from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Physics 114. Math 80 is from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Physics 126. The sessions are free, open to all students and no registration is required.

NEW TASK FORCE ANNOUNCED--Membership of the newly appointed Task Force on Developing UMC for the Minority Student was announced Nov. 29 by Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling.

Carolyn Dorsey, assistant professor of higher and adult education and coordinator of black studies, will chair the task force. Other members are Maj. Mick Deaver of the UMC Police Department; Greg Fawcett, director of student research; Leslie Garcia, a graduate student; Prentice Gault, assistant professor of education; Araminta Smith, assistant professor of social work; Naomi Smith, a junior in the College of Business and Public Administration; Kathy Stock, a junior in the School of Journalism; Jimmy Webster, a senior in the College of Arts and Science; David West, professor of finance; and Armon Yanders, dean of the College of Arts and Science.

Three ex-officio task force members are Shaila Aery, special assistant to the chancellor; George Brooks, director of financial aids; and Robert Knight, associate professor of journalism.

The charge of the task force is to assess existing campus programs, policies and procedures, identify concerns, and make specific recommendations to improve the environment for minority students at UMC. The chancellor has requested a report and recommendations by March 1.

UNITED WAY UPDATE--As of Friday, Dec. 1, divisions had raised a total of $48,822.23 toward the 1978-79 goal of $99,500. Contributions for the four divisions were campus, $21,407.56, or 34 percent of their goal of $62,000; Medical Center, $11,214.67, or 56.1 percent toward their goal of $20,000; University-wide, $8,525, or 95.8 percent toward their goal of $8,900; and retired individuals, $7,675 or 89.2 percent toward their goal of $8,600.

FAMILY MEDICINE DEPARTMENT AWARDED GRANT--UMC is one of five educational institutions in the nation selected by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation for financial support of a new fellowship program to train faculty for family medicine.

With a grant of $654,944 for a 42-month period to the Medical Center's department of family and community medicine, three physicians will enter the fellowship program annually. In the two-year program, doctors will undertake training to acquire the research, teaching and additional clinical skills necessary to function as faculty and enlarge the academic base of primary care. The department is now seeking applicants for these fellowship positions, from both recent residency graduates and practicing physicians.

KWANZAA, a centuries-old African celebration of the first harvest of the season, will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 7 in the Memorial Union large ballroom. A Swahili word meaning "first fruits," Kwanzaa traditionally lasts seven days and nights. Emphasis is placed on the younger people listening to the advice of the community elders.

Presented by the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, the celebration will be condensed into one night, featuring traditional African drummers, an African "first fruits" feast and a disco-soul jamboree. Mary Lennox, UMC assistant professor of library science, will play hostess for the evening. Sponsored by the UMC Office of Support Programs, the event is free and open to the public.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM is a confidential referral service for all faculty, staff and their families who are seeking solutions to persistent personal or work-related problems or who are interested in professional enhancement. Call the EAP at 882-6701, or stop by 215 Columbia Professional Building.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Vol. 8, No. 8 Published by the Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Dec. 12, 1978

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING Dec. 7, 1978--Nominations of faculty members for search committees were made as follows: Graduate Dean and Vice Provost for Research, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, Vice Chancellor for Administrative Services and Director of Equal Opportunity.

The Academic Calendar for 1980-81 was approved. The request of the Law School for a six-week summer session was granted.

MID-YEAR GRADUATION CEREMONIES for eight academic divisions and tri-service commissioning ceremonies are being held at UMC this month.

Graduate School ceremonies begin at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 14 in Jesse Auditorium. Robert H. McFarland, dean of the UM-Rolla Graduate School will be the speaker. Doctoral students will be hooded by their advisers.

New officers in the Navy, Army and Air Force will be commissioned at tri-service ceremonies at 10 a.m. Dec. 16 in the Memorial Union large ballroom. Retired Army Col. Ed Thelen, former UMC assistant dean of students, will speak.

Missouri Supreme Court Justice James Finch will address the School of Law class at 2 p.m. Dec. 16 in Tate Hall courtroom.

School of Journalism ceremonies will begin at 3 p.m. Dec. 16 in Neff Auditorium. Tom Eblen, Kansas City Star-Times managing editor for administration, will be the guest speaker.

Bruce Robertson, Missouri commissioner of higher education, will be the speaker at the School of Business and Public Administration ceremonies at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 16 in Jesse Auditorium.

The College of Home Economics commencement will be at 1 p.m. Dec. 16 in Memorial Union Auditorium, with remarks by Dean Bea Litherland.

Degrees to students in recreation and park administration, regional and community affairs (community development), or social work will be awarded at a recognition ceremony at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 16 in the Memorial Union Auditorium. The informal ceremony, with remarks by George F. Nickolaus, dean of the College of Public and Community Services, will honor graduate and undergraduate students receiving degrees in August or December.

Graduation ceremonies for the College of Engineering were held on Dec. 8 in Jesse Auditorium; Chancellor Uehling was the speaker. The School of Nursing commencement was Dec. 10 in Jesse Auditorium. Myrtle K. Aydelotte, executive director of the American Nurses Association was the featured speaker.

FELLOWSHIPS ON AGING OFFERED--Three summer postdoctoral fellowships for $3,000 each are available to UM faculty interested in the study of aging. An additional $700 is available for expenses.

Funded by the Joint Centers for Aging Studies, the fellowships are open to faculty members on any of the four UM campuses or Lincoln University. Applicants must be on a nine-month appointment or able to be released from their regular tasks for the summer. Deadline for receipt of applications is Feb. 7. Awards will be announced March 1. For more information, contact Ellen Biddle or Rosemary Orgren at the Joint Centers, 633 Clark Hall, 882-6011.

EMPLOYEES' STAFF ADVISORY COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST MEETING--On Dec. 8, the staff council identified six areas of concern to Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling: (1) improvement of staff communications through publications, (2) improvement of staff/faculty relations, (3) staff development, (4) staff recognition, (5) salary administration, and (6) the mechanism for the selection of next year's staff council.

In response, the chancellor requested council members to forward a list of staff concerns to her in priority order. A memorandum initiating this request will be sent to the council, she said, and she urged all UMC staff to contact the council on subjects of their concern.

Two staff members were appointed to campus committees during the meeting, and the staff council was invited to forward names of staff for other committees as well. Clifford Manlove, director of business affairs in the College of Arts and Science was appointed to an Ad Hoc Committee to examine the fairness and appropriateness of parking penalties, and Garf Thomas, assistant director of University Hospital will represent the staff council on the Resource Management Council.

The chancellor also invited council members to recommend staff nominees to serve on the various search committees for the new administrative positions, and on the Institutional Future Committee.

USERS BROCHURE--The 1978-79 edition of the Users Brochure is available in the Campus Computing Center Library, Room 100 LeFevre Hall. The Users Brochure provides an overview of campus computing facilities, services, publications, and accounting procedures. A personnel director, operations schedule, and information on other campus computing services are included.

COMPUTER NETWORK PLAYS SANTA CLAUS--During the Christmas break, the Computer Network will be slashing the price on SLACK computing. The ordinary cost of SLACK computing is 50 percent of normal for CPU, disk and tape I/O. During the Christmas holiday the SLACK rate will be only 10 percent of normal for CPU, disk and tape I/O. This 90 percent discount will be available from Dec. 20 through Jan. 7, inclusive. For further details see the November-December issue of the Campus Computing Center Newsletter.

MAXIMUM DAILY MEAL ALLOWANCES INCREASED--Effective with travel occurring on or after Oct. 15, 1978, the total maximum daily meal allowance for reasonable and necessary meal expenses increased from $16.50 to $20 per day for three meals.

Individual meal maximums increased as follows: breakfast, from $3.50 to $4; lunch, from $3.75 to $5; dinner, from $9.25 to $11. Full reimbursement in excess of the maximum is allowed when guests of the University are involved. Receipts must be provided when requesting exceptions to the maximum.

STUCK ON WHAT TO GIVE FOR CHRISTMAS? Give-a-Book. Give-a-Book, a new national program of gift certificates for books, is available at the University Bookstore in Brady Commons. The certificates are redeemable in hundreds of bookstores across the country, which guarantee redemption or refund at full value.

Certificates may be purchased in denominations of $2.50, $5, $10 and $25. Gift cards designed by book illustrators are available for writing in your own message.

Give-a-Book and other Christmas gifts are available at the University Bookstore from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The bookstore closes for Christmas vacation Dec. 22.

UNITED WAY UPDATE--As of Friday, Dec. 8, divisions had raised a total of $56,580.54 toward the 1978-79 goal of $99,500. Contributions for the four divisions were campus, $28,923.87 or 46 percent of its goal of $62,000; Medical Center, $11,214.67, or 56 percent of its goal of $20,000; University-wide, $8,672, or 97 percent of its goal of $8,900; and retired individuals, $7,770, or 90 percent of their goal of $8,600.

FELLOWSHIP ANNOUNCED--The Ford Foundation's Office of European and International Affairs has announced a new fellowship program, designed for students interested in specializing both in Soviet and East European studies and in international security and arms control. The program is open to both graduate degree and post-doctoral candidates currently specializing in one of these fields.

The fellowship would cover fees and provide a modest maintenance allowance. Five or six fellowships will be granted. Most awards will be for a period of one year, although students may reapply for awards in subsequent years.

Application forms for this program are available from the Fellowship Program in Dual Expertise, Office of European and International Affairs, the Ford Foundation, 320 East 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017. Applications must be postmarked by Jan. 15, 1979.

MINORITY STUDENT TASK FORCE--At its first meeting Dec. 6, the Chancellor's Task Force for Developing UMC for the Minority Student decided to schedule open sessions in January and February.

Purpose of the sessions, according to task force chairperson Carolyn Dorsey, is to afford all interested persons an opportunity to express concerns. Exact times will be announced later.

In the earlier announcement of task force members, the name of doctoral candidate Mary Morrison was omitted. Morrison is a graduate student in the department of higher and adult education and is an intern in the chancellor's office.

EXHIBIT OF THE MONTH at the UMC Museum of Art & Archaeology is a seventeenth century drawing by the Genoese artist Giovanni Andrea Carlone (1584-1630). The pen and brown ink drawing illustrates a scene from Christ's nativity and is entitled "The Adoration of the Shepherds."

The Carlone drawing may be seen in the Old Master Gallery of the museum, which is open Tuesday through Sunday from 1-5 p.m. and on Monday from 4-10 p.m. The museum will be closed Dec. 24, 25, 26 and 31.

MEMBERS OF THE SCREENING COMMITTEE for the director of institutional research and planning were announced Dec. 5 by Chancellor Barbara Uehling.

Rick Elam, associate professor of accountancy, will chair the committee. Other faculty members are Barbara Bank, associate professor of sociology; Sam C. Brown, chairman, department of psychology, and Richard T. Douty, professor of civil engineering.

Student members are Doug Liljegren, president of the Missouri Students Association, and Jim Pfander, former vice president of MSA. Staff members are George Brooks, director, student financial aids, and Gary Smith, director of admissions and registrar.

The position of director of institutional research and planning has been advertised nationally. Nominations and applications will close Dec. 6. Qualifications include an earned PH.D. or equivalent experience and administrative experience in the area.

COMMITTEE FOR HOSPITAL DIRECTOR--Members of the screening committee for hospital director were announced Dec. 5 by Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling.

Brent Parker, hospital chief of staff and professor of cardiology, will chair the committee. Other UMC members are Gladys Courtney, dean of the School of Nursing; Ellis A. Ingram, associate professor of pathology; Charles Mengel, chairman, department of medicine; Evelyn Peck, director of nursing services, University Hospital, and associate dean, School of Nursing; Michael Perry, associate professor of medicine and Donald Silver, chairman, department of surgery.

Also on the committee are Ira Hubbel, a Columbia physician, and J.L. Kurzejeski, director of the Harry S. Truman Memorial Veterans Hospital.

Qualifications for the position include a master's degree in hospital and health administration or equivalent experience, experience as a hospital administrator or senior associate hospital administrator in a university teaching hospital, and demonstrated competence and ability to function in a highly complex research, teaching and patient care environment. Nominations and applications for the position will close Dec. 31.

SEARCH PROCEDURES--Further details have been announced in the national search for individuals to fill positions in the new UMC administrative structure.

In addition to advertising all positions in the Chronicle of Higher Education, the Equal Opportunity Forum, and professional journals, Chancellor Uehling has sought nominations from presidents of the traditionally black U.S. public colleges and from the Women's Identification Project Office of the American Council on Education.

Other open positions include provost, graduate dean and vice provost for research, vice chancellor for student affairs, vice chancellor for administrative services, and director of equal opportunity.

STUDENT ART DISPLAY--Students in the bachelor of fine arts program at UMC are displaying their works in the Fine Arts Gallery through Dec. 17.

The exhibit will feature art works in a variety of media. Twenty-one students are enrolled in the program which started this fall. Gallery hours are 9 a.m.-3 p.m. weekdays and 2:30-4:30 p.m. Sundays.

CLINICAL RESEARCH CENTER RECEIVES GRANT--The Clinical Research Center at the UMC Medical Center has been awarded a $474,153 National Institutes of Health (NIH) renewal grant for Dec. 1, 1978, through Nov. 30, 1979.

In operation for 13 years, the Clinical Research Center is the locus for clinical research in which Medical Center patients participate, according to Ted Groshong, the center's interim director.

The NIH grant pays the costs of the patient's hospitalization and treatment during the time he is cared for at the center. New approved treatments may be tried at the center by physicians conducting research on specific diseases or conditions.

One of 90 such centers in the United States, the Clinical Research Center provides hospital facilities for 46 research projects by Medical Center physicians.

HOLIDAY HOURS--UMC offices will be closed Dec. 22 and 26. For students, the fall semester ends at 5 p.m., Dec. 16. Winter semester classes begin Jan. 15.

Ellis Library will be closed Dec. 17, 24-26 and Dec. 31-Jan. 1. The library will operate on a modified schedule during intersession, Dec. 18 to Jan. 14. Hours will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon Saturday. Regular hours resume Jan. 15.

The Memorial Union Cafeteria will be open 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Dec. 18; 8 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Dec. 19-21, Jan. 2-5 and 8-12.

Bengal Lair and the Hawthorn Room will both be closed from Dec. 17-Jan. 13. The Bengal Lair will be open 2-11 p.m. Jan. 14.

Brady Commons Snack Bar will be closed from Dec. 17-Jan. 1. It will be open Jan. 2-5 and 8-10 from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; on Jan. 11, 8 a.m.-10:30 p.m.; Jan. 12, 8 a.m.-10:45 p.m.

Buildings and all other facilities of Memorial Union and Brady Commons will be closed Dec. 17, 22-26, Dec. 30-Jan. 1, Jan. 6-7 and 13. The buildings will be open 2-11 p.m., Jan. 14.

On all other days during intersession, Memorial Union will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. with the nook closing at 4:30 p.m.

Brady Commons Building, its bookstore and games area, on all other days during intersession, will be open from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. until Jan. 11 when hours will be 8 a.m.-10:30 p.m. On Jan. 12 the building will be open from 8 a.m.-11 p.m. On Jan. 14 the building and games area will be open from 2-11 p.m. with the bookstore closed.

The Campus Computing Center's 24-hour site, Lefevre Hall, will close Dec. 23 at 7 p.m. and open Dec. 26 at 9 a.m.; will close Dec. 30 at 7 p.m. and open Jan. 2 at 8 a.m.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Published by the
Vol. 8, No. 9 Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Jan. 23, 1979

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING Jan. 18, 1979--A list of possible commencement speakers was prepared at the request of the chancellor. The council nominated faculty for the Curators' Rap Session on Feb. 7.

The council discussed a number of activities for this semester.

Two reports were distributed: one from the Task Force on Educational Priorities, the other from the Staff Benefits Task Force. They will be discussed at later meetings of the council.

A SYMPOSIUM, "VIRGINIA WOOLF: VICTORIAN PAST, EDWARDIAN PRESENT," will be held at UMC Friday and Saturday, Feb. 23-24, open to all interested persons. Registration fee is $2 for students, $4 for other participants. Sessions will be held in Pickard Hall, beginning at 4 p.m. Feb. 23 and concluding at about 4 p.m. Feb. 24.

The program will consist of lectures, a panel discussion by visiting scholars and informal discussion groups. Sessions will deal with the Victorian background of Virginia Woolf and the Bloomsbury Group writers and artists, and with their influence on literature and art in the twentieth century.

The symposium is jointly sponsored by the UMC English department, the Women's Studies office, the Graduate School, the University Lectures Committee and the office of the Provost for Academic Affairs. For information about the symposium and registration, contact Freddy Randolph or Becky Lee, Office of Conferences and Short Courses, 882-8320. Or contact Mary Lago, associate professor of English, 882-7605 or 882-6066.

MINORITY TASK FORCE--Open hearings by the Task Force for Developing UMC for the Minority Student will be held Feb. 6 and Feb. 13 in the Memorial Union.

The Feb. 6 sessions are scheduled 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. in S203 and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in S16. The Feb. 13 sessions are 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. in S203 and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in S8.

Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling charged the task force to assess existing campus programs, policies and procedures, identify concerns and make specific recommendations to improve the minority students' environment. She requested the report and recommendations be completed by March 1.

Carolyn Dorsey, task force chair, said some individuals have been requested to appear. But anyone who wants to make a statement on any aspect of minority student life on campus will have the opportunity to make a presentation. Dorsey requested that those planning to address the task force contact her office at 882-6229.

TRUMPET RECITAL--Betty Scott will present a UMC Faculty Trumpet Recital at 8:15 p.m., Jan. 26, in the Fine Arts Recital Hall. She will perform works by Barat, Balay, Dubois, Robert Russell, R. Still and Bobby Lewis. Scott will be assisted by Ann Knipschild, piano; Frank Krager, percussion; Susan Stubbs, string bass; Allen Beeson, Lisa Gibson and Mark Blackmore, trumpets.

MISSOURI BUSINESSES interested in hiring UMC students for summer employment are invited to participate in the fourth annual Summer Job Fair Feb. 7 in the Memorial Union.

Sponsored by the Career Planning and Placement Center and the department of recreation and park administration, the fair offers students an opportunity for season employment to gain experience, enhance their career development or to explore a particular field.

Any businesses wishing to register for the fair should contact John Bazin, student job development specialist, Career Planning and Placement Center, 110 Noyes Building or call 882-7448.

ENROLLMENT stood at 20,656 on the first day of winter semester classes at UMC, according to Gary Freie, associate registrar.

The enrollment represents about a 2 percent decrease from the winter 1978 semester. The decline was expected because of a lower fall enrollment.

CANINE CARE--The fourth annual Canine Health Care Symposium will be held Saturday Feb. 10 at the UMC Memorial Union. The program will feature veterinary scientists Ieland Carmichael of Cornell University and Wayne Wingfield of Colorado State University.

Registration begins at 8 a.m., and the program starts at 9 a.m. Registration fee is $15. More information is available from Continuing Education in Veterinary Medicine, 882-3496.

HISTORIC PRESERVATION COURSE--A UMC course, jointly listed as "History 301" and "Art History and Archaeology 301," is being offered this semester as a weekly series of self-contained topics covering the range of historic preservation. The classes are open to the general public on a non-credit basis free of charge. Those wanting to take the course for credit must register and pay fees. The course meets from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays in Room 1, Arts and Science Building.

Additional course information is available by contacting the course directors, Susan Flader, associate professor of history, or Osmund Overby, director of the UMC Art and Archaeology Museum.

CHILDREN'S POETS--Three of America's best known poets for young people will speak at the fifth annual Oral Tradition Workshop Feb. 23-24 at UMC's Hearnnes Multipurpose Building.

Poets Arnold Adoff, Myra Cohn Livingston and Eve Merriam will hold large and small group sessions on practical suggestions for using poetry with youngsters. Columbia school teacher Tom Prater will discuss his use of poetry in the classroom.

The workshop is sponsored by the Missouri Library Association and the UMC College of Education and is partially funded through a grant from the Missouri Arts Council. Workshop fee is $21. Members of the Missouri Library Association will receive a $1 discount.

Additional workshop information is available by contacting Sarah Hulett, assistant director of Conferences and Short Courses, 882-4349.

FACULTY BRASS QUARTET--The newly organized UMC Faculty Brass Quartet will present a recital at 8:15 p.m., Jan. 24, in the Fine Arts Recital Hall. Members of the quartet are Betty Scott and Alexander Pickard, trumpets; Peter Kurau, French horn; and George DeFoe, trombone. Their program will consist of works by Bach, Frackenpohl, Poulenc, and Gabrieli.

NEW MUSEUM HOURS for the Museum of Art and Archaeology are noon to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays. The museum is closed Mondays.

NUTRITION EMPHASIS WEEK--Mark Hegsted, member of the National Academy of Sciences, and Gilbert Leveille, chairman of the Food and Nutrition Council, will present their views of national nutrition goals during events of Nutrition Emphasis Week, Feb. 12-13 at UMC. Also featured will be K.C. Hayes, associate professor of nutrition at Harvard University.

Nutrition Emphasis Week is organized by the Graduate Nutrition Area and includes the Hogan Memorial Lecture in honor of the late A.G. Hogan, a nutritional scientist from UMC.

Hayes will lecture at 3:40 p.m. Feb. 12, and Leveille will speak at 3:40 p.m. Feb. 13 in the Memorial Union Auditorium. The Hogan Memorial Lecture will be delivered by Hegsted in the Medical Center Auditorium, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 13. All lectures are free and open to the public.

A banquet honoring the guest speakers is scheduled for 6 p.m. Feb. 12. Tickets can be obtained for $5 from Margaret Flynn, professor of family and community medicine, 882-2922.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM is a confidential referral service for all faculty, staff and their families who are seeking solutions to persistent personal or work-related problems or who are interested in professional enhancement. Call the EAP at 882-6701, or stop by 215 Columbia Professional Building.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Vol. 8, No. 10 Published by the Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Jan. 30, 1979

"HOW TO SAVE MONEY AND ENERGY RIGHT NOW" will be discussed at 7 p.m. Jan. 30 in the Memorial Union Auditorium. Frank Capek, assistant professor of civil engineering at UMR, will talk on eliminating high utility costs by eliminating energy wasters. Sponsors of the lecture are the Mizzou Employees Federal Credit Union and the UMC Extension Division.

STUDENT JOBS--More than a hundred part-time campus jobs are available for eligible UMC students during the 1979 winter semester. The financial aids office hasn't been able to fill all the requests from deans and directors, coordinator Bill Smith, said. "Many other students may be eligible for employment through the federal and UMC work-study program."

Smith will lead a seminar Jan. 31 on information about eligibility requirements for work-study funding and other campus employment. The seminar will be from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in Room S-8 of the Memorial Union.

TWO SHORT COURSES IN SPEED READING are being offered this semester by the UMC Learning Center, 304 Watson Place. The courses cover rapid reading, efficient studying, skimming and comprehension strategies.

The free courses are open to UMC undergraduates and begin Tuesday, Jan. 30 or Tuesday, Feb. 27. For registration and scheduling information, call the Learning Center at 882-2492.

FACULTY RECITAL--Carleton Spotts, cellist, will present a Faculty Recital at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 2 in the UMC Fine Arts Recital Hall. Spotts will perform Beethoven's Sonata for Cello and Piano in D Major by Mendelssohn. He will be assisted by Janice Wenger, assistant professor of piano.

A 17-DAY TRIP TO THE SOVIET UNION is being sponsored by the UMC department of Germanic and Slavic studies and Museum Associates, the patron organization for the Museum of Art and Archaeology.

Leaving St. Louis May 13, "The Arts of Russia" tour will include stops in Moscow, Leningrad, Erevan, Tbilisi, Taskent, Bukhara, Samarkand and Copenhagen. It will return to St. Louis May 29.

Tour price is $1,565. Participation is open to members of Museum Associates, Friends of Music, and faculty, students and staff of the Germanic and Slavic studies department.

Museum Associate membership applications and information about the organization are available in 1 Pickard Hall or by calling 882-3591. Additional tour information is available from Gudrun Parmentier, Tiger Travel Service, Stephens Building, Cherry and Hitt streets in Columbia.

AFRO-AMERICAN MONTH--Activities for the month of February in celebration of the National Afro-American (Black) History month have been scheduled by the UMC Center for Student Life, Office of Support Programs.

"History: Torch to the Future" is the theme of the observance, sponsoring promotion of ethnic understanding in America. Local activities begin with a Jubilee Weekend Feb. 2-4.

The Hopewell Baptist Church Choir of St. Louis will perform at the Friendship Baptist Church, 1410 Grand Ave. at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 2. "Voices of Faith" from Kansas City, the Quincy Fielding Jr. Choral Ensemble of St. Louis, and The Christ Ebons Contemporary Singers of Kansas City will perform at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 3 at the Russel Chapel CME Church, 108 E. Ash St.

A Feb. 4 performance will include the Black Student Association Gospel Choir of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the UMC Legion of Black Collegians Gospel Choir, and the UMKC and UMSL Black Gospel Choirs, 7:30 p.m. at the Newman Center, 701 Maryland Ave.

"We Are an African People" will be presented by Elizabeth Stephens, 7 p.m. Feb. 8 at the Black Culture Center, 823 Virginia Ave.

GEOLOGY LECTURES--William Back, a U.S. Geological Survey senior scientist, will speak on "Hydrology and Mythology in Ancient America" at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 31 in the Geology Auditorium. Back will discuss the impact of water-use practices on North and South American cultural development.

In another lecture Back will speak on "Environmental Problems Related to Chemistry of Groundwater in Limestone Areas," at 3:40 p.m. Feb. 1 in Room 108 of the Geology Building. The lectures are free and open to the public.

NURSE PRACTITIONER PROGRAM--Applications are being accepted for entrance into a Family Nurse Practitioner training program to be offered at UMC under a grant from the Kellogg Foundation.

The program will be conducted by the department of family and community medicine. It is designed to broaden the skills of professional nurses and prepare them to provide direct, continuing primary health care to individuals and families in ambulatory care settings.

Qualifications for acceptance into the program include 1) Missouri licensure and continuing commitment to practice in rural Missouri, 2) three or more years nursing practice, and 3) ambulatory experience (preferred).

Tuition is paid by the Kellogg Foundation. Participants must provide for living expenses, travel, books and supplies. Formal applications may be obtained from the Family Nurse Practitioner Program, NW 511, Medical Sciences Building, Columbia. Deadline for completing the application process is April 15.

"NAME THAT TUNE"--The fifth annual "Name That Tune" contest, a benefit for the Judevine Center for Autistic Children, will be held at 7 p.m., Feb. 5, 6, 7, 12 and 13 in the Memorial Union Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Missouri Evans Scholars, a UMC social fraternity, the event has raised more than $7,800 for the center in past years.

"Name That Tune" contestants compete with opposing teams and the clock to name song titles and performing artists. First-, second-, and third-place prizes will be awarded.

To register a two-person team in the contest, call the fraternity at 874-9439. The contest is open to the public with an entry fee of $8.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM is a confidential referral service for all faculty, staff and their families who are seeking solutions to persistent personal or work-related problems or who are interested in professional enhancement. Call the EAP at 882-6701, or stop by 215 Columbia Professional Building.

OLDER MISSOURIANS and persons limited to part-time educational pursuits are eligible for admission to the UMC general studies program. Applications will be taken through Feb. 1.

The general studies program gives students maximum flexibility in designing their courses when personal goals cannot be met through traditional college degree programs.

To be eligible for consideration, students must have entered their second semester of college work. A limited number selected during the present semester will begin programs in the summer or fall semesters of 1979.

Application forms are available from the College of General Studies, 420A General Classroom Building. Further information is available from William Bondeson, program director, 882-3571.

ACTION: Academic Regulations
ACTION: Honorary Degrees
DISCUSSION: Council Representation
Reports and Announcements

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING Feb. 6, 1979--A special meeting of the council was held to discuss the 1979-80 budget. Chancellor Uehling provided a brief overview and answered questions regarding the budget.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE FACULTY COUNCIL MEETING Feb. 8, 1979--A special meeting of the council was held to discuss Chancellor Uehling's comments and to provide the faculty representatives on the Resource Management Council with general guidelines regarding the 1979-80 budget.

ACCOUNTING LECTURE--Marshall S. Armstrong, one of the nation's most influential accounting standards experts, will participate in an open discussion on "The Financial Accounting Standards Board: Its Role in the Profession and Society--Past, Present and Future: at 10:15 a.m. Feb. 22 in the Memorial Union Small Ballroom.

Armstrong, an accountant for more than 35 years, is chairman emeritus of the National Financial Accounting Standards Board and a member of the J.C. Penney Co. board of directors and of the board of overseers at the University of Pennsylvania Wharton School of Business. An informal reception will begin at 9:45 a.m.

AFRO-AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH--Sam Greenlee, teacher, author and poet, will speak at 7 p.m., Feb. 15 in the Memorial Union Auditorium as a feature of the ongoing National Afro-American (Black) History Month at the University.

Greenlee is author of the "The Spook Who Sat By the Door," which received the Book of the Year Award from both the London Times and the London Telegraph and has been made into a motion picture. The book is a satire on the civil rights problems in the United States and a serious attempt to focus on the issue of Black militancy.

Other events being sponsored in connection with the month-long celebration include a Nathan Hare lecture at Lincoln University in Jefferson City on Feb. 13. (The bus leaves from the Black Culture Center at 6:40 p.m.) A program on "The History of Columbia" will be presented 7:30 p.m. Feb. 14 at the Blind Boone Community Center, 301 Providence Road. Eddie Sargent will host a poetry reading at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 at Memorial Union Auditorium.

HYPERTENSION STUDY PAYS $100 AND AN EXTENSIVE FREE PHYSICAL--John Bauer, assistant professor of medicine in nephrology, is searching for 30 volunteers to participate in a clinical research project to study hypertension (high blood pressure). Volunteers should be male, over the age of 35 and in excellent health with normal blood pressure, and be able to spend five days in the Clinical Research Center at the UMC Medical Center. Volunteers will be paid $100.

Bauer is researching the relationship between renin, a hormone occurring naturally in human bodies, and body fluid to explain how hypertension develops. For more information, call Ms. Magliola at 443-2511, ext. 6631.

ECUADOR EDUCATORS TO VISIT HIP PROGRAM--Two educators from Ecuador will be at UMC Feb. 13-14 to observe the College of Education's HIP Alternative Teacher Education Program. HIP is an acronym for humanizing, individualizing and personalizing.

Vincente Atiaga, Ecuador's national director of teachers' colleges, and Jorge Estupinan, chief of orientation and students' welfare, will receive an orientation and overview of HIP's drug abuse education and prevention education concepts and strategies used in school curricula. "Ecuadorian teacher education includes little about prevention as we know it," says Patricia Obeso, educational training technologist for the National Drug Abuse Center, which is coordinating the visit. "The visitors are interested in broad-based information they might apply in re-designing school curricula utilizing prevention programming concepts."

A COMPUTERIZED FUTURE--Earl C. Joseph, staff scientist-futurist for Sperry Univac of Minneapolis, will speak and show slides on what computers and our computerized society will be like in the 1980s at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 15 in the Electrical Engineering Auditorium.

Joseph predicts a new computer revolution is developing. He will discuss possible characteristics of future computers and how they will provide society with new opportunities and ways to ease crises.

The free presentation is part of a regular meeting with the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers Computer Society Student Branch at UMC. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

MINORITY TASK FORCE--The second set of open hearings by the Task Force for Developing UMC for the Minority Student will be held Feb. 13 in the Memorial Union.

Sessions will be from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Memorial Union S203 and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in Memorial Union S8.

Individuals who have been requested to appear at the 2 p.m. session are Jack Uhler, associate director of housing; Paul Levingston, program coordinator, Center for Student Life; James Irvin, interim vice chancellor for student affairs; the Rev. Leroy Howard, Black Culture Center coordinator-counselor; Clyde Crego, acting director, UMC Counseling Services; Bonnie Zelenak, director, UMC Learning Center; Max Utsler, broadcasting instructor; James Wyche, assistant professor of biological sciences; Iowell Shobe of the Legion of Black Collegians; Don Marshall, assistant dean, College of Business and Public Administration; and a representative of the College of Engineering.

Individuals who have been requested to appear at the 7 p.m. session are Mike Norman, former assistant director, START Program; Gretchen Lockett, Kaleidoscope project director; Ralph Stewart, chairman, department of health and physical education; Doug Liljegren, president, Missouri Students Association; Ron Mason, director of the UMC police; Betty Roberts, assistant director, START Program; and representatives of the Independent Residence Halls Association and the Interfraternity Council.

ALLEN THIERER, associate professor of French, will present "Roland Barth: From Degree Zero of Writing to Textuality" at 4 p.m. Feb. 15 in Room 210 of the General Classroom Building. The lecture is free and open to the public.

DUCK'S BREATH--The zany comedy team, Duck's Breath Mystery Theater, will appear at the MSA Coffeehouse, 8 p.m. Feb. 16 and 17 in the Memorial Union Auditorium.

The act, performed by members Dan Coffey, Merle Kessler, Jim Turner, Bill Allard and Leon Martell, resembles the style of comedian Steve Martin or the television show, Saturday Night Live. Admission is free. For more information, persons may contact the Student Activities Committee at Read Hall.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Published by the
Vol. 8, No. 12 Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs Feb. 27, 1979

Nominations are Invited for the

CHANCELLOR'S AWARDS FOR OUTSTANDING FACULTY RESEARCH

PURPOSE. Research and creative activity are among the University of Missouri's most important missions. The purpose of these awards is to provide special recognition to UMC faculty who have made outstanding contributions in research and/or creative activity, who are presently productive and who have great potential for the future in research and/or creative activity.

AWARDS. Each award will consist of (1) presentation of an engraved plaque at the May commencement exercises, with the awardee's name listed in the official commencement booklet, (2) addition of the awardee's name to a cumulative name plaque, (3) a $1,000 prize to each awardee, and (4) a $2,000 unrestricted fund for each awardee's use for professional activities.

GUIDELINES. Guidelines for the Chancellor's Awards include the following: Two awards will be presented annually. Each award will address a special segment of the research and creative activity existing at UMC. For 1979, (1) the biological sciences and (2) the creative and performing arts, literature and humanities have been selected. Any faculty member, regardless of departmental affiliation, who has been on the UMC faculty for at least two years, may be nominated for either of these awards. For next year it is planned to make awards for contributions in the areas of (1) physical sciences and (2) the behavioral and social sciences.

NOMINATIONS. Nominations may be made by anyone. Self nominations will be accepted. A nomination should include as many of the following as are applicable: A biographical sketch; special honors and prizes; invited presentations, exhibits or concerts; other presentations, exhibits or concerts; editorial and review positions; national committees or panels; symposium, conference or program organization responsibilities; grants and contracts awarded; list of publications; and any other noteworthy achievement or activity. A statement(s) supporting the nominee's research or creative activity potential for the future must be included. To be included also are names and contact information of three people outside the University capable of giving an evaluation of the nominee's professional stature.

All nominations should be sent to Dean Ronald E. Barr, Graduate School, 205 Jesse Hall, University of Missouri-Columbia. Nominations for the 1979 awards must be received by March 30, 1979.

Inquiries, applications and nominations may be made to Ben Nelms, project director, 208 Education Building, UMC, 882-4076.

HORTICULTURE LECTURE--The Centennial Lecture Series of the UMC horticulture department will be presented March 6 by Toshio Murashige of the University of California--Riverside. Murashige will present "Problems in Regenerating Plants in Tissue Culture" at 3:40 p.m. in Room 2-16 Agriculture Building. His second lecture will be "Application of Tissue Culture in Agriculture Practice" at 7:30 p.m. in the same location. Further information is available from D.A. Hegwood or D.D. Hemphill of the horticulture department.

"GREEN PASTURES"--A showing and discussion of "Green Pastures," an early film on the blacks' conception of heaven, will be held March 6 at 7 p.m. in Rooms 209 and 210 of Brady Commons. The program is open to the public without charge.

"Green Pastures" is based on the book, "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun," a re-telling of Old Testament stories in the language of the Southern Negro. Sponsors of the program are the UMC Black Studies Program and University Assembly Lectures.

NELSON LECTURE--David Hadas of the Washington University (St. Louis) department of English has been named a Nelson Lecturer and will discuss "The Role of Humanities in Biomedical Education" at 2:30 p.m. March 8 in 115 Tucker Hall.

The lecture, which is free and open to the public, is sponsored by the UMC Division of Biological Sciences and the School of Medicine.

FOLK SONG PROGRAM--Joseph C. Hickerson, head of the Archive of Folk Song at the Library of Congress, will present a program on "The History of Folk Song and Folklore Collecting in the United States" at 8 p.m., Friday, March 9 in the UMC Memorial Union Auditorium.

The program, open to the public, is sponsored by the Missouri Folklore Society and the Focal Point of St. Louis in cooperation with the Missouri Arts Council.

"AN EVENING OF FARCE" will be featured for the MSA Dinner Theatre March 2, 3 and 4 in the Memorial Union Ballroom. Two plays by Georges Feydeau, "The Purging" and "Wooded and Viewed," will be directed by Bill Hartman.

Doors open for the evening at 6:30 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m., and the show will follow at 8 p.m. The price for the dinner and performances is $4.50 for MSA members and $5.50 for the general public. Tickets are available at the Memorial Union ticket window.

TOKYO QUARTET--The University Chamber Music Series will feature the Tokyo Quartet at 8:15 p.m. March 1 in Jesse Auditorium. The performance will include Haydn's Quartet No. 34 in D Major, Opus 20; the Quartet in E minor "From My Life" by Smetana; and Beethoven's Quartet in E minor, Opus 59, "Rasoumoffsky No. 2."

Admission will be $5 for the public and $3 for students. Tickets will be available from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m., Feb. 28 and March 1, and 7:15 p.m. the evening of the performance at the Jesse Auditorium box office.

TRUMPET RECITAL--Alexander Pickard, UMC band director, will present a Faculty Trumpet Recital at 8:15 p.m. March 2 in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

The performance will include the "Concerto for Trumpet by Leopold Mozart; "Sonata Con Tromba" by Corelli; and "Le Fanfaron de la Fanfare" by Malipieno. Pickard will be assisted by Edward Thaden, piano and harpsichord; Betty Scott and Mark Blackmore, trumpets; Peter Kurau, French horn; and George DeFoe, trombone.

WRITING PROJECT DEADLINE--March 1 is the deadline for writing teachers who would like to enroll this summer in the Missouri Writing Project at UMC.

This summer's project, sponsored by the UMC English department, will begin its four-week session on June 11. Twenty-five outstanding writing teachers will receive stipends of $400 each, financed by the UMC Development Fund. Teachers at all levels -- elementary, secondary, college and adult -- are eligible to apply. They may be teaching writing courses or integrating writing into other areas.

The project's main objective is to recruit successful writing teachers who will lead in-service programs for other teachers to improve student writing in Missouri.

Each applicant for the 1979 workshop must provide an application letter, official college transcripts, letters of reference and of support from the employing school.

STUDENT WRITING AWARDS HAVE MARCH 2 DEADLINE--March 2 is the deadline for student manuscripts in the creative writing awards competition of the English department for the Mahan and Sibyl Pommer Awards.

In the Mahan competition, short stories and poetry may be submitted for prizes for $100, $50 and $25 in each category. Short stories are not to exceed 7,000 words; poetry not to exceed 200 lines. No restrictions on subject matter or literary method are made in either category. No more than two entries per person will be allowed in the short story, and only one entry in poetry. Competition is open to any full-time student enrolled in any UMC division.

The English department also is seeking poetry manuscripts from freshmen for the Sibyl Pommer Award of $35. All manuscripts must be typed, and authors should use pseudonyms. A sealed envelope containing the author's real name and local address should accompany each entry, submitted on or before March 2, to the English Office, Room 231 Arts and Science.

HIRING DISCRIMINATION DISCUSSED BY PANEL--A panel discussion on hiring practices will be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb.27 at the UMC Black Culture Center, 823 Virginia Avenue, sponsored by the Center for Student Life Office of Support Programs.

Discussion will center on the position of the black male in affirmative action hiring practices, with the question, who is hired first: white male, black female, white female, black male? Marie Cole, sophomore in Arts and Science, will moderate the panel. Other members are Michael Hollins, A&S freshman; Hank Wilbanks, personnel associate; Clarence Wine, Student Life assistant director; Paul Levingston, center coordinator; and Taylor Fields, Kansas City attorney. A reception for Fields will follow the discussion hosted by Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity.

COMPOSERS CONTEST--Winners of the second annual Missouri Contemporary Music Competition have been announced at UMC. The contest was for composers of instrumental chamber music.

Winning compositions will be performed on April 11 by UMC music faculty members at a special concert during the Chancellor's Third Annual Festival of Music.

A first prize of $1,000 went to Karl Korte, professor of composition at the University of Texas in Austin. Two awards were presented to composers who are natives of Missouri. In this category, Christopher Hills of Amherst, Mass., won a first prize of $300. Eric Stenberg of St. Louis won second prize and $125.

Judges for the 81 entries in the competition were Aaron Copeland, T. Scott Huston of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and Hanley Jackson of Kansas State University.

THE STUDENT COMPOSERS SYMPOSIUM, scheduled for 8:15 p.m., March 5 in the Fine Arts Recital Hall, has been cancelled.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Published by the
Vol. 8, No. 13 Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs March 13, 1979

MEETING ON RESTRUCTURING FACULTY REPRESENTATION--The Executive Committee of the Faculty Council, acting as the ad hoc committee for council representation, will meet at 3:40 p.m. March 15 in Room S110 Memorial Union to hear arguments for or against restructuring faculty representation on the council. Any council member or any other faculty member is free to come and make a presentation. Formal presentations should be limited to five minutes each.

DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR AWARD--The Byler Award Committee invites faculty nominations for the 1978-1979 Byler Distinguished Professorship. Members of the following departments are eligible to be nominated or to nominate faculty from their own or other departments: anthropology, art, art history and archaeology, classical studies, economics, English, Germanic and Slavic studies, history, music, philosophy, political science, Romance languages, sociology, and speech and dramatic art. Nominations should include a vita of the nominee and a signed statement which describes how the nominee meets the criteria established by Dr. Byler: "outstanding character and ability in their particular field."

Please send nominations and supporting material to Luverne Walton, associate provost for academic affairs, 114 Jesse Hall, by Friday, March 23. The award committee is composed of John Kuhlman, Middlebush professor of economics; Mary Lago, associate professor of English; and Meyer Reinhold, professor of classical studies.

AMOCO FOUNDATION TEACHING AWARDS--The AMOCO Foundation has again made funds available for the recognition of superior teaching on this campus. Two outstanding teachers of undergraduate students will be selected to receive awards of $1,000 each. Nominations may originate from individual students or faculty or from departments and are due in the office of Luverne Walton, associate provost for academic affairs, 114 Jesse Hall, Friday, April 6. Information about methods of selection, selection criteria, and procedures for making nominations is available in the office of divisional deans or in 114 Jesse.

FACULTY COUNCIL HIGHLIGHTS March 1, 1979--The council recommended appointment of an ad hoc committee to consider the issue of representation on the council. This committee is to report its findings to the council for action prior to the end of this academic year.

SHARE YOUR INTERNATIONAL INTRIGUE--Each spring, the Committee on International Studies and Programs publishes programs, opportunities and activities of the international sphere through Bulletin-in-Brief. Divisions and departments which have sponsored international programs, or have information on activities, or dates and times of related seminars, are invited to send the information to Cathy Kernen, OPI, 329 Jesse Hall.

LOAN APPLICATION DEADLINE MARCH 15--Applications for financial aid for the current academic year are due in Thursday. Applications may be obtained from the Financial Aids Office, 11 Jesse Hall, or from the Basic Grant Office In Iowa City, Iowa, P.O. Box A, zipcode 52240. The loans can be used to repay earlier loans or any college-connected expenses--books, rent, or living costs--incurred for the current school year ending in May.

PURDY SCHOLARSHIP/LOAN FUND TO BE ESTABLISHED--Allan W. Purdy, UM director of scholarships and student financial aid services, is retiring from the University this July. In honor of Purdy's many years of helping students, a scholarship/loan fund is being established in his name for use on all four campuses.

Purdy, who served the University 33 years, will be honored at a retirement dinner April 1.

Tax deductible donations may be sent to the scholarship/loan fund in care of George Brooks, director of Student Financial Aid, 11 Jesse Hall.

JEFFERSON AWARD--Nominations are due March 16 for the Thomas Jefferson Award, a citation and monetary award of $400 to $500 to a member of the University community.

Persons nominated should "through personal influence and performance of duty in teaching, writing and scholarship, character and influence, devotion and loyalty to the University best exemplify the principles and ideals of Thomas Jefferson."

Nominations should be accompanied by a 50- to 100-word biographical sketch of the nominee and a 100- to 200-word statement supporting the nomination. A vita is also helpful. Nominations should be signed. Five copies should be sent to Susan Flader, history department, 122 Arts and Science, by March 16. The award will be presented at the annual Jefferson Birthday observance in April.

THOMAS G. BROWN, professor of agricultural economics at UMC, has been appointed interim associate dean in the UMC College of Agriculture and director of state-wide agricultural extension programs.

The appointment was effective March 1. Brown replaces Schell Bodenhamer who retired Feb. 28. In his new position, Brown will direct some 150 agricultural extension specialists assigned to county extension centers in the state.

University officials said that recruitment to fill the position on a long-range basis will not begin until a successor had been named for Elmer Kiehl, dean of the College of Agriculture. Last month Kiehl announced that in April he is relinquishing the dean's post he has held since 1960 to take a federal appointment in Washington, D.C. An acting dean has not yet been named.

BERTON ROUECHE, AWARD-WINNING WRITER will read from soon-to-be-published works at 8 p.m. March 19 in the Memorial Union Auditorium. He will meet informally with UMC students in the School of Journalism and the School of Medicine on March 20.

Roueché has written four novels and published four collections of "Annals of Medicine" narratives. Two additional books were released last fall, The River World and Other Explorations and What's Left: Reports on a Diminishing American.

"An Evening with Berton Roueché" is free and open to the public.

BENNETT TAKES POSITION AT MT. SINAI CENTER--Cecil Bennett, director of fiscal affairs for the University hospital since June 1972, has taken a position as director of accounting services at Mount Sinai Medical Center of Greater Miami March 1. The 800-bed hospital located on Miami Beach is a teaching hospital affiliated but not owned by the University of Miami School of Medicine.

On a temporary basis, Pat Morton of Kasonic and Associates is assuming Bennett's former duties. Acting director Jack Horn says that recruitment will begin immediately for Bennett's permanent replacement but that a final decision will not be made until a new hospital director is appointed.

"FIVE CENTURIES OF MASTER GRAPHICS" from the St. Louis Art Museum is the exhibition on view at the UMC Museum of Art and Archaeology through March 30. Five hundred years of printmaking by the world's greatest artists are represented in 100 works on paper in the media of woodcut, engraving, etching and lithography.

In conjunction with the show, an informal lecture on "States of Modern Printmaking" will be presented by Frank Stack, UMC professor of art, at 3 p.m. March 18 in Pickard Hall Auditorium. The museum, located in Pickard Hall, is open noon to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Sundays.

WOMEN IN MANAGEMENT--Lee S. Moore, executive vice president and director of J.C. Penney Company, Inc., will speak on "The Treatment of Women in Management" at 2 p.m. March 16 at the UMC Women's Center, 1 Gentry Hall. Moore will be on campus March 14-16 as an executive-in-residence with the College of Business and Public Administration.

PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBIT--Selected images by Dave Gilbert, free-lance photographer, are on display at the UMC Brady Commons Gallery through March 17. The exhibit portrays the diversity of Gilbert's work in commercial, industrial and public relations projects during the last two years.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m.-10 p.m., Monday through Friday; 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday; and 2 p.m.-10 p.m. Sunday.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES MAY 12, 1979 10:30 A.M.--HEARNES

Faculty are urged to participate in the UMC Spring Commencement Saturday, May 12 at 10:30 a.m., in Hearnes Auditorium. The speaker will be Ernest L. Boyer, U.S. Commissioner of Education.

Faculty should assemble in the room adjacent to the administration office on the main concourse in Hearnes at 10:00 a.m. They will be seated in a reserved section adjacent to the stage.

Questions concerning Commencement can be directed to Andrew C. Minor, Associate Dean of the Graduate School, 205 Jesse, 882-6311, or to Luverne Walton, Associate Provost, 114 Jesse, 882-6598.

FACULTY COUNCIL HIGHLIGHTS April 19, 1979--Chairman David A. West appointed a nominating committee of Professors Charles Middleton (chairperson), Sam C. Brown and Eugene Lane that will present to Council on May 3 a slate of nominees for chairperson and vice chairperson for the 1979-80 academic year.

Pending further information from Professor E.H. Hunvald's Committee on Academic Regulations, Council tabled the academic dishonesty issue.

Council considered changes in the UMC Faculty Bylaws regarding Council representation. Following vigorous discussion, Council voted to table pending communication by Council chairperson with Policy Committee chairpersons of the College of Agriculture and the School of Medicine.

Professor Truman Storvick reported for the Ad Hoc Committee on Guidelines for Promotion and Tenure. Council discussion on the final acceptance of the Committee's Report will be continued at the next meeting.

AT THE GENERAL FACULTY MEETING April 13, Chancellor Uehling expressed pride in the faculty and the University, and told of her efforts to further an image of UMC as a quality institution around the state.

Reviewing the past year at the meeting, she said she had solid confidence in the University and its faculty, and in Provost Owen Koeppel, who has accepted the position of provost in the reorganized administration for one year.

Highlights of the chancellor's review were that with the administrative reorganization, the number of persons reporting to the chancellor has dropped from 24 to 10; the health sciences sector is being streamlined; the Research Council is receiving $25,000 to support faculty research; the University has made positive efforts in affirmative action; and the two futures committees are assessing current operating values and will be presenting position papers. "Hopefully," the chancellor said, "the position papers which result from their efforts will contain courses of action which every department can take and which every individual can relate to."

The chancellor also commented on the progress made by individual colleges this year, and singled out some divisions for special recognition: The School of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, which leads 62 universities in number of graduate students and research publications per scientist; the College of Arts and Science with its growing strength in the sciences and development of undergirding academic programs; the Chancellor's Festival of Music for its quality; the College of Business and Public Administration for its Executive-in-Residence program;

The College of Education for its cooperative international and interdisciplinary programs, the industrial engineering department for its establishment of the Business and Industry Productivity Center, a public service venture; the College of Home Economics for its renovations; the School of Journalism for its nationally recognized placement rate; the Law School for its aggressive minority recruitment program;

The College of Library and Informational Science for its programs ranking first in the nation; the School of Medicine for its nationally recognized Peritoneal Dialysis Center; the School of Nursing for its new building, scheduled to open this summer; the department of recreation and park administration for the accreditation of its programs; and the full accreditation of the College of Veterinary Medicine.

The chancellor said that although she characterized UMC as a diverse and complex institution of high quality, one of the more important dimensions of UMC was its people-orientation. "It is my conviction," the chancellor said, "that we should continue to manifest the essential rightness of that mutual responsibility, and I believe that we as an institution will be able to effectively cope with our future as we do that."

Faculty Council chairman David West then took the floor and explained the function of Faculty Council and its activities of the past year. West's report will be summarized in the May 9 issue of Faculty Bulletin.

NELSON LECTURER--Peter Vitousek, a member of the ecology faculty at Indiana University, will discuss "The Regulation of Nutrient Retention and Loss in Disturbed Ecosystems: A Comparative Study" at 3:40 p.m. today in 18 Tucker Hall. The program, part of the UMC Division of Biological Sciences Nelson Lecture Series, is free and open to the public.

HORTICULTURE LECTURES--An internationally known horticulturist will present the third of UMC's horticultural Centennial Lecture Series today.

Sylvan H. Wittwer, director of the Michigan State University Agricultural Experiment Station, will address the world's food problem at 3:40 p.m. in Room 2-16 of the Agriculture Building. At 7:30 p.m. he'll speak on "The Role of the Land Grant Institution in International Agriculture" in Room 222 of Memorial Union. Lectures are free and open to the public.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME--Effective 2 a.m. Sunday, April 29, the University will convert from Central Standard Time to Daylight Saving Time in accordance with federal law. Remember to set your clocks ahead an hour. The University will remain on Daylight Saving Time until 2 a.m. Sunday, October 28.

BILLY JOEL will appear in concert 8 p.m. April 29 at the Hearnese Auditorium in a presentation sponsored by the MSA Pop Concerts Committee.

Tickets for the concert are $4.50, $5.50, $6.50 and $7.50 for MSA members and $5.50, $6.50, $7.50 and $8.50 for the general public. They may be purchased at the Memorial Union ticket window or at the Hearnese Multipurpose Building.

A ONE-MAN ART EXHIBITION by Wayne Sullivant, a master of arts candidate at UMC, is on display through April 27 at the Fine Arts Gallery. The display includes sculptures, drawings, prints and jewelry, some with an African mask theme.

The highlight of the exhibit is Sullivant's master's artwork, a larger than life-size reclining figure of "Ophelia," submersed in water. A public opening will be held from 2-4 p.m. April 22 in the gallery. The exhibit will be on display from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

B&PA TO AWARD THREE CITATIONS OF MERIT--The UMC College of Business and Public Administration will honor three of the nation's business leaders with Alumni Association Citations of Merit during B&PA Week April 22-27, Dean S. Watson Dunn has announced.

Those to be honored are Sam B. Cook, who attended UMC, later graduated from Yale and is now president of the Central Trust Bank and Central Bancompany Inc. of Jefferson City; Thomas Laco, Proctor & Gamble group vice president, a 1951 UMC graduate; and Raymond F. O'Brien, president and chief executive officer of Consolidated Freightways Inc., who graduated from UMC in 1948.

Merit citations will be presented by John Sweeney, director of the UMC development Fund, at the college's annual honors banquet April 27. The featured speaker is Robert W. Lisle, vice president for real estate investments, the Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

JOURNALISM MEDALS AWARDED--Three institutions and five individuals were awarded the Missouri Medal for Distinguished Service in Journalism at a banquet on April 20, the climax of the 70th annual Journalism Week.

Institutional medalists were the Philadelphia Inquirer, Nation Magazine and the American Association of Advertising Agencies. Individual medalists were Mike Royko, columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times; Donald H. McGannon, chairman of Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.; Elizabeth Drew, contributing writer to New Yorker magazine, and two Missourians, Wallace G. Vernon, publisher of the Eldon Advertiser, and Earl Dougherty, owner of three radio stations in Mexico and Salem, Mo.

WEIDE ELECTED TO POST--Kenneth D. Weide, dean of the UMC College of Veterinary Medicine, was elected president of the Intermountain Veterinary Medical Association during that organization's conference in Las Vegas March 5-8.

Weide has been on the IVMA's board of directors since 1972 when he was a member of the faculty at the University of Arizona. He has been dean of Missouri's Veterinary College since 1973.

UMC GRADUATE HONORED--A recent UMC education graduate has received a national award for research conducted by women and beginning professionals. Vicky Curby, who received her doctorate in Higher and Adult Education in 1978, has won the 1979 Ruth Strang Research Award sponsored by the National Association of Women's Deans, Administrators and Counselors. The award is $500.

Curby submitted her dissertation, "Geographic Mobility of Women Administrators in Higher Education" for the competition.

SOCIAL WORKER OF THE YEAR--Thompson R. Fulton, professor emeritus of the UMC School of Social Work, has been named Social Worker of the Year by the Missouri Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers, Inc. Fulton was recognized at the annual state meeting March 30. Fulton now lives at Patterson, Mo., in Wayne County and continues to teach health policy in the School of Social Work.

TWENTY CHINESE NUCLEAR SCIENTISTS from the People's Republic were in Columbia April 4 during a four-week U.S. tour to exchange information and technical data with their American counterparts in industry, education and government.

Sponsored by the American Nuclear Society, the visit was intended to improve understanding between scientists of both countries in peaceful nuclear development. Helping host the Chinese guests was William R. Kimel, dean of UMC's College of Engineering and president of the American Nuclear Society this year.

KANTNER ELECTED--Larry A. Kantner, associate professor in the College of Arts and Science and the College of Education, has been elected president of the United States Society of Education through Art. The group is a national organization whose membership is made up of those individuals with an interest in the study of international education through art.

ZELENAK ELECTED--Bonnie Zelenak, assistant professor of education, has been elected president of the Missouri-Kansas-Nebraska chapter of the Mid-Atlantic Educational Opportunity Program Personnel and will begin her term next year. As president-elect, she chairs the chapter's legislative, educational and fiscal committees and serves on the membership/credential committee.

WILLIAM C. ALLEN, chief of orthopedic surgery at University Hospital and Clinics, has been elected to the board of directors of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons. He attended a meeting of the organization in March in San Francisco.

LEWIS N. WALKER, UMC associate professor of electrical engineering, has been named one of 12 winners of the Dow Outstanding Young Faculty Award for members of the American Society for Engineering Education who are under the age of 36. He will receive round-trip expenses plus award certificates to the ASEE conference this year in Baton Rouge, La.

Walker has been in his present position at UMC since 1974 and is director of the college's digital power research group and co-director of the college's energy systems and resources program.

CHANCELLOR BARBARA S. UEHLING became head of the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems' board of directors during its annual meeting April 5-6 in Washington, D.C.

The organization helps colleges, universities and state coordinating agencies improve planning and management practices. The 26-member board of directors, which for the past year has been chaired by Colorado State University President Ray Chamberlain, sets policy and direction for the research center's staff based in Denver.

WORK-STUDY FUNDS--UMC students who are eligible have several summer options for financial assistance through the College Work-Study Program this year, according to coordinator William R. Smith. Eligibility is determined by properly applying for 1979-80 aid through the Financial Aids Office, 11 Jesse Hall. Smith said the office will have sufficient work-study funds after the end of the winter 1979 semester to support eligible students in three ways.

1) PERIOD BETWEEN WINTER SEMESTER AND SUMMER 1979 SESSION (May 14 through June 8) -- If eligible, students enrolled in the summer session that begins June 11 may work up to 40 hours weekly during the interim period.

2) SUMMER 1979 SESSION (June 11 through Aug. 3) -- Students may earn only the amount awarded in their "summer 1979 aid package." They will receive the package before summer session begins.

3) FULL-TIME SUMMER EMPLOYMENT IN MISSOURI HOME TOWNS OR HOME COUNTIES (May 14 through Aug. 3) -- The Financial Aids Office will fund full-time employment through local University Extension centers or with the Missouri Division of Employment Security offices (Job Service), if students are returning to UMC for the fall semester and are eligible for financial aid as 1979-80 applicants. Students should contact these local offices for job possibilities. If jobs are available, these offices should be asked to send the students' names in writing to the UMC Financial Aids Office.

Federal regulations require summer work-study students who are not actually enrolled in coursework to save a certain percentage of gross earnings for use in the fall.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Vol. 8, No. ¹⁵16 Published by the Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs April 27, 1979

International News

INTERNATIONAL BULLETIN-IN-BRIEF--Each spring and fall, the Committee on International Studies and Programs informs the faculty through Bulletin-in-Brief about opportunities and activities in the international sphere.

It is hoped that these issues of the Bulletin will become a forum for new programs, for progress reports on current or recent programs, for notes on international activities of faculty and for dates and times of related seminars.

If you have information on international activities which you would like to see included in the next issue (Fall, 1979), send it to Cathy Kernan, Bulletin-in-Brief, OPI, 329 Jesse Hall.

GENERAL INFORMATION

THE STUDY ABROAD INFORMATION CENTER in 116 Read Hall is designed to help inform UMC students of the travel opportunities available to them. Early planning is encouraged, but some opportunities are available even to students who wait until their junior year to decide they would like to travel.

Other services, provided by the Office of International Study Programs, include issuance of the international student identity card, information about travel and student discounts for overseas travel.

REFERENCE MATERIALS--The Office of Education (HEW) has published a listing of materials, agencies and organizations on study and teaching abroad. For copies, contact the Center for International Programs and Studies, 101 Gentry Hall.

THE COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS AND STUDY--This committee has as its charge to facilitate international programs on this campus. Thirteen task forces have been established by the committee, which is chaired by Paul Wallace. Anyone interested in serving on any of the task forces should contact Wallace. The task forces include the following: 1) UMC Graduate Fellowships Abroad; 2) Translation; 3) Saarbrucken (University of Saarlandes, Germany); 4) Sophia University (Japan); 5) Chonnam University (Korea); 6) China Exchange; 7) Study Opportunities Abroad; 8) Communications; 9) Title XII (Foreign Assistance Act, 1975); 10) Languages and Linguistics; 11) Evaluation of the Center for International Programs & Studies; 12) International Rural Development; 13) Sabbatical Opportunities Abroad.

A STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES--has been written for the effective participation of colleges and universities in international development activities. Mel Blase, director of international programs and study at UMC, was among those who helped formulate the document. The National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges has approved the statement, and it has been proposed for adoption by two other associations. For a copy of the statement, contact the Center for International Programs and Studies, 101 Gentry Hall.

TITLE XII STRENGTHENING GRANT PROPOSAL--The UMC proposal to establish an international dimension of on-going Small-Farm Family Improvement activities was recommended to AID for funding by the Board for International Food and Agricultural Development (BIFAD). Final negotiation of the grant with AID is expected to be completed sometime in April. This matching funds grant will provide $100,000 per year for up to five years to strengthen the capacity and commitment of UMC to participate in design, implementation and evaluation of multi-disciplinary development assistance programs for improving Small-Farm Family productivity, income, and quality-of-life in less developed countries.

STUDY OPPORTUNITIES

A SUMMER STUDY AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL DIG in England is being planned for July 10 through August 23. Applications will be accepted through May 1. For more information contact Mel Blase, 101 Gentry Hall.

AN EXCHANGE PROGRAM has been developed during the past two years between UMC and Chonnam National University in Kwangju, South Korea. Five members of the Chonnam faculty are working at the UMC campus this year. Richard Angus, associate professor of chemical engineering, taught at Chonnam during the summer of 1978, and UMC is arranging for other chemical engineering faculty members to teach there. Chonnam has been designated to become the center for chemical engineering education in South Korea. An expansion program when completed will make their chemical engineering department one of the largest in the world.

SAARBRUCKEN EXCHANGE PROGRAM--Ernst Braun, chairman of the UMC Germanic and Slavic studies department, spent part of last summer in Saarbrucken, negotiating for a more formalized approach to the faculty-exchange program. A possible student exchange program was also discussed, and three applications are currently being considered. The Task Force on the Saarbrucken Exchange Program is planning to send out a letter to all UMC faculty to determine the extent of resources and interests.

SUMMER STUDY AT JALAPA, MEXICO--The Universidad Veracruzana in Veracruz and UMC are jointly offering a summer study program in Mexico. Courses will be available in Spanish language and literature, archaeology, anthropology, history, psychology, culture and civilization, the plastic and graphic arts, music and dance. For more information, contact Vern G. Williamsen, 27 Arts and Science.

SOPHIA EXCHANGE PROGRAM--The UMC-Sophia Year-in-Japan Program has placed 15 Japanese students on the UMC campus this year, while ten UMC students are studying at the Sophia campus in Tokyo.

UMC students enrolled in the program are acculturated to Japan through four main courses--history, comparative sociology, comparative religion and comparative literature. Also, a serious study of the Japanese language is imperative. UMC will send 20 students to Sophia University for the next academic year. For more information, contact Soon Sung Cho, professor of political science, at 882-4625.

THAILAND EXCHANGE PROGRAM--Bob Woods, dean of the College of Education, returned from Thailand in February where he discussed in further detail the establishment of an exchange program with Prince Songhla University. The rector and dean of education from Prince Songhla visited UMC twice last year concerning the anticipated exchange.

EXCHANGE PROGRAM WITH THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA--Plans are being developed for a student and possibly a faculty exchange program between UMC and the People's Republic of China. The Center for International Programs and the Task Force on Exchange with the PRC are working with university administrators on the project.

GRANTS-IN-AID--International grants-in-aid from $250 to $1,000 are available to international women enrolled in U.S. universities. Information about applying may be obtained from the president of the Altrusa Club of Columbia, Dorothy Hendricks, 2001 West Rollins Road, 445-2742.

FULBRIGHT APPLICATIONS--Summer deadlines are approaching for the submission of applications for Fulbright Opportunities Abroad. Awards for university teaching and advanced research abroad are available. These awards have application deadlines ranging from June 1 to July 1, dates which are 12-18 months in advance of the grant period.

For specific information, contact the Center for International Programs and Studies at 101 Gentry Hall.

REGENSBURG STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM--Students who have completed at least two years of college German or its equivalent may want to enroll for an academic year at the University of Regensburg in West Germany. The program is offered through an agreement between the University of Colorado and UMC.

Applicants are expected to have completed at least 55 hours of college work with a minimal 3.0 grade point average.

An intensive language program in September and October is required of participants prior to their enrollment at Regensburg. Then, the UMC students may enroll in courses in German language, literature and civilization which are offered to foreign students. Regular university courses are also available for those with adequate background and language skills.

The 1979-80 program fee for UMC students who pay in-state tuition is $2,600. The fee includes tuition, room and field trips in Germany. Estimated transportation costs to and from Germany, arranged by charter flight, are $450 to $500. About $225 to $250 per month should be budgeted for food and personal expenses. For more information, contact Ruth Firestone, department of Germanic and Slavic Studies.

SOUTH ASIA PROGRAM--The UMC South Asia Program continues to receive graduate fellowships from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the study of Hindi and South Asian Studies. Two graduate fellowships were received from HEW this year. One additional graduate student is studying Hindi in India under a fellowship from the American Institute for Indian Studies.

Three members of the UMC program are engaged in research in India this year: Murari Lal Nagar, the South Asia librarian; Sarla Nagar, associate curator for South Asian art; and Arthur Robins, professor of psychiatry. A.L. Goshal, chairman of the geography from Punjab University in India, will be associated with the UMC geography department and the South Asia Center beginning this month.

Bina Gupta, assistant professor of philosophy and South Asian studies is the new director of the South Asia Center.

THE RUSSIAN AREA STUDIES PROGRAM at UMC provides students with an interdisciplinary approach to Russian and Soviet studies. The program is intended for students who anticipate careers in international business, journalism, teaching or government. James Peters, the present chairman and adviser for the program, maintains a current employment file outlining career opportunities for Russian Area Studies graduates. He may be contacted in the Russian department, 450 General Classroom Building, 882-3368.

A 28-DAY STUDY TOUR TO INDIA will be conducted by Robert Austin, UMC geography department chairman, from May 21 to June 19. Participants will travel to Bombay, Delhi, Jaipur, Agra, Khujarah, Varanasi, Srinagar, Amritsar and Chandrigarh. University credit is optional.

FELLOWSHIPS--The UMC Graduate School awarded two $1,000 fellowships for study abroad in 1979-80 in a competition which concluded in April. The two graduate students are Constantine Danopoulos in Political Science who is undertaking dissertation research on "Military Professionalism, Political Intervention and Social Change: A Case Study of Contemporary Greece," and Stephen C. Glover in Art History and Archaeology who is undertaking dissertation research on "The Cults and Sanctuaries of Apollo in Cyprus." Prof. Meyer Reinhold, Department of Classics, chaired the Task Force of the Committee on International Programs and Studies which initiated and administered the fellowship program.

INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR--The 15th annual International Seminar on Rural and Community Development will be held at UMC from May 15 to June 8. The four-week seminar will include on-campus study, coupled with a one-week field experience and is sponsored by the department of regional and community affairs and the Center for International Studies.

The seminar, according to director Boyd Faulkner, "provides a solid base for thinking out what should be done now and in the future to improve the life of rural people in the Third World." For more information, contact the department of regional and community affairs, Clark Hall, UMC, 882-3050.

1979 CHINA TOURS--Four tours to the People's Republic of China are offered for 1979 by MidAmerica China Exchange, a private firm which arranged the UMC Study Tour in 1978.

Two tours will go from May 7 to June 16--one taking an historic route, another a scenic route. The Aug. 3-24 tour will take the silk route, and the Nov. 2-21 tour will take the southern route. For information, contact the Center for International Programs and Studies, 101 Gentry Hall, phone 882-3033.

Members of the UMC study tour to China last July included the following: Diane Brukaradt, acting director of Student Health Services; Ruben Hicken, chief nurse (now retired) of Student Health Services; Charline Lindsay, professor emeritus of extension education and former state youth specialist; Clotilde Moller, assistant professor emeritus of social work; Clara Louise Myers, professor and director of graduate studies, School of Social Work; Betty Cook Rottmann, senior information specialist and group leader; Bob Woods, dean of the College of Education, and his wife Jan, secretary of personnel division, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Missouri Soil Conservation Service.

UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES

"TEACHING THIRD WORLD WOMEN"--Faculty members Judith Burke, assistant professor of social work and Al Lackey, associate professor of regional and community affairs will present papers as part of an interdisciplinary panel on "Teaching Third World Women" at the May 30-June 2 meeting of the National Association of Women's Studies at the University of Kansas, Lawrence.

The papers will deal with a new course to be offered by Burke and Lackey at UMC in the fall of 1979 on participation of women in development in Third World countries.

TWO INTERNATIONAL GRADUATE STUDENTS are working at UMC as International Fellows of the American Association of University Women (AAUW). They are Ja Soon Koo of Korea, in sociology, and Laddavan Laohaviranit of Thailand, in food science.

AAUW offers more than 50 international fellowships a year, one-time awards ranging from approximately $2,500 to $5,500. International students at UMC may discuss their eligibility for AAUW fellowships with Irene Fitzgerald, professor of curriculum and instruction, at 227 Education Building, 882-5764.

A BRITISH ECONOMIST and specialist on international trade with China, Roland Berger, was in residence at UMC on Feb. 19. He spoke on "China: The Political Scene After Mao" and on "U.S.-China Relations and Trade After Normalization."

FOREIGN LANGUAGE PARTICIPATION DAY was conducted on the UMC campus April 7. High school students of French, German and Spanish came from throughout the state to participate in poetry reading contests and to present artwork and skits for judging.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS at UMC staged an "International Night" on Feb. 17 with participation of students from Iran, Korea, Japan, the Arab countries, Egypt, Sri Lanka and Latin America.

A LOCAL EXCHANGE PROGRAM was conducted for about 20 UMC international students during spring break. The students took five-day visits with Missouri businessmen and gained some practical experience. The businessmen, in turn, were able to learn from the students about their native countries. The visits were sponsored by the Office of International Student Programs and the Extension Division.

LUNCHEON SEMINARS ON INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS are conducted regularly on Thursdays throughout the school year. Speakers are selected on the basis of their knowledge of international issues or of trends significant to the United States. The meetings are held in Room S-16 of Memorial Union, and the public is invited. Persons who wish to be placed on the mailing list for the seminars should contact the Office of International Programs and Studies, 882-2886.

NICHOLAS LUYKX, a senior specialist with the Foundation for International Technological Cooperation in Washington, D.C., spoke on "Issues in Science and Technology Cooperation with Developing Countries" at UMC March 12. His lecture was part of a program on the "Developmental Perspectives and Third World Realities."

THE AFRICAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION and the Nigerian Student Association sponsored a three-night Africa Week celebration, April 11, 12 and 14. Francis Botchway spoke on "The South African Struggle and How It Affects the World." A film, "The Rising Tide," also was shown. An African cultural show with music, dances and a short play took place on April 14.

INTENSIVE BEGINNING FRENCH AND SPANISH PROGRAMS will be offered at UMC this summer by the department of Romance languages in cooperation with the International Professional Graduate Program and the Center for International Programs and Studies. For more information, contact the Romance languages department, 27 Arts and Science.

ECUADORIAN VISITORS--Vicente Atiage, National Director of Teachers' Colleges, and Gerge Estupinan, Chief of Orientation and Students' Welfare, Ministry of Education in Ecuador, visited the UMC College of Education's H.I.P. Alternative Teacher Education Program in February. The visitors came to consider the organization of the program in respect to drug education.

FACULTY ACTIVITIES

EUROPEAN STUDY TOUR--Jean Griffin, assistant professor of clothing and textiles, and Gary Hennigh, associate professor of housing and interior design, are planning a student tour of Scotland, England, Belgium and France May 13-June 2. The tour will stress visits to textile and clothing manufacturers, retailers and designer boutiques. They will also study architecture and furnishings.

MARGARET S. PEDEN, professor of Spanish, is on a leave-of-absence in Mexico, preparing a translation of the poetry of Pablo Neruda.

SPANISH MUSIC--Maria Cristina Planchuelo presented an MSA-sponsored concert at UMC on March 15. The Argentine singer, who accompanied herself on guitar, has a particular interest in songs for children and young people and included some of those songs in the program.

IN JAE LEE OF SUWEON, KOREA, is visiting the UMC campus through Aug. 9, as part of the visiting professor/graduate student exchange program established in 1978. Lee is senior administrator and special assistant to the director general of Korea's Office of Rural Development. He will be observing agricultural programs and touring agri-business institutions during his visit.

TANZANIAN TOUR--Four faculty members left UMC in March for Tanzania on the second phase of a technical assistance project concerning the Tanzanian seed industry. Team members are Robert Bevins and Albert Hagan, professors of agricultural economics; and Lloyd Cavanah and Milton Poehlman, professors of agronomy. Hagan is the team leader.

MEL BLASE, director of the Center for International Programs and Studies, lectured at a seminar Feb. 19 in the animal husbandry department. His presentation focused on international programs within the College of Agriculture. Mike Nolan, associate professor, and Jere Gilles, assistant professor of rural sociology, spoke on the Small Ruminants' Collaborative Research Support Program (CRSP). The CRSP is a Title XII project and is a part of an international research effort in which UMC is participating.

WILLIAM C. THIESENHUSEN OF THE LAND TENURE CENTER, University of Wisconsin, was on campus Feb. 26 as a guest of the committee on international rural development. Thiesenhusen is a professor in agricultural economics and agricultural journalism at the Center. He was a speaker at the seminar, "The '80s: Will it be the Decade of the Peasant?"

Published by the Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs

May 1, 1979

ALL FACULTY are urged to participate in the main commencement exercises at 10:30 a.m. May 12 in Hearnes Auditorium. Faculty should assemble in the room across from the administrative office on the main concourse in Hearnes at 10 a.m.

1979 COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES--Efforts are being made to personalize and individualize this year's commencement ceremonies and to add significance and pageantry to the occasion. Some of the changes this year:

--Banners have traditionally been a rallying symbol, and at this year's commencement, each of the UMC schools and colleges will be represented with banners. The two-and-one-half foot by four-foot banners will be carried on eight foot staves, and will be placed on the stage during the ceremony. The banners were designed through a cooperative effort between the art faculty and the deans organized by Brooke Cameron, associate professor of art.

--Weldon Durham of the University Theatre is staging a colorful and fast-moving commencement.

--A 40-piece wind ensemble composed of students and faculty and directed by Alexander Pickard will perform a 15-minute concert before and after the ceremony.

ALMA MATER

BENEDICTION

COMMENCEMENT BROCHURES--Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling has sent invitations to all families of candidates for graduation to "celebrate" commencement with UMC faculty, staff and students.

Copies of the commencement brochure have also been mailed to divisional deans, or can be obtained from OPI, 329 Jesse Hall, 882-6211.

FOURTEEN FACULTY TO RECEIVE EMERITUS TITLES--Fourteen faculty members will receive titles of professor emeritus during the 137th Commencement Exercises. The retiring faculty members have devoted a total of nearly 400 years of teaching at UMC, with one teaching 44 years and seven teaching more than 30 years.

Those recognized and their emeritus titles are Lloyd B. Thomas, professor of chemistry, 44 years; Viola M. Stanway, associate professor of agronomy, 38 years; Merle E. Muhrer, professor of extension education, 34 years; Walter F. Heidlage, associate professor of extension education, 34 years; Schell H. Bodenhamer, associate dean of agriculture and professor of extension education, 32 years; Carl N. Scheneman, vice president and professor of extension education, 32 years; A.G. Unklesbay, vice president and professor of geology, 32 years

Charlotte G. Wells, professor of speech and dramatic art, 32 years; John Carey Murdock, dean of the graduate school and professor of economics, 27 years; Robert L. Jackson, professor of child health, 24 years; Lloyd P. Jorgenson, professor of education, 21 years; Rudolph L. Leutzinger, associate professor of mechanical and aerospace engineering, 17 years; Leslie Carlton Murphy, associate dean of veterinary medicine and professor of veterinary microbiology, 14 years; and Boyd Faulkner, associate professor of regional and community affairs, 11 years.

MUSEUM OF ART AND ARCHAEOLOGY in Pickard Hall on Francis Quadrangle will be open May 12 during its regular Saturday hours: noon to 5 p.m. The Museum Gift Shop will also be open. The special displays are "Serigraphy: The Art of Screen Printing, 1966-76," with pop and op art and photo-stenciling, and an exhibition of collage prints by contemporary artist Robert Motherwell.

FOOD SERVICE--Memorial Union will be open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Bengal Lair will be open 8 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. Brady Commons and its Snack Bar will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

PARKING--UMC police will direct traffic at the Hearnes Building. Officers will be stationed at the Route K entrance/exit and the two Stadium Boulevard entrance/exit points. The only special reserved area will be for the handicapped.

On May 12, no restrictions will be made on any UMC lots. However, vehicles will not be permitted to park in fire lanes, loading zones or rights-of-way. Maj. Mick Deaver expects more than 2,000 vehicles on campus during commencement, and advises faculty, staff and students to keep that in mind when entering and leaving the area.

FIRST AID--An emergency first aid station will be located on the main concourse in the North Quadrant of the Hearnes Building. Persons are asked not to lift a stricken person; call the ushers or station attendents for help.

INFORMATION FOR HANDICAPPED INDIVIDUALS--Drivers wishing to arrange parking for handicapped persons should consult with UMC polic officers on duty at vehicle entrances to the Hearnes parking lots. Officers will direct the drivers to an area on the east side of the building, south of the air conditioning towers.

Although several entrances are accessible, the most convenient will be the two on the east side ground floor. Inside Hearnes, handicapped persons should consult ushers for directions to the B-level, where space for wheelchairs is reserved. Restrooms adapted for the handicapped are on the B-level

Published by the
Vol. 8, No. 18 Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs July 3, 1979

AUGUST 3 COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES ON FRANCIS QUADRANGLE

The UMC Summer Commencement Exercises honoring and giving individual recognition to all candidates for undergraduate and graduate degrees will be held Friday, August 3, at 5:30 p.m. on Francis Quadrangle (Jesse Auditorium in the event of rain). The speaker will be Graduate Dean and Vice Provost for Research Don H. Blount. Chancellor Uehling will preside.

Faculty are urged to participate by being a part of the platform party. Assembly for the academic procession will take place in the main hall on the first floor of Jesse at 5 p.m.

Academic attire can be rented from the University Bookstore through July 24, and from the Missouri Store through July 19.

Questions concerning the Exercises should be directed to Associate Provost Luverne Walton, 114 Jesse, 882-6598, or to Associate Dean of the Graduate School Andrew C. Minor, 205 Jesse, 882-6311.

TARKOW TO DIRECT UMC HONORS COLLEGE--Theodore A. Tarkow, associate professor of classical studies, will become director of the UMC Honors College July 1.

He replaces George Fasel, who will become dean of Upsala College, East Orange, N.J., on that date. Fasel has directed the Honors College since September 1975. Tarkow was acting director of the Honors College for the 1977-78 academic year.

The Honors College program was introduced in the the College of Arts and Science in 1958 to offer opportunity and challenges to superior students. It provides a general honors program and departmental honors courses through which students may earn certificates and/or recognition with their degrees.

HEALTH SERVICES MANAGEMENT DIRECTOR APPOINTED--Gordon D. Brown, associate professor of health administration and head of the health planning and administration program at Pennsylvania State University, has been appointed professor and director of the health services management program for the UMC School of Health Related Professions. He assumes his duties here July 9.

Brown replaces Stuart A. Wesbury Jr., who left UMC in January to become president of the American College of Hospital Administrators in Chicago.

A native of Independence, Iowa, Brown earned his master and doctoral degrees in hospital and health administration from the University of Iowa. He has taught at Penn State since 1972 and currently is chairman of the advisory committee to the Office of International Health Administration, Association of University Programs in Health Administration, and is a member of the editorial board, The Journal of Long-Term Care Administration.

Brown also has served as World Health Organization scientist working with the Colombia, S.A. government on comprehensive regional health planning.

PARKING LOT MAINTENANCE, IMPROVEMENTS BEGAN MONDAY --Annual rehabilitation and improvements for UMC parking lots began Monday, July 2, and are expected to be completed by Aug. 22--if the weather cooperates.

This summer, slightly more than $96,000 in seal coating and asphaltic concrete work is scheduled for 22 parking lots plus various drives and zones. The work is funded through student-faculty-staff parking fees.

According to University officials, scheduled lots to receive seal coating will be treated first and lots which are to receive asphaltic concrete will be done later in the summer.

University police will make every effort to notify parking lot patrons which alternate lots to use a day or two in advance of the maintenance/improvement work schedule. In addition, police will be temporarily stationed at lot entrances to direct employees and students to the alternate parking locations.

After these projects have been completed this summer, UMC parking fees will have funded nearly $650,000 in parking lot construction, maintenance and improvements since 1972.

PROFESSIONAL ACTOR TO PERFORM ONE-MAN SHOWS--Mike Mauldin, professional actor and a member of the UMC 1979 Summer Repertory Theatre company, will perform the one-man show "An Evening with Mark Twain" at the UMC Theatre July 8, 15, 22, and 29. Curtain time for the four Sunday performances will be 8:15 p.m.

The performance gained critical acclaim for Mauldin during a national tour in which he also did a solo performance in "On the Wings of Israfel," a portrayal of the final hours of Edgar Allen Poe's life.

Tickets are $3 for the general public and $1.50 for UMC summer session students with valid ID cards. They are on sale now at the University Theatre box office from 12:30-5:30 p.m. Monday-Saturday and before performances. Seats are not reserved. For more information, call 882-2021.

ENGINEERING RECEIVES SOLAR LABORATORY FUNDS--Initial funds of $13,805 for a Solar Energy Laboratory Program have been approved by the UMC Alumni Development Board. The proposal, submitted by Associate Professor George H. Stickney and the Mechanical Engineering Department, asked for $4,000 for solar collectors, $990 for solar radiation measuring equipment, and $7,065 for heat transfer and weather monitoring equipment. The laboratory, which will begin operation in the Fall 1979 semester, is designed to encourage graduate and advanced research in solar energy.

CHANNEL 10 OFF AIR FOR THE SUMMER--UMC has suspended broadcasting on Columbia Cablevision channel 10 over the summer.

A committee formed to appraise the channel operations recommended the temporary suspension, says Charles C. Campbell, assistant dean of extension and committee member.

The channel program consists of calendar of events and job announcements and the audio from KBIA, the Columbia campus' FM radio station.

Campbell said the lack of staff for program operations and other financial constraints led to the decision to suspend operations.

PRINT, PAINTING EXHIBITION AT UMC--An exhibition of prints and paintings by Virginia Roeder, Mary Packwood and Edward Lambert will be shown July 1-Aug. 3 in the UMC Fine Arts Gallery.

Virginia Roeder was an instructor in painting and drawing at UMC this past year. She has shown her paintings in numerous exhibitions throughout the country.

Mary Packwood, a graduate and former art instructor at UMC and Ed Lambert, both from Corpus Christi, Texas, will be showing their etchings and other prints.

Packwood is a former professor of art at Texas A&I University, Corpus Christi and initiated the art program there.

The gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday and 2:30-4:30 Sundays. The exhibition may also be seen during UMC Repertory Theatre Productions.

UMC FACULTY MEMBER, CHANCELLOR PART OF U.S.-EGYPTIAN MISSION--Chancellor Barbara Uehling and UMC agricultural Economics Professor Stanley Johnson are spending a week in Egypt in early July as members of a U.S. advance delegation planning a major cultural and economic exchange conference in Cairo next November.

Uehling and Johnson are joining governmental officials, business leaders and other educators in discussions with their Egyptian counterparts which could lead to an economic and cultural exchange.

While in Cairo the advance delegation will plan a major conference scheduled for Nov. 24 and titled "Economic Challenge for Peace."

Organizer of the mission is Ahmed Abou-Bakr, president of the Arab-American Council for Cultural and Economic Exchange and master's degree graduate of UMC in 1972. The council, which has headquarters in Washington D.C., cooperates with Catholic University in offering an educational program.

Included in the delegation are Glenn Terrell, president of Washington State University; Congressman John Hinson, R-Mississippi; Kenneth Farrell, administrator of the Economics Statistics Cooperative Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and representatives of other government programs and agribusiness firms.

RELOCATION OF PERSONNEL IN SCHWEITZER DETERMINED--Plans for moving biochemistry research groups now housed in Schweitzer Hall to other campus locations are nearing completion, UMC Chancellor Barbara Uehling announced June 27.

The 67-year-old building is being evacuated because of radiation decontamination. The $150,000 renovation project calls for replacing walls, floors, an attic flue and lab furniture in a section of the building contaminated by radioactive materials during research projects many years ago.

The faculty researchers and support staff--a total of about 30 people--will be moving to separate locations over the next two months, says James R. Oglesby, assistant provost for facilities utilization. He estimates the cost of moving the Schweitzer Hall occupants will be $25,000, partly because the furniture and equipment being moved will have to be scanned for radiation.

Oglesby says the research groups will move to the following locations: Judy Wall, to the Chemistry Building; George B. Garner and Creighton N. Cornell, to T-14 with access to laboratories in the Animal Research Center; Douglas D. Randall and Warren L. Zahler, to Tucker Hall; and Kenneth Gamble, research associate with the School of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, to Stewart Hall.

"ANESTHESIA FOR DELIVERY," a film demonstrating the four most commonly used anesthetic techniques in childbirth, has been produced by the UMC School of Nursing and the department of obstetrics and gynecology.

Sandra Gray, instructor in the School of Nursing, wrote the script and directed the film and Harold Lynch, cinematographer in the School of Medicine's educational resources group, did the filming and editing. Copies of the film are available in the School of Nursing's media lab.

TISDELS GIVE RARE BOOK TO ELLIS LIBRARY--Kenneth and Mary Tisdell of Columbia have given UMC's Ellis Library a rare book whose publication was one of the causes of the break between the English church and Rome.

Reginald Pole, last Roman Catholic archbishop of Canterbury, wrote in Latin the "vigorous and severe attack" on King Henry VIII's policy, with a "request that he repent of his cruelties and return to the church." This is one of the few remaining copies, for Pole later collected all copies he could find and burned them.

Antonio Blado, an important 16th-century printer in Rome, printed the book. This is the first work by Blado in the library's collection. The book, titled For the Defense of the Unity of the Church, was donated through the Friends of the Library. Tisdell is a former collection development librarian at Ellis Library.

USER'S GUIDE TO MISSOURI MAPS AVAILABLE FROM UNIVERSITY EXTENSION--"A User's Guide to Missouri Maps" is a guide to the major sources and types of cartographic materials available for Missouri. The 186-page User's Guide was developed by the UM-Columbia Extension Division Geography Program in cooperation with the Missouri Office of Administration. It can be ordered through Extension Publications, 206 Whitten Hall. Cost of the publication is $2.95 per copy, with a 10 percent discount for orders of 10 or more copies.

BULLETIN IN BRIEF

Published by the
Vol. 8, No. 19 Office of the Provost for Academic Affairs July 24, 1979

UMC SUMMER COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES will be held on the Francis Quadrangle for the first time in eight years. All faculty are urged to participate in the commencement exercises, which begin at 5:30 p.m. on Aug. 3, final day of classes, at the foot of the columns. Faculty should assemble in the main hall on the first floor of Jesse Hall at 5 p.m. In case of rain, the ceremonies will move to Jesse Auditorium.

Divisional banners, created for the May commencement, will be displayed. A campus brass ensemble will perform.

The Rev. Moray Loring, minister of education at the First Baptist Church of Columbia, will give invocation and benediction. Don H. Blount, dean of the Graduate School and vice provost for research, will speak. He will also preside at the recognition of candidates for advanced degrees. Doctoral graduates will be hooded by their advisers.

Chancellor Barbara Uehling will be in charge of the ceremonies, with system President James C. Olson conferring degrees for the undergraduate candidates. Barbara Houston Moore of Malta Bend, Mo., president of the UMC Alumni Association, will greet the graduates as new alumni.

First aid assistance will be provided by UMC Medical Center personnel.

COMMENCEMENT PARKING--No lots are restricted at the time of the commencement exercises, according to Maj. Mick Deaver of the University Police. Lot RC 4 on the Conley Avenue side of Jesse Hall will be available to handicapped individuals on a first come, first served basis.

HANDICAPPED ACCESS--Several curb cuts surround Francis Quadrangle and a ramp is on Ninth Street at University Avenue.

DIVISIONAL ACTIVITIES--Only two colleges will hold commencement receptions. From 3-4 p.m. on Aug. 3, the College of Education will hold a reception for graduates in the Memorial Union large ballroom. Refreshments will be served, and graduating seniors will be recognized individually. Guests will have an opportunity to mingle with faculty and staff and be invited to membership in the college's alumni association.

The College of Business and Public Administration will hold a reception in Middlebush Hall immediately after the ceremonies on Francis Quadrangle.

UNIVERSITY AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE--Effective July 1, the University's insurance carrier for automobile liability, comprehensive general liability and workmen's compensation is Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, 10805 Sunset Office Drive, St Louis, MO 63127. The telephone number is (314) 965-5400.

Reporting of injuries, incidents and accidents should continue as in the past using the appropriate reporting form. Direct any questions to Julia Baker, Business Operations Office, 317 Jesse Hall.

THE UMca GRANT ACCOUNTING SYSTEM COMMITTEE has been formed to review plans for the purchase and installation of a computerized accounting system for the University which will include the monitoring of grants and contracts.

The committee was formed this spring by UM Vice President James Buchholz in response to a recommendation in the Final Report of the UMca Task Force on Grants and Contracts. The committee is charged with assisting UM Management Systems in providing a grant accounting system no later than July 1, 1980, which will be responsive to the needs of principal investigators involved in grants and contracts and others in the University. An important objective of the system will be to provide timely and accurate information on the status of grant and contract accounts to all principal investigators.

The committee plans to meet monthly with representatives of Management Systems to assist in defining the needs of persons involved in grants accounting and to review the progress on meeting the 1980 target date.

Committee members invite all interested faculty and staff to contact them with suggestions and concerns on the development of the accounting system. Committee members are: Richard Wallace, professor of economics, UMC Graduate School chair; Rick Gaines, assistant dean of the UMC School of Medicine; Patrick Harris, professor of physiology, UMC; Paul Bowman, director, UMKC Institute of Community Studies; Robert Killoren, UMsl grants and contracts officer; Rudy Koch, manager, UMca research and restricted accounting; Jim Ollar, director, UMca extension fiscal affairs management; Charles Middleton, director, UMca Sinclair Research Farm; and Gary Patterson, professor of chemistry, UMR.

FORTY TO ATTEND ELDERHOSTEL CLASSES--Elderhostel, a national back-to-campus program, has brought 40 persons over age 60 to UMC July 20-28. Participants are living in Wolpers Residence Hall, eating in Pershing cafeteria and attending daily classes in Missouri Art and Architecture; Living History: Arrow Rock, Missouri; and Shakespeare and the Major Emotions--Then and Now.

Of those preregistered at UMC, some are in their 80s and three-fourths are alumni. Eight states are represented, from Ohio to California.

Elderhostel is a national network of more than 230 colleges and universities in 38 states. They offer low-cost, one-week summer residential academic programs for which no previous background is required. Students earn continuing education credits.

Many of the courses deal with the history of states or regions in which the schools are located. Others are in the fine arts and sciences. Several offer opportunities to write fiction, poetry or autobiographies. Coordinator for Elderhostel at UMC is Jeanne Lee, 304 Hill Hall, 882-8231.

A MEETING ON BRUCELLOSIS CONTROL will be held at 10 a.m. Aug. 2 in the Teaching Hospital Auditorium of the UMC College of Veterinary Medicine. Speakers will include state veterinarian Taylor Woods and Paul Bectin, U.S. Department of Agriculture veterinarian in charge of the nationwide brucellosis control program.

All interested persons are invited to attend the Aug. 2 meeting. Brucellosis is a long term problem in Missouri which has grown in severity; an outbreak last summer caused Iowa to embargo cattle imported from Missouri.

HOUSING CENTER TO OPEN SATURDAY MORNINGS--As a service to students looking for off-campus housing, UMC is again operating the Off-Campus Housing Center Monday through Friday, plus Saturdays beginning July 22 until the center closes Sept. 4.

In the past, the center has helped thousands of students find housing free of charge. The center lists a variety of housing by categories and gives information on rent and leases. The center also provides novice tenants with tips on what to look for, and look out for, when selecting rental units.

Center hours are 8:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Saturdays beginning July 22. The telephone number is 882-7859. The center is located in the Center for Student Life, Room 7 Read Hall.

ALL "NEW" AND "OLD" FACULTY ARE INVITED TO THE NEW ACADEMIC STAFF ORIENTATION
Wednesday, Aug. 22, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Memorial Union Alumni Lounge. The program will include brief presentations on the city of Columbia, the UM structure and governance, the University budget, the role of faculty council and of the Graduate School and Office of Research, and UMC's libraries. Also included will be information on UMC students, the academic regulations, available student services, this year's cultural events, and personnel services for faculty.

Chancellor Uehling has invited academic staff and program presenters to a reception at her residence following the orientation, from 4:30 to 6 p.m. on Wednesday.

A walking tour of the campus has been scheduled for Thursday morning, Aug. 23, led by Dwayne Richards from the Center for Student Life. Interested persons should meet him in front of the Memorial Union at 9 a.m.

For further information, Call Associate Provost Luverne Walton at 882-6598 or campus Personnel Director Ramona Howard at 882-4256.

Dec. 20: Final Semester closes 5 p.m.

ALL CAMPUS BUILDINGS BEING CHECKED FOR RADIATION--As a precautionary measure, all buildings on the UMC campus are being surveyed for radiation following the closing in June of the 67-year-old biochemistry building, Schweitzer Hall. Portions of Schweitzer Hall are contaminated from radiation exposure caused by laboratory research projects many years ago.

Philip K. Lee, director of UMC Health Physics Service, the campus unit which regularly monitors for radiation required by federal regulations, said his staff is supervising six part-time graduate students who are conducting a building-by-building survey which is expected to be completed by mid-September. Cost of the project is approximately $6,000. Campus student housing is included in the survey and will be checked before the start of the fall semester.

FALL ENROLLMENT EVEN WITH LAST YEAR--An expected decrease in freshmen applications at UMC did not occur and enrollment will change little from last year's fall total of 23,064.

UMC registrar and director of admissions Gary Smith earlier had predicted a short-fall of 700 students. He now says the decline will be modest, if any. At latest count, UMC's new freshmen applications are up over 500 from last year. Those having completed the admissions process stand at 4,780 compared to 4,322 last year. Transfer student totals are level with last year's.

The increase in first-time students will be offset by a loss in upperclassmen, Smith said. "Our senior class this fall will be 350 - 400 people less than last year's," he reported. "Last year we graduated about 5,300 people. There was a very large senior class."

UMC's upswing in freshmen applications runs counter to the decrease in the pool of high school graduates. Smith's original prediction of a decrease was based on the drop in Missouri high school graduates last spring and the decreasing percentage of high school graduates going on to college.

EASY ACCESS PLAN INSTITUTED FOR FALL SEMESTER--UMC has begun an Easy Access enrollment plan to allow non-degree-seeking students to enroll in fall semester classes without undergoing the usual admissions process. UMC registrar and director of admissions Gary Smith announced the plan would be available in courses where spaces remain after the regular registration process has been completed. The plan is designed to provide opportunities for those persons who are employed or otherwise unable to attend classes full-time to take college courses.

Under the Easy Access plan students will be enrolled as visitors and will not need to produce transcripts of previous education or take evaluation tests. They must, however, meet the prerequisites of the courses they wish to take. Undergraduate credit only is available and students will be graded on the regular A - F system unless they opt for credit on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory basis.

Enrollment through Easy Access will be held from 8:30 - 11:30 a.m., Saturday, Aug. 25 in 225 Jesse Hall. Fees ($30 per credit hour plus $2 activity fee) will be payable at the time of registration. The revised schedule of UMC courses is available from 225 Jesse Hall.

BLACK STUDIES COURSES FOR THE FALL SEMESTER include English: "Afro-American Literature," taught by Walter Daniel, professor of English; Higher Education: "Women and Minorities in Higher Education," by Carolyn Dorsey, coordinator of black studies; History: "Afro-American History," by Arvarh Strickland, professor of history; Library Science: "Topics. Black Women: Catalysts for Change," by Mary F. Lenox, associate professor of library science; and Sociology: "The Black Americans," by Loretta Williams, assistant professor of sociology. Further information is available from the Black Studies Office, 207 Hill Hall, 882-6229.

THREE SCHOLARSHIPS FOR THOSE OVER 50--Three $1,000 Colonial Penn Elder scholarships, which can be applied to the 1979 fall semester, are available at UMC. Full-time or part-time students are eligible, but those persons must be over age 50 and be progressing toward a bachelor's, master's or doctoral degree and be recommended by a faculty member in their major field of study. Applicants also must submit a brief essay on "Importance of Education After 50." Applications may be picked up at the Financial Aids Office, 11 Jesse Hall, and must be returned by Sept. 15.

UMC TO REDUCE VEHICLE FLEET--The University is reducing its fleet of vehicles to meet Gov. Joseph Teasdale's mandated 10 percent gasoline reduction for state business. UMC will auction 37 vehicles at 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 25 at the east side of the Hearnese Multipurpose Building. Mostly composed of eight-cylinder models, the vehicles include three vans, two station wagons, seven cars, 18 pick-up trucks, six trucks and one bus.

Vehicles will be sold as is and may be inspected all day Friday, Aug. 25 at the east side of the Hearnese Building. Payment for purchased units will be by cash or check unless credit is arranged in advance. James L. Johnston of Madison will conduct the auction.
